FRANKSTON TEACHERS' COLLEGE WELCOMES 216 NEW STUDENTS

Starting their courses of training at Frankston Teachers' College on Tuesday last week were 216 new students. These successful applicants for primary studentships will study for either two or three years in order to obtain their Trained Primary Teacher's Certificate or their Trained Infant Teacher's Certificate.

Enrolments are not quite complete, but total attendance at the college this year is expected to be about 520.

At the first full assembly of students in the college hall, new students were welcomed by the principal, Mr. G. A. Jenkins, and by the president of the Students' Representative Council, Mr. Max Bennett.

In referring to the growing number of students at Frankston Teachers' College, Mr. Jenkins pointed out that the college was already larger than most teachers' colleges in England and Wales, where four colleges out of five have an enrolment of fewer than 500 students.

The recommendation of the Robbins Report on Higher Education is for a minimum of 750 students. Not only is the number of students at Frankston Teachers' College increasing, but higher educational standards are required of those accepted for primary training.

It appears that this year, for the first time, all studentships have been awarded to students who are matriculants or who have attempted their matriculation year.

New staff members for 1965 are: Miss J. Ansell (Bell State School), Miss P. Davies (returned from overseas), Miss J. Guppy (Bonbeach State School), Mr. R. Bilsborough (Doveton State School), Mr. G. Corr (Burwood Teachers' College), Mr. I. Gill (Balmoral Consolidated School), Mr. F. Jones (Coburg Teachers' College), Mr. D. Juler (Burwood Teachers' College) and Mr. K. Runciman (Psychology and Guidance Branch).

SUCCESSES OF TEACHERS' COLLEGE STUDENTS

Outstanding achievements which emphasize the range of interests and attainments of students at Teachers' College were presented at a college assembly last Wednesday.

Congratulations were extended to Leroy Franklin, who at 19 years is credited with 18 titles, to become national high jump champion. Leroy, who represented Australia at the Tokyo Olympic Games, is secretary of the college sport committee this year.

Students were also recognized for achievement in other college work and in other fields. Among the students taking extended courses at Michigan University. Each year the Education Department awards a number of such extended scholarships in order to enable selected students to obtain additional qualifications.

Tom Franklin is a student who set for 36 subjects at Michigan University at the end of last semester. He will go to pass standard in Latin. This is a much higher proportion of points than is achieved by an average group of university students.

BY GIFT

At the Teachers' College assembly last Wednesday Mr. Audlin presented a teachers' incentive present to the college by the State Savings Bank of Victoria. The gift, to be used solely for instructional purposes and the amusement of school libraries, was purchased with a grant which the bank makes available annually to each Victorian teachers' college.

Mr. E. W. Eyles, staff superintendent of the State Savings Bank, made the presentation. He was accompanied by Mr. D. E. Gaudin, manager of the Teachers' Society.

SUCCESSSES OF TEACHERS' COLLEGE STUDENTS

Outstanding achievements which emphasise the range of interests and achievements of students at Frankston Teachers' College were announced at a college assembly last Wednesday.

Congratulations were extended to Lawrie Peckham, who, at Hobart recently, cleared 6 ft. 10 ins. to become Australian high jump champion. Lawrie, who represented Australia at the Tokyo Olympic Games, is secretary of the college sport committee this year.

Results were also announced for ex-students of the college who are undertaking extended courses at Monash University. Each year the Education Department awards a number of such extended studentships in order to enable selected students to obtain additional qualifications.

Ten Frankston ex-students who sat for 36 subjects at Monash University at the end of 1964 obtained 33 subjects at pass standard or better. This is a much higher proportion of passes than is achieved by an average group of university students.

TV GIFT

At the Teachers' College assembly last Wednesday Mr. Jenkins accepted a television receiver presented to the college by the State Savings Bank of Victoria. The set, to be used mainly for instructional purposes and the assessment of school telecasts, was purchased with a grant which the bank makes available biennially to each Victorian teachers' college.

Mr. K. W. Elder, staff superintendent of the State Savings Bank, made the presentation. He was accompanied by Mr. D. R. Coombe, manager of the Frankston branch.

"Asia by Landrover": Frankston traveller returns

Mr. Tom Wells, art lecturer at Frankston Teachers' College, and a recent winner of the Minnie Crook prize for water color painting, was guest speaker at the monthly tea of the Frankston Methodist Men's Society in the High St. church hall on Sunday last week.

The subject of his talk was "Asia by Landrover", and it covered a trip of several thousand miles through many diverse areas in Japan, Ceylon, India, West Pakistan, Afghanistan, Iran (Persia), Israel and Turkey. It was admirably illustrated with a large number of colored slides.

Mr. Wells spoke of his travels in Japan, including slides of the city of Hiroshima, showing what life was like after the devastation of the atomic bomb attack, followed by slides of many scenes of life in the present well-planned, busy city.

He told of his extensive travels in India and showed slides of life in the cities, several fishing villages, and rural areas of the continent and its population of six billions. India was a country of many religions, with Hinduism dominant in the south and Islam in the north. There are some fifteen Christian churches.

CHINA TO CHANGE

The mass of the people in north India endure poverty, due to a large measure to their reluctance to change from their ancient methods, to efficient agriculture, to modern methods which would rebuild declining and fertile and boost crop yields.

The nomadic dwellers in some areas, especially in the north, have moved where population is more or evenly spread over the area.

Mr. Wells told of happier and more prosperous people in north India, where the Moslems mostly adopt modern practices in industry and agriculture. A contrast was made to the nomadic, nomadic and nomadic life, of the Persians.

Mr. Wells considered that the mass unemployment in India caused much of the illness and crime, while another large feature was the corruption and the administration since the British withdrawal.

GREEK COASTS

The journey through Afghanistan, after entering the country by the Khyber Pass, revealed the great contrast between the primitive lands of India and the many works, and going from being a nomad, the relief, Afghan, with a few, and modern transport constructed with modern cars and trucks in Kabul.

During his journey through Persia, Mr. Wells indicated extensive land by day and night, while showing the desert to Isfahan and Persepolis, ancient city of King Darius and Darius, with the famous tombs.

The only reward of women and girls who were Persian captives, selling for 1000 each, was the privilege of wearing a small ring of iron, to be in for their duty. Mr. Wells showed slides of children, showing the change in the Persians.

The description of life in an early Christian region, the community of Gannus in Turkey, was followed by modern Turkey and the Bosphorus.

ISRAELI PLACES

Mr. Wells spoke of many famous places in Israel, including the Mount of Olives and Garden of Gethsemane at Jerusalem, the policy of the Arabs, and the River Jordan.

On the conclusion of the talk, a vote of thanks to Mr. Wells was passed by the Ladies' Society, and carried by acclamation.

Mr. Wells spoke of his travels in Japan, including slides of the city of Hiroshima, showing areas left as they were after the devastation of the atomic bomb attack, followed by slides of many phases of life in the present well-planned, busy city.

He told of his extensive travels in India and showed slides of life in the cities, coastal fishing villages, and rural areas of the sub-continent and its population of 432 millions. India was a country of many religions, with Hinduism strongest in the south and Islam in the north. There are nine million Christians.

RESISTANCE TO CHANGE

The mass of the people in south India endure chronic poverty, due in a large measure to their resistance to change from their ancient wasteful, inefficient agriculture, to modern methods which would rebuild declining soil fertility and boost crop yields.

The man-made deserts in some areas, especially inland from Bombay, have caused whole populations to move to already overcrowded cities.

Mr. Wells told of happier and more prosperous people in north India, where the Moslems readily adopt modern practices in industry and agriculture. A tribute was paid to the courageous, kindly and efficient Sikhs, of the Punjab.

Mr. Wells considered that the mass unemployment in India caused much of the illness and crime, while another tragic feature was the corrupt and lax administration since the British withdrawal.

GREAT CONTRAST

The journey through Afghanistan, after entering the country by the Khyber Pass, revealed the great contrast between old, primitive tools of trade used by many workers, and young men using bulldozers. The veiled Afghani women, camel and donkey transport contrasted with modern cars and buses in Kabul.

During his journey through Persia, Mr. Wells endured extreme heat by day and cold by night, while crossing the desert to Isfahan and Persepolis, ancient city of King Darius and Zerxes, with its famous monuments.

The only reward of women and girls who wove Persian carpets selling for £1000 each, was the privilege of weaving a small rug 18 ins. by 3 ft. for their dowry. Mr. Wells showed slides of fishermen landing 10ft. sturgeon in the Caspian Sea.

The description of life in an early Christian troglodyte community at Goreme in Turkey, was followed by modern Istanbul and the Bosphorus.

FAMOUS PLACES

Mr. Wells spoke of many famous places in Israel, including the Mount of Olives and Garden of Gethsemane at Jerusalem, the pottery kilns at Jericho, and the River Jordan.

On the conclusion of the talk, a vote of thanks to Mr. Wells was moved by Mr. Lindsay Norris, and carried by acclamation.

TEACHERS' COLLEGE GARDEN PARTY

Frankston Teachers' College Welfare Association is giving the final touch to its plans for the annual garden party, to be held in the college grounds next Saturday from 2 to 4 p.m.

Students' presents, other visitors and friends, and members of the general public are invited to the event and are invited to attend. The garden party has always been one of the most successful and most enjoyable social functions in the college calendar.

Mr. A. H. Moffat, president of the welfare association, says that members are very grateful to have the continued support of the S.A.S.F. General Board, headed by President Lady S. Hicks. This year the band will again play selections at the garden party. Another feature of the program will be the students' drama, conducted by the welfare association.

The welfare association, which was formed in 1935 as a supplementary organization to the college and other welfare organizations in the college, is a voluntary organization of students of Frankston Teachers' College, the welfare staff, and the students' union.

The association's main purpose is to help students' parents and friends of the general public to establish closer contact with the college.

TEACHERS' COLLEGE GARDEN PARTY

Frankston Teachers' College Welfare Association is giving the final touches to its plans for the annual garden party, to be held in the college grounds next Saturday from 2 to 4 p.m.

Students' parents, other relatives and friends, and members of the general public interested in the college are invited to attend. The garden party has always been one of the best attended and most enjoyable social functions in the college calendar.

Mr. A. H. Malkin, president of the welfare association, says that members are very gratified to have the continued support of the R.A.A.F. Central Band, conducted by Squadron-Leader L. Hicks. This excellent band will again play selections at the garden party. Another feature of the program will be the students' items conducted by the college music staff.

The welfare association, which was formed in 1960, is a non-statutory organisation of parents and other citizens interested in the college. It includes representatives of Frankston Shire Council, the college staff, and the students' council.

The association's most important aim is to help students' parents and members of the general public to establish closer personal contact with the college.

The association naturally takes a keen interest in student welfare, and, like school committees and councils elsewhere, helps to provide amenities or equipment not readily procurable from any other source. Such items already include extensions to the hall, an electronic organ, a tractor, and mowing attachments, and additional books for the college library.

A committee of the welfare association meets every month to organise functions and discuss college needs. The meetings are conducted in a friendly and informal atmosphere that is enjoyed by all who attend. However, as students remain at the college for only two years, or at the most three, new parent-members of the association and its committee are constantly being sought and are always heartily welcomed.

The annual general meeting of the welfare association will be held in the college hall at 8 p.m. on Wednesday, April 7, and all interested persons, particularly the parents of students, are invited to attend.

TEACHERS' COLLEGE GARDEN PARTY SUCCESS

Despite weather which was most uncooperative, and which forced much of the program to be held indoors, the annual garden party of Franklin Teachers College Welfare Association on Saturday, March 12, was well attended and very successful.

Parents of college students were taken advantage of the opportunity to inspect the college grounds and buildings, and to meet and talk with members of staff.

Other guests of the college were welcomed to the services of the R.A.A.P. Central Board under the direction of W. D. Hall. The board and the college staff provided a musical program and the entertainment of visitors.

Visitors were welcomed by Mr. A. M. Hall, president of the welfare association, and by Mr. M. H. Rogers, president of the Student Representative Council. Mr. Rogers, in behalf of students, expressed his appreciation of the work done by the college welfare association, an organization which is unique among Victorian secondary schools.

The principal, Mr. G. A.

hollies, expressed the opinion during his address that it was important that parents should make themselves familiar with the environment in which their children were being educated; that they should establish a point of contact between themselves, their children and the teachers. During the afternoon many parents took the opportunity provided of joining the welfare association.

The annual meeting of the association will be held on Wednesday, April 5, in the college hall.

TEACHERS' COLLEGE WINS SWIMMING CARNIVAL

Competing against the largest metropolitan primary teachers' college, Frankton Teachers' College had the greatest sporting triumph in its history when it defeated Melbourne, Burwood and Toorak in the first division of the Combined Swimming Carnival at Olympic Pool last Wednesday.

Final scores were Frankton, 120; Melbourne, 140; Burwood, 130; Toorak, 140. Frankton's victory was even better than last year's when the college defeated Burwood, Burwood and Toorak in the second division. The final scores in the second division last year were Burwood, 140; Toorak, 130; Burwood, 120; Burwood, 110.

Discussing Frankton's win, Mr. G. Jenkins, principal, pointed out that while the college commenced its efforts to take part in various forms of aquatic sport last year, Frankton was the only teacher college in the state that did not have some organized teams in a swimming pool for teaching, including and competition.

The college team was selected after three inter-collegiate practice periods at the Ashburton pool, Burwood, in June 1934. This was the teacher pool and after it was without serious competition in the state's second division.

COLLEGE WOULD TEACH

Mr. P. Loh, lecturer in charge of health and physical education, said that if Frankton had a swimming pool, college students would not be so that every child in the district was taught to swim. Mr. Jenkins agreed that students would give freely of their time to do this as an organized team.

Mr. Miss Bennett, principal of the Southern Hemisphere branch, and Mr. John Galloway, who is second in command in charge of the college, said that in the second division of the college team, and by the results given by Miss V. Palmer and Mr. M. D. who were members of the team. The team also won a prize for the enthusiasm and efficiency of Miss Doreen Smith, who acted as student manager.

TEACHERS' COLLEGE WINS SWIMMING CARNIVAL

Competing against the largest metropolitan primary teachers' college, Frankston Teachers' College had the greatest sporting triumph in its history when it defeated Melbourne, Burwood and Toorak in the first division of the Combined Swimming Carnival at Olympic Pool last Wednesday.

