Starting their course of training at Frankston Teachers’ College on Tuesday last week were 216 new students. These successful applicants for primary studentships will study for either two or three years in order to obtain their Trained Primary Teacher’s Certificate or their Trained Infant Teacher’s Certificate.

Enrolments are not quite as great as in previous years, but with the number of students this year expected to be about 100.

As the first day commences, students are busy at the college this week. The college was officially opened by the principal, Mr. J. Jenkins, and it is to be hoped that the students will enjoy their time there.

The recommendation of the Report is for a minimum of 196 students. Not only is the number of students at Frankston Teachers’ College increasing, but higher educational standards are required of those accepted for primary training.

It appears that this year for the first time, all students who have been accepted to students who have maintained their high standards and have been recommended by their teachers.

FRANKSTON TEACHERS’ COLLEGE WELCOMES 216 NEW STUDENTS

Starting their courses of training at Frankston Teachers’ College on Tuesday last week were 216 new students. These successful applicants for primary studentships will study for either two or three years in order to obtain their Trained Primary Teacher’s Certificate or their Trained Infant Teacher’s Certificate.

Enrolments are not quite complete, but total attendance at the college this year is expected to be about 520.

At the first full assembly of students in the college hall, new students were welcomed by the principal, Mr. G. A. Jenkins, and by the president of the Students’ Representative Council, Mr. Max Bennett.

In referring to the growing number of students at Frankston Teachers’ College, Mr. Jenkins pointed out that the college was already larger than most teachers’ colleges in England and Wales, where four colleges out of five have an enrolment of fewer than 500 students.

The recommendation of the Robbins Report on Higher Education is for a minimum of 750 students. Not only is the number of students at Frankston Teachers’ College increasing, but higher educational standards are required of those accepted for primary training.

It appears that this year, for the first time, all studentships have been awarded to students who are matriculants or who have attempted their matriculation year.

New staff members for 1965 are: Miss J. Ansell (Bell State School), Miss P. Davies (returned from overseas), Miss J. Guppy (Bonbeach State School), Mr. R. Bilsborough (Doveton State School), Mr. G. SUCCESSES OF TEACHERS’ COLLEGE STUDENTS

Outstanding achievements which emphasized the scope of interests and abilities of students at Franklin Teachers’ College were reviewed at a college assembly last Wednesday.

Congratulations were extended to Lorraine Flaxman, who on February 21 received a scholarship to the University of Melbourne. The Education Department selected the student to obtain additional qualifications.

Two Franklin students who are taking extended courses at Monash University were also honored.

1. A. B. Smith, who has been studying higher chemistry at Franklin, also received a scholarship to the University of Melbourne.

2. J. H. Laing, who is studying English and history, was honored for his dedication and hard work.

At the Teachers’ College assembly last Wednesday, Mr. Austin accepted the scholarship on behalf of the student.

This achievement is a reflection of the University’s commitment to providing opportunities for students to excel and further their education.
SUCCESSES OF TEACHERS' COLLEGE STUDENTS

Outstanding achievements which emphasise the range of interests and achievements of students at Frankston Teachers' College were announced at a college assembly last Wednesday.

Congratulations were extended to Lawrie Peckham, who, at Hobart recently, cleared 6 ft. 10 ins. to become Australian high jump champion. Lawrie, who represented Australia at the Tokyo Olympic Games, is secretary of the college sport committee this year.

Results were also announced for ex-students of the college who are undertaking extended courses at Monash University. Each year the Education Department awards a number of such extended studentships in order to enable selected students to obtain additional qualifications.

Ten Frankston ex-students who sat for 36 subjects at Monash University at the end of 1964 obtained 33 subjects at pass standard or better. This is a much higher proportion of passes than is achieved by an average group of university students.
TV GIFT

At the Teachers' College assembly last Wednesday Mr. Jenkins accepted a television receiver presented to the college by the State Savings Bank of Victoria. The set, to be used mainly for instructional purposes and the assessment of school telecasts, was purchased with a grant which the bank makes available biennially to each Victorian teachers' college.

Mr. K. W. Elder, staff superintendent of the State Savings Bank, made the presentation. He was accompanied by Mr. D. R. Coombe, manager of the Frankston branch.

"Asia by Landrover": Frankston traveller returns

Mr. Tom Wells, art lecturer at Frankston Teachers' College, and a recent winner of the Annie Crosh prize for water colour painting, was guest speaker at the monthly tea of the Frankston Methodist Men's Society in the High St. church hall on Sunday last week.

The subject of his talk was "Asia by Landrover", and it covered a trip of several thousand miles through many diverse areas in Japan, Ceylon, India, West Pakistan, Afghanistan, Iran (Persia), Israel, and Turkey. It was admirably illustrated with a large number of colour slides.

Mr. Wells started his trip in Japan, including the city of Hiroshima, showing slides of the city at night time. The city was hit by the atomic bomb on 6th August 1945 by the Japanese, followed by slides of many places of life in the city, including the street and shops.

Mr. Wells told of his experiences in India, showing slides of life in a city, several fishing villages, and rural areas of the north. He described the condition of the people and their population of all ages. India was a country of many, many people, with Hindus, Muslims, and others, and it is the second largest country in the world.

