YOU HAVE BEEN IN CONTACT WITH SOMEONE WHO IS AWAITING COVID-19 TEST RESULTS

- The Department of Health and Human Services does not require isolation in this circumstance.
- If you feel well, you are required to attend work as normal.
- If you are feeling unwell you should not attend work until fit to do so. You will need to apply for sick leave for the period of your absence from work. If you subsequently test positive with COVID-19, any sick leave taken will be substituted by isolation leave.

IF YOU ARE FEELING UNWELL

- While COVID-19 is of concern, it is important to remember that most people displaying symptoms such as fever, cough, sore throat or tiredness are likely suffering with a cold or other respiratory illness—not COVID-19.
- We encourage staff who are feeling unwell, particularly if experiencing fever, cough, sore throat or tiredness to consider your own health and that of your colleagues/students and not attend work until fit to do so. This minimises the spread of potentially infectious conditions irrespective of the type of illness.
- If you will be absent from work, you need to apply for any accrued sick leave. If you have exhausted your accrued sick leave, you may take annual leave or long service leave (where accrued).
- If you subsequently test positive with COVID-19, any sick leave taken will be substituted by isolation leave.

  1. Temporarily reduce your fraction of employment to reflect the amount of work you are able to perform;
  or
  2. Temporarily reduce your fraction and utilise your accrued annual leave or long service leave to maintain your normal fraction equivalent for salary purposes.
  or
  3. Alternatively, where your preference is not to perform any duties you should consider applying for annual or long service leave (where accrued) for part or all of term 2, 2020 for Victorian schools.
- If you have home-schooling responsibilities, you should discuss your options with your supervisor.
- Where you temporarily reduce your fraction of employment in circumstance 1 or 2 above, the University will still continue to pay superannuation and leave accruals on your substantive fraction.

PERSONAL TRAVEL
(NON-WORK-RELATED TRAVEL)

Where staff are returning from overseas personal travel that commenced prior to 15 March 2020, the Australian Government requires that they are to isolate on return to Australia (refer Australian Government COVID-19 isolation guidance). Staff will be eligible to apply for isolation leave in circumstances where the entire period of personal travel outside Australia is not to exceed 30 days.

Effective from midnight on 15 March 2020, the Australian Government requires a mandatory period of isolation for all travellers upon their return to Australia.
