PROCEDURE STATEMENT

Preamble

1. All students undertake assessment tasks to demonstrate their acquisition of the learning outcomes of the units for which they are enrolled. Each student undertakes each assessment task once.
2. From time to time, circumstances arise where students may not be able to complete assessment tasks by or at the required time. When such circumstances arise, students should seek to proactively manage these situations and alert teaching and student services staff to their situation as soon as possible so that appropriate alternatives may be put in place.
3. When the University agrees to modifications to assessment tasks to assist students meet individual circumstances, the alternative assessment task must have the following characteristics in relation to the original assessment task:
 - of an equivalent standard;
 - assess the same learning outcomes;
 - consistent with the principles of academic integrity and the assessment policy;
 - represent no disadvantage to other students enrolled in the unit; and
 - time proximate.

Monash University Procedure

Types of Adjustments

4. The types of adjustments that are available to students depend on the length of time which the student is affected by illness or other serious circumstance and the point of time when the impact on the students becomes evident. The principle mechanisms for adjustments are:
 - a. Alternative assessment arrangements.

Students with an ongoing medical or mental health conditions, disability or who have responsibilities as student carers may apply to Disability Support Services for alternative arrangements for assessment. Where students are experiencing ongoing issues which they expect will prevent or impede their ability to complete assessment tasks, they are advised also to contact the course managing faculty for course and progression advice.
 - b. Special consideration and deferred assessment

Special consideration and deferred assessment may be granted to a student whose performance of an assessment task during a teaching period or in an examination or other final assessment task has been affected by a short-term or acute illness or other exceptional cause beyond their control.
 - c. Allocation of a WI grade

The Withdrawn Incomplete (WI) grade is a compassionate response for students who are prevented from completing unit assessment due to extreme circumstances beyond their control.

For further details see below.

A. Alternative Arrangements for Assessment

5. A student with an ongoing medical or mental health condition, disability or who has responsibilities as a student carer may apply for alternative arrangements for assessment to Disability Support Services. Registered students are assisted to study independently, by accessing appropriate services and/or through arranging reasonable adjustments to teaching and assessment practices.
6. Reasonable adjustments may include but are not limited to:
 - teaching delivery and format, such as lecturers providing slides and other teaching material to students in advance of class, or the recording of lectures
 - alternative formats for course materials, such as text books in electronic format
 - utilisation of assistance equipment and services, such as assistive software or note takers
 - Amendments to assessment arrangements, such as flexible assignment deadlines or extra time or a break during in-class tests and examinations.
7. Alternative assessment arrangements might apply to both in-semester and end of semester tasks.
8. Disability Support Services will make information available to faculties about which students have alternative assessment arrangements in place.

Alternative arrangements for assessment conducted by faculties

9. Students must provide confirmation of their requirement for alternative arrangements to the Chief Examiner or appropriate faculty contact person responsible for administering the arrangements no later than two weeks before the assessment.
10. Disability Support Services will communicate the required accommodations to the Chief Examiner or appropriate faculty contact person no later than one week before the assessment.
11. Disability Support Services will seek approval from the Chief Examiner when a change to the time or the substance of assessment is required.
12. The student and the Chief Examiner/faculty contact person must liaise concerning these arrangements.

Monash University Procedure

13. A student who has an arrangement in place that allows flexible assignment deadlines may from time to time require additional time to meet assessment deadlines. Where such arrangements are in place, students may not need to provide evidence for this request for a deadline extension with a medical certificate. Faculty staff may refer to Disability Support Services information to verify a student's eligibility for flexible deadlines to support an application for a further extension.

