

The 5th Conference on Korean Screen Culture

02-04 June 2016

King's College London, UK

Following previous successful editions, the Department of Film Studies is hosting the 5th Korean Screen Culture Conference with support from the Korea Foundation and the Korean Cultural Center, UK.

The conference aims to critically engage with important and urgent issues shaping contemporary Korean screen culture; in particular cinema, television, web comics, and music. Participants from around the globe will address questions such as the temporality manifest in contemporary Korean media, cultural and political history and memory, K-pop, the Korean Wave, cultural industry in Korea and the East Asian region, gender and sexuality, girlhood, and documentary practice.