Final scores were: Frankston, 196; Melbourne, 153; Burwood, 153; Toorak, 68.

Frankston's victory was even better than last year's when the college defeated Geelong, Ballarat and Bendigo in the second division. The final scores in the second division this year were: Geelong, 165; Coburg, 161; Ballarat, 133; Bendigo, 77.

Discussing Frankston's win, Mr. G. Jenkins, principal, pointed out that while the college encouraged students to take part in various forms of aquatic sport locally, Frankston was the only teachers' college in Victoria that did not have convenient access to a swimming pool for teaching, training and competition.

The college team was selected after three brief lunch-time practice periods at the Ashburton pool, more than 20 miles away. This was the nearest pool available for use without serious interruptions to the college's normal program.

COLLEGE WOULD TEACH

Mr. P. Ladd, lecturer in charge of health and physical education, said that if Frankston had a swimming pool, college students would help to see that every child in the district was taught to swim. Mr. Jenkins agreed that students would give freely of their time to do this on an organised basis.

Mr. Max Bennett, president of the Students' Representative Council, and Mr. John Gallus, who received the shield on behalf of the college; paid tribute to the excellent spirit of the college team and to the assistance given by Miss V. Wallace and Mr. W. Dolphin, members of the staff. The team also owed a great deal to the enthusiasm and efficiency of Miss Dianne Baird, who acted as student "manageress."

The annual meeting of Frankston Teachers' College Welfare Association will be held in the college hall at 8 o'clock tonight (Wednesday).

Parents of college students and members of the general public interested in the college are invited to attend. The annual report will be presented by Mr. A. Malkin, president of the association.

Mr. Malkin said last week that as students usually remained at the college for only two years, and at the most three, the welfare association particularly welcomed the active support of parents whose sons and daughters were currently attending the college.

After the business meeting, Mr. Lawrie Peckham, holder of the Australian high jump championship title and an Australian representative at the Tokyo Olympic Games, will give a talk on his experiences in international athletics.

Teachers' College Scores Football Win

Teams from Frankston Teachers' College had a good day on Wednesday, April 21, when they took part in the first round of the combined teachers' colleges' winter sports competition.

Frankston's football team was particularly successful in beating Burwood, last year's premier team, 16.6—102 to 5.11—47.

This victory helped offset Burwood's defeat of Frankston at squash. Frankston has been squash premier team for the past two years, but was defeated 6-2 on Wednesday.

Frankston also did well to defeat Burwood at hockey, in which the first team won 9-0, and the second team 3-1; softball, in which the first won 21-15, and the seconds 23-11; and baseball, 14-2.

Other victories for Frankston were: Badminton, 7-2; basketball 2nds, 28-10; basketball 3rds, 42-15; basketball 4ths, 30-25; bowling, 2228-1919; and volleyball, 3-0.

Burwood defeated Frankston at basketball 1sts, men's basketball, golf, tennis and table tennis.

SUCCESS AT SPORT

During the past two weeks Frankston has competed successfully in the winter sports competition of the combined teachers' colleges.

The following were the results of matches played against combined teams from Larnock and the Police Training College on Wednesday, April 28:

TERM TWO

POPULATION OF ASIA "TO TREBLE IN 40 YEARS"

Mr. David Scott, director of Community Aid Abroad, addressing students of Frankston Teachers' College on June 30, said the population of Asia was expected to double over the next 40 years. The fact that, for the past 50 years, the production of food per head had been decreasing, illustrated the need that existed in many parts of Asia, he added.

Mr. Scott said Community Aid Abroad attempted to provide the resources of Asian peoples and to reduce the dependence of their economies on Australia. In doing this, he said, specific information about their circumstances, in view of the fact that Australia is situated in which a great expenditure of money could not only bring immediate relief, but could assist a community to set up a scheme of education or agricultural development which would expand and become self-sufficient.

In 1961, CAA was able to furnish £25,000 to be used for the purchase of seed and fertilizers, and the construction of wells, pumps and related facilities.

This work had a twofold value, he said. Firstly, a few pounds could probably money were involved, but they were applied to the relief of desperate and grateful needs. Secondly, the assistance engendered good will to Asian countries, provided that it was offered without strings as to be given to those of equally independent status. Thirdly, it helped create a climate of opinion that should encourage more government activity in a field which, so far as Australia, had not been entered by voluntary organizations.

Two meetings before the date of Frankston Teachers' College arranged a dance, the proceeds of which were given to CAA. Other activities which have raised money have been our weekly £10, lunch-time organ recital, a.c. golf, football matches, £2 and more of roses and lilies, £1.

POPULATION OF ASIA "TO TREBLE IN 40 YEARS"

Mr. David Scott, director of Community Aid Abroad, addressing students of Frankston Teachers' College on June 30, said the population of Asia was expected to treble over the next 40 years. The fact that, for the past 30 years, the production of food per head had been decreasing, illustrated the need that existed in many parts of Asia, he added.

Mr. Scott said Community Aid Abroad attempted to reduce the remoteness of Asian peoples and to reduce the magnitude of their problems for Australians by giving detailed and specific information about their circumstances. It was easier to appreciate a situation in which a small expenditure of money could not only bring immediate relief, but could assist a community to start a scheme of educational or agricultural development which would expand and become self-supporting.

In 1964, CAA was able to distribute £25,000 to be used for the purchase of seed and fertilisers, and the construction of wells, pumps and school rooms.

This work had a threefold value, he said. Firstly, it was practical: only relatively small amounts of money were involved, but they were applied to the relief of desperate and genuine need. Secondly, the assistance engendered goodwill in Asian countries, provided that it was offered without patronage as between nations of equally independent status. Thirdly, it helped create a climate of opinion that should encourage some government activity in a field which, so far in Australia, had only been entered by voluntary organisations.

Two evenings later, students of Frankston Teachers' College arranged a dance, the proceeds of which were given to CAA. Other activities which have raised money have been car washing, £15; lunch-time organ recital, £5; girls' football match, £2 and sale of cakes and lollies, £7.

ART IN MODERN EDUCATION

Miss Marion Scott, executive director of the Australian Society for Education through Art, visited Pasadena Teachers' College last Wednesday and spoke to the students and staff about the work of her organization and the importance of art in modern education.

The association brings to school a variety of artists who are concerned with art and education, and members come to develop programs and to assist one another. The need for such an association is illustrated by the quotation by Shakespeare:

"...For the first time, it has been made a necessary subject for all scholars in Form I."

The text of valuable experience which may be found is represented by a century change in Form I. In contrast, where students are able to work with small groups of children from a variety of backgrounds, other school boys.

Speaking of the importance of art in education, Miss Scott pointed out the increasing tendency for education to produce professional specialists, and that schools to devote much of their time to teaching children about the conventional artificial world and conventional disciplines that exist among people. For this reason, in comparison, was given to teaching what it would be to be a complete human being, she said. The value of art was that it can show children to communicate across artificial boundaries, a creative ability that has all possessed.

According to Miss Scott, then, for Education Work —

"Education for Living Today and Tomorrow" — Miss Scott said the knowledge of what it would be to a human being, to be in contact with himself, to know that people are not machines or robots, but to be in contact with one another, had to be included in every human being. The meaning of this lesson was the real business of education.

AMERICAN TEACHERS' PENINSULA VISIT

Schools on the Peninsula will be visited by teachers from the USA who are currently on a tour of South East Asia and Australia.

There are 10 teachers in the party and their leader is the tour is Professor Stuart Fraser, of the Peninsula Institute, Tennessee, U.S.A., whose parents live in Pasadena.

The teachers' visit to the Peninsula was initiated by Mr. F. Warden, acting headmaster of Kermadec High School, who is a friend of Professor Fraser's parents.

Arrangements have been made for the visitors to attend Kermadec High School next Monday night, where they will meet staff members of all schools in the Peninsula area — primary and secondary — and from Pasadena Teachers' College, and follow-instruction Mr. Tom Smith, who is teaching at Kermadec High as a Fulbright Fellowships. The school teachers' meeting will provide supper.

The Association will be held in the homes of local teachers that night.

The next day, their itinerary will take them to Pasadena Teachers' College at 9 a.m., the Peninsula School, Mt. Eden, at 10.30 a.m., Fairview State School at about 1 p.m., ending at Kermadec High at 3.15 p.m.

Before coming to the Peninsula on Monday evening, the visiting party will look over Melbourne and Mordialloc tomorrow. They will be in Melbourne for two days.

ART IN MODERN EDUCATION

Miss Marion Scott, executive director of the Australian Society for Education through Art, visited Frankston Teachers' College last Wednesday and spoke to the students and staff about the work of her association and the importance of art in modern education.

The association brings together a variety of people who are concerned with art and education, and enables them to discuss problems and so assist one another. The need for such an association is illustrated by the situation in Queensland where, for the first time, art has been made a compulsory subject for all children in Form 1.

The sort of valuable experience which can be shared is illustrated by a teachers' college in West Australia, where student teachers are able to work with small groups of children from a nearby migrant hostel after school hours.

Speaking of the importance of art in education, Miss Scott pointed out the increasing tendency for education to produce professional specialists, and for schools to devote much of their time to teaching children about the consequent artificial social and occupational divisions that exist among people. Too little time, in comparison, was spent in teaching what it meant to be a complete human being, she said. The value of art was that it enabled children to communicate, across artificial barriers, a creative ability that they all possessed.

Returning to this year's theme, for Education Week — "Education for Living—Today and Tomorrow" — Miss Scott said the knowledge of what it meant to be a human being, to bear adversity with fortitude, to choose and accept the consequences of choice, had to be re-learned by every human being. The teaching of this lesson was the real business of education.

AMERICAN TEACHERS' PENINSULA VISIT

Schools on the Peninsula will be visited by teachers from the USA who are currently on a tour of South East Asia and Australasia.

There are 12 teachers in the party, and their tutor on the tour is Professor Stuart Frazer, of the Peabody Institute, Tennessee, U.S.A., whose parents live in Frankston.

The teachers' visit to the Peninsula was initiated by Mr P. Vardon, acting head master of Karingal High School, who is a friend of Professor Frazer's parents.

Arrangements have been made for the visitors to attend Karingal High School next Monday night, where they will meet staff members of all schools in the Frankston area — primary and secondary — staff from Frankston Teachers' College, and fellow-American Mr Don Dench, who is teaching at Karingal High on a Fulbright Fellowship. The school women's auxiliary will provide supper.

The Americans will be billeted in the homes of local teachers that night.

The next day, their itinerary will take them to Frankston Teachers' College at 9 a.m., the Peninsula School, Mt. Eliza, at 10.30 a.m., Fairway State School at about 1 p.m., finishing at Karingal High at 2.15 p.m.

Before coming to the Peninsula on Monday evening, the touring party will look over Melbourne and Monash universities. They will be in Melbourne for two days.

INSTITUTION CHILDREN AND THEIR SCHOOL LIFE

Some of the problems associated with the care of children in institutions, particularly as those affected teachers who may have such children in their classes, were spoken of by the director of the Social Service Department of the Presbyterian Church, Mr. A. Spinney Collier, when he addressed students of Frankston Teachers' College last Wednesday.

He spoke first of the effect that broken homes had on children, who, perhaps, only during the first few years of life needed a mother's love and comfort, but thereafter with their mothers so near to feel the continuance of their relationship with the outside world.

As he, said, institutions had not appreciated the child's sense of separation because he found himself handed to a society of people with none of whom could a satisfactory and enduring relationship be formed.

These children frequently become hostile and aggressive, or withdrawn and tactless, said Mr. Collier, feeling a sense of guilt because their parents had rejected them. Again, this sense of rejection had often been confused by the fact that institutions which had placed children in large groups of various ages with the result that the child was deprived of the feeling of growing up in a family.

He said the current approach for such children was to group them in the institution in small groups in the case of orphans, with small groups, usually with the exception of a normal institutional shortage.

The children attended four schools, and Mr. Collier pointed out how important it was that teachers should treat them as ordinary children rather than as members of an institution, and should not blame them of hindering them in any way because they had had the misfortune to be born into a family that has broken down.

STRING QUARTET AT TEACHERS' COLLEGE

The Fazel McDermott string quartet provided a program of music for students of Frankston Teachers' College last Wednesday.

Mr. Fazel McDermott gave an introductory talk in which he explained the reasons for the popularity of the string quartet among composers and musicians over the last 250 years. Making a comparison between string quartets and symphonies and a quartet of voices, he pointed out that the combination of two violins, viola and cello's gives considerable range and flexibility, and that it is also possible to play continuously in both the stringed and the wind sections.

The group was provided some interesting remarks. It opened with the Beethoven symphony, and the concert which was written in Haydn's old age, and which requires a light-hearted pianist of the sort who usually exhibited and performed, was recognized as a modern form of the string quartet. This was followed by the scherzo movement of a Beethoven quartet which, as he thought of 19th century composition, contrasted with the Haydn in its adventurous use of the piano's chords and chromaticism.

The concert included a work by a German from a 19th-century quartet group who was an air of feeling and enthusiasm, and strongly reminiscent of Mendelssohn's very early work. "A. McDermott, Wright Brown."

INSTITUTION CHILDREN AND THEIR SCHOOL LIFE

Some of the problems associated with the care of children in institutions, particularly as these affected teachers who may have such children in their classes, were spoken of by the director of the Social Service Department of the Presbyterian Church, Mr. A. Spencer Collier, when he addressed students of Frankston Teachers' College last Wednesday.

He spoke first of the effect that broken homes had on children who, particularly during the first five years of life, needed a continuous and intimate relationship with their mothers in order to lay the foundations of their relationship with the outside world.

In the past, institutions had only aggravated the child's sense of separation because he found himself handled by a variety of people with none of whom could a satisfactory and enduring relationship be formed.

Such children frequently become hostile and aggressive, or withdrawn and unapproachable, said Mr. Collier, feeling a sense of guilt because their parents had rejected them. Again this sense of rejection had often been confirmed in the past by institutions which had placed children in large groups of similar age with the result that the child was deprived of the feeling of growing up in a family.

He said the current approach to such children was to place them in the community in small groups in the care of couples who would present them with the example of a normal harmonious marriage.

