Risk assessment, management & support

What SCU does:
- They provide all affected persons (complainants, witnesses and alleged perpetrators) with information about formal reporting options and pathways, practical and procedural advice and referrals to counselling and other support services.
- They coordinate a range of safety measures and strategies for the intervention and/or management of behavioural risks.
- They engage in the ongoing monitoring of risks to the Monash community.

What SCU doesn’t do:
- They don’t provide a direct support service - they refer all those who need help to appropriate internal or external services.
- They don’t provide a crisis management or ‘first responder’ service.

Investigations

What SCU does:
- They investigate matters that are serious or pose a high risk to the safety of the Monash community.
- They conduct investigations to ensure safety or for a specific disciplinary purpose, including under a standing delegation for Student General Misconduct.
- They provide an investigation report with findings of fact and evidence relied upon to the appropriate decision-maker for their consideration.

What SCU doesn’t do:
- They don’t investigate if there is a risk of prejudicing a police investigation.
- They don’t make decisions about action to be taken following an investigation.
