HDR INDUCTION 2023

ASSOCIATE DEAN, GRADUATE RESEARCH

ASSOCIATE PROFESSOR SELBY COXON

Monash Art, Design and Architecture (MADA) acknowledges and pays respect to the Ancestors, Elders and communities of the Wurundjeri and Boon Wurrung people of the Kulin Nation, on whose lands we live and work.

At MADA, we acknowledge Aboriginal connection to material and creative practice on these lands for more than 60,000 years and celebrate their enduring presence and knowledge.

PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT

STRUCTURE OF PD

Students are required to complete a minimum of 120 hours of professional development activities:

- Excellence in Research & Teaching

which are designed to develop knowledge, skills and abilities that are immediately relevant to academic life.

- Professionalism, Innovation & Career

which are designed to develop the knowledge, skills and abilities needed to apply your expertise within and beyond academia.

PD provides graduate researchers with structured opportunities to develop a variety of knowledge, skills and abilities relevant to different stages of their research project and career.

PD ACTIVITIES

Activities are offered centrally, by MADA and other Faculties, the library and SAS. Students should develop their learning plan in consultation with their supervisor according to what is relevant for their research project and stage of their career development.

What to consider when developing and structuring your learning plan

- Mandatory modules: some are offered centrally, e.g. Research Integrity, some by MADA
- Level of activity: foundational, intermediate or advanced
- Pre-requisites: activities can be / have pre-requisites for others
- Frequency / duration of activities
- Other Faculties might offer activities that are relevant to your project
- MADA activities are developed by the Departments and Wominjeka Djeembana; some are open to all students, some are limited to the department cohorts
- Mode and duration of activities: can be online, in-person or hybrid
- Some activities might involve attendance of off-campus events

INDUSTRY ENGAGEMENT

INDUSTRY ENGAGEMENT

What is an eligible industry engagement?

- Position with a research end-user that is covered by an agreement between Monash – industry partner – candidate within first 18 months of candidature
- Research is related to your PhD research
- For a minimum of 60 working days (FTE)

Please discuss with your supervisor during the first year of your candidature whether you would like to / are engaging with an industry partner. Undertaking an eligible industry engagement will earn you 60 hours of PD activities.

RESOURCES FOR MANAGING YOUR ENROLMENT

GRADUATE RESEARCH FORMS

Key elements supporting your enrolment

- Variations to your enrolment/candidature
 - i.e. Leave; Study Away (travel); Extensions (thesis submission date)
 - Apply using online forms

IMPORTANT

- ✓ Include all required information and any supporting documentation – helps it workflow to assessment and approval much quicker
- ✓ Once you submit your form it workflows through to your supervisor, graduate coordinator/program director and (depending on the form) the Associate Dean of Graduate Research of your faculty.
- ✓ Allow 1-2 weeks for it to reach MGRO
- ✓ Where a case needs to be made to the Academic Director allow 1-2 weeks