The subject of his talk was the Indian way of life, with its people and its culture. Mr. Wells described the way of life in India, with its people and its culture. The way of life in India, with its people and its culture.

Mr. Wells considered that the main difference in India was much more of the people, and the way of life.

With a large number of colour slides, Mr. Wells showed how the country is by the River Padma, revealed the great river in the east, and the way of life in the city.

Great Contrasts

The journey through Afghanistan, after crossing the border, revealed the great differences between old and new. The town of Kandahar was the last stop, and the new buildings were contrasted with old.

During his journey through Persia, Mr. Wells showed slides of life in the city of Shiraz, and the way of life in the city. It was a city of many, many people, with Hindus, Muslims, and others.

The only way of life in Persia was the way of life in the city. The way of life in the city, with its people and its culture.

Famous Places

Mr. Wells spoke of many famous places in Israel, including the Museum of Israel and the Garden of Gethsemane in Jerusalem, the magnificent city of Jericho, and the River Jordan.

On the conclusion of the talk, a vote of thanks was given to Mr. Wells by Mr. Lewin Smith, and for the excellent slides.
"Asia by Landrover": Frankston traveller returns

Mr. Tom Wells, art lecturer at Frankston Teachers' College, and a recent winner of the Minnie Crouch prize for water color painting, was guest speaker at the monthly tea of the Frankston Methodist Men's Society in the High St. church hall on Sunday last week.

The subject of his talk was "Asia by Landrover", and it covered a trip of several thousand miles through many diverse areas in Japan, Ceylon, India, West Pakistan, Afghanistan, Iran (Persia), Israel and Turkey. It was admirably illustrated with a large number of colored slides.

Mr. Wells spoke of his travels in Japan, including slides of the city of Hiroshima, showing areas left as they were after the devastation of the atomic bomb attack, followed by slides of many phases of life in the present well-planned, busy city.

He told of his extensive travels in India and showed slides of life in the cities, coastal fishing villages, and rural areas of the sub-continent and its population of 432 millions. India was a country of many religions, with Hinduism strongest in the south and Islam in the north. There are nine million Christians.

RESISTANCE TO CHANGE

The mass of the people in south India endure chronic poverty, due in a large measure to their resistance to change from their ancient wasteful, inefficient agriculture, to modern methods which would rebuild declining soil fertility and boost crop yields.

The man-made deserts in some areas, especially inland from Bombay, have caused whole populations to move to already overcrowded cities.

Mr. Wells told of happier and more prosperous people in north India, where the Moslems readily adopt modern practices in industry and agriculture. A tribute was paid to the courageous, kindly and efficient Sikhs of the Punjab.

Mr. Wells considered that the mass unemployment in India caused much of the illness and crime, while another tragic feature was the corrupt and lax administration since the British withdrawal.

GREAT CONTRAST

The journey through Afghanistan, after entering the country by the Khyber Pass, revealed the great contrast between old, primitive tools of trade used by many workers, and young men using bulldozers. The veiled Afghan women, camel and donkey transport contrasted with modern cars and buses in Kabul.

During his journey through Persia, Mr. Wells endured extreme heat by day and cold by night, while crossing the desert to Isfahan and Persepolis, ancient city of King Darius and Zerxes, with its famous monuments.

The only reward of women and girls who work Persian carpets selling for £1000 each, was the privilege of weaving a small rug 18 ins. by 3 ft. for their dowry. Mr. Wells showed slides of fishermen landing 10ft. sturgeon in the Caspian Sea.

The description of life in an early Christian troglodyte community at Goreme in Turkey, was followed by modern Istanbul and the Bosporus.

FAMOUS PLACES

Mr. Wells spoke of many famous places in Israel, including the Mount of Olives and Garden of Gethsemane at Jerusalem, the pottery kilns at Jericho, and the River Jordan.

On the conclusion of the talk, a vote of thanks to Mr. Wells was moved by Mr. Lindsay Norris, and carried by acclamation.

TEACHERS' COLLEGE GARDEN PARTY

Frankston Teachers' College Welfare Association is giving the final touches to its plans for the annual garden party, to be held in the college grounds next Saturday from 2 to 4 p.m.

Students' parents, other relatives and friends, and members of the general public interested in the college are invited to attend. The garden party has always been one of the best attended and most enjoyable social functions in the college calendar.

Mr. A. H. Malkin, president of the welfare association, says that members are very gratified to have the continued support of the R.A.A.F. Central Band, conducted by Squadron-Leader L. Hicks. This excellent band will again play selections at the garden party. Another feature of the program will be the students' items conducted by the college music staff.

The welfare association, which was formed in 1960, is a non-statutory organisation of parents and other citizens interested in the college. It includes representatives of Frankston Shire Council, the college staff, and the students' council.

The association's most important aim is to help students' parents and members of the general public to establish closer personal contact with the college.

The association naturally takes a keen interest in student welfare, and, like school committees and councils elsewhere, helps to provide amenities or equipment not readily procurable from any other source. Such items already include extensions to the hall, an electronic organ, a tractor, and mowing attachments, and additional books for the college library.

A committee of the welfare association meets every month to organise functions and discuss college needs. The meetings are conducted in a friendly and informal atmosphere that is enjoyed by all who attend. However, as students remain at the college for only two years, or at the most three, new parent-members of the association and its committee are constantly being sought and are always heartily welcomed.

