

Invitation

Early Career Researcher breakfast

Professor Paul Bonnington, Director of the Monash e-Research Centre, invites you to an Early Career Researcher Breakfast as part of the Monash e-Research Centre's eXPO 2010

Being held as part of Research Matters 2010, this session will provide an overview of the exciting information and communication technology services, solutions and personalised support available from the Monash e-Research Centre.

These services provide Monash researchers from all disciplines with faster, better and more creative research options. Learn how to access practical on-line collaboration tools, very large, free data storage, expertise in data management, and the processing power of the Monash central High Performance Computing facility - plus new visualisation facilities - for your research.

An ideal opportunity to strengthen your ECR research networks. (Free event)