Alternative assessment arrangements for a centrally invigilated final examination

14. Applications for alternative assessment arrangements for an examination must be submitted to Disability Support Services at least one month prior to the commencement of the examination period. Exceptions to this timeline may be made when injuries or illnesses are sustained within one month of the exam. Students should give as much notice as possible and check with Disability Support Services regarding cut-off dates for late applications.
15. The applicant must lodge a Disability Support Services registration form or an equivalent written report completed by a registered health professional qualified to assess the relevant disability or ongoing medical or mental health condition. The report must include an assessment of the impact of the disability or condition on the student's ability to complete the assessment and must make specific recommendations on alternative arrangements as indicated on the registration form. Further details of what supporting documentation may be required are available from Disability Support Services.
16. Applications that are based on short term injury/conditions will be processed on an individual basis and will be dependent on resources available at the date of application.
17. Disability Support Services will seek approval from the Chief Examiner when a change to the time or substance of assessment is required.
18. Where an alternative arrangement may involve the use of a student's personal equipment, Disability Support Services will consult with Examination Services and/or the Chief Examiner to ensure any potential integrity issue is addressed.
19. Alternative arrangements for assessment for an examination may include but are not limited to:
- Variation in the time of the examination.
 - Splitting the examination across two or more sessions.
 - Variation in the structure or format of the examination, including the use of Braille, large print, audio examination papers.
 - Variation in the duration of the examination, including extra time or rest breaks.
 - The use of an alternative examination venue, including a separate examination venue and/or ergonomic furniture.
 - The assistance of a scribe, reader or Australian Sign Language (AUSLAN) Interpreter.
 - The use of a computer.
 - The use of other adaptive technology provided or approved by Disability Support Services.
20. Where an application for alternative assessment arrangements is refused, Disability Support Services staff will notify the student.
21. The student is required to comply with any conditions determined by Disability Support Services and notified to the student. Failure to comply with any conditions may breach the Examinations rules and may result in action under Monash University \(Council\) Regulations Part 7.
22. Where alternative assessment arrangements are granted:

Monash University Procedure

- Disability Support Services will provide Examination Services with the details of accommodations and conditions of alternative assessment arrangements for all approved applications three weeks prior to the commencement of the examination period.
- Examinations Services will notify each student in writing of the accommodations and conditions not less than two weeks prior to the commencement of the examination period.
- In the case of a late application, Examinations Services will notify the applicant as soon as possible.

B. Special Consideration and Deferred Final Assessment Tasks

Eligibility

23. Special consideration may be provided to students who are unable to undertake an assessment task, such as an exam, due to short-term or acute illness or other exceptional circumstances beyond their control. Special consideration seek to ensure that all students have one opportunity to demonstrate the achievement of the learning outcomes of a unit.
24. There are many different circumstances which could give rise to a special consideration application. The most common are:
- short-term serious medical condition. This includes hospital admission, serious injury, severe asthma and severe anxiety or depression.
 - loss or bereavement (for example, death of a close family member or person with whom the student has a significant relationship).
 - family relationship breakdown.
 - hardship or trauma. This may include: victims of crime; sudden loss of income or employment; or severe disruption to domestic arrangements.
 - obligations to military, jury or emergency services (such as the Country Fire Authority).
 - for students registered with the Elite Student Performer Scheme for student athletes, artists, performers participating in a key event and for students competing in key academic events and programs representing the University.
 - for student carers, where acute illness or other exceptional cause affects the person for whom they care and impacts on the student's ability to prepare for or perform the assessment.
25. Special consideration will not be granted for:
- Managing workload from other units of study;
 - Managing activities arising from voluntary representation as a member of a club or society;
 - Misreading the examination timetable; or
 - Information and communications technology-related problems, except where they could not have been prevented, avoided or the effects minimised by reasonable diligence by students.
26. Multiple and recurring applications for special consideration may be an indicator of a student at academic risk and such students may be asked to meet staff for course and academic progress advice and/or referred to university support services (eg, study skills, counselling).
- #### Lodging a Special Consideration Application
27. Applications for special consideration must be genuine and made in good faith.
28. Lodging an application does not guarantee that the request will be granted.

Monash University Procedure

29. All applications for special consideration must be made using one of the University's forms or the online system for certain end-of-semester centrally scheduled examinations.

30. The Special Consideration website contains links to the application forms.

Supporting Documentation

32. The student must provide genuine, well-attested evidence of the illness or other circumstances to support an application for special consideration. The evidence must demonstrate the impact the circumstances had on the student's ability to undertake the assessment task.

33. Students must ensure that all evidence related to the special consideration application is submitted with the application. Failure to submit all relevant evidence may result in the application being rejected.