The annual general meeting of the welfare association will be held in the college hall at 8 p.m. on Wednesday, April 7, and all interested persons, particularly the parents of students, are invited to attend.
TEACHERS' COLLEGE
GARDEN PARTY SUCCESS

Despite weather which was most unseasonable, and which forced much of the program to be held indoors, the annual garden party of Victorian Teachers' College Welfare Association on Saturday, March 11, was well attended and very successful.

Parties of college students took advantage of the opportunity to inspect the college grounds and buildings, and to meet and talk with members of staff. Their again the college was thanked in helping the services of the N.A.T.F. Central Fund under the direction of W. III. The band and the college choral group provided a musical program for the entertainment of guests.

Tickets were welcomed by Mr. A. Whitton, president of the college, who appreciated the efforts of Mr. R. A. E. Smith, in behalf of the college, to popularize the college and the work of the college welfare association, an organization which has done much to improve the welfare of students.

The principal, Mr. R. A. Jenkins, expressed the opinion during his address that it was important that parents should make the college and the welfare association aware of the work being done for their children.

The annual meeting of the association will be held on Wednesday, April 5, in the college hall.

Despite weather which was most unsuitable, and which forced much of the program to be held indoors, the annual garden party of Frankston Teachers’ College Welfare Association on Saturday, March 13, was well attended and very successful.

Parents of college students took advantage of the opportunity to inspect the college grounds and buildings, and to meet and talk with members of staff.

Once again the college was fortunate in having the services of the R.A.A.F. Central Band under the direction of W. Burt. The band and the college choir provided a musical program for the entertainment of visitors.

Visitors were welcomed by Mr. A. Malkin, president of the welfare association, and by Mr. Max Bennett, president of the Students’ Representative Council. Mr. Bennett, on behalf of students, expressed his appreciation of the work done by the college welfare association, an organisation which is unique among Victorian teachers’ colleges.

The principal, Mr. G. A. Jenkins, expressed the opinion during his address that it was important that parents should make themselves familiar with the environment in which their children were being educated; that they should establish a point of contact between themselves, their children and the teachers.

During the afternoon many parents took the opportunity provided of joining the welfare association.

The annual meeting of the association will be held on Wednesday, April 7, in the college hall.

SWIMMING TEAM -- WINNERS OF "A" DIVISION.

TEACHERS' COLLEGE WINS SWIMMING CARNIVAL

Competing against the largest metropolitan primary teachers' college, Frankston Teachers' College had the greatest sporting triumph in its history when it defeated Melbourne, Burwood and Toorak in the first division of the Combined Swimming Carnival at Olympic Pool last Wednesday.

After several votes, Frankston emerged victorious. Mr. G. Jenkins, principal, pointed out that while the college encouraged the students to take part in sports, the home of aquatic sports here.

Frankston was the only teachers' college in the state that did not have its own swimming pool for teaching, coaching and cogesting.

The college was thus able to provide a swimming pool for its students.

Mr. Jenkins said that students would give freely of their time to the pool.

Finally, Mr. Jenkins also added, a great deal of interest went beyond the pool.

TEACHERS' COLLEGE WINS SWIMMING CARNIVAL

Competing against the largest metropolitan primary teachers' college, Frankston Teachers' College had the greatest sporting triumph in its history when it defeated Melbourne, Burwood and Toorak in the first division of the Combined Swimming Carnival at Olympic Pool last Wednesday.

Final scores were: Frankston, 196; Melbourne, 153; Burwood, 153; Toorak, 68.

Frankston's victory was even better than last year's when the college defeated Geelong, Ballarat and Bendigo in the second division. The final scores in the second division this year were: Geelong, 165; Coburg, 161; Ballarat, 133; Bendigo, 77.

Discussing Frankston's win, Mr. G. Jenkins, principal, pointed out that while the college encouraged students to take part in various forms of aquatic sport locally, Frankston was the only teachers' college in Victoria that did not have convenient access to a swimming pool for teaching, training and competition.

The college team was selected after three brief lunch-time practice periods at the Ashburton pool, more than 20 miles away. This was the nearest pool available for use without serious interruptions to the college's normal program.

COLLEGE WOULD TEACH

Mr. P. Ladd, lecturer in charge of health and physical education, said that if Frankston had a swimming pool, college students would help to see that every child in the district was taught to swim. Mr. Jenkins agreed that students would give freely of their time to do this on an organised basis.

Mr. Max Bennett, president of the Students' Representative Council, and Mr. John Gallus, who received the shield on behalf of the college; paid tribute to the excellent spirit of the college team and to the assistance given by Miss V. Wallace and Mr. W. Dolphin, members of the staff. The team also owed a great deal to the enthusiasm and efficiency of Miss Dianne Baird, who acted as student "manageress."

Mr. David Scott, director of Community Aid Abroad, addressing students at Frensham Teachers' College on June 30, said the population of Asia was expected to treble over the next 40 years. The fact that, for the past 30 years, the production of food per head had been decreasing, illustrated the need that existed in many parts of Asia, he added.