MILESTONES

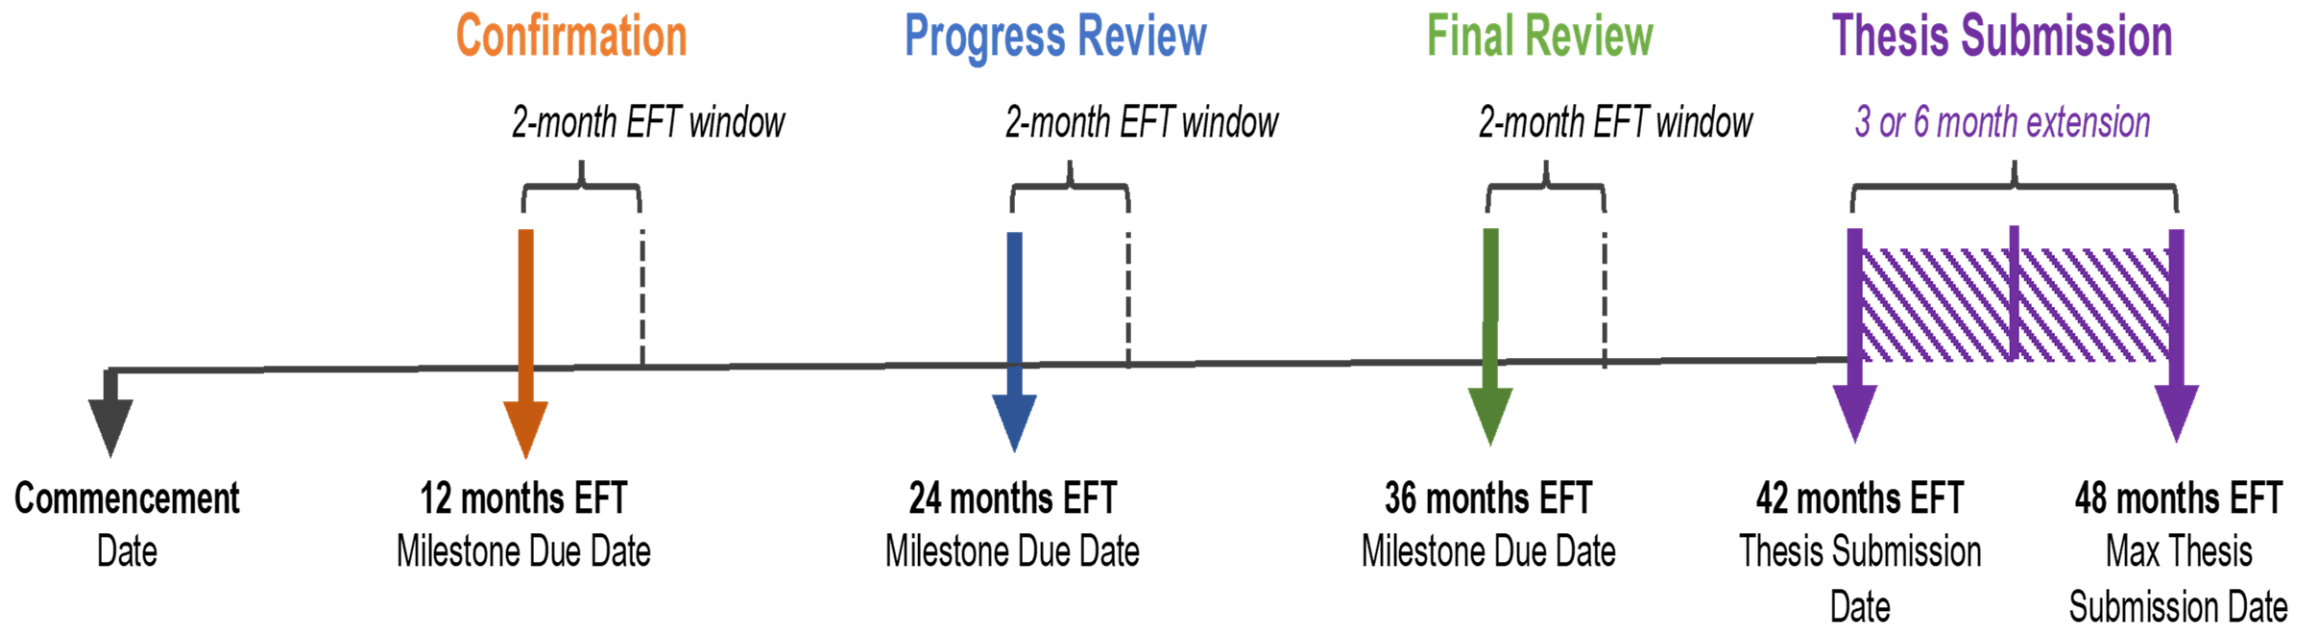

Milestones

- Are a requirement of your course, designed to support your progress and complete on time
- Opportunity to discuss your progress and experience; seek feedback and guidance on the direction of your research project from an independent academic review panel; discuss barriers and how to resolve them

Milestone due dates

- Are visible on your Research Enrolment Summary
- Milestone due dates are set at commencement for
 - 12 months - Confirmation
 - 24 months - Progress Review
 - 36 months - Final Review (PhD only) EFT

- You have the flexibility to schedule a milestone within 2 months EFT of its due date.

- You will receive automated reminder emails to keep you on track.
 - Reminder 1: 3 months before Milestone Due date
 - Reminder 2: 1 month before Milestone Due date
 - Action Required: 1 month after Milestone Due date

LEAVE

Annual Leave

- Enrolment allows for 4 weeks annual leave (pro rata) per year.
- Annual leave is arranged in consultation with your supervisor

Leave of Absence

You can also apply for leave of absence to take leave from your studies for a period of 10 days up to a maximum 12 months during your candidature.

- Leave of absence is used for:
 - leave for personal and professional commitments
 - sick leave or carer's leave
 - defense reserve service leave
 - jury service
 - firefighting and emergency assistance
 - family violence leave.
- Leave of Absence will shift your thesis submission date by the duration of the leave approved.

