

Course progression map for 2027 commencing students

This course map is a guide only and does not substitute for the required units outlined in the course 'Requirements' section of the Handbook. Units can be rearranged if applicable prerequisite requirements are met. This map applies to students commencing in the standard annual intake. When planning your course, check with Faculty Student Services, including for advice if commencing mid-year (where relevant), and refer to the Handbook entry for each unit before the start of each semester. Unit offering information is correct at the time of publication; however, changes may occur.

B6005 Master of Business

Business studies specialist studies

|                      |                                                                                   |                                                     |                                        |                                        |
|----------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------|----------------------------------------|
| Year 1Semester 1 | ADA5111Design thinking for business orMGF5992Professional development | Advanced preparatory studiesunit 1              | Advanced preparatory studiesunit 2 | Advanced preparatory studiesunit 3 |
| Year 1Semester 2 | APG5122Corporate sustainability management                                    | Advanced preparatory studiesunit 4              | Specialist studiesunit 1           | Specialist studiesunit 2           |
| Year 2Semester 1 | MGF5800Global business                                                        | APG5471Leadership in intercultural environments | Specialist studiesunit 3           | Specialist studiesunit 4           |
| Year 2Semester 2 | Elective studiesunit 1*                                                       | Elective studiesunit 2*                         | Elective studiesunit 3*            | Elective studiesunit 4*            |

* Electives can be chosen from: Level 4 or 5 Faculty of Business and Economics units, University-wide units, Part C units to complete a second specialisation, or approved Industry Project, Study Tour or Internship units, subject to prerequisites and enrolment restrictions. Refer to the Handbook for further information.

|        |                              |
|--------|------------------------------|
| Part A | Advanced preparatory studies |
| Part B | Core studies                 |
| Part C | Specialist studies           |
| Part D | Elective studies             |

Course progression map for 2027 commencing students

This course map is a guide only and does not substitute for the required units outlined in the course 'Requirements' section of the Handbook. Units can be rearranged if applicable prerequisite requirements are met. This map applies to students commencing in the standard annual intake. When planning your course, check with Faculty Student Services, including for advice if commencing mid-year (where relevant), and refer to the Handbook entry for each unit before the start of each semester. Unit offering information is correct at the time of publication; however, changes may occur.

B6005 Master of Business

Business economics specialist studies

|                      |                                                                                   |                                                     |                                     |                                     |
|----------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------|-------------------------------------|
| Year 1Semester 1 | ADA5111Design thinking for business orMGF5992Professional development | Advanced preparatory studies unit 1                 | Advanced preparatory studies unit 2 | Advanced preparatory studies unit 3 |
| Year 1Semester 2 | APG5122Corporate sustainability management                                    | Advanced preparatory studies unit 2                 | Specialist studies unit 1           | Specialist studies unit 2           |
| Year 2Semester 1 | MGF5800Global business                                                        | APG5471Leadership in intercultural environments | Specialist studies unit 3           | Specialist studies unit 4           |
| Year 2Semester 2 | Elective studies unit 1*                                                          | Elective studies unit 2*                            | Elective studies unit 3*            | Elective studies unit 4*            |

* Electives can be chosen from: Level 4 or 5 Faculty of Business and Economics units, University-wide units, Part C units to complete a second specialisation, or approved Industry Project, Study Tour or Internship units, subject to prerequisites and enrolment restrictions. Refer to the Handbook for further information.

|        |                              |
|--------|------------------------------|
| Part A | Advanced preparatory studies |
| Part B | Core studies                 |
| Part C | Specialist studies           |
| Part D | Elective studies             |

Course progression map for 2027 commencing students

This course map is a guide only and does not substitute for the required units outlined in the course 'Requirements' section of the Handbook. Units can be rearranged if applicable prerequisite requirements are met. This map applies to students commencing in the standard annual intake. When planning your course, check with Faculty Student Services, including for advice if commencing mid-year (where relevant), and refer to the Handbook entry for each unit before the start of each semester. Unit offering information is correct at the time of publication; however, changes may occur.