Mr. Scott said Community Aid Abroad attempted to relieve the starvation of Asian peoples and to reduce the distress of their problems by being selective and specific in their expenditure. They were ready to consider all proposals submitted in good faith, and they were interested in projects which would result in balanced economic and social development which would expand and become self-sustaining.

In 1961, CAA was able to distribute £2,000, the proceeds of which were given to CAA. Other activities which have received grants have been the erection of water tanks and wells in some parts of the world.
Mr. David Scott, director of Community Aid Abroad, addressing students of Frankston Teachers’ College on June 30, said the population of Asia was expected to treble over the next 40 years. The fact that, for the past 30 years, the production of food per head had been decreasing, illustrated the need that existed in many parts of Asia, he added.

Mr. Scott said Community Aid Abroad attempted to reduce the remoteness of Asian peoples and to reduce the magnitude of their problems for Australians by giving detailed and specific information about their circumstances. It was easier to appreciate a situation in which a small expenditure of money could not only bring immediate relief, but could assist a community to start a scheme of educational or agricultural development which would expand and become self-supporting.

In 1964, CAA was able to distribute £25,000 to be used for the purchase of seed and fertilisers, and the construction of wells, pumps and school rooms.

This work had a threefold value, he said. Firstly, it was practical: only relatively small amounts of money were involved, but they were applied to the relief of desperate and genuine need. Secondly, the assistance engendered goodwill in Asian countries, provided that it was offered without patronage as between nations of equally independent status. Thirdly, it helped create a climate of opinion that should encourage some government activity in a field which, so far in Australia, had only been entered by voluntary organisations.

Two evenings later, students of Frankston Teachers’ College arranged a dance, the proceeds of which were given to CAA. Other activities which have raised money have been car washing, £15; lunch-time organ recital, £5; girls’ football match, £2 and sale of cakes and lollies, £7.
ART IN MODERN EDUCATION

Miss Marion Smith, executive director of the Australian Society for Education through Art, visited Penrith Teachers' College last Wednesday and spoke to the students and staff about the work of her association and the importance of art in modern education.

Speaking of the importance of art in education, Miss Smith pointed out the increasing tendency for education to produce professionals, and the schools to devote much of their time to teaching those subjects which are taught in most countries. The need for art education was as great as ever, she said. The value of art was that it encouraged children to discover new and unique forms of art and to develop individuality that was essential for a happy life.

AMERICAN TEACHERS' PENINSULA VISIT

Schools on the Peninsula will be visited by teachers from the USA, who are currently on a tour of South East Asia and Australia.

There are 12 teachers in the party, and their host is the head of Professor Howard Piers of the Penobscot Institute, Tennessee, USA, whose parents live in Penrith. The teachers' visit to the Peninsula was arranged by Mr. P. Vardon, acting headmaster of National High School, who is a friend of Professor Piers.

The teachers have been hosted at the school by Miss Smith and Mr. Smith, who are the Penrith Teachers' Association. They will be visited on Monday morning by the teachers who will talk to students and teachers about their experiences in the USA.

The teachers' visit will last for two days.
ART IN MODERN EDUCATION

Miss Marion Scott, executive director of the Australian Society for Education through Art, visited Frankston Teachers’ College last Wednesday and spoke to the students and staff about the work of her association and the importance of art in modern education.

The association brings together a variety of people who are concerned with art and education, and enables them to discuss problems and so assist one another. The need for such an association is illustrated by the situation in Queensland where, for the first time, art has been made a compulsory subject for all children in Form 1.

The sort of valuable experience which can be shared is illustrated by a teachers’ college in West Australia, where student teachers are able to work with small groups of children from a nearby migrant hostel after school hours.

Speaking of the importance of art in education, Miss Scott pointed out the increasing tendency for education to produce professional specialists, and for schools to devote much of their time to teaching children about the consequent artificial social and occupational divisions that exist among people. Too little time, in comparison, was spent in teaching what it meant to be a complete human being, she said. The value of art was that it enabled children to communicate, across artificial barriers, a creative ability that they all possessed.

Returning to this year’s theme, for Education Week — “Education for Living—Today and Tomorrow” — Miss Scott said the knowledge of what it meant to be a human being, to bear adversity with fortitude, to choose and accept the consequences of choice, had to be re-learnt by every human being. The teaching of this lesson was the real business of education.
AMERICAN TEACHERS' PENINSULA VISIT

Schools on the Peninsula will be visited by teachers from the USA who are currently on a tour of South East Asia and Australasia.

There are 12 teachers in the party, and their tutor on the tour is Professor Stuart Frazer, of the Peabody Institute, Tennessee, U.S.A., whose parents live in Frankston.

The teachers’ visit to the Peninsula was initiated by Mr P. Vardon, acting headmaster of Karingal High School, who is a friend of Professor Frazer’s parents.

Arrangements have been made for the visitors to attend Karingal High School next Monday night, where they will meet staff members of all schools in the Frankston area — primary and secondary — staff from Frankston Teachers’ College, and fellow-American Mr Don Dench, who is teaching at Karingal High on a Fulbright Fellowship. The school women’s auxiliary will provide supper.

The Americans will be billeted in the homes of local teachers that night.

The next day, their itinerary will take them to Frankston Teachers’ College at 9 a.m., the Peninsula School, Mt. Eiza, at 10.30 a.m., Fairway State School at about 1 p.m., finishing at Karingal High at 2.15 p.m.