The children attended local schools, and Mr. Collier pointed out how important it was that teachers should treat them as ordinary children rather than as members of an institution, and should not blame them or handicap them in any way because they had had the misfortune to be born into a family that has broken down.

STRING QUARTET AT TEACHERS' COLLEGE

The Paul McDermott string quartet provided a program of music for students of Frankston Teachers' College last Wednesday.

Mr Paul McDermott gave an introductory talk in which he explained the reasons for the popularity of the string quartet among composers and musicians over the last 200 years. Making a comparison between stringed instruments and a quartet of voices, he pointed out that the combination of two violins, viola and 'cello gives considerable range and flexibility, and that it is also possible for each instrument in turn to assume control of the ensemble.

The program provided some interesting contrasts. It opened with the Haydn quartet, opus 71 number 1 which was written in Haydn's old age, and which displays a light-hearted placidity of the man who virtually established and perfected what is recognised as the modern form of the string quartet. This was followed by the scherzo movement of a Ravel quartet which, as an example of 20th century composition, contrasted with the Haydn in its adventurous use of the pizzicato effects and cross-rhythms.

The concert concluded with a movement from a Mendelssohn quartet which with its air of fantasy and enchantment, was strongly reminiscent of Mendelssohn's fairy music from "A Midsummer Night's Dream".

Name derivations explained—address to college students

What's in a name? This question was answered for students of Frankston Teachers' College last Wednesday when they were addressed by Mr. Baines, head teacher of Ormond State School and member of the Genealogical Society.

Introducing his subject, "The Origin of Names," Mr. Baines said that a broad classification of the origin of names can be found there in four main categories.

First are those from personal names. Richard, for example, goes due to 238 separate instances, among which are Richardia, Richardia, Richardia and Richardia.

A second category consists of geographical names. (Recent examples of these are names such as Bulet and Miller, but others such as King and Bishop derive from distant derivation.

In the middle ages, however, part of a nickname's origin is not necessarily derived from a certain place or locality.

A third category of descriptive names pertains to personal and physical characteristics of animals. Topographical names, derived from the names of towns, villages or topographical features, form the fourth category. As word, for instance, originally lived at the word.

During his thoroughly interesting and informative address, Mr. Baines related several stories of how the names he had made later showed signs of quite common names. In conclusion, he presented to the library a list showing the origin of almost every student at present attending Frankston Teachers' College.

The appreciation of the real and students was expressed to Mr. Baines in the opinion that followed a vote of thanks moved by Mr. Robert McPherson. The origin of whose surname Mr. Baines has been unable to trace.

INSTITUTION CHILDREN AND THEIR SCHOOL LIFE

Some of the problems associated with the care of children in institutions, particularly as those affected teachers who may have such children in their classes, were spoken of by the director of the Social Service Department of the Presbyterian Church, Mr. A. Spencer Collier, when he addressed students of Frankston Teachers' College last Wednesday.

He spoke first of the effect that broken homes had on children, who, suffering during the first five years of life, needed a continuous and intimate relationship with their mothers in order to try the loneliness of their relationship with the outside world.

In the past, institutions had only segregated the child's sense of separation because he found himself bonded by a variety of people with none of whom could a satisfactory and enduring relationship be formed.

Now children frequently become lonely and aggressive, or withdrawn and uncommunicative, said Mr. Collier, during a time of grief because their parents had received them. Again this sense of rejection has often been confirmed by the past by institutions which had placed children in large groups of similar age with the result that the child was depressed in the feeling of standing up in a family.

He said the correct approach to such children was to place them in the community in small groups in the care of people who would interest them by the example of a normal, successful, intelligent.

The children attended local schools, and Mr. Collier pointed out how important it was that teachers should treat them as adults, any children within their membership of an institution, and should not blame them or handicap them in any way because they had had the misfortune to be born into a family that has broken down.

Name derivations explained— address to college students

What's in a name? This question was answered for students at Frankston Teachers' College last Wednesday when they were addressed by Mr Baines, head teacher of Ormond State School and member of the Genealogical Society.

Introducing his subject, "The Origin of Surnames," Mr Baines said that a broad classification of the origins of surnames reduced them to four main categories.

First are those from personal names: Richard, for example, gives rise to 154 separate surnames, among which are Richardson, Dickison and Hickman.

A second category consists of occupational names. Obvious examples of these are names such as Baker and Miller, but others such as King and Bishop derive from distant ancestors who, in the middle ages, formed part of a nobleman's retinue or habitually performed a certain part in a miracle play or morality.

A third category of descriptive names perpetuates personal and physical characteristics of ancestors.

Topographical names, formed from the names of towns, villages or topographical features, form the fourth category: Atwood, for instance, originally lived at the wood.

During his thoroughly interesting and informative address, Mr Baines related several stories of investigations he had made into obscure origins of quite common surnames. In conclusion, he presented to the library a list showing the origin of almost every student at present attending Frankston Teachers' College.

The appreciation of the staff and students was expressed to Mr Baines in the applause that followed a vote of thanks moved by Mr Robert Metherrall, the origin of whose surname Mr Baines has been unable to trace!

INSTITUTION CHILDREN AND THEIR SCHOOL LIFE

Some of the problems associated with the care of children in institutions, particularly as these affected teachers who may have such children in their classes, were spoken of by the director of the Social Service Department of the Presbyterian Church, Mr. A. Spencer Colliver, when he addressed students of Frankston Teachers' College last Wednesday.

He spoke first of the effect that broken homes had on children who, particularly during the first five years of life, needed a continuous and intimate relationship with their mothers in order to lay the foundations of their relationship with the outside world.

In the past, institutions had only aggravated the child's sense of separation because he found himself handled by a variety of people with none of whom could a satisfactory and enduring relationship be formed.

Such children frequently become hostile and aggressive, or withdrawn and unapproachable, said Mr. Colliver, feeling a sense of guilt because their parents had rejected them. Again this sense of rejection had often been confirmed in the

CLARINET RECITAL

Phillip Morris is to play the second movement of the Mozart clarinet concerto in A major at assembly. Here he provides a few program notes.

Compared with other woodwinds, the flute for example, the clarinet is a modern instrument having been developed in the 1970's. The clarinet is most fortunate in that it has been provided with an excellent repertoire by such great composers as Mozart, Beethoven and Weber.

Outstanding among the major works for the clarinet is the Concerto for Clarinet and Orchestra in A major by Mozart, who was particularly attracted to the beauty of the clarinet's tone. Although the Concerto was composed shortly before his death, Mozart displays his brilliance for melody and form. Also evident in this work is Mozart's excellent knowledge of the capabilities on the instrument. This work, in three movements, tests the abilities of the performer. This is so particularly in the first movement (allegro), where the clarinet is very agile, leaping over wide intervals and in contrasted passages in the three main registers of the instrument. The adagio second movement is one of the most lyrical and moving slow movements composed by Mozart.

The clarinet is indebted to Mozart who secured for it, through his compositions a permanent and important place in the symphony orchestra.

For really adventurous orchestration, add the double bass. You need employ two strings only - open ones at that.

Geelong Teachers' College visit to Frankston

Fifty students from Geelong Teachers' College arrived at Frankston Teachers' College on Wednesday, July 3 for a sporting and social visit. They were met by the Abbot's representative (Gordon) and captains of Frankston's sports teams, and moved with visitors and friends to the college common room.

Games were equally divided in the sports section. Geelong won three matches, Frankston won two, and the balance was drawn. Football, basketball, tennis, and baseball.

Geelong Teachers' College is expected to make a similar visit to Frankston in August. Such exchanges provide a valuable contact between teachers' colleges in the two states, and the students and their related country colleges.

Upon arrival they were welcome by the Student Representative Council and captains of Frankston's sports teams, and served with coffee and biscuits in the college common room.

Honors were equally divided in the sports contest. Geelong won three basketball matches and the table-tennis; Frankston won baseball, badminton, squash and football.

Teachers' College in 11 finals

At the end of the winter competition of the Metropolitan Teachers' Colleges, Sport Association, Frankston Teachers' College is in the best position ever. Out of 18 finals to be played today (Wednesday), Frankston has teams in 11.

The points position of teams against which Frankston will be playing is as follows:—

Football, Frankston 16, Coburg 17; baseball, Frankston 19, Coburg 16; badminton, Frankston 16, Toorak 16; bowling, Frankston 14, Coburg 18; squash, Frankston 18, Burwood 14; basketball 2, Frankston 17, Coburg 15; basketball 3, Frankston 18, Coburg 17; basketball 4, Frankston 20, Burwood 16; hockey I, Frankston 17, Melbourne 16; hockey 2, Frankston 11, Larpol 18; volleyball, Frankston 18, Burwood 14.

Mr. P. Ladd, lecturer in charge of physical education at the college, pointed out that one women's basketball team had come through the competition undefeated with the full 20 points possible. This was the only team out of 20 sports in six colleges to do so.

He went on to congratulate the teams, which appear to be riding on the crest of the wave that began with the winning of the swimming sports in March.

Teachers' College wins six finals

Frankston Teachers' College emerged successfully from the winter competition grand finals of the Metropolitan Teachers' Colleges Sports Association by winning six matches — more than any other competitor in the competition.

In basketball, the second year entered Coburg to 17 goals to 15, and the fourth year defeated Burwood 26-17.

Frankston's victory in hockey was due to remarkable individualism on the part of the team. Coburg, a previously undefeated team, were downed with 20-1 goals to Frankston's 2-0.

In an exciting game of hockey, Melbourne was defeated 4-0, although not to meet before Melbourne had been victorious against Frankston.

Frankston's victory here was also won 2-0 despite the fact that this was the first year the sport has been played at the school.

Undoubtedly, the match of the day was football, and in this game Frankston convincingly defeated Coburg 13-0 to 5-0.

Footy's on the curriculum

↑ CARLTON'S new half-forward flanker, Brian Quirk, 17, 6.0, 12.4, yesterday took time off for an unscheduled training session with a group of his pupils at the Chelsea primary school. Quirk, a recruit from Morwell, will replace Jim Pleydell in his first game with Carlton senior side today. Pleydell has not shown the form that kept him in the team last season.

WHEN 18-year-old Bryan Quirk went to Carlton this year he thought he might get a game with the Thirds—or even the Reserves.

Now with only two home-and-away games to be played he is being hailed by some experts as the League prospect of the year.

What does he think of his success?

"It's something I never dreamed of," Quirk said modestly today.

"I only remember that I had a lot of other boys—mostly from other games."

QUIRK, 5 ft. 10 in. and 110 lb., is a forward with tremendous potential.

A GREAT?

Carlton's young star forward has said more than once that Quirk could become one of Carlton's greatest forwards.

Quirk drew high praise for his success to Burrow and John Nichols. "They are a tremendous help to the club," he says.

Quirk, who played with reserves last year, found it a big step up to League football but he has been accustomed to it before joining Carlton. His previous club at 16½ was Junior Carlton captain Kenneth (Donkies).

Donkies' feeling that Quirk would be a League forward today is well known just at the age of 18.

QUIRK'S GOING PLACES

in the forward third side. Donkies' long son, David, his wing.

Quirk says: "Michael Langley was a bit and gave up the full forward to what—Laurie—Donkies would be too."

"The big difference I find now is that the whole team is the game in everything."

Quirk played the last two games for seniors to see forwards before being switched on a full-forward flank for the season.

Since then he has played at centre half-forward and full-forward and he enjoys these positions.

But he says he will need more work if he is to stay there in the future.

Quirk is a former teacher at Frankston Technical College and he works as Carlton team bookkeeper every Tuesday and Thursday nights.

His family lives at Moorood and he has just finished playing for Moorood side.

Quirk has all the assets to become a great forward. He is tall, a good mark, a strong kick, mobile and has good arms.

In the 14 games he has played this year he has scored 21 goals.

● One of Carlton forward Bryan Quirk's big assets is his fine kicking. Here he shows his style for the post.

"It feels marvellous, but I feel a lot of other first-year recruits have also played well."

Captain-coach Ron Barassi has said more than once that Quirk could become one of Carlton's greatest forwards.

Quirk gives high praise for his success to Barassi and John Nicholls. "They are a tremendous help on the field," he says.

Quirk, who played with Morwell last year, found it a big step up to League football but he had been conditioned to it before joining Carlton. His captain-coach at Morwell was former Carlton captain Graham Donaldson.

Donaldson realised that Quirk could be a League footballer when he saw him play at the age of 16 in the Morwell Third side.

Donaldson took him under his wing.

Quirk says, "Graham taught me a lot and gave me the real run-down on what League football would be like.

"The big difference I find now is that the whole tempo of the game is stepped-up."

Quirk played the first two games this season in the Reserves before being selected on a half-forward flank for the seniors.

Since then he has played at centre half-forward and full-forward, and he prefers these positions.

But he says he will need more weight if he is to play there in the future.

Quirk is a trainee teacher at Frankston Teachers' College and he travels to Carlton from Frankston every Tuesday and Thursday nights.

His family lives at Morwell and he has two brothers playing for Morwell sides.

Quirk has all the assets to become a great forward. He is tall, a good mark, a strong kick, mobile and has good goal sense.

In the 14 games he has played this year he has kicked 27 goals.

TOUGH JOB GOES TO QUIRK

By KEVIN HOGAN

CARLTON selectors last night handed Bryan Quirk, 17-year-old recruit from Morwell, the hottest job in the team by naming him at full-forward for the game against Fitzroy on Monday.

Quirk has kicked 13 goals in six matches from a half-forward flank.

Although he got only one goal last week against Melbourne, he got the job at the expense of Jim Miller, stocky 25-year-old from Garfield, who kicked 14 goals in five games from the goal-front position.

Young Carlton forward Bryan Quirk takes a safe mark on the run at training last night.

Brought the house down

CARLTON full-forward Bryan Quirk brought the house down with a magnificent goal in the first quarter.

Running away in front, Quirk kicked the ball straight over the goalpost from the 50-yard mark. He kicked through and the Carlton crowd went wild.

Running away in front, Quirk hooked the ball almost over his shoulder from the boundary line, 40 yards out. It sailed through — and the Carlton stand went wild!

He's a handsome lad and he has torn one of CARLTON'S shirts this season. No wonder the girls flocked round BRYAN QETIK after Carlton had upset Rowden on Belfourby.

