SCOPE

This Procedure relates to all activities under the management and control of Monash University in Australia and applies to affected staff, students, contractors and visitors.

PROCEDURE STATEMENT

The purpose of this Procedure is to define the Monash University process for OHS-related consultation. Effective consultation will lead to:

- Decisions that take account a wider range of ideas about OHS issues in the workplace and how to address these issues;
- Stronger commitment to decisions because everyone is involved in reaching them; and
- More openness, respect and trust because there is better understanding of the OHS issues and of each other’s points of view.

2. OHS Consultation Procedure

2.1 Consultation with Workers

All Operational Managers/Supervisors are required to consult with workers who do, or are likely to, conduct work under their supervision and guidance in relation to matters that affect, or are likely to affect, their health and safety including:

2.1.1 The introduction of new products, services and processes, or implementation changes to existing products, services and processes associated with:

a) Physical workplaces and surroundings;

b) Work organisation;

c) Working conditions;

d) Equipment;

e) Work force.

2.1.2 Changes aimed at reducing the burden of implementing and integrating the OHSMS; including:

a) Changes to legal requirements and other internal or external requirements;
b) Changes in knowledge or information about hazards and OH&S risks;
c) Developments in knowledge and technology.

Operational Managers/Supervisors must determine the manner and extent to which consultation will occur based upon:

- The level of risk to the health and safety of any workers;
- The number of workers a change might impact; and
- The degree to which workers might be expected to change the way they perform work.

Operational Managers/Supervisors must ensure, as part of their consultation, that workers, and if a Designated Work Group (DWG) exists the Health and Safety Representative/s (HSR/s), are provided with:

- Timely information, in a form that they can understand, in accordance with the OHS Communications Procedure.
- A reasonable opportunity to express their views about the matter via a suitable forum (i.e. meetings or digital communication platforms).
- Records of consultation are created and retained and must include:
  - The date of consultation and the workers in attendance;
  - What feedback was received; and
  - The outcome of this consultation.

2.2 Consultation with HSRs and Deputy HSRs

Elected HSRs or the Deputy HSR must be included in relevant consultation.

2.3 Consultation on Changes to the OHSMS

The Manager, OH&S must consult on any proposed major changes to the OHSMS by:

- Communicating proposed changes in accordance with the OHS Communications Procedure; and then;
- Allowing at least two (2) weeks of formal consultation with stakeholders and then incorporating relevant stakeholder feedback;
- Receiving endorsement from the Monash University OHS Committee (MUCHC).

The Manager, OH&S may consult on any minor and moderate proposed changes to the OHSMS.

2.4 Issues arising as a result of consultation

The Issue Resolution Procedure must be followed where there is disagreement on the manner and extent to which consultation has been, or is planned to be, conducted.

3. Records

For OHS Records document retention please refer to: Monash University OHS Records Management Procedure

Records of consultation must be retained for the specified timeframe.