Before coming to the Peninsula on Monday evening, the touring party will look over Melbourne and Monash universities. They will be in Melbourne for two days.
In spite of a night of accidental gales and howling winds, Franklin Teachers' College had a record crowd of 800 at its annual ball, held at Northenton Hotel Hall, on Friday, July 18. This turnout was more than the 1,000 last year, which is an indication of the success of the function and the increasing interest in the college hall.

A long-nosed clown for entertainers dressed the caricature with a cardboard frame, with moustache and accessories.

Guests were welcomed by the principal of Franklin Teachers' College, Dr. O. Johnson, and Mrs. Johnson, of the student's administration council Miss Rebecca, the secretary of the socials with some notes.

Other guests included the principal of the College, Mr. John, Miss M. Smollett, the principal of the Board of Teachers' College, Miss Alice, the principal of the Franklin Teachers' College, Miss Smith, and Mrs. Smith, and all those who attended.

Among the guests were the attendees from other colleges and some faculty members.

Several members of the college staff members attended and many students.

Janie Winder and Miss Longian.
In spite of a night of torrential rain and howling winds, Frankston Teachers' College had a record crowd of 920 at its annual ball, held at Moorabbin Town Hall, on Friday, July 16. This number was more than 200 up on last year, which is an indication of the success of the function and the increasing interest in the college itself.

A king-sized clown face dominated the decorations, which followed a carnival theme, with massed balloons and streamers.

Guests were welcomed by the principal of Frankston Teachers' College, Mr G. Jenkins, and Mrs Jenkins; the president of the students' representative council, Mr Max Bennett, and the secretary of the social committee, Miss Janie Winder.

Official guests included the principal of the Coburg Teachers' College, Miss Ida Lowndes; the principal of the Burwood Teachers' College, Dr. L. Shears, and Mrs Shears; the principal of the Larnook Teachers' College, Miss I. Horne; the president of the welfare association of Frankston Teachers' College, Mr Makin, and Mrs Makin, and the secretary of the welfare association, Mr Neil Toyne.

Also present were student representative council members of other colleges and ex-student representative council members from Frankston College.

INSTITUTION CHILDREN AND THEIR SCHOOL LIFE

Some of the problems associated with the care of children in institutions, particularly as these affected teachers who may have such children in their classes, were spoken of by the director of the Social Service Department of the Presbyterian Church, Mrs. A. Spencer Colliver, when he addressed students of Frankston Teachers' College last Wednesday.

Mrs. Colliver said that some parents felt that children who were wards of the institution were inferior to children who were not wards. She said that many parents felt that the children were not given a fair chance to develop. She said that the children had to be treated as individuals and that they should be given the same opportunities as other children.

STRING QUARTET AT TEACHERS' COLLEGE

The Paul McDowall String Quartet provided a program of music for students of Frankston Teachers College last Wednesday.

Mr. Paul McDowall gave an introductory talk to the audience and explained the music for the program. The concert was attended by over 500 people, including students and faculty members.

The concert concluded with a movement from a 19th-century quartet which was received with great enthusiasm. It opened with the fiddle tune, opus 30 which was written.
INSTITUTION CHILDREN AND THEIR SCHOOL LIFE

Some of the problems associated with the care of children in institutions, particularly as these affected teachers who may have such children in their classes, were spoken of by the director of the Social Service Department of the Presbyterian Church, Mr. A. Spencer Colliver, when he addressed students of Frankston Teachers’ College last Wednesday.

He spoke first of the effect that broken homes had on children who, particularly during the first five years of life, needed a continuous and intimate relationship with their mothers in order to lay the foundations of their relationship with the outside world.

In the past, institutions had only aggravated the child’s sense of separation because he found himself handled by a variety of people with none of whom could a satisfactory and enduring relationship be formed.

Such children frequently become hostile and aggressive, or withdrawn and unapproachable, said Mr. Colliver, feeling a sense of guilt because their parents had rejected them. Again, this sense of rejection had often been confirmed in the past by institutions which had placed children in large groups of similar age with the result that the child was deprived of the feeling of growing up in a family.

He said the current approach to such children was to place them in the community in small groups in the care of couples who would present them with the example of a normal harmonious marriage.

The children attended local schools, and Mr. Colliver pointed out how important it was that teachers should treat them as ordinary children rather than as members of an institution, and should not blame them or handicap them in any way because they had had the misfortune to be born into a family that has broken down.
STRING QUARTET AT TEACHERS' COLLEGE

The Paul McDermott string quartet provided a program of music for students of Frankston Teachers' College last Wednesday.

Mr Paul McDermott gave an introductory talk in which he explained the reasons for the popularity of the string quartet among composers and musicians over the last 200 years. Making a comparison between stringed instruments and a quartet of voices, he pointed out that the combination of two violins, viola and 'cello gives considerable range and flexibility, and that it is also possible for each instrument in turn to assume control of the ensemble.

The program provided some interesting contrasts. It opened with the Haydn quartet, opus 71 number 1 which was written in Haydn's old age, and which displays a light-hearted placidity of the man who virtually established and perfected what is recognised as the modern form of the string quartet. This was followed by the scherzo movement of a Ravel quartet which, as an example of 20th century composition, contrasted with the Haydn in its adventurous use of the pizzicato effects and cross-rhythms.