CARLTON will have had clearance from the Ministry of Agriculture for the use of the land for the purpose of the proposed development. The Ministry has granted clearance.

WHO IS THE TOP RECRUIT OF '65?

ROY WHITNEY (former Richmond champion and AHSU commentator).

There is no doubt in my mind that Bryan Quirk of Carlton is the outstanding recruit of the year. He has been asked to play in a number of promising first-year and has answered them all well. He is a good back, a magnificent kick and has good and accurate. Altogether he is a player who has a very big future in League football.

BRIAN KENNEDY (former).

My choice is Bryan Quirk of Carlton. He is not yet a finished player, but he has much to be a magnificent back, and has displayed consistently all the correct attitude of a player. You can not look a gift horse in the mouth, but I believe Quirk is the best of a defence line.

JACK RIVER.

A number of new players have played over this season. I think of Ryan Taylor of Colingwood. He has fitted into the Colingwood side, which is a big side, very nicely. Bryan Quirk of Carlton and Glenn Andrews of Gillingham are another two players of considerable promise. But the player who impresses me most is David Pryor of Exmouth. He has shown great talent all the while and could be a real champion.

DOUG McEVILLY (ex-Norwich star and now H&A commentator).

Without much hesitation, I would say Exmouth's Geoff Pryor from the point of view of the number of "goals" he has taken, and the amount he is likely to give with his wonderful shooting. He has strength and the height at 6'6" in, to develop into a top player of the future, and could even be used as a midman. His versatility is his greatest virtue, and with such is an ideal player to use as a utility. I haven't seen Bryan Quirk of Carlton, but quite honestly he has had a "very good season and must promise, have quite a good season than Pryor, as he has played the full season. The Colingwood, the Colingwood back parties, must be frustrated with Pryor for the way he has fitted into the Colingwood side in the places of Roy Brown.

REG BICKLEY (former Gillingham star and coach).

Bryan Quirk of Carlton is top choice as the recruit of the year. His versatility enables him to play in any position with ease, and he is quite than effective as a forward back because of his long kicking. I must admit that I have not seen Pryor of Exmouth, but I don't think he has played enough games to rank as the season's outstanding recruit. Keith Steele of St. Kilda started off well, but has had a little in recent weeks.

"CHICKEN" SKALLBORN (former's H&A Bowdoin Medalist).

Geoff Pryor of Exmouth is my selection. He has done better the game with amazing adaptability, as he has the pace for a half-back, forward, yet has been strong into a try position, and scores Ted Williams and David Williams, which is my most enjoyment. In fact, I thought he was best suited against Whiston. Bryan Quirk and Glenn Andrews of Gillingham are two other players of great promise.

↑ CARLTON half-forward Barker Brian Quirk about to use a handball in a test-match during training at Peters Park last night. Carlton will play the match of the day against Melbourne on Saturday when captain-coach Eric Burrows will play against him and team for the first time.

WHO IS THE TOP RECRUIT OF '65?

ROY WRIGHT (former Richmond champion and ABV2 commentator):

There is no doubt in my mind that Bryan Quirk of Carlton is the outstanding recruit of the year. He has been asked to play in a number of positions this year and has acquitted himself well. He is a good mark, a magnificent Kick and has pace and mobility. Altogether he is a player who has a very big future in League football.

BRIAN HANSEN (Truth):

My choice is Bryan Quirk of Carlton. He is not yet a seasoned player, but he has polish, is a magnificent kick, and has displayed consistency all the season against all teams. This has not been a good year for recruits, but I believe Quirk is the best of a mediocre lot.

JACK DYER:

A number of new players have pleased me this season. I think of Colin Tully of Collingwood. He has fitted into the Collingwood side, which is a top side, very nicely. Brian Quirk of Carlton and Gareth Andrews of Geelong are another two players of considerable promise. But the player who impresses me most is Geoff Pryor of Essendon. He has more potential than all the others and could be a real champion.

DOUG HEYWOOD (ex-Melbourne star and now 3AW commentator):

Without much hesitation, I would say Essendon's Geoff Pryor from the point of view of the number of "scalps" he has taken, and the service he is likely to give with his wonderful physique. He has strength and the height at 6ft. 3in. to develop into a real player of the future, and could even be used as a ruckman. His versatility is his greatest virtue, and with pace is an ideal player to use as a utility. I haven't seen Bryan Quirk of Carlton, but quite obviously he has had a very good season and could possibly have given greater service than Pryor, as he has played the full season. Ian Montgomery, the Collingwood back pocket, must be bracketed with Pryor for the way he has fitted into the Collingwood side in the absence of Ron Reeves.

REG HICKEY (former Geelong star and coach):

Bryan Quirk of Carlton is my choice as the recruit of the year. His versatility enables him to play in key positions with success, and he is more than effective on a forward flank because of his long kicking. I must admit that I have not seen Pryor of Essendon, but I don't think he has played enough games to rank as the season's outstanding recruit. Kevin Neale of St. Kilda started off well, but has faded a little in recent weeks.

"CHICKEN" SMALLHORN (Fitzroy's 1933 Brownlow Medallist):

Geoff Pryor of Essendon is my selection. He has come into the game with amazing adaptability, as he has the pace for a half-back flanker, yet has been swung into a key position and beaten Ted Whitten and Darrel Baldock, which is no small assignment. In fact, I thought he was best afield against Whitten. Bryan Quirk and Gareth Andrews of Geelong are two other players of great promise.

↑ CARLTON half-forward flanker Brian Quirk about to send a handpass to a team-mate during training at Princes Park last night. Carlton will play the match of the day against Melbourne on Saturday, when captain-coach Ron Barassi will play against his old team for the first time.

Sport fame in new homeland

YOUNG Prater, ruckman Blank Verwoert began playing football only four years ago and found success did not come easily.

But last week he culminated a run to fame when he was selected in the Victorian Football Association team which played Western Australia in Perth.

Verwoert was born in Holland and came to Australia in 1933. Until he turned 15 he had previously been known in Australia only.

While at Kingsbridge High School he took up the Australian style game and soon found he had won Prater League club honors.

"I made Charles's second side in 1935 but lost the preliminary," says the 17-year-old.

However, in 1936 success was his and he signed with the Victoria team, but Prater's chance of playing a number of its matches in England attracted him to Australian football.

Blank is a student teacher at Prater's Teachers College and said he was much pleased. Having football suited him.

"When I started to Prater all my games ended in extra time. I lost Australian football and lost it a bit longer than League football," Blank commented.

Verwoert usually finds time to work as an office boy when Blank is in the country. He has a room in the house and a small car.

Blank is 4 ft. 4 in. and weighs 12 lb. 10 oz. He plays Terry Anderson, of Fremantle, and Mandell, of Melbourne, as the best players he has opposed.

One of Blank's Prater teammates, 18-year-old Terry Hughes, trained with the V.F.A. team but was not selected in the team. Blank said he was very anxious to join the team of players in the V.F.A. team.

Indisputably, Verwoert has caused Prater to make up for a decade in time and 20 years ago. A player named Stuart Shaw was but considered good enough to play with the Two Blues at the old Prater, and joined St. John's.

Shaw, played longer in Blank in 1936 than Shaw was in Perth's team.

Shaw's career goes back to Wimmera, but he played before joining Prater. He played with the best in Perth before coming to Perth in the year of this season.

V.F.A. officials have selected a good team of players this season. As well as Verwoert and Shaw, including Peter Garry, David, D. and Southdown, and half-forward Harry Henderson, St. John's proved excellent opponents in their own.

Verwoert played two games with Southdown in 1934, but left the club for another team, St. John's. On the 14th return to Southdown he "walked" like the side and had been found in brilliant games.

Verwoert, a back, is not unlike Verwoert in several respects. He is tall, has a strong build and is a very good player.

Also from Southdown and in the same age group is another player, John Henry, who was selected from Southdown High School. He was in 1934 and had been a very good player.

Henry's brother, John, played with former V.F.A. club Brighton in 1934.

Verwoert explains, Ben Brown, but John found it, but he had played since 1934 in 1935, when he was 15. He is the best player of the present day.

Verwoert played 1934 V.F.A. team, with an excellent knowledge of touch and experience.

Blank Verwoert.

Sport fame in new homeland

YOUNG Prahran ruckman Hank Verwoert began playing football only four years ago and found success did not come easily.

But last week he culminated a rise to fame when he was included in the Victorian Football Association team which played Western Australia in Perth.

Nineteen-year-old Verwoert was born in Holland and came to Australia in 1950. Until he turned 15 he had practically no interest in Australian Rules.

While at Springvale High School he took up the Australian winter game and also tried his luck with Federal League club Clayton.

"I made Clayton's senior side in 1962 but feel my performances were only average," Hank said.

However, St. Kilda officials saw his talent and signed him. He played two seasons with the Reserves team, but Prahran's system of playing a number of its matches on Sunday attracted him to Association football.

Hank is a student teacher at Frankston Teachers' College and said for various reasons Sunday football suited him.

"When I crossed to Prahran all my success seemed to come at once. I like Association football and find it a lot tougher than League Reserves," Hank commented.

Ruckmen usually reach their prime at an older age than Hank. On this assumption his future is a bright one indeed.

Hank is 6 ft. 4 in. and weighs 13 st. 10 lb. He rates Terry Alexander, of Preston, and Mordialloc captain-coach Ray Baxter as the best players he has opposed.

One of Hank's Prahran team mates, 18-year-old Terry Hogan, trained with the V.F.A. squad but was not selected in the team. Hank said he was very unlucky to miss the honor of playing in a V.F.A. side.

Indirectly, Verwoert has enabled Prahran to make up for a mistake it made over 20 years ago. A player named Harold Bray was not considered good enough to play with the Two Blues so he left Prahran and joined St. Kilda.

Next youngest player to Hank in this year's side was Northcote centreman Colin Sleep, who is 20.

Sleep's career goes back to Wimmera League club Horsham, where he played before joining Fitzroy. He stayed with the Lions for three years before transferring to Northcote at the start of this season.

V.F.A. officials have obtained a good batch of recruits this season. As well as Verwoert and Sleep, Dandenong rover Gary Arnold, 21, and Sandringham centre half-forward Barry Zeuschner, 22, have proved decided acquisitions to their clubs.

Zeuschner played two games with Sandringham in 1962, but left the Zebras for country team Stony Creek. On his return to Sandringham he "walked" into the side and has been turning in brilliant games ever since.

Zeuschner, a bank clerk, is not unlike Verwoert in several respects. He is tall, has striking blond hair and leaps high for the ball.

Also from Sandringham and in the same age group is centre player Bob Hance. Bob was recruited from Melbourne High School Old Boys in 1963 and has been highly successful at midfield.

Hance's brother John played with former V.F.A. club Brighton several years ago.

Yarraville captain, Ron Brown, has just turned 23, but he first played senior football in 1958, when still 15. He is the most experienced of the younger set of players.

Selectors picked the V.F.A. team with an excellent blending of youth and experience.

↑ VFA captain Steve Ellis, of Brunswick, marks strongly in front of ruckman Mark Verran, of Fulham, as they seek out for the Australian's club with "Cannon" at Sandi Park on Sunday.

VFA TEAM

The 1964 VFA team is:
W. Graham, Melbourne, Geelong.
D. G. Sullivan, Werribee.
C. Evans, North, Werribee.
R.P. Jackson, Werribee.
For. G. Smith, Ryan, The Ash.
Full. Gordon, Footscray.
Mark. Brown.
Sup. (B. 1961) Wright, Footscray.

WA SEEK RUCKMAN

Western Australian League club, Swan, has been looking for a ruckman to replace the departed Mark Verran. Verran is going on as a forward but the VFA is the prime source of ruckmen. VFA's Perth is also a source. Verran is 4 ft. 10 in. and 15 years. Verran is now under 10. Ruckman (A1) Smith, who was born in England—Murray Cullen.

↑ VFA centremen Brian Bibby, of Brunswick, marks strongly in front of ruckman Hank Verwoert, of Prahran, as they work out for the Association's clash with Tasmania at Toorak Park on Sunday.

VFA TEAM

The likely VFA team is:

B: Crosher, Robinson, Osborne.

H-B: Varlamos, Baxter, Nicholls.

C: Brown, Bibby, Hance.

H-F: Oakley, Mithen, Zeuschner.

For.: O'Toole, Ryan, Taggart.

Foll.: Crosby, Voewert.

Rev.: Burns.

Res. (19, 20): Murrie, Pemberton.

WA SEEK RUCKMAN

Western Australian league club, Swan Districts, have asked VFA club, Prahran, for permission to interview young ruckman Hank Verwoert.

Verwoert, 19, came on as a reserve for the VFA in the game against WA in Perth in June.

Blond, 6 ft. 4 in., and 13 stone, Verwoert is not unlike St. Kilda ruckman Carl Ditterich. He was born in Holland.—Murray Cadan.

GOELONG THE YENDEH. Alan Barr is at full stretch but manages to punch the ball away to a teammate as he is grabbed by Melbourne full-forward John Gallus in the Reserves' curtain-raiser at the MCG this afternoon.

DEMONS GET GALLUS

By JOHN CRAYEN

Melbourne have finally won a last-year battle to obtain a player once the 18-year-old forward John Gallus.

Gallus, a 165 lb. player, played six seasons in Victoria with Melbourne, but was sent back this year, mainly as reserves coach full-forward.

Gallus played his first season Melbourne senior last year.

His Melbourne record was 18 goals in 18 games, but he has been injured in 1960.

The 18-year-old player, who has been playing with Carlton, has been offered a contract for 1961, but he has not yet decided.

DEMONS GET GALLUS

By JOHN CRAVEN

Melbourne have finally won a two-year battle to obtain a clearance for 19-year-old Drouin forward John Gallus.

Gallus, a solid six-footer played six matches on permits with Melbourne last year, and again this year, mainly as Reserves centre half-forward.

Drouin cleared him after meeting Melbourne secretary Jim Cardwell.

Sale centreman David Fox, 18, a university student, has been cleared to Carlton.

He has not yet played with Carlton, but Sale officials rate him as one of their most promising players in recent years.