34. Supporting evidence must be clear and legible:

- In the case of electronic documents submitted with online applications, the University may reject an application on the basis of documentation being unclear or not easily legible.
- The University may request to see the original or certified documents of those submitted to support an online application for special consideration. If a student is unable to produce the original, the University may reject the application for special consideration.

35. The date attached to the supporting evidence must correspond as closely as possible with the date on which the student was affected by the exceptional circumstances.

36. The type of documentation required to support a special consideration application will depend on the reasons for the application.

37. Where the application is as a result of an acute illness or other health-related issue, acceptable evidence must specify that the student was unfit to sit the examination on the relevant date or unable to complete work for assessment on or before the relevant date. Acceptable forms of documentation include:

- Medical certificate
- Medical letter of support (A letter of support should only be provided when the student was unable to obtain medical advice on the date the student was affected by exceptional circumstances.)
- Professional certificates provided by other persons registered with a professional body, such as psychologists.

Monash University Procedure

38. If a faculty or area suspects that a medical practitioner has acted improperly in providing a medical certificate, the relevant Faculty Manager or Director should report the matter to the Deputy Vice-Chancellor (Education).
39. The University may seek further detail to support the student's application from the student and, with the student's permission, directly from the medical practitioner where a better understanding of the student's future capacity to sit the exam and complete assessment is needed to determine outcome of the application. A detailed statement from Disability Support Services may also be utilised where the student is registered with the service. A request for permission to contact a medical practitioner directly would normally be made where the student has applied for special consideration or deferred final assessment in more than one semester. Staff should also be aware that students may be charged by the practitioner for this service as it is not covered by Medicare.
40. Where the application is as a result of an unavoidable obligation for military, jury or Country Fire Authority service or participation in an elite athlete, artist or performer event, or where the student is representing the University at an event, the acceptable documentation may consist of notification from the appropriate authority of the student's obligation, stating the relevant dates. For example:
- Defence Reservist's Military Unit
 - Juries Commissioner's Office
 - Country Fire Authority
 - TeamMONASH in regard to Elite Student Performer Scheme
41. Some applications for special consideration will require documentation such as:
- death notice or certificate
 - police report
 - statutory declarations from the student or other relevant people
 - professional certificates provided by other persons registered with a professional body, such as social workers and lawyers.
42. Where the application is in relation to the student's responsibilities as a student carer and the student is registered as a carer with Disability Support Services, the acceptable evidence must show that the student's ability to prepare for or perform the assessment was due to acute illness or other exceptional cause affecting the person for whom they care.
43. Students registered as having a disability or as a student carer will have provided supporting medical documentation to Disability Support Services and the staff may be able to provide advice to faculties on a case-by-case basis on the student's condition and/or requirements, and possible alternative assessment arrangements. In some cases, support for an application may be in the form of confirmation from Disability Support Services that a registered student has provided appropriate medical documentation supporting the need for flexibility with assessment.

Deadlines

44. The timing of an application for special consideration will depend on whether it is for an in-semester assessment task or end-of-semester assessment task.

In-semester assessment task

Students should apply for special consideration no later than two University working days after the due date of the affected assessment.

End-of-semester assessment task

Monash University Procedure

Students may seek early approval of a deferred examination up until five University working days before the examination for which special consideration is sought, or

If students are unfit to sit on the day of an examination, they may apply for special consideration no later than two University working days after the student's last scheduled examination.

45. The unit teaching faculty is responsible for determining if a late application for special consideration will be accepted.

Decision making body

46. In-semester assessment task

Students submit applications to the unit teaching faculty who decides the outcome of the special consideration application and notifies students.

Once special consideration has been granted for a given set of circumstances, further special consideration will not normally be granted for the same in-semester assessment task.

47. End-of-semester/final assessment task: deferred exam

Student and Education Business Services (SEBS) will decide the outcome of special consideration applications for all units where the Dean of the unit teaching faculty has delegated this responsibility to SEBS. SEBS is responsible for notifying students of the outcome.

Students who complete their final examination are not eligible for deferred final assessment.

Students who attend and attempt part of the exam are not eligible for a deferred examination.

The dean of the unit teaching faculty (or delegate) may approve a deferred examination if they are satisfied there are exceptional circumstances. In this case the result from the original exam will not be counted towards the student's final unit mark and grade. The result of the deferred assessment will be final.