B6005 Master of Business

Bilingual business translation and communication (Chinese and English) specialist studies

|                      |                                                                                   |                                                     |                                                                                             |                                                                                             |
|----------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Year 1Semester 1 | ADA5111Design thinking for business orMGF5992Professional development | Advanced preparatory studies unit 1                 | Advanced preparatory studies unit 2                                                         | Advanced preparatory studies unit 3                                                         |
| Year 1Semester 2 | APG5122Corporate sustainability management                                    | Advanced preparatory studies unit 4                 | Elective studies unit 1*                                                                    | Elective studies unit 2*                                                                    |
| Year 2Semester 1 | MGF5800Global business                                                        | APG5471Leadership in intercultural environments | APG5013Chinese business translation 1-Bridging bilingual business communication     | APG5614Chinese translation for professional purposes 1 –Intercultural communication |
| Year 2Semester 2 | Elective studies unit 3*                                                          | Elective studies unit 4*                            | APG5014Chinese business translation 2 -Engaging in bilingual business communication | APG5615Chinese translation for professional purposes 2 – Politics, law and technology   |

* Electives can be chosen from: Level 4 or 5 Faculty of Business and Economics units, University-wide units, Part C units to complete a second specialisation, or approved Industry Project, Study Tour or Internship units, subject to prerequisites and enrolment restrictions. Refer to the Handbook for further information.

|        |                              |
|--------|------------------------------|
| Part A | Advanced preparatory studies |
| Part B | Core studies                 |
| Part C | Specialist studies           |
| Part D | Elective studies             |

Course progression map for 2027 commencing students

This course map is a guide only and does not substitute for the required units outlined in the course 'Requirements' section of the Handbook. Units can be rearranged if applicable prerequisite requirements are met. This map applies to students commencing in the standard annual intake. When planning your course, check with Faculty Student Services, including for advice if commencing mid-year (where relevant), and refer to the Handbook entry for each unit before the start of each semester. Unit offering information is correct at the time of publication; however, changes may occur.

B6005 Master of Business

Contemporary management specialist studies

|                      |                                                                                   |                                                     |                                                             |                                     |
|----------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------|
| Year 1Semester 1 | ADA5111Design thinking for business orMGF5992Professional development | Advanced preparatory studies unit 1                 | Advanced preparatory studies unit 2                         | Advanced preparatory studies unit 3 |
| Year 1Semester 2 | APG5122Corporate sustainability management                                    | Advanced preparatory studies unit 4                 | MGF5962Contemporary management principles and practices | Specialist studies unit 1           |
| Year 2Semester 1 | MGF5800Global business                                                        | APG5471Leadership in intercultural environments | Specialist studies unit 2                                   | Specialist studies unit 3           |
| Year 2Semester 2 | Elective studies unit 1*                                                          | Elective studies unit 2*                            | Elective studies unit 3*                                    | Elective studies unit 4*            |

* Electives can be chosen from: Level 4 or 5 Faculty of Business and Economics units, University-wide units, Part C units to complete a second specialisation, or approved Industry Project, Study Tour or Internship units, subject to prerequisites and enrolment restrictions. Refer to the Handbook for further information.

|        |                              |
|--------|------------------------------|
| Part A | Advanced preparatory studies |
| Part B | Core studies                 |
| Part C | Specialist studies           |
| Part D | Elective studies             |

Course progression map for 2027 commencing students

This course map is a guide only and does not substitute for the required units outlined in the course 'Requirements' section of the Handbook. Units can be rearranged if applicable prerequisite requirements are met. This map applies to students commencing in the standard annual intake. When planning your course, check with Faculty Student Services, including for advice if commencing mid-year (where relevant), and refer to the Handbook entry for each unit before the start of each semester. Unit offering information is correct at the time of publication; however, changes may occur.