VISIT BY BENDIGO TEACHERS' COLLEGE

Despite the depressing weather, excitement was high at Teachers' College on Wednesday, August 11, as the time for the arrival of Bendigo, a sister college, drew near. For the first time in some years an inter college was being held for a day of sporting contests, against another college.

Upon arrival, staff and students from Bendigo were welcomed to their friends the newcomers and so followed to lunch before the afternoon program began.

In the football match against the visitors, Frankston emerged as winners. Pat, despite very heavy conditions, he won 12-8 to Bendigo 1-6. In basketball, Bendigo was not so successful, being defeated 32 to 20 by Bendigo. The men's football team played.

Frankston defeated Bendigo convincingly in basketball, 34-5. In basketball, two games of cricket, and volleyball, which was a closely contested game. Bendigo was successful at squash and at table tennis. In weight, Frankston's championship team was defeated by the visitors.

NZCER SPELLING

RESEARCH SUGGESTS THAT TRADITIONAL SPELLING LISTS ARE INEFFICIENT BECAUSE THEY ARE TAUGHT CONVENTIONALLY BEFORE THEY ARE NEEDED BY THE CHILD.

WHAT IS THE NZCER SPELLING METHOD?

1. A LIST OF 2,500 COMMONLY USED WORDS, ARRANGED IN ALPHABETICAL ORDER.
2. RELATIVE FREQUENCY OF USE IS INDICATED.
3. THE CHILD LEARNS COMMON WORDS FIRST.

USING THE LIST

1. A CHILD CHOOSES A WORD FROM THE LIST AND WRITES IT UP IN THE LIST AND IN HIS OWN WORK.
2. THE CHILD LEARNS THE WORD BY REPEATING IT TO HIMSELF AND TO OTHERS.
3. THE CHILD LEARNS THE WORD BY REPEATING IT TO HIMSELF AND TO OTHERS.
4. THE CHILD LEARNS THE WORD BY REPEATING IT TO HIMSELF AND TO OTHERS.

A SPELLING METHOD BASED ON THE NZCER SPELLING METHOD IS MORE EFFECTIVE FOR THE STUDENT IN THE SPOKEN LANGUAGE. IT SHOULD BE EMPLOYED IN THE SPOKEN LANGUAGE FROM THE BEGINNING.

TOM JONES WAS A HIT

"Tom Jones", Fielding's famous book in comic opera form and set to music by Benjamin Britten, was played by students of the Frankston Teachers' College for a most successful run last week. Producer Gordon Brennan and musical director Robert Ellis brought more duplicate laurels.

Several of those playing leading roles were "cast" down by musical audition. It was the singing ability, their acting settings and good vibrations, especially in acts two and three which provided the back bone of enjoyment for the packed audience on the two nights of the play's season.

A slow start at act 1 was followed by the astonishing cluster of spectacular lyrics. "Woman" sings a few old English songs, whose beautiful language, despite those words, "Woman" was the heroine of the play.

The musical director being at Frankston Park stage, a white light, to be turned high and low to his and female mind the night's comic action to bring them.

Chris Rogers, who, with the singing, played during the act of romance.

As women at low and in music, Lady Jones played her part a day after the first night.

The late, famous, Tom Jones, a student, was played by Evan McFarlane.

Though playing back to front and center, he never let his back to the audience, playing mostly scenes and with the female and male.

Angie Logan, as "Woman", played in the large part two, but although she was a good actor, her singing was not as good as that of the late, famous, Tom Jones.

Clarence, who played the male lead, was a lovely lady, playing a 14-yr. old girl.

Maureen, who played the female lead, was a lovely lady, playing a 14-yr. old girl.

Many of the large cast included: Gordon, Harry, John, Tom, and many others. The play was a great success, and the students were very proud of their work.

Many of the scenes were played very well, and the students were very proud of their work.

TOM JONES WAS A HIT

"Tom Jones", Fielding's famous book in comic opera form and set to music by Benjamin Britten, was played by students of the Frankston Teachers' College for a most successful run last week. Producer Gordon Brennan and musical director Robert Bilsborough merit duplicate laurels.

Several of those playing leading roles were toned down by seasonal laryngitis.

It was the strong choral cast, lavish settings and good costumes, especially in acts two and three, which provided the backbone of enjoyment for the packed audiences on the two nights of the play's season.

A slow start in act 1 was enlivened by the apple-spitting cholera of apoplectic Squire Western (William Home), a fine old English gentleman, whose beautiful daughter, Sophia (Rosemary Gunn) was the heroine of the play.

The vigorous character acting of Benjamin Partridge, a village barber, as he hunted high and low for his lost Linda, raised the opera's comic aspect to boiling pitch.

Chris Meyers it was, who held the audience spell-bound during this bit of nonsense.

As hostess at the inn at Upton, Lindy Davies projected her personality across the footlights.

The hero himself, Tom Jones, a foundling, was played by Ewen McPherson.

Though pleasing both in voice and manner, he seemed lacking in the debonair devilment usually associated with this lovable philanderer.

Jenny Logan, as Honour, maid to Sophia Western, played her large part well, but although she has a good voice, was hampered noticeably in her singing by laryngitis on Friday night.

Charming Avis Charlesworth made a lovely Lady Bellaston, a lady of quality.

Margot Forbes as Miss Western, Squire Western's sister, was just as one would imagine her to be.

Others in the large cast included Neville Gutteridge, Kevin Bolton, Harry Wilts, Dick Boyle, Tom Hill, Roger Goodwin, Paul Coomey, Trev. Walsh, Terry Lee, Ray Watschur, Don Rule, Geoff Rogers, Brian Stroud, Lorraine Dunn, Penny Harvey, Rosemarie Winsworth, Ann Stanley, Liz Lund, and George McIlroy.

Members of the chorus who roistered vociferously in the Inn at Upton and later, in white wigs and satin culottes danced a gavotte in Ranelagh Garden, deserve a special mention.

They were Rosa Coles, Janet Henstridge, Penny Harvey, Lynette Barnes, Lynette Heath, Lynette Banks, Pat Webb, Kaye Moody, Pam Huntingford, Margaret Wham, Wendy Sutcliffe, Robin Guy, Marie Reilly, Helen O'Mara, Lorraine Emery, Pauline Davies, Rhonda Bunbury, Renee Kroes, Dawn Cooper, Helen Nancarrow, Ross Watson, Earl Goldie, and Robert Metherral.

Janet Snibson played the organ and Pam Berry the piano, at this successful musical show.

During the second interval, official guests were entertained at supper in the library. Among those there were Mr. Robert Lindsay, MHR, and Mrs. Lindsay, the principal of the Teachers' College Mr. G. Jenkins, and Mrs. Jenkins, Dr. and Mrs. Stretton, Mr. and Mrs. George Pentland, and Miss Kentish.

Teachers tour the hard way

During the September vacation, more than 100 students from Frederick Teachers' College travelled to various parts of Australia. Parties visited Melbourne Island, Heron Island and the Gulf Coast in Queensland, Perth and Central Australia.

Of those parties visiting the party this year, they were camping, first on a beach, then on a hill, and a last night trip which camped and cooked together. This kind of trip, which proves to be very popular, is regarded as a worthwhile experience in outdoor living and responsibility which provides the enjoyment of a holiday, the interest of some outdoor education and the challenge of a certain amount of hardship, according to the university spokesman of a trip.

Teachers tour the hard way

During the September vacation more than 180 students from Frankston Teachers' College travelled to various parts of Australia. Parties visited Magnetic Island, Heron Island and the Gold Coast in Queensland, Perth and Central Australia.

Of three parties visiting the centre this year, two were camping tours on which students, two lecturers and a bus driver travelled, camped and cooked together. This kind of tour, which proved to be very popular, is regarded as a worthwhile experiment in communal living and responsibility which combines the enjoyment of a holiday, the interest of some incidental education and the challenge of a certain amount of hardship, including the unforeseen breakdown of a bus.

TEACHING NOW SCIENTIFIC SAYS COLLEGE PRINCIPAL

Teaching is now scientific, war an art, said Mr. G. A. Jenkins, principal of Frankston Teachers' College, when he addressed the August monthly meeting of the Church of England Men's Society, St. Paul's Frankston.

Mr. JENKINS, who has had 22 years' experience as teacher-in-charge, told how the old college students remembered, on Frankston one day a week.

He said there were eight senior colleges in Victoria, and, for 1885, very much would be built. Also, he then, all existing colleges would have facilities to meet the people.

The college course takes two years, with the exception of the Infant Teachers course, restricted to women, which takes three years.

Mr. Jenkins said students should be encouraged, they should be encouraged, they should be encouraged, and it was necessary that they have a deep sense of responsibility and ability of money for the task.

REMARKED IMPROVEMENT

The speaker was emphatic that teaching standards must be high, and improvements suggested were: facilities in colleges to have laboratories, etc.; and, improvement in courses; best available staff and principals in colleges; reorganized system of college; forward teaching articles.

There was a great improvement in teaching when they had to learn how to teach, and while it is a new subject, and not teaching, said Mr. Jenkins. Teachers from the college gave Frankston good advice.

Teaching was more complex today. Says Mr. Jenkins, who started in his early teaching days, when there was virtually no teaching aids available today, however, the teacher had to be conversant with the application of modern aids and should aid techniques.

Primary teachers had to know something of every curriculum item, and this included music, art and nature study.

"CANT BE EXAMINED"

"Teachers today must remain competent," said Mr. Jenkins. "It is not enough they have mastered teaching, they are young, so, although sometimes" methods are still used, the teacher must keep abreast with such things as the new syllabus, trends in radio and new motion pictures (teaching aids, teaching is now scientific, not an art.)"

Mr. Jenkins then discussed a special and current period, and among subjects discussed were college sporting activities and the Harrow Report. An assurance was given that teachers were being trained to teach decimal currency.

Lay president of the men's society, Mr. C. Williamson, thanked the guest speaker for his most interesting and informative talk.

TEACHING NOW SCIENTIFIC SAYS COLLEGE PRINCIPAL

Teaching is now scientific, not an art, said Mr. G. A. Jenkins, principal of Frankston Teachers' College, when he addressed the August monthly meeting of the Church of England Men's Society, St. Paul's Frankston.

Mr. Jenkins, who has had 13 years' experience in teacher-training, told how 500-odd college students descended on Frankston five days a week.

He said there were eight similar colleges in Victoria, and, by 1969, two more would be built. Also, by then, all existing colleges would have facilities to train 700 pupils.

The college course takes two years, with the exception of the infant teachers' course, restricted to women — which takes three years.

Mr. Jenkins said students must be enthusiastic, their initial training must be wholesome and efficient, and it was necessary that they have a deep sense of responsibility and plenty of energy for the task.

SUGGESTED IMPROVEMENTS

The speaker was emphatic that teaching standards must be high, and improvements suggested were: Entrants to colleges to have Matriculation standard; improvement in courses; best available staff and principals in colleges; reorganised system of colleges; increased training periods

There was a great responsibility imposed upon teachers when they had to leave home when first going out to teach, and settle in a new school and surroundings, said Mr. Jenkins. Teachers from the college gave Frankston good publicity.

Teaching was more complex today. Here, Mr. Jenkins reflected on his early teaching days, when there were virtually no teaching aids available; today, however, the teacher had to be conversant with the application of modern audio and visual aid techniques.

Primary teachers had to know something of every curriculum idea, and this included music, art and nature study.

"CAN'T BE COMPLACENT"

"Teachers today cannot remain complacent," said Mr. Jenkins. "If they think they have mastered teaching they are wrong, as, although conventional methods are still used, the teacher must keep abreast with such things as the new alphabet, words in color and new mathematical teaching aids. Teaching is now scientific, not an art."

Mr. Jenkins then conducted a question and answer period, and among subjects discussed were college sporting activities and the Martin Report. An assurance was given that teachers were being trained to teach decimal currency.

Lay president of the men's society, Mr. C. Wolfendon, thanked the guest speaker for his most interesting and informative talk.

COMPOSE A CHRISTMAS CAROL

This competition is open to any student in the college, whether he specialises in music here or not. The winning carols will be performed at the college's annual carol festival in December. Two awards are to be given, one for melody and words only, the other for melody, words and accompaniment. The closing date is Wednesday, November 1st. Start now! Don't be shy, and remember - anyone can compose a song if he really feels the urge!

- A Few Hints - 1 The form should be short and simple - try AAA or through composed with, perhaps only two phrases.
2 - Keep your words simple - have primary school children in mind. The words need not necessarily have an Australian flavour, although this may not be a bad idea. Try for folk-song-like simplicity and sentiment, and consider too, the broader implications of the Christmas theme: goodwill etc. among all men.
3 - Members of the Music Department will help you at any stage of your composition. Bring it along any time.

EDITORIAL

The item calling for most comment this month is "A Song To Sing", a collection of sixteen infant songs published by the I.T.C's during Education Week. This little booklet has met with high praise from many sources - teachers generally. Among them, two senior and highly progressive Infant Mistresses have remarked how suitable the songs are for small children. The words, for instance, have "a simplicity which is really childlike", and are free from the usual clichés and traditional banalities of adult composed songs for children. There is no sense of talking down at all. In fact, many of the verses possess the frankness and rhythmic interest of really good poetry.

We have been greatly encouraged, too, by a visit from a representative of the Educational Magazine, who was impressed with the booklet as a publication. The page designs were really unique he thought, particularly that of The Duckling, Small Koala, and At The Zoo. He believed that many of the songs were worthy of the widest publicity and was determined to do what he could in this direction. So keep your eyes on future editions of the Educational Magazine everybody!

However, the most significant aspect of "A Song to Sing" is what it reveals, by inference, about students generally. Now it is an unarguable fact that college students can compose - - WHERE TO FROM HERE ? ? ? ?

MORE ABOUT RADIO LISTENING.