48. End-of-semester/final assessment task: non-exam

For units where the Dean has delegated this responsibility to SEBS, SEBS will decide the outcome of special consideration applications and notify students.

Students who complete their end-of-semester assessment task are not be eligible for deferred final assessment.

Outcomes of a Special Consideration Application

49. Outcomes of applications for special consideration may include:

- One opportunity to complete an equivalent assessment task (eg, a deferred exam); or
- Extension of a deadline for assessment; or
- Rejection of the application.

50. Where a student is enrolled in a course that has a different managing faculty to that of the unit teaching faculty, the managing faculty should be advised of the outcome of the application to ensure that course progression considerations are raised if relevant.

51. A special consideration application will not result in the adjustment of a mark given for a student's assessment task or examination.

52. If a student presents for the final examination after receiving early approval for a deferred examination, the deferred final assessment decision will be revoked, and the mark for the final examination sat will count towards their mark. No further deferred final assessment applications can be lodged for that examination.

Monash University Procedure

53. Where a special consideration application is rejected, the faculty may consider whether it is appropriate for the student to discontinue from the unit and apply for a WI grade and for Remission of Debt.

Responsibility

Board of Examiners

Scheduling of Deferred Examinations

54. Centrally-invigilated deferred examinations will be scheduled during the official deferred examination period for the semester, as determined and publicised by Examination Services:
- Deferred and supplementary examinations for summer semester or Semester One units will be held in the August - September period, or prior to that period at the discretion of the unit teaching faculty.
 - Deferred and supplementary examinations for any Semester Two units will be held in the January - February period, or prior to that period at the discretion of the unit-teaching faculty.
 - Deferred and supplementary examinations for units taught over two-semesters will be held in the August - September or January - February period, whichever occurs first, or prior to that period at the discretion of the unit-teaching faculty.
55. Where the faculty conducts the deferred assessment, a minimum of five University working days' notice will be given to the students, using the students Monash University email account.
56. Deferred examinations must be sat within twelve months of the date of the end of the examination period when the unit was originally undertaken by the student.
57. A student must make themselves available to sit a deferred examination at the scheduled time.

Re-scheduling of Deferred Final Assessment

Refer to Monash University \(Academic Board\) Regulation 22

58. Under certain circumstances a student may apply for re-scheduling of a deferred final examination or further extension of time for submission of a final assessment task, as the case requires, on one further occasion. The circumstances are that the student has failed to undertake or complete the assessment due to:
- an ongoing disability, and the student is registered with Disability Support Services; or
 - the circumstances for which the deferred final assessment task was granted are unresolved; or
 - the existence of exceptional circumstances, as determined by the Dean (or delegate) of the managing faculty.
59. A rescheduled assessment must occur within 12 months of the end of the examination period when the unit was originally undertaken by the student.
60. The student must apply in writing within two full working days of the day of their deferred final assessment task, providing supporting documentation that clearly demonstrates circumstances that fall within the criteria set out in section 58 above.
61. The application must be considered by the Dean (or delegate) of the managing faculty. The Dean (or delegate) may seek a meeting with the student to enable consideration of the application and active case management of the student's enrolment. Students may take a support person to that meeting.
62. The Dean (or delegate) must consult with the Chief Examiner of the unit prior to determining the outcome of the application.

Monash University Procedure

63. The Dean (or delegate) may make whatever enquiries are deemed necessary to make a decision including:
- consulting other parties, such as the faculty manager or the faculty's student services manager and relevant members of academic staff;
 - consulting the Dean (or delegate) of the teaching faculty where the managing faculty is not also the teaching faculty; and
 - requesting further evidence from the student, such as an impact statement from a health professional.
64. The Dean (or delegate) may:
- recommend one further deferred assessment opportunity (timing based on supporting evidence); or
 - approve a Withdrawn Incomplete result; or
 - recommend that no further action be taken and that the relevant Board of Examiners finalise the result.
65. If the managing faculty is not also the teaching faculty, the Dean of the managing faculty (or delegate) must advise the Dean of the teaching faculty (or delegate) of the outcome of the application.
66. The Dean of the managing faculty (or delegate) will develop a study plan to manage the students' progression through the course and may impose conditions on study load until the deferred assessment has been completed.
67. Where the student is on a student visa the implications of placing conditions on the study load must be considered by the Dean (or delegate).