The concert concluded with a movement from a Mendelssohn quartet which with its air of fantasy and enchantment, was strongly reminiscent of Mendelssohn's fairy music from "A Midsummer Night's Dream".

What's in a name? This question was answered for students at Frankston Teachers' College last Wednesday when they were addressed by Mr. Baines, head teacher of Ormond State School and member of the Genealogical Society.

Introducing his subject, "The Origin of Surnames," Mr. Baines said that the broad classification of the origin of surnames required them to be made under certain categories. First are those from personal names: Richard, for example, gives rise to 238 separate variations, which are Richard, Richards, and Ricketts. A second category consists of occupational names: such as Baker, Miller, and others such as King and Bishop derive from similar circumstances.

In the middle ages, historical records often included names of cities, villages, or towns. Often the first name was used to denote the name of the town or village of birth. For instance, the name was usually prefixed to the name of the town, such as Robert in Robert Miller. The surname itself, however, was often based on a name of a family.

Some examples of these are Morgan, Morgan, and others such as Robert and Elizabeth. During his address, Mr. Baines indicated several stories of his own experience.

Introducing his subject, "The Origin of Surnames," Mr Baines said that a broad classification of the origins of surnames reduced them to four main categories.

First are those from personal names: Richard, for example, gives rise to 154 separate surnames, among which are Richardson, Dickison and Hickman.

A second category consists of occupational names. Obvious examples of these are names such as Baker and Miller, but others such as King and Bishop derive from distant ancestors who, in the middle ages, formed part of a nobleman's retinue or habitually performed a certain part in a miracle play or morality.

Topographical names, formed from the names of towns, villages or topographical features, form the fourth category: Atwood, for instance, originally lived at the wood.

During his thoroughly interesting and informative address, Mr Baines related several stories of investigations he had made into obscure origins of quite common surnames. In conclusion, he presented to the library a list showing the origin of almost very student at present attending Frankston Teachers' College.

The appreciation of the staff and students was expressed to Mr Baines in the applause that followed a vote of thanks moved by Mr Robert Metherall, the origin of whose surname Mr Baines has been unable to trace!

CLARINET RECITAL

Phillip Norris is to play the second movement of the Mozart clarinet concerto in A major at assembly. Here he provides a few program notes.

Compared with other woodwinds, the flute for example, the clarinet is a modern instrument having been developed in the 1970's. The clarinet is most fortunate in that it has been provided with an excellent repertoire by such great composers as Mozart, Beethoven and Weber.

Outstanding among the major works for the clarinet is the Concerto for Clarinet and Orchestra in A major by Mozart, who was particularly attracted to the beauty of the clarinet's tone. Although the Concerto was composed shortly before his death, Mozart displays his brilliance for melody and form. Also evident in this work is Mozart's excellent knowledge of the capabilities on the instrument. This work, in three movements, tests the abilities of the performer. This is so particularly in the first movement (allegro), where the clarinet is very agile, leaping over wide intervals and in contrasted passages in the three main registers of the instrument. The adagio second movement is one of the most lyrical and moving slow movements composed by Mozart.

The clarinet is indebted to Mozart who secured for it, through his compositions a permanent and important place in the symphony orchestra.

Footy's on the curriculum

Carlton's new half-forward, Clarke, 17, 5-5, 11.4, yesterday took times all for an unscheduled training session with a group of his pupils at the Cheltenham primary school. Clarke, a recruit from Marcellin, will train with Jim Playford in his first game with Carlton's senior side today. Playford has not played the season that kept him in the team last season.
Footy’s on the curriculum

CARLTON’S new half-forward flanker, Brian Quirk, 17, 6.0, 12.4, yesterday took time off for an unscheduled training session with a group of his pupils at the Chelsea primary school. Quirk, a recruit from Morwell, will replace Jim Pleydell in his first game with Carlton senior side today. Pleydell has not shown the form that kept him in the team last season.
QUIRK'S GOING PLACES

Quirk has all the makings of a great forward. He is tall, a good header, a strong striker and has good aerial ability. In 14 games he has scored 20 goals.

Quirk has all the makings of a great forward. He is tall, a good header, a strong striker and has good aerial ability. In 14 games he has scored 20 goals.

One of Carlton forward Bryan Quirk's big assets is his fine kicking. Here he shows his style for the point.
WHEN 18-year-old Bryan Quirk went to Carlton this year he thought he might get a game with the Thirds—or even the Reserves.

Now with only two home-and-away games to be played he is being hailed by some experts as the League recruit of the year.

What does he think of his success?

“It feels marvellous, but I feel a lot of other first-year recruits have also played well.”

Quirk, 6 ft. ½ in. and 12 st., is a forward with tremendous potential.

A GREAT?

Captain-coach Ron Barassi has said more than once that Quirk could become one of Carlton’s greatest forwards.

Quirk gives high praise for his success to Barassi and John Nicholls. “They are a tremendous help on the field,” he says.

Quirk, who played with Morwell last year, found it a big step up to League football but he had been conditioned to it before joining Carlton. His captain-coach at Morwell was former Carlton captain Graham Donaldson.