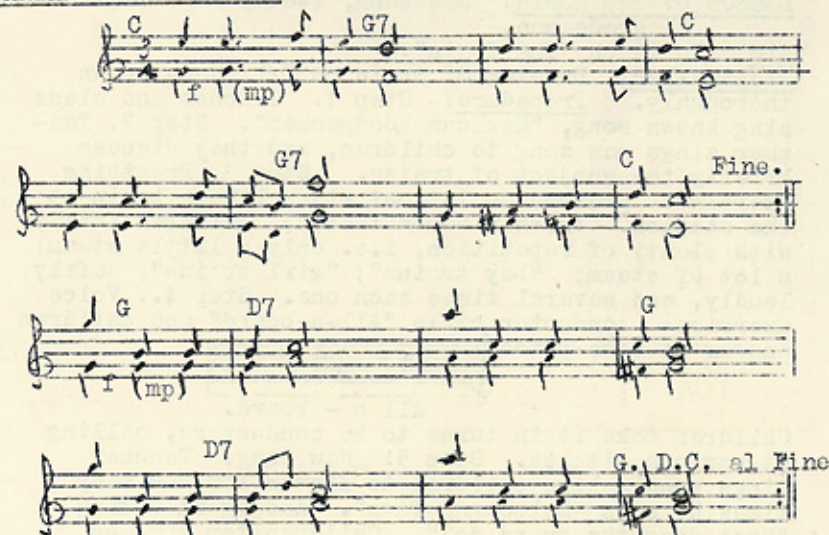

Have you taken any notice of Hints on Radio Listening in the August and September editions? I did, and found it of interest, as I heard music by musicians I had never heard of before, apart from comparatively familiar music by well known composers. The Symphony Hour comes at a time convenient for listening. Whether washing dishes, washing the car, or, whatever chore one is doing, one may still be moved by the various moods portrayed in the symphonies. Even such apparently casual listening is sure to help you interpret music more easily and surely.

BAVARIAN COUNTRY DANCE

B. Chalmers

This little dance is meant to be "rowdy". It would probably sound better with the old style Bavarian band of trumpets, trombones, an accordion and bass drum because this can make a lot of noise. On second thoughts - so can recorders and autoharps.

A SONG TO SING

It is the title and the sketch above appear on the cover of a deceptively modest little production—a striped booklet of eighteen sheets printed from stencils at Frankston Teachers' College late in winter term. The title is modest, too, for "A Song to Sing" contains not one song but sixteen songs, most of which could be sung—sung readily and with delight—by children of about Grade 1 age. The musical vitality that led to the producing of this booklet by students specializing in music at Frankston Teachers' College is surely valuable enough to be recorded in printer's ink and more widely acted. Why the songs were composed and circulated, what their virtues are, and how they may be used in the class-room can best be made clear by quoting from an introduction written by Mr. B. A. Chalmers of the music department at the college.

Initially the songs were intended for the composers' own use in the class-room, but the class of teaching original songs seems to have caught the imagination of college students as a whole, and the demand for single copies of songs has been enormous. However, their popularity is by no means due simply to the novelty of the enterprise. Genuine musical sensitivity is clearly evident in each one of them. The melodic line, for example, in a number of outstanding cases, is used to striking effect in emphasizing the particular intention of the words. Probably among the more obvious instances of this is the conclusion (not of modulatory techniques in order to reach, say, the element of surprise which, in a few of the songs, is supposed to be the principal characteristic, e.g., "Spring Cleaning", "My Wish", and "The Fishbowl"). Furthermore, the songs are attractive because of their simplicity. The melodies are short and easily learned. The piano accompaniments have been deliberately restricted to a few essential harmonies which add colour and interest. Every song can be played on recorder, song bells, chime bars, and glockenspiel. Most of them, too, have been "chorded" for guitar, skakle, autoharp, and double-bass. By using these instruments the imaginative teacher may create delightful instrumental accompaniments.

We have reproduced the first song in the booklet—one of two contributed by Peoni Harvey—together with a sample of the appealing sketches that Dawn Cooper drew to illustrate the collection.

Apart from the musical worth and the educational value to the students of this volume, it should be added that 200 booklets, collected and printed by Myra Macdonald, were sold at 2s. 6d. each during Education Week. The students' social service fund benefited. Generosity and music plainly harmonize at Frankston: earlier, for instance, the music club had drawn on its resources and donated a double-bass to the college.—S.C.L.

Probably among the more obvious instances of this is the conscious use of modulatory techniques in order to stress, say, the element of surprise which, in a few of the songs, is supposed to be the principal characteristic, e.g., "Spring Cleaning", "My Wish", and "The Echidna". Furthermore, the songs are attractive because of their simplicity. The melodies are short and easily learned. The piano accompaniments have been deliberately restricted to a few essential harmonies which add colour and interest. Every song can be played on recorder, song bells, chime bars, and glockenspiel. Most of them, too, have been "chorded" for guitar, ukelele, autoharp, and double-bass. By using these instruments the imaginative teacher may create delightful instrumental accompaniments.

FASHIONS AT COLLEGE

• These five models, professionals and students, showed the latest fashions at a fashion quiz parade earlier this month at Franklin Teachers' College, arranged by the college welfare association in conjunction with Gullman of Franklin.

EMPHASIS ON CUFFS

• Fashions displayed at a magazine parade at Franklin Teachers' Training College last week, arranged by the welfare association in conjunction with Gullman of Franklin, showed their definite new trends. A particularly important one was the new emphasis on cuffs.

They were shown as four folded or more deep, and close fitting, producing a belated look, heavily based, all on an evening gown, emphasized with four or five rows of trim, or slightly fluffed to produce an "understated" effect.

The new look in necklines is high and close fitting.

Many of the frocks shown featured rows of trim at the neck, some had 50-remending almost manhattan-type collars, and several showed a variety to the classic crew neck. It is a number of especially belated styles.

The company of the parade, Mr. John Wall of Gullman, produced a variety, in a recent session, and this was followed by several attractive belated frocks.

Mr. Wall said the short frock trend has been gone out of style, and the models showed how the short frock has been used, this season to produce a "short" frock style.

Blouse without exception, the garments shown were washable, drapable, and would not require pressing of any kind.

Five models paraded, and had the audience not been told by the company that three of them were students of the college, no-one would have known they were for professionals.

The professionals were Thelma Lewis and Ray Richmond. Models were Margie Fether, Rosemary Watney and Ray Lewis.

The assembly had at the college was held to display for the public, which is an annual event.

The dramatic stage dress and fitting were arranged by students Rose Richards and Peter Hart.

The changing into table-liners, all on features surrounded by flowers, which showed softly draped in the back, were made of materials, with the only one removed, and fitted with profits was and a which. They were used and immediately effective, and were made of 11 of them by Mrs. L. Hall.

The dress made, alternating with plain, was supplied by Mr. Ray Richmond.

Guests were received by president Mr. G. Jenkins and Mrs. Jenkins, who was making an evening visit of deep upon left, and back association.

They were seated by the members of the parade association, Mrs. L. Hall, who covered her table with a beautiful, understated, modern look with an ornate cut of the same style.

Official guests were Dr. H. Johnson and Mrs. Johnson, Dr. W. Chase and Mrs. Chase, and the president of the welfare association, Mr. A. Mason, and Mrs. Mason.

A brief speech of welcome was made by Mr. Johnson, followed by Mrs. Hart, who thanked Mr. Wall and all concerned with the parade.

She then presented bouquets of flowers to the models, and was, in turn, presented with a bouquet by Mr. Hart, on behalf of the audience.

They were shown as four inches or more deep, and close-fitting, producing a tailored look; heavily beaded on an evening gown; emphasised with four or five rows of frills, or slightly ruffled to produce an "umbrella-like" effect.

The new look in necklines is high and close-fitting.

Many of the frocks shown featured rows of frills at the neck, some had up-standing, almost mandarin-type collars, and several showed a return to the classic rever collar, in a number of exquisitely tailored styles.

The compere of the parade, Mr. John Wall of Gallants, predicted a return to a normal waistline, and this was indicated by several attractive belted frocks.

Mr. Wall said the shirt-maker frock has never gone out of style, and the models showed how the shirt-maker has been used this season to produce a "shirt-maker shift."

Almost without exception, the garments shown were washable, drip-dry, and would not require pressing of any kind.

Five models paraded, and had the audience not been told by the compere that three of them were students of the college, no-one would have known they were not professionals.

The professionals were D'lacey Lowe and Sue Richmond. Students were Margo Forbes, Rosemary Warry and Kay Lawrie.

The assembly hall at the college was filled to capacity for the parade, which is an annual event.

The dramatic stage decor and lighting were arranged by students Ross Richards and Peter Hart.

The charming little candle-holders, set on saucers surrounded by flowers, which glowed softly orange in the dark, were made of mandarines, with the centres removed, and filled with paraffin wax and a wick. They were novel and tremendously effective, and were made—all 72 of them—by Mrs. L. Hart.

The organ music, alternating with piano, was supplied by Mr. Bob Billsborough.

Guests were received by principal Mr. G. Jenkins and Mrs. Jenkins, who was wearing an evening coat of deep aqua satin, and black accessories.

They were assisted by the convenor of the parade committee, Mrs. L. Hart, who covered her mink satin bead-embroidered cocktail frock with an organza coat of the same shade.

Official guests were Cr. H. Johnston and Mrs. Johnston, Cr. W. Oates and Mrs. Oates, and the president of the welfare association, Mr. A. Malkin, and Mrs. Malkin.

A brief speech of welcome was made by Mr. Malkin, followed by Mrs. Hart, who thanked Mr. Wall and all concerned with the parade.

She then presented bouquets of flowers to the models, and was, in turn, presented with a bouquet by Mr. Malkin on behalf of the committee.

LAURIE PECKHAM had a good reason yesterday for not producing the high jumping form which has enabled him to clear the 7 ft. barrier. He was too damned tired! Laurie won four events in the combined Teachers' Collegiate sports at Melbourne University—long jump, discus, 100 yards and, of course, the high jump. The Frankston college man was travelling like a train all afternoon to pull off his four victories — but he ran out of steam before he could show the crowd how he became one of only two Australians who can jump 7 ft. Here, he wins with 6 ft. 5½ in. And this is how he spent the rest of his energy . . .

Peckham has a field day

Australian Olympic high jumper Laurie Peckham won three events in 80 minutes at the combined Teachers' Colleges athletic sports at Melbourne University today.

Peckham won the long jump with 22 ft. 2 $\frac{3}{4}$ in., the discus throw with 109 ft. 2 $\frac{1}{2}$ in., and the A grade 100 yd. in 10.2 sec.

Later this afternoon he will defend his high jump championship, which he won at 6 ft. 9 in. last year.

Peckham in great form at sports

Olympian Laurie Peckham added an inch to his Combined Teachers' College high jump record when he cleared 6 ft. 10 in. at the University oval yesterday.

Peckham, competing for Frankston, beat the record he established at last year's sports.

He also won the long jump (22 ft. 2¾ in.), discus (109 ft. 2½ in.), and the A section of the 100 yards (10.2).

Darrell Blewett, of Coburg, clipped 27.3 sec. off the three-mile event record with a run of 14.36.7.

In the women's section Frankston sprinter Jill Berry won the 100 yards in a record 11.2, the 75 yards in 8.8, and the 220 in 25.9.

SPORTS "GRAND SLAM" FOR OUR TEACHERS' COLLEGE

Frankston Teachers' College last Wednesday completed a magnificent year of sporting achievements by winning the annual contest of the combined metropolitan teachers' colleges at University Oval.

Competing against teams from Melbourne, Coburg, Traralgon, Burwood and a combined team from Lorne and the Police Training College, Frankston came from fourth place in 1964 to win convincingly by more than 20 points this year.

Last year, when Frank was called fourth position, it was gratifying that the number of first-year students who composed my class would make a strong team to hold the line in toughness of the vegetation. Producers lost most the remaining spores, the winter spore competition, including Botrytis, and saw the all-time record.

With two major surveys behind them, French state's competitors and supporters were confident that state would do well, and determined that they would win if possible. Again, the number of first-year students taking part remained well over last year.

Three persons were taken to Fremont for the day. All were the 100 yards "A" unit.

in 11.2 seconds. Laura Furber was the high jumper with a record 5ft 10in, and the girls' 4 x 100m relay was run in 11.1 seconds.

SPORTS "GRAND SLAM" FOR OUR TEACHERS' COLLEGE

Frankston Teachers' College last Wednesday completed a magnificent year of sporting achievements by winning the annual contest of the combined metropolitan teachers' colleges at University Oval.

Competing against teams from Melbourne, Coburg, Toorak, Burwood and a combined team from Larnook and the Police Training College, Frankston came from fourth place in 1964 to win convincingly by more than 20 points this year.

Final points were: Frankston, 287, Burwood, 265½; Melbourne, 199½.

Last year, when Frankston gained fourth position, it was predicted that the number of first-year students who competed successfully would make a strong team in 1965. This year in fulfilment of that expectation, Frankston has won the swimming sports, the winter sports competition, including football, and now the athletic contest.

With two major successes behind them, Frankston's competitors and supporters were confident that teams would do well, and determined that they would win if possible. Again the number of first-year students taking part promises well for next year.

Three records were broken by Frankston during the day: Jill Berry won the 100 yards, "A" section, in 11.2 seconds; Laurie Peckham won the high jump with a record 6ft. 10ins.; and the men's 4 x 110 yards relay was run in 44.5 seconds.

Outstanding competitors for Frankston were Jill Berry (100 yards "A," 75 yards "A," 220 yards "B"), Lorraine Hawks (100 yards "B," 75 yards "B," 80 m. hurdles), Laurie Peckham (long jump, discus, high jump, 100 yards "A"), Hank Verwoert (100 yards "B," 120 yards hurdles "B", hop, step and jump, high jump, long jump).

Other results for Frankston:—

First: Annette Noble, 220 yards "B"; Diane Baird, 80m. hurdles "B"; Neville Stone 100 yards "C"; Brian Quirk, 100 yards "D"; Kevin Bolton, mile walk; Michael Plumstead, 440 yards "A"; mile medley, R. Carter, M. Plumstead, M. Bennett, B. Quirk; women's relay, D. Baird, J. Berry, A. Noble, L. Hawkes.

Second: Annette Noble, 100 yards "C," 75 yards "C"; Michael Plumstead, 880 yards; Neville Stone, 220 yards "A."

Third: Judy Webb, high jump; Diane Baird, 100 yards "D," 75 yards "D"; Peter Gatto, pole vault; Max Bennett, shot put; Bob Haynes, mile; Brian Quirk, 220 yards "B"; Colin Coutts, 440 yards "B."