Complaints and Grievances

68. The decision on the outcome of a special consideration application is final.
69. Students who are dissatisfied with a decision relating to special consideration should refer to the Student Complaints and Grievances Policy. A grievance must be lodged with the unit teaching faculty as soon as possible as delays may affect the possibility of further assessment adjustments.

C. Eligibility for a Withdrawn Incomplete (WI) grade

70. The Withdrawn Incomplete (WI) grade is a compassionate response for students who are prevented from completing unit assessment due to extreme circumstances beyond their control. It is a withdrawn grade, not a passing grade, awarded where the student has not completed the requirements of the unit.
71. A student may apply for a WI if they have been affected by:
- A serious medical condition necessitating admission to hospital;
 - Severe mental health condition;
 - Death of a person with whom the student had a significant relationship;

Monash University Procedure

- Obligations to emergency or military service; and
 - Other extreme circumstances beyond the student's control, such as a natural disaster or serious accident.
72. WI grades may be awarded to allow students to deal with both the immediate aftermath and ongoing issues following the death of a person with whom the student had a significant relationship.
73. A student who attends or attempts the whole or part of a final examination is not eligible for a WI grade. The Dean (or delegate) of the managing faculty may allow exemptions in exceptional circumstances that they deem relevant.
74. Applications must be in writing, and must be lodged with the course-managing faculty.
75. Applications for a WI must be lodged as soon as possible and no later than 10 University working days of the release of the relevant results. In exceptional circumstances, the Chair of Academic Board may grant a longer period of time for lodgement, such as where the student was not capable of lodging an application for a WI.
76. Applications must provide evidence that the circumstances resulting in the failure to complete unit assessment were beyond the student's control, and either:
- Arose during the withdrawn fail period or later of the relevant semester; or
 - Did not have their full impact until the commencement of the withdrawn fail period or later of the relevant semester, and this impact was not foreseeable earlier; or
 - Prevented the student from withdrawing from the unit prior to the commencement of the withdrawn fail period of the relevant semester.
77. Applications must include evidence that details the severity of the situation, that the circumstances relate to the acceptable grounds, as set out in section 71 above, and the timing of the circumstances.
78. Acceptable forms of evidence include a death notice, records of hospital admission, police reports, notifications of obligations to emergency or military services, and an impact statement from a health professional as appropriate.
79. Where the application is made with regards to the death of a person with whom the student had a significant relationship, the student must provide evidence of the significance of that relationship. In the case of extreme and ongoing grief, appropriate evidence is a document from the student's doctor or counsellor that substantiates the claim.
80. If the application concerns a unit for which the student was granted deferred final assessment, the application must provide evidence that the circumstances resulting in failure to complete the deferred final assessment either:
- Occurred after the deferred final assessment was granted; or
 - Prevented the student from undertaking or completing the assessment in ways that could not have been foreseen when the deferred final assessment was granted.
81. When considering the application, the Dean (or delegate) of the course managing faculty will take into account the supporting evidence provided by the student and may consider additional evidence drawn from the student's record if it is relevant to the current application. This could include details of special consideration applications made by the student and any academic progress processes underway.
82. The Dean (or delegate) may:
- Grant a WI grade; or
 - Reject the application; or
 - Refer it to the WI Panel for further consideration.

Monash University Procedure

83. The Dean (or delegate) will notify the student of their decision within 15 university working days of lodgement of the complete application, including all the required evidence. If the outcome is referral to the WI Panel, the Dean (or delegate) will notify the student of the expected timeframe for the WI Panel to determine the case, based on the panel's meeting schedule.
84. The WI Panel consists of one member of academic staff from each faculty of the University, appointed by the Dean of the faculty.
85. A quorum for a meeting of a WI Panel is half of the members of the panel.
86. The WI Panel considers applications referred to it by Deans (or delegates) and may:
- grant a WI grade; or
 - reject the application.
87. The course managing faculty must inform the student of the outcome of the application and the reasons, notify the unit managing faculty and amend the result if a WI is granted.