B6005 Master of Business

Data analytics for business specialist studies

|                      |                                                                                   |                                                     |                                     |                                     |
|----------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------|-------------------------------------|
| Year 1Semester 1 | ADA5111Design thinking for business orMGF5992Professional development | Advanced preparatory studies unit 1                 | Advanced preparatory studies unit 2 | Advanced preparatory studies unit 3 |
| Year 1Semester 2 | APG5122Corporate sustainability management                                    | Advanced preparatory studies unit 4                 | Specialist studies unit 1           | Specialist studies unit 2           |
| Year 2Semester 1 | MGF5800Global business                                                        | APG5471Leadership in intercultural environments | Specialist studies unit 3           | Specialist studies unit 4           |
| Year 2Semester 2 | Elective studies unit 1*                                                          | Elective studies unit 2*                            | Elective studies unit 3*            | Elective studies unit 4*            |

* Electives can be chosen from: Level 4 or 5 Faculty of Business and Economics units, University-wide units, Part C units to complete a second specialisation, or approved Industry Project, Study Tour or Internship units, subject to prerequisites and enrolment restrictions. Refer to the Handbook for further information.

|        |                              |
|--------|------------------------------|
| Part A | Advanced preparatory studies |
| Part B | Core studies                 |
| Part C | Specialist studies           |
| Part D | Elective studies             |

Course progression map for 2027 commencing students

This course map is a guide only and does not substitute for the required units outlined in the course 'Requirements' section of the Handbook. Units can be rearranged if applicable prerequisite requirements are met. This map applies to students commencing in the standard annual intake. When planning your course, check with Faculty Student Services, including for advice if commencing mid-year (where relevant), and refer to the Handbook entry for each unit before the start of each semester. Unit offering information is correct at the time of publication; however, changes may occur.

B6005 Master of Business

Economics and health specialist studies

|                      |                                                                                   |                                                     |                                     |                                     |
|----------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------|-------------------------------------|
| Year 1Semester 1 | ADA5111Design thinking for business orMGF5992Professional development | HEC5980Health economics                         | Advanced preparatory studies unit 2 | Advanced preparatory studies unit 3 |
| Year 1Semester 2 | APG5122Corporate sustainability management                                    | HEC5981The business of health                   | Specialist studies unit             | Elective studies unit 1*            |
| Year 2Semester 1 | MGF5800Global business                                                        | APG5471Leadership in intercultural environments | Advanced preparatory studies unit 3 | Advanced preparatory studies unit 4 |
| Year 2Semester 2 | HEC5983Health economic evaluation                                             | Elective studies unit 2*                            | Elective studies unit 3*            | Elective studies unit 4*            |

* Electives can be chosen from: Level 4 or 5 Faculty of Business and Economics units, University-wide units, Part C units to complete a second specialisation, or approved Industry Project, Study Tour or Internship units, subject to prerequisites and enrolment restrictions. Refer to the Handbook for further information.

|        |                              |
|--------|------------------------------|
| Part A | Advanced preparatory studies |
| Part B | Core studies                 |
| Part C | Specialist studies           |
| Part D | Elective studies             |

Course progression map for 2027 commencing students

This course map is a guide only and does not substitute for the required units outlined in the course 'Requirements' section of the Handbook. Units can be rearranged if applicable prerequisite requirements are met. This map applies to students commencing in the standard annual intake. When planning your course, check with Faculty Student Services, including for advice if commencing mid-year (where relevant), and refer to the Handbook entry for each unit before the start of each semester. Unit offering information is correct at the time of publication; however, changes may occur.