Donaldson realised that Quirk could be a League footballer when he saw him play at the age of 16 in the Morwell Third side. Donaldson took him under his wing.

Quirk says, “Graham taught me a lot and gave me the real run-down on what League football would be like.

“The biggest difference I find now is that the whole tempo of the game is stepped-up.”

Quirk played the first two games this season in the Reserves before being selected on a half-forward flank for the seniors.

Since then he has played at centre half-forward and full-forward, and he prefers these positions.

But he says he will need more weight if he is to play there in the future.

Quirk is a trainee teacher at Frankston Teachers’ College and he travels to Carlton from Frankston every Tuesday and Thursday nights.

His family lives at Morwell and he has two brothers playing for Morwell sides.

TOUGH JOB GOES TO QUIRK

By KEVIN HOGAN

CARLTON selectors last night handed Bryan Quirk, 17-year-old recruit from Morwell, the hottest job in the team by naming him at full-forward for the game against Fitzroy on Monday.

Quirk has kicked 13 goals in six matches from a half-forward flank.

Although he got only one goal last week against Melbourne, he got the job at the expense of Jim Miller, stocks 19-year-old from Garfield, who kicked 16 goals in five games from the goal-front position.

WHO IS THE TOP RECRUIT OF '65?

ROY WRIGHT names Richmond champion and AFLD Fremantle.

That is not decided in my mind that Bryan Quick of Carlton is the outstanding recruit of the year. He has been asked to play in a number of matches this year and has acquitted himself well. He is a good mark, a magnificent kick and has pace and authority. Perhaps he is a player who has a long tag future in League football.

BRIAN RANSOM (Vicola)

My choice is Bryan Quick of Carlton. He is not yet a seasoned player, but he has speed, is a magnificent kick, and has demonstrated throughout the season against all the teams against all the teams. He has not had a good year for Richmond, but I believe Quick is the best of a bottom-end.

JACK DERRY

A number of new players have pleased me this season. I think of Geelong's full of the Collingwood, which is a top side very strong. Geelong's Geelong are always our players of considerable promise, but the players who have come to Geelong are Geoff Pryor of Essendon. He has been more than a handful for the other side, and he is more than a bit of a hard hitter. He has been more than a handful for the Geelong side, the absence of Bob Brown.

BRIAN MCMANUS (Vicola)

My choice is Bryan Quick of Carlton. For a young player he has been more than a handful for the other side. He has been more than a handful for the Geelong side, the absence of Bob Brown.

DICKIE SWALLBORN (Newcastle)

Geoff Pryor of Essendon is my choice. He has been more than a handful for the other side, as he has the pace for a half-forward, but has been more than a handful for the other side. He is more than a bit of a hard hitter, and the player he is likely to give the other side a hard time. Dickie Swallborn is the best of the two other players of greater promise.

CARLTON half-forward Roche Brian Quick about to send a handball to a team-man during training at Princes Park last night. Carlton will play the match of the day against Melbourne on Saturday, when captain-coach Bob Brown will play against him and some for the first time.
WHO IS THE TOP RECRUIT OF ’65?

There is no doubt in my mind that Bryan Quirk of Carlton is the outstanding recruit of the year. He has been asked to play in a number of positions this year and has acquitted himself well. He is a good mark, a magnificent Kick and has pace and mobility. Altogether he is a player who has a very big future in League football.

BRIAN HANSEN (Truth):

My choice is Bryan Quirk of Carlton. He is not yet a seasoned player, but he has polish, is a magnificent kick, and has displayed consistency all the season against all teams. This has not been a good year for recruits, but I believe Quirk is the best of a mediocre lot.

JACK DYER:

A number of new players have pleased me this season. I think of Colin Tully of Collingwood. He has fitted into the Collingwood side, which is a top side, very nicely. Brian Quirk of Carlton and Gareth Andrews of Geelong are another two players of considerable promise. But the player who impresses me most is Geoff Pryor of Essendon. He has more potential than all the others and could be a real champion.

DOUG HEYWOOD (ex-Melbourne star and now 3AW commentator):

Without much hesitation, I would say Essendon’s Geoff Pryor from the point of view of the number of “scalps” he has taken, and the service he is likely to give with his wonderful physique. He has strength and the height at 6ft. 3in. to develop into a real player of the future, and could even be used as a ruckman. His versatility is his greatest virtue, and with pace is an ideal player to use as a utility. I haven’t seen Bryan Quirk of Carlton, but quite obviously he has had a very good season and could possibly have given greater service than Pryor, as he has played the full season. Ian Montgomery, the Collingwood back pocket, must be bracketed with Pryor for the way he has fitted into the Collingwood side in the absence of Ron Reeves.

REG HICKEY (former Geelong star and coach):

Bryan Quirk of Carlton is my choice as the recruit of the year. His versatility enables him to play in key positions with success, and he is more than effective on a forward flank because of his long kicking. I must admit that I have not seen Pryor of Essendon, but I don’t think he has played enough games to rank as the season’s outstanding recruit. Kevin Neale of St. Kilda started off well, but has faded a little in recent weeks.

“CHICKEN” SMALLHORN (Fitzroy’s 1933 Brownlow Medallist):

Geoff Pryor of Essendon is my selection. He has come into the game with amazing adaptability, as he has the pace for a half-back flanker, yet has been swung into a key position and beaten Ted Whitten and Darrel Baldock, which is no small assignment. In fact, I thought he was best afield against Whitten. Bryan Quirk and Gareth Andrews of Geelong are two other players of great promise.