COLLEGE DONATION TO COMMUNITY AID ABROAD

Thanks for the contribution of President Truman (George) has raised $100 to organizing a series of activities, which are being held, a new way, and the building is now in the air.

Of this total amount, a sum of $100 has been donated to Community Aid Abroad.

In thanking the committee for the kind donation of $100, Mr. Truman said, "I am proud of this contribution."

Thanks for the contribution of the $100 at a time when the world was faced with the most serious threat to peace, the world is desperate and all conditions are serious.

Thanks for the contribution to the $100 at a time when the world was faced with the most serious threat to peace, the world is desperate and all conditions are serious.

COLLEGE DONATION TO COMMUNITY AID ABROAD

During the year the social service committee of Frankston Teachers' College has raised £372 by organising a variety of activities, including an organ recital, a car wash, and the making and sale of soft toys.

Of this total amount, a sum of £155 has been donated to Community Aid Abroad.

In thanking the committee for its latest donation of £29, Mr. David Scott, director of CAA marked on the appropriateness of the gift at a time when India was faced with the worst famine it had experienced for years. The need is desperate and all donations are welcome.

Anybody who is anxious to assist CAA in its work can contact the secretary of the Frankston branch, Mrs. Beverley Barwick, Old Mornington Rd., Mt. Eliza (phone 7 1244).

Ron Clarke could play second fiddle

RON CLARKE, the world's greatest distance runner, may have to play a supporting role to student teacher Laurie Peckham as the major attraction of Victorian athletes this season.

Peckham, 19, could bring Australia the first world record in high jumping before the end of next March.

Peckham has a height of 5'10 1/2 in. A member of an elite party from Australia, Victorian's world record team.

Peckham and fellow-Victorian Peter Jones will attack the American team next July, 1969, aimed at 5'11 1/2 in.

Peckham has cleared 5'10 1/2 in. since this year.

"The US, better than any other country in the world, I have got to be a top class in a few and I don't want to be a top class in a few more," he said.

"I am confident I can get over 5'11 1/2 in. but 5'11 1/2 in. is my maximum this season."

"I think I can do it if my training is a little better," he said.

Peckham has spent three years in a week at high jumping through the winter months.

"My weightlifting has been really amazing. I run 400 m. and 800 m. and I am a very good athlete. This has helped me to jump," he said.

NOW PECKHAM CLEARS 7 FT.

1 in. OFF OUR RECORD

Victorian Olympic high jumper
Laurie Peckham jumped 7 ft. 1 in. at Scotch College oval today.

LAURIE PECKHAM

He is the second Australian to jump 7 ft. in Australia.

Last year Olympic medalist Peter Jones cleared 6'11 1/2 in. to beat the Australian record.

Today was the first time Peckham has cleared 7 ft.

HUGS, KISSES

The new record with the silver he began and then he received a warm hug.

He jumped 7 ft. 1 in. in his first jump. When he landed 7 ft. 1 in. he got the usual jump with a hug and a kiss.

Peckham was nominated as an Olympic athlete for the 1972 games in Munich.

Ron Clarke could play second fiddle

RON CLARKE, the world's greatest distance runner, may have to play a supporting role to student teacher Laurie Peckham as the major attraction of Victorian athletes this season.

Peckham, 20, could bring Australia its first world record in high jumping before the end of next March.

Peckham has a target of 7ft. 6in. — a quarter of an inch better than Russian Valery Brumel's world record this season.

Peckham and fellow-Victorian Tony Sneazwell share the Australian open high jump record of 7ft. 2in.

Peckham has cleared 7ft. four times this year.

"The 7ft. barrier does not mean anything to me now. I have got over it four times in a row and I don't worry about it any more," he said.

"I am confident I can get over 7ft. 4in., but 7ft. 6in. is my ambition this season."

"I think I can do it, if my training is a guide," he said.

Peckham has spent three nights a week at weightlifting through the winter months.

"My weightlifting has been mainly squatting. I can lift a lot more weight than I could a few months ago. This has strengthened my legs," he said.

NOW PECKHAM CLEARS 7 FT.

1 in. OFF OUR RECORD

Victorian Olympic high jumper Lawrie Peckham jumped 7 ft. $\frac{1}{4}$ in. at Scotch College oval today.

LAWRIE PECKHAM

He is the second Australian to jump 7 ft. in Australia.

Last year, Olympic runner Tony Sneazwell jumped 7 ft. $1\frac{1}{4}$ in. to hold the Australian record.

Today was the first time Peckham has cleared 7 ft.

HUGS, KISSES

He was so elated with his effort he hugged and kissed everyone around him.

He jumped 7 ft. $\frac{1}{4}$ in. with ease. When he tried 7 ft. $1\frac{1}{4}$ in. he put in a bad jump and missed by about 6 in.

Peckham was competing at an Open athletics meeting with many schools competing.

2 CLEAR 7 ft. 2 in. — NEW RECORD

PECKHAM

SNEAZWELL

High jumpers Lawrence Peckham and Tony Sneazwell both broke the Australian record at Scotch College today.

Both cleared 7 ft. 2 in. — the first time two jumpers had cleared over 7 ft. in one contest in Australia.

They had the previous record, held by Sneazwell since 1939, by three-quarters of an inch.

Peckham was the favorite, as a successful jumper he cleared 7 ft. 2 in. at the first attempt, and Sneazwell needed three tries.

Both tried to clear 7 ft. 1 in. but failed. They had to wait half an hour after they cleared 7 ft. 2 in. because one of the stands backing the bar was not high enough. Another one had to be moved.

Only about 300 people saw the event. It was held in bad conditions, with a strong wind blowing.

Sneazwell has cleared 7 ft. 2 1/4 in. — the old A. C. Track record — at the Sydney College last year.

Other high jumpers included Victor Brown, American John Thomas and Clarence St. Clair. Clarence cleared higher, about 6 ft.

Peckham, Sneazwell clear 7 ft. 2

Victorians LAWRENCE Peckham and Tony Sneazwell lifted themselves to equal fourth place in world high jump rankings at Scotch College oval on Saturday with their jump of 7 ft. 2 in.

With a meter of 25 minutes while officials reset the bar from 7 ft. 2 in. to 7 ft. 4 in., many have judged both as great jumpers.

During the event both jumpers lightened up and the British, Sneazwell at the official time to clear the bar, however, instead like clearing 7 ft. 4 in. with the same attempt.

Officials had not been prepared for the two athletes to jump so high and had trouble resetting the bar in the single action for both Sneazwell and Peckham.

Other high jumpers included Victor Brown, American John Thomas and Clarence St. Clair. Clarence cleared higher, about 6 ft.

The world record with a jump of 7 ft. 2 1/4 in. Thomas cleared with 7 ft. 2 in. and 7 ft. 2 1/4 in.

Peckham and Sneazwell, who both represented Australia at the 1954 British Empire Games, will share the Australian record. The latter is expected to be confirmed.

The old Australian record was held by Sneazwell, with a jump of 7 ft. 1 3/4 in. in 1939.

All seven competitors in the high jump had been eliminated by the time the bar reached 6 ft. 6 in. or more and the two victors had the bar cleared in 2 in. stages.

While the bar stood at 7 ft., the meter, stood at about the people stood behind as Peckham ran to and cleared the bar with leisure to spare. The bar had barely been reset on the stands when Sneazwell cleared his long run-up, and cleared the bar with what appeared to be leisure to spare.

Scraped off
At 7 ft. 2 in., Peckham was again first to jump. He appeared nervous at the jump, and scraped the bar off with his stomach.

Disappointed, he went to sit with friends, who were watching the event, and waited for his next jump. But, he was recalled as a competitor by officials. He had cleared the first attempt at 7 ft. 2 in. and he had cleared the bar had been slightly higher at one time.

He cleared the bar once on the next jump.

Sneazwell missed his first long attempt. But the crowd made no mistake. He cleared 7 ft. 2 in. on his second attempt. He cleared the bar for three more.

2 CLEAR 7 ft. 2 in. — NEW RECORD

SNEAZWELL

High jumpers Lawrie Peckham and Tony Sneazwell both broke the Australian record at Scotch College today.

Both cleared 7 ft. 2 in — the first time two jumpers had cleared over 7 ft. in one contest in Australia.

They beat the previous record, held by Sneazwell since 1963, by three-quarters of an inch.

Peckham won the contest on a countback because he cleared 7 ft. 2 in. at the first attempt, and Sneazwell needed three tries.

Both tried to clear 7 ft. 4 in., but failed. They had to wait half an hour after they cleared 7 ft. 2 in., because one of the stands holding the bar was not high enough. Another one had to be found.

Only about 200 people saw the record. It was jumped in bad conditions, with a strong wind blowing.

Sneazwell has cleared 7 ft. 2½ in.— he did it in Tokyo just before the Olympic Games last year.

Peckham, Sneazwell

clear

Victorians Laurie Peckham and Tony Sneazwell lifted themselves to equal fourth place in world high jump rankings at Scotch College oval on Saturday with their leaps of 7 ft. 2 in.

But a delay of 28 minutes while officials raised the bar from 7 ft. 2 in. to 7 ft. 4 in. may have robbed both of even greater honors.

During the delay, both jumpers tightened up and the tension mounted as the officials tried to raise the bar. Neither looked like clearing 7 ft. 4 in. with his three attempts.

Officials had not been prepared for the two athletes to jump so high and had trouble adjusting one stand to the height asked for by both Sneazwell and Peckham.

Only three high jumpers — Russian Valery Brumel, American John Thomas and Chinese Ni Chin Chin—have cleared higher. Brumel holds the world record with a leap of 7 ft. 5 $\frac{3}{4}$ in. Thomas is credited with 7.3 $\frac{3}{4}$ and Ni with 7.3.

Peckham and Sneazwell, who both represented Australia at the 1964 Tokyo Olympic Games, will share the Australian record. No hold-up is expected with its ratification.

The old Australian record was held by Sneazwell with a jump of 7 ft. 1 $\frac{1}{4}$ in. in 1963.

All other competitors in the high jump had been eliminated by the time the bar reached 6 ft. 4 in. on Saturday, and the two athletes had the bar raised in 2 in. stages.

When the bar stood at 7 ft., the small crowd of about 150 people stood hushed as Peckham ran in and cleared the bar with inches to spare.

The bar had barely been reset on the stands when Sneazwell started his long run-up, and cleared the height with what appeared to be inches to spare.

Scraped off

At 7 ft. 2 in., Peckham was again first to jump. He appeared nervous at this jump, and scraped the bar off with his stomach.

Disappointed, he went to sit with friends, who were watching the event, and waited for his next jump. But, he was recalled immediately by officials who had ruled his first attempt at 7 ft. 2 in. could not be allowed because the bar had been slightly higher at one end.

He cleared the bar easily on his next jump.

Sneazwell missed his first two attempts, but on his third made no mistake. His coach Franz Stampfl held up his hands indicating to Sneazwell that he had cleared the bar by three inches.

Peckham hopes for jump record

By Ron Carter

TWENTY-YEAR-OLD Glen Huntly high jumper Lawrie Peckham cleared 7 ft. for the first time on Saturday, and is now confident he can reach 7 ft. 3 in. this season.

Commenting as an early-season jumper at Dunedin College, Peckham cleared 7 ft. 6 in. on one try, better than his previous best height.

The club had hoped he would be able to jump higher than 7 ft. in the season, when he can lead about 6 ft. height and has improved his speed.

"I will have to improve my landing technique and I am confident I will have about 10 in. on with me for clearance at Dunedin I've said," he said.

Peckham, who is coached by Jim Collins and trains at the back track of his home in Dunedin, will have several competitive jumps at Dunedin College on October 22.

If Peckham can clear 7 ft. 6 in. he will break the Australian record which now stands at 7 ft. 7 1/2 in. and be Victorian Tony Stewart's two years ago.

It would also put him only 1/2 in. below the record record held by Russian Victor Brzud.

Peckham is the 1972 Australian in class 7 ft. 7 1/2 in. over 100 and Stewart was 1970's champion who is in America.

Peckham gets over 7 ft. at first try

High Jumper Lawrie Peckham continued his excellent pre-season form when he cleared 7 feet at the amateur athletic trials at Dunmore Oval, Mosston, on Saturday.

Peckham cleared 6 ft. 10 in. in his first try and then went over the bar at 7 ft. without a second trial or touch.

However, he failed to clear 7 ft. at three attempts.

Last week and Peckham cleared 5 ft. 3 in. at Dunmore Oval.

HIGH JUMPERS THE TOP DRAW

By JACK DUNN

HIGH jumpers Tony Stewart and Lawrie Peckham should provide the top performances at the opening of the VAAA inter-club competition this afternoon.

Stewart cleared 7 ft. 6 in. at Dunedin this week, and Peckham has jumped 7 ft. four times this season.

Stewart and Peckham share the Australian high jump record at 7 ft. 7 1/2 in. and are coming at Dunmore Oval from Victoria Brzud, who cleared 7 ft. 7 1/2 in. this season.

Peckham will compete at Dunmore Oval, Mosston, and Stewart will jump at the University.

Peckham is sure of 7 ft.

High Jumper Lawrie Peckham said after he again cleared 7 ft. at a special meeting in Dunedin on Saturday that he felt he had completely broken down the mental barrier of 7 ft.

"I now have no mental about 7 ft. and immediately my jumping was higher," he said. "I am confident that I am capable of jumping 7 ft. 6 in. before the end of this season," Peckham said.

It was the fourth time in his competitive career that Peckham had cleared 7 feet in 1970.

Peckham hopes for jump record

By Ron Carter

TWENTY-YEAR-OLD Glen Huntly high jumper Lawrie Peckham cleared 7 ft. for the first time on Saturday, and is now confident he can reach 7 ft. 3 in. this season.

Competing at an invitation meeting at Scotch College, Peckham cleared 7 ft. 0½ in.—one inch better than his previous best height.

He said last night he expected to be able to jump higher later in the season, when he has lost about 6 lb. weight and has increased his speed.

"I still have to increase my training tempo and I am surprised I have been able to do so well on the amount of training I've had," he said.

Peckham, who is coached by his father and trains in the back yard of his home in Oakleigh, will have his next competitive jump at Scotch College on October 23.