B6005 Master of Business

Entrepreneurship specialist studies

|                      |                                                                                         |                                                           |                                              |                                              |
|----------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------|
| Year 1Semester 1 | ADA5111Design thinking forbusiness orMGF5992Professionaldevelopment | Advancedpreparatorystudiesunit 1              | Advancedpreparatorystudiesunit 2 | Advancedpreparatorystudiesunit 3 |
| Year 1Semester 2 | APG5122Corporatesustainabilitymanagement                                    | Advancedpreparatorystudiesunit 4              | Specialist studiesunit 1                 | Specialist studiesunit 2                 |
| Year 2Semester 1 | MGF5800Global business                                                              | APG5471Leadership ininterculturalenvironments | Specialist studiesunit 3                 | Specialist studiesunit 4                 |
| Year 2Semester 2 | Elective studiesunit 1*                                                             | Elective studiesunit 2*                               | Elective studiesunit 3*                  | Elective studiesunit 4*                  |

* Electives can be chosen from: Level 4 or 5 Faculty of Business and Economics units, University-wide units, Part C units to complete a second specialisation, or approved Industry Project, Study Tour or Internship units, subject to prerequisites and enrolment restrictions. Refer to the Handbook for further information.

|        |                              |
|--------|------------------------------|
| Part A | Advanced preparatory studies |
| Part B | Core studies                 |
| Part C | Specialist studies           |
| Part D | Elective studies             |

Course progression map for 2027 commencing students

This course map is a guide only and does not substitute for the required units outlined in the course 'Requirements' section of the Handbook. Units can be rearranged if applicable prerequisite requirements are met. This map applies to students commencing in the standard annual intake. When planning your course, check with Faculty Student Services, including for advice if commencing mid-year (where relevant), and refer to the Handbook entry for each unit before the start of each semester. Unit offering information is correct at the time of publication; however, changes may occur.

B6005 Master of Business

Financial analytics specialist studies

|                      |                                                                                   |                                                        |                                                                |                                     |
|----------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------|
| Year 1Semester 1 | ADA5111Design thinking for business orMGF5992Professional development | Advanced preparatory studies unit 1                    | Advanced preparatory studies unit 2                            | Advanced preparatory studies unit 3 |
| Year 1Semester 2 | APG5122Corporate sustainability management                                    | ACF5120Forensic accounting and fraud investigation | ACF5130Financial statement analysis and business valuation | Specialist studies unit             |
| Year 2Semester 1 | MGF5800Global business                                                        | APG5471Leadership in intercultural environments    | Advanced preparatory studies unit 4                            | ACF5320Business analytics       |
| Year 2Semester 2 | Elective studies unit 1*                                                          | Elective studies unit 2*                               | Elective studies unit 3*                                       | Elective studies unit 4*            |

* Electives can be chosen from: Level 4 or 5 Faculty of Business and Economics units, University-wide units, Part C units to complete a second specialisation, or approved Industry Project, Study Tour or Internship units, subject to prerequisites and enrolment restrictions. Refer to the Handbook for further information.

|        |                              |
|--------|------------------------------|
| Part A | Advanced preparatory studies |
| Part B | Core studies                 |
| Part C | Specialist studies           |
| Part D | Elective studies             |

Course progression map for 2027 commencing students

This course map is a guide only and does not substitute for the required units outlined in the course 'Requirements' section of the Handbook. Units can be rearranged if applicable prerequisite requirements are met. This map applies to students commencing in the standard annual intake. When planning your course, check with Faculty Student Services, including for advice if commencing mid-year (where relevant), and refer to the Handbook entry for each unit before the start of each semester. Unit offering information is correct at the time of publication; however, changes may occur.