Literature search process

For comprehensive literature searching it is important to be systematic in your approach. This includes developing a plan for your search (including the search terms you will use and the resources you will search), and keeping records of the searches you carry out. The process is listed in steps below, but much of it is iterative rather than linear.

The artist as witness: a colony under gaze

Cite Download (6.74 MB) Share Embed + Collect

Thesis posted on 10.03.2021, 16:41 by ALIZA LEVI

The thesis examines what it means to bear witness through art. The complexity of bearing witness is discussed with reference to the writing of Giorgio Agamben and Georges Didi-Huberman, and the artwork of Broomberg and Chanerin, Artur Zmiejewski and Bindi Cole. My own lens-based practice offers a method of witnessing events at a temporal remove. Specifically, I focus my gaze on colonialism in my birthplace of South Africa. My photographic series Books on a White Background and the video The Miners Companion use the colonial archive as a pivot to critique western constructs of knowledge, whiteness, colonial and imperial histories.

Monash Collections Online

Caulfield Art Exhibition Catalogues and Ephemera

This growing online collection includes printed material relating to artists and their works, with a special focus on the output of Australian creatives. Many of the items are unique and some have only previously been held in uncatalogued collections. Items have been gathered via donations from galleries, artists, alumni and from MADA (the Monash Faculty of Art, Design and Architecture).

The Caulfield Campus of Monash University has a long history of teaching of art theory and practice. Initially established as Caulfield Institute of Technology in 1968, the campus became Chisholm Institute of Technology in 1982 before merging with Monash University in 1990. Over the years, artists have used the campus as a space to learn and create, and the library's collection of art exhibition catalogues and related ephemera has developed to support both research and artistic inspiration.

Literature review workshops

The function of a literature review in any discipline is for you to situate your research within the body of existing literature. Student Academic Success offers two different workshops that approach literature reviews from a disciplinary-specific perspective.

- 🕒 2 hour Zoom session
- 🗣 2 PD hours (Excellence in Research & Teaching)

Writing Effective Literature Reviews in STEM

This workshop introduces you to strategies to create a logical and coherent structure that reflects your understanding of the research area; and argue for the significance of your project while building on the ideas of others. Using STEM examples, this session will allow you to evaluate your approach to the literature review and select strategies that will be most effective for your purpose.

Writing a Literature Review in the Humanities, Arts and Social Sciences

This workshop introduces you to strategies to organise and critically review the ideas and arguments within existing research in the field, and position your own research in relation to it. Using examples from the Humanities and Social Sciences this session will allow you to identify approaches to integrating sources, building arguments and developing your voice as a researcher.

Intensive writing courses

These 10-part writing courses are designed to teach you powerful writing skills you can employ in your writing. Each session includes activities and discussions, and is followed by a weekly quiz to help you practice and consolidate your learning.

- 🕒 Each session consists of a 1 hour Zoom workshop, plus 1 hour of self-study for review, preparation and assessment
- 🗣 10 workshop sessions

Every PhD journey is unique

Participate in making the relationship work - talk to your supervisor!

- Be honest
- Be reasonable
- Be calm but assertive
- Be aware of your rights and responsibilities
- Don't make assumptions
- In the first instance, discuss any concerns directly with your supervisor, and as soon as possible

How to make your student-supervisor relationship work

Discuss context as well as academic content:

- The frequency, duration and timing of meetings
- The amount of work and rate of progress expected of you
- The feedback you can expect to receive from your supervisor
- Compare your expectations of how the supervision arrangement will work and your supervisor's expectations
- Let your supervisor know if you have a personal problem that is affecting your progress

How to approach your supervisor arrangement

Good practice:

- Accept that some level of stress and anxiety is normal
- Set realistic expectations of yourself
- Develop a balanced, daily routine that works for you
- Take a break and enjoy it – don't spend the time feeling guilty
- Remember to keep the PhD in perspective
- Stop trying to explain your research to your friends and relatives

How to approach your research journey

Cultural differences can affect your student/supervisor relationship:

- Feeling it is inappropriate to question or disagree with your supervisor
- Not contributing to discussions can be misinterpreted
- The Australian academic culture is one which encourages academic debate

- Our advocates are professional staff who deal with more than 1000 cases each year
- Independent from the University – our obligation is to graduate students only
- Free and confidential service
- Consultations can be conducted by email, phone, Zoom or in-person.
- Remember, you're not alone! It doesn't matter how small or big your issue is – we focus on helping you get the best outcome