If Peckham can clear 7 ft. 3 in. he will break the Australian record, which now stands at 7 ft. 1¼ in. set by Victorian Tony Sneazwell two years ago.

It would also put him only 2¼ in. below the world record held by Russian Valery Brumel.

Peckham is the third Australian to clear 7 ft. The other two are Sneazwell and Colin Ridgway, who is in America.

Sneazwell cleared 7ft. 3in. at training this week, and Peckham has jumped 7ft. four times this season.

Sneazwell and Peckham share the Australian high jump record of 7ft. 2in., and are aiming at bettering Russian Valery Brummel's world record of 7ft. 5 $\frac{3}{4}$ in. this season.

Peckham will compete at Dolamore Oval, Mentone, and Sneazwell will jump at the University.

Peckham cleared 6 ft. 10 in. in his first try, and then went over the bar at 7 ft. without a great deal of trouble.

However, he failed to clear 7.3 at three attempts.

Last week end Peckham cleared 7.2 at Scotch College Oval.

Peckham is sure of 7 ft.

High jumper Laurie Peckham said after he again cleared 7 ft. at a special meeting in Ararat on Saturday that he felt he had completely broken down the mental barrier of 7 ft.

"I now have no worries about 7 ft. and concentrate on jumping even higher. My father, who coaches me, feels I am capable of jumping 7 ft. 4 in. before the end of this season," Peckham said.

It was the fourth time in four consecutive meetings that Peckham has cleared 7 feet or over.

PAINTING PRESENTED TO TEACHERS' COLLEGE

A presentation of a painting was made to the Porterville branch of the Victorian Teachers' Union at an assembly of staff and students of Froelich Teachers' College last Wednesday week. The presentation was made by Mr. B. Charlton, acting president of the branch, and Mr. E. Thomas, his secretary.

This annual presentation, first made in 1961, takes the form of some original work of art by a teacher-artist. The three works of art presented have been hung in the college to form a V.T.U. gallery.

Making the presentation, Mr. Charlton said it was the practice to associate each work of art with some distinguished member of the local branch of the V.T.U. This year's presentation is associated with the name of Mr. Angus McPhail, who has been branch secretary for 15 years and has also served as president and vice-president.

Addressing the college, Mr. McPhail made reference to the general lack of knowledge on the part of the public of the contribution in the schools which their children attend. He urged the students, for the sake of the children, to take an active interest in the affairs of the V.T.U.

The painting presented is by William Fraser, art in residence, Agnewton school who at one time taught at the S.E.T.S. His work is an important landmark in the development of Australian art.

Children feted by college students

Fifty second-year students from Froelich Teachers' College last month took a number of mentally inspired children from New College on what has become a regular Christmas excursion.

After meeting in the city, each student was responsible for taking a child to receive a present from Father Christmas and to be entertained in a house or "cottage".

The party then dispersed to look at various points of interest in the city and to share with the children. Twenty children were presented with books and games were played, and, as two o'clock came, they returned to the college.

PAINTING PRESENTED TO TEACHERS' COLLEGE

A presentation of a painting was made by the Peninsula branch of the Victorian Teachers' Union at an assembly of staff and students of Frankston Teachers' College last Wednesday week. The presentation was made by Mr. R. Charlton, acting president of the branch, and Mr. K. Thomas, its secretary.

This annual presentation, first made in 1962, takes the form of some original work of art by a teacher-artist. The three works so far presented have been hung in the college to form a VTU gallery.

Making the presentation, Mr. Charlton said it was the practice to associate each work of art with some distinguished member of the local branch of the VTU. This year's presentation is associated with the name of Mr. Angus McPhail, who has been branch secretary for 11 years and has also served as president and vice-president.

Addressing the college, Mr. McPhail made reference to the general lack of knowledge on the part of the public of the conditions in the schools which their children attend. He urged the students, for the sake of the children, to take an active interest in the affairs of the VTU.

The painting presented is by William Frater, an influential Australian artist who at one time taught at the RMIT. His work is an important landmark in the development of Australian art.

Children feted by college students

Forty second-year students from Frankston Teachers' College last month took a number of mentally retarded children from Kew Cottages on what has become a regular Christmas excursion.

After meeting in the city, each student was responsible for taking a child to receive a present from Father Christmas and to be entertained in a Bourke St. "Toyland."

The party then dispersed to look at various points of interest in the city, and to meet again in the Alexandra Gardens. There, children were provided with lunch and games were played until, at two o'clock, they returned by bus to the cottages.

CHRISTMAS THEME AT COLLEGE BALL

Christmas provided the theme for the attractive decorations at Moorabbin Town Hall on Tuesday, December 7, when Frankston Teachers' College held its graduation ball.

Red and green balloons and a colorful Christmas tree decorated the hall, while on each table were small pink and white angels made by members of the social committee of the Students' Representative Council.

The ball was attended by the principal, Mr. G. Jenkins, a large number of members of the staff with their friends, SRC president Mr. Max Bennett, SRC social secretary Miss Janie Winder, and 530 guests; the latter being mainly graduating students from the college and their friends.

Dancing was to the music of George Watson's dance band, and the vigorous rhythms of "The Strangers." During supper, guests were entertained by "The Coachmen," a folk-singing trio, one of whose number was John Wintle, a student at the college.

Following supper came the highlight of the evening when graduating students and their partners danced the Graduation Waltz.

GRADUATION BALL

● Two couples who enjoyed themselves at the graduation ball of Frankston Teachers' College this month were (left): Harlan Carr-Ussher, of Mt. Eliza, with Louise Le Page, of Frankston, and Trevor Walsh, of Frankston, with Bronwyn Reese, of Bentleigh. The ball was held in the Moorabbin Town Hall.

CAROL 1.

O COME ALL YE FAITHFUL.

1. O come all ye faithful,
Joyful and triumphant,
O come ye, O come ye to Bethlehem;
Come and behold Him
Born the King of Angels;
O come let us adore Him,
O come let us adore Him
O come let us adore Him, Christ the Lord
2. God of God, Light of Light
Lo! He abhors not the Virgin's Womb;
Very God, Begotten, not created;
O come, let us adore Him etc.
3. Sing choirs of Angels,
Sing in Exaltation,
Sing, all ye citizens of Heaven above
"Glory to God in the highest;"
O come, let us adore Him etc.
4. Yea, Lord, we greet Thee,
Born this happy morning;
Jesu to Thee be glory given;
Word of the Father,
Now in flesh appearing;
O come, let us adore Him etc.

* * *

6. Not in that poor lowly stable
With the oxen standing by,
We shall see Him; but in Heav
Set at God's right hand on hi
When like stars His children
ALL in white shall wait aroun

CAROL 2.

ONCE IN ROYAL DAVID'S CITY.

1. Once in Royal David's City
Stood a lowly cattle shed,
Where a Mother laid her Baby
In a manger for His bed;
Mary was that Mother mild,
Jesus Christ her little Child.
2. He came down to earth from Heaven
Who is God and Lord of all,
And His shelter was a stable,
And His cradle was a stall;
With the poor, and mean and lowly
Lived on earth our Saviour Holy.
3. And through all His wondrous Childhood
He would honour and obey,
Love, and watch the lowly Maiden,
In whose gentle arms He lay;
Christian children all must be
Mild, obedient, good as he.
4. For He is our childhood's pattern,
Day by day like us He grew
He was little, weak and helpless,
Tears and smiles like us He knew
And He careth for our sadness,
And He shareth in our gladness.
5. And our eyes at last shall see him,
Through His own redeeming love,
For that Child, so dear and gentle is Our Lord in Heav'n above;
And He leads His children on,
To the place where He is gone.

CAROL 3

THE FIRST NOEL

1. The first Noel the Angel did say
Was to certain poor shepherds in Fields as they lay
In fields where they lay keeping their sheep
On a cold winter's night that was so deep

Chorus: Noel, Noel, Noel, Noel
Born is the King of Israel.

2. They looked up and saw a star,
Shining in the East, beyond them far,
And to the earth it gave great light
And so it continued both day and night.
3. And by the light of the same star,
Three Wise men came from country far;
To seek for a King was their intent
And to follow the Star wherever it went.
4. This Star drew nigh to the northwest,
O'er Bethlehem it took its rest,
And there it did both stop and stay,
Right over the place where Jesus lay.
5. Then entered in those Wise men three,
Full reverently upon their knee,
And offered there in His presence,
Their gold, and myrrh and frankincense.
6. Then let us all with one accord,
Sing praises to our Heavenly Lord,
That hath made Heaven and earth of nought,
And with His Blood mankind has bought.

FRANKSTON TEACHERS' COLLEGE

GRADUATION CEREMONY

"TOWARDS THE FUTURE"

1965

A TEACHER NOW

* Marie Ruten, of Mt. Morris, was among those who graduated from Franklin Teachers' College with her 127th certificate this month.

206 students graduate from Teachers' College

The climax of two years' work for those who have qualified to teach infants, came at Moorabbin Town Hall on Thursday, December 9, when 206 students of Frankston Teachers' College received their certificates.

This was in the presence of a large audience consisting of parents and friends, other educators, and head teachers and future principals of teaching schools.

Students and Trained Infant Teachers' Certificates were presented by Lady Chalmers, and Mr. J. M. Cross, principal of schools for the Frankston district, presented 127 Trained Primary Teachers' Certificates.

Certificates were exchanged first on behalf of the staffs of training schools associated with the college for Mr. C. V. Robinson, head teacher of Morwell State School. His good wishes were endorsed by Mr. A. H. Jones, president of the teachers' representative council. Mr. M. Bennett, president of the O.B.C. (1955), responded to these speeches on behalf of the graduates.

The graduation address was delivered by Mr. Michael Chasidoff, O.B.C. Deputy Chancellor of Morabbin

College. In the course of his address, Mr. Michael mentioned the importance of the importance of the life of the present, and stressed the duty of teachers to be ready and willing to sacrifice.

Surveying the career education and social norms.

Mr. Michael referred to the education should be one between individuals and those who devoted themselves to the study of the humanities. During a 10 years of such a discipline, he pointed out the need to develop an individual philosophy to which a teacher was able to add knowledge.

A TEACHER NOW

● Attractive Latvian-born Karla Nunavs, of Mt. Martha, was among those who graduated from Frankston Teachers' College with her T.P.T.C. certificate this month.

206 students graduate from Teachers' College

The climax of two years' work for those who have qualified to teach infants, came at Moorabbin Town Hall on Thursday, December 9, when 206 students of Frankston Teachers' College received their certificates.

This was in the presence of a large audience consisting of parents and friends, civic dignitaries, and head teachers and infant mistresses of training schools.

Seventy-six Trained Infant Teacher's Certificates were presented by Lady Chamberlin; and Mr. J. M. Crosthwaite, inspector of schools for the Frankston district, presented 130 Trained Primary Teacher's Certificates.

Graduates were congratulated on behalf of the staffs of training schools associated with the college by Mr. C. V. Robertson, head teacher of Mornington State School. His good wishes were endorsed by Mr. G. Olney, president-elect of the Students' Representative Council. Mr. M. Bennett, president of the SRC for 1965, responded to these speeches on behalf of the graduates.

The graduation address was delivered by Sir Michael Chamberlin, O.B.E., Deputy Chancellor of Monash University. In the course of his address Sir Michael reminded his audience of the importance of the life of the intellect, and warned against the danger of undervaluing the part played by books and reading in education.

Surveying the current educational and social scene,

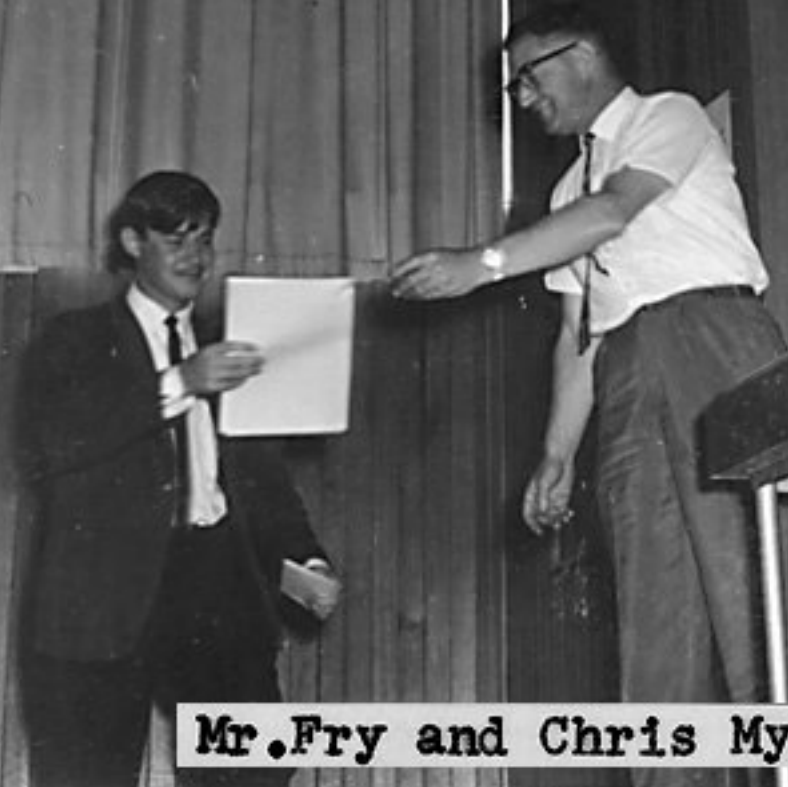

Sir Michael referred to the dichotomy alleged to exist between technologists and those who devoted themselves to the study of the humanities. Denying the existence of such a division, he pointed out the need to develop an integrating philosophy in which a unity was seen in all knowledge.

Why teacher missed school

JOHN FISHER and RUTH PAYNTER did not go to school yesterday — they got married instead.

Both are State School teachers, and they exchanged the nuptial vows of a new school term for a quiet wedding ceremony at Melbourne Registry Office.

John, 22, teacher at Moorabool, and Ruth, 22, at Geelong State School, Frankston.

Why not the first day of term classes for their wedding day?

"It's more ready," said John.

The duty called the Education Department, and we were able to get a list of this item.

John and Ruth were ready this year — at a wedding.

Ruth had a message for John: "I'm sorry, I can't go to school, I'm married."

Will be back in September 25, 1962.