B6005 Master of Business

Financial and risk management specialist studies

|                      |                                                                                   |                                                     |                                       |                                                                                                                                               |
|----------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Year 1Semester 1 | ADA5111Design thinking for business orMGF5992Professional development | Advanced preparatory studies unit 1                 | Advanced preparatory studies unit 2   | Advanced preparatory studies unit 3                                                                                                           |
| Year 1Semester 2 | APG5122Corporate sustainability management                                    | Advanced preparatory studies unit 4                 | BFF5954Business finance           | BFF5902Introduction to risk management                                                                                                    |
| Year 2Semester 1 | MGF5800Global business                                                        | APG5471Leadership in intercultural environments | BFF5250Advanced Corporate Finance | BEX5131Fundamentals of investment strategy (S1 only) orElective studies unit*if planning to undertake BEX5260                     |
| Year 2Semester 2 | Elective studies unit 1                                                           | Elective studies unit 2                             | Elective studies unit 3               | BEX5260Understanding megatrends: The big forces shaping your future (S2 only) orElective studies unit * if BEX5131 has been completed |

* Electives can be chosen from: Level 4 or 5 Faculty of Business and Economics units, University-wide units, Part C units to complete a second specialisation, or approved Industry Project, Study Tour or Internship units, subject to prerequisites and enrolment restrictions. Refer to the Handbook for further information.

|        |                              |
|--------|------------------------------|
| Part A | Advanced preparatory studies |
| Part B | Core studies                 |
| Part C | Specialist studies           |
| Part D | Elective studies             |

Course progression map for 2027 commencing students

This course map is a guide only and does not substitute for the required units outlined in the course 'Requirements' section of the Handbook. Units can be rearranged if applicable prerequisite requirements are met. This map applies to students commencing in the standard annual intake. When planning your course, check with Faculty Student Services, including for advice if commencing mid-year (where relevant), and refer to the Handbook entry for each unit before the start of each semester. Unit offering information is correct at the time of publication; however, changes may occur.

B6005 Master of Business

International business specialist studies

|                      |                                                                                   |                                                     |                                        |                              |
|----------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------|------------------------------|
| Year 1Semester 1 | ADA5111Design thinking for business orMGF5992Professional development | Advanced preparatory studiesunit 1              | Advanced preparatory studiesunit 2 | Specialist studiesunit 1 |
| Year 1Semester 2 | APG5122Corporate sustainability management                                    | Advanced preparatory studiesunit 3              | Advanced preparatory studiesunit 4 | Specialist studiesunit 2 |
| Year 2Semester 1 | MGF5800Global business                                                        | APG5471Leadership in intercultural environments | Specialist studiesunit 3           | Specialist studiesunit 4 |
| Year 2Semester 2 | Elective studiesunit 1*                                                       | Elective studiesunit 2*                         | Elective studiesunit 3*            | Elective studiesunit 4*  |

* Electives can be chosen from: Level 4 or 5 Faculty of Business and Economics units, University-wide units, Part C units to complete a second specialisation, or approved Industry Project, Study Tour or Internship units, subject to prerequisites and enrolment restrictions. Refer to the Handbook for further information.

|        |                              |
|--------|------------------------------|
| Part A | Advanced preparatory studies |
| Part B | Core studies                 |
| Part C | Specialist studies           |
| Part D | Elective studies             |

Course progression map for 2027 commencing students

This course map is a guide only and does not substitute for the required units outlined in the course 'Requirements' section of the Handbook. Units can be rearranged if applicable prerequisite requirements are met. This map applies to students commencing in the standard annual intake. When planning your course, check with Faculty Student Services, including for advice if commencing mid-year (where relevant), and refer to the Handbook entry for each unit before the start of each semester. Unit offering information is correct at the time of publication; however, changes may occur.

B6005 Master of Business

Marketing specialist studies

|                      |                                                                                         |                                                           |                                              |                                              |
|----------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------|
| Year 1Semester 1 | ADA5111Design thinking forbusiness orMGF5992Professionaldevelopment | Advancedpreparatorystudiesunit 1              | Advancedpreparatorystudiesunit 2 | Advancedpreparatorystudiesunit 3 |
| Year 1Semester 2 | APG5122Corporatesustainabilitymanagement                                    | Advancedpreparatorystudiesunit 4              | Specialist studiesunit 1                 | Specialist studiesunit 2                 |
| Year 2Semester 1 | MGF5800Global business                                                              | APG5471Leadership ininterculturalenvironments | Specialist studiesunit 3                 | Specialist studiesunit 4                 |
| Year 2Semester 2 | Elective studiesunit 1*                                                             | Elective studiesunit 2*                               | Elective studiesunit 3*                  | Elective studiesunit 4*                  |

* Electives can be chosen from: Level 4 or 5 Faculty of Business and Economics units, University-wide units, Part C units to complete a second specialisation, or approved Industry Project, Study Tour or Internship units, subject to prerequisites and enrolment restrictions. Refer to the Handbook for further information.

|        |                              |
|--------|------------------------------|
| Part A | Advanced preparatory studies |
| Part B | Core studies                 |
| Part C | Specialist studies           |
| Part D | Elective studies             |

Course progression map for 2027 commencing students

This course map is a guide only and does not substitute for the required units outlined in the course 'Requirements' section of the Handbook. Units can be rearranged if applicable prerequisite requirements are met. This map applies to students commencing in the standard annual intake. When planning your course, check with Faculty Student Services, including for advice if commencing mid-year (where relevant), and refer to the Handbook entry for each unit before the start of each semester. Unit offering information is correct at the time of publication; however, changes may occur.

B6005 Master of Business

Project management specialist studies

|                      |                                                                                   |                                                     |                                     |                                     |
|----------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------|-------------------------------------|
| Year 1Semester 1 | ADA5111Design thinking for business orMGF5992Professional development | MGF5910Project management fundamentals          | Advanced preparatory studies unit 1 | Advanced preparatory studies unit 2 |
| Year 1Semester 2 | APG5122Corporate sustainability management                                    | Specialist studies unit 1                           | Advanced preparatory studies unit 2 | Advanced preparatory studies unit 3 |
| Year 2Semester 1 | MGF5800Global business                                                        | APG5471Leadership in intercultural environments | Specialist studies unit 2           | Specialist studies unit 3           |
| Year 2Semester 2 | Elective studies unit 1*                                                          | Elective studies unit 2*                            | Elective studies unit 3*            | Elective studies unit 4*            |

* Electives can be chosen from: Level 4 or 5 Faculty of Business and Economics units, University-wide units, Part C units to complete a second specialisation, or approved Industry Project, Study Tour or Internship units, subject to prerequisites and enrolment restrictions. Refer to the Handbook for further information.

|        |                              |
|--------|------------------------------|
| Part A | Advanced preparatory studies |
| Part B | Core studies                 |
| Part C | Specialist studies           |
| Part D | Elective studies             |

Course progression map for 2027 commencing students

This course map is a guide only and does not substitute for the required units outlined in the course 'Requirements' section of the Handbook. Units can be rearranged if applicable prerequisite requirements are met. This map applies to students commencing in the standard annual intake. When planning your course, check with Faculty Student Services, including for advice if commencing mid-year (where relevant), and refer to the Handbook entry for each unit before the start of each semester. Unit offering information is correct at the time of publication; however, changes may occur.

B6005 Master of Business

Business law, governance and regulatory risk

|                      |                                                                                   |                                                     |                                        |                                        |
|----------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------|----------------------------------------|
| Year 1Semester 1 | ADA5111Design thinking for business orMGF5992Professional development | Advanced preparatory studiesunit 1              | Advanced preparatory studiesunit 2 | Advanced preparatory studiesunit 3 |
| Year 1Semester 2 | APG5122Corporate sustainability management                                    | Advanced preparatory studiesunit 4              | Specialist studiesunit 1           | Specialist studiesunit 2           |
| Year 2Semester 1 | MGF5800Global business                                                        | APG5471Leadership in intercultural environments | Specialist studiesunit 3           | Specialist studiesunit 4           |
| Year 2Semester 2 | Elective studiesunit 1*                                                       | Elective studiesunit 2*                         | Elective studiesunit 3*            | Elective studiesunit 4*            |

* Electives can be chosen from: Level 4 or 5 Faculty of Business and Economics units, University-wide units, Part C units to complete a second specialisation, or approved Industry Project, Study Tour or Internship units, subject to prerequisites and enrolment restrictions. Refer to the Handbook for further information.

|        |                              |
|--------|------------------------------|
| Part A | Advanced preparatory studies |
| Part B | Core studies                 |
| Part C | Specialist studies           |
| Part D | Elective studies             |

Course progression map for 2027 commencing students

This course map is a guide only and does not substitute for the required units outlined in the course 'Requirements' section of the Handbook. Units can be rearranged if applicable prerequisite requirements are met. This map applies to students commencing in the standard annual intake. When planning your course, check with Faculty Student Services, including for advice if commencing mid-year (where relevant), and refer to the Handbook entry for each unit before the start of each semester. Unit offering information is correct at the time of publication; however, changes may occur.

B6005 Master of Business

Strategic communications management specialist studies

|                      |                                                                                      |                                                           |                                                            |                                              |
|----------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------|
| Year 1Semester 1 | ADA5111Design thinking forbusiness orMGF5992Professional development | Advancedpreparatorystudiesunit 1              | Advancedpreparatorystudiesunit 2               | Advancedpreparatorystudiesunit 3 |
| Year 1Semester 2 | APG5122Corporate sustainabilitymanagement                                    | Advancedpreparatorystudiesunit 4              | APG5366Strategiccommunications in adigital era | Specialist studiesunit 1                 |
| Year 2Semester 1 | MGF5800Global business                                                           | APG5471Leadership ininterculturalenvironments | Specialist studiesunit 2                               | Specialist studiesunit 3                 |
| Year 2Semester 2 | Elective studiesunit 1*                                                          | Elective studiesunit 2*                               | Elective studiesunit 3*                                | Elective studiesunit 4*                  |

* Electives can be chosen from: Level 4 or 5 Faculty of Business and Economics units, University-wide units, Part C units to complete a second specialisation, or approved Industry Project, Study Tour or Internship units, subject to prerequisites and enrolment restrictions. Refer to the Handbook for further information.

|        |                              |
|--------|------------------------------|
| Part A | Advanced preparatory studies |
| Part B | Core studies                 |
| Part C | Specialist studies           |
| Part D | Elective studies             |

Course progression map for 2027 commencing students

This course map is a guide only and does not substitute for the required units outlined in the course 'Requirements' section of the Handbook. Units can be rearranged if applicable prerequisite requirements are met. This map applies to students commencing in the standard annual intake. When planning your course, check with Faculty Student Services, including for advice if commencing mid-year (where relevant), and refer to the Handbook entry for each unit before the start of each semester. Unit offering information is correct at the time of publication; however, changes may occur.

B6005 Master of Business

Strategic management accounting specialist studies

|                      |                                                                                   |                                                     |                                                                                       |                                            |
|----------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------|
| Year 1Semester 1 | ADA5111Design thinking for business orMGF5992Professional development | Advanced preparatory studiesunit 1              | Advanced preparatory studiesunit 2                                                | Advanced preparatory studiesunit 3     |
| Year 1Semester 2 | APG5122Corporate sustainability management                                    | Advanced preparatory studiesunit 4              | MGF5976Strategic management                                                       | ACF5955Management accounting           |
| Year 2Semester 1 | MGF5800Global business                                                        | APG5471Leadership in intercultural environments | ACF5080Management control systems orACF5904Accounting information systems | ACF5100Strategic management accounting |
| Year 2Semester 2 | Elective studiesunit 1*                                                       | Elective studiesunit 2*                         | Elective studiesunit 3*                                                           | Elective studiesunit 4*                |

* Electives can be chosen from: Level 4 or 5 Faculty of Business and Economics units, University-wide units, Part C units to complete a second specialisation, or approved Industry Project, Study Tour or Internship units, subject to prerequisites and enrolment restrictions. Refer to the Handbook for further information.

|        |                              |
|--------|------------------------------|
| Part A | Advanced preparatory studies |
| Part B | Core studies                 |
| Part C | Specialist studies           |
| Part D | Elective studies             |

Course progression map for 2027 commencing students

This course map is a guide only and does not substitute for the required units outlined in the course 'Requirements' section of the Handbook. Units can be rearranged if applicable prerequisite requirements are met. This map applies to students commencing in the standard annual intake. When planning your course, check with Faculty Student Services, including for advice if commencing mid-year (where relevant), and refer to the Handbook entry for each unit before the start of each semester. Unit offering information is correct at the time of publication; however, changes may occur.

B6005 Master of Business

Supply chain management specialist studies

|                      |                                                                                   |                                                     |                                     |                                     |
|----------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------|-------------------------------------|
| Year 1Semester 1 | ADA5111Design thinking for business orMGF5992Professional development | Advanced preparatory studies unit 1                 | Advanced preparatory studies unit 2 | Advanced preparatory studies unit 3 |
| Year 1Semester 2 | APG5122Corporate sustainability management                                    | Advanced preparatory studies unit 4                 | MGF5961Supply chain management  | Specialist studies unit 1           |
| Year 2Semester 1 | MGF5800Global business                                                        | APG5471Leadership in intercultural environments | Specialist studies unit 2           | Specialist studies unit 3           |
| Year 2Semester 2 | Elective studies unit 1*                                                          | Elective studies unit 2*                            | Elective studies unit 3*            | Elective studies unit 4*            |

* Electives can be chosen from: Level 4 or 5 Faculty of Business and Economics units, University-wide units, Part C units to complete a second specialisation, or approved Industry Project, Study Tour or Internship units, subject to prerequisites and enrolment restrictions. Refer to the Handbook for further information.

|        |                              |
|--------|------------------------------|
| Part A | Advanced preparatory studies |
| Part B | Core studies                 |
| Part C | Specialist studies           |
| Part D | Elective studies             |

Course progression map for 2027 commencing students

This course map is a guide only and does not substitute for the required units outlined in the course 'Requirements' section of the Handbook. Units can be rearranged if applicable prerequisite requirements are met. This map applies to students commencing in the standard annual intake. When planning your course, check with Faculty Student Services, including for advice if commencing mid-year (where relevant), and refer to the Handbook entry for each unit before the start of each semester. Unit offering information is correct at the time of publication; however, changes may occur.

B6005 Master of Business

Sustainable business specialisation

|                      |                                                                                      |                                                           |                                              |                                              |
|----------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------|
| Year 1Semester 1 | ADA5111Design thinking forbusiness orMGF5992Professional development | APG5122Corporatesustainabilitymanagement      | Advancedpreparatorystudiesunit 1 | Advancedpreparatorystudiesunit 2 |
| Year 1Semester 2 | Advanced preparatorystudiesunit 3                                            | Advancedpreparatorystudiesunit 4              | APG5434Sustainabilitymeasurement     | Specialist studiesunit 1                 |
| Year 2Semester 1 | MGF5800Global business                                                           | APG5471Leadership ininterculturalenvironments | Specialist studiesunit 2                 | Specialist studiesunit 3                 |
| Year 2Semester 2 | Elective studiesunit 1*                                                          | Elective studiesunit 2*                               | Elective studiesunit 3*                  | Elective studiesunit 4*                  |

* Electives can be chosen from: Level 4 or 5 Faculty of Business and Economics units, University-wide units, Part C units to complete a second specialisation, or approved Industry Project, Study Tour or Internship units, subject to prerequisites and enrolment restrictions. Refer to the Handbook for further information.

|        |                              |
|--------|------------------------------|
| Part A | Advanced preparatory studies |
| Part B | Core studies                 |
| Part C | Specialist studies           |
| Part D | Elective studies             |