Sport fame in new homeland

YOUNG Preston ruckman Hank Verwoert began playing football only 12 years ago and found success did not come easily.

But last week he culminated a rise to fame while he was recorded in the Victorian Football Association teams which played Western Australia in Perth.

While at Springvale High School he was on the Australian under 19 side and also played for the Victorian Under 19s. He also played for Sunbury R.C. and was selected for the Victorian under 20 team.

Verwoert has been in the V.F.A. team for two years and he is one of the most promising players in the league.

V.F.A. officials have held a good bat at the handle of this season. As well as Verwoert and Sharp, John Baker, Gary book, and Shaw have been selected for the V.F.A. team.

Verwoert played two games with Skilling and was selected for the Victorian under 20 team.

The season has been a break-through season for Verwoert and he is looking forward to the future.
Sport fame in new homeland

Young Prahran ruckman Hank Verwoert began playing football only four years ago and found success did not come easily.

But last week he culminated a rise to fame when he was included in the Victorian Football Association team which played Western Australia in Perth.

Nineteen-year-old Verwoert was born in Holland and came to Australia in 1960. Until he turned 15 he had practically no interest in Australian Rules.

While at Springvale High School he took up the Australian winter game and also tried his luck with Federal League club Clayton.

"I made Clayton's senior side in 1962 but feel my performances were only average," Hank said.

However, St. Kilda officials saw his talent and signed him. He played two seasons with the Reserves team, but Prahran's system of playing a number of its matches on Sunday attracted him to Association football.

Hank is a resident teacher at Frankston Teachers' College and said for various reasons Sunday football suited him.

"When I crossed to Prahran all my success seemed to come at once. I like Association football and find it a lot tougher than League Reserves," Hank commented.

Ruckmen usually reach their prime at an older age than Hank. On this assumption his future is a bright one indeed.

Hank is 6 ft. 4 in. and weighs 13 st. 10 lb. He rates Terry Alexander, of Preston, and Mordialloc captain-coach Ray Baxter as the best players he has opposed.

One of Hank's Prahran team mates, 18-year-old Terry Hogan, trained with the V.F.A. squad but was not selected in the team. Hank said he was very unlucky to miss the honor of playing in a V.F.A. side.

Indirectly, Verwoert has enabled Prahran to make up for a mistake it made over 20 years ago. A player named Harold Bray was not considered good enough to play with the Two Blues so he left Prahran and joined St. Kilda.

Next youngest player to Hank in this year's side was Northcote centreman Colin Sleep, who is 20.

Sleep's career goes back to Wimmera League club Horsham, where he played before joining Fitzroy. He stayed with the Lions for three years before transferring to Northcote at the start of this season.

V.F.A. officials have obtained a good batch of recruits this season. As well as Verwoert and Sleep, Dandenong rover Gary Arnold, 21, and Sandringham centre half-forward Barry Zeuschner, 22, have proved decided acquisitions to their clubs.

Zeuschner played two games with Sandringham in 1962, but left the Zebras for country team Stony Creek. On his return to Sandringham he "walked" into the side and has been turning in brilliant games ever since.

Zeuschner, a bank clerk, is not unlike Verwoert in several respects. He is tall, has striking blond hair and leaps high for the ball.

Also from Sandringham and in the same age group is centre player Bob Hance.

Bob was recruited from Melbourne High School Old Boys in 1963 and has been highly successful at midfield.

Yarraville captain, Ron Brown, has just turned 23, but he first played senior football in 1963, when still it. He is the most experienced of the younger set of players.

Selectors picked the V.F.A. team with an excellent blending of youth and experience.

WA SEEK RUCKMAN

Western Australian league club, Swan Districts, have asked VFA club, Prahran, for permission to interview young ruckman Hank Verwoert.

Verwoert, 19, came on as a reserve for the VFA in the game against WA in Perth in June.

Blond, 6 ft. 4 in., and 13 stone, Verwoert is not unlike St. Kilda ruckman Carl Ditterich. He was born in Holland.—Murray Cadan.

DEMONS GET GALLUS
By JOHN CRASKE
Melbourne have really brought a two-year battle to obtain a chance for 18-year-old forward John Gallus.

Gallus, a tall six-footer played on the bench as a forward with Melbourne that year and each year since his trial as Reserve forward in the first grade.

Gallus made his debut against Melbourne from the Reserves reserve team and has been cleared in the South.

He has cut out playing with Carlton, but Gallus feels it's time now for one of his most promising players in recent years.

Melbourne have finally won a two-year battle to obtain a clearance for 19-year-old Drouin forward John Gallus.

Gallus, a solid six-footer played six matches on permits with Melbourne last year, and again this year, mainly as Reserves centre half-forward.

Sale centreman David Fox, 18, a university student, has been cleared to Carlton.

He has not yet played with Carlton, but Sale officials rate him as one of their most promising players in recent years.

VISIT BY BENDIGO TEACHERS' COLLEGE

Despite the depressing weather, excitement was high at Frankston Teachers' College on Wednesday, August 11, as the time for arrival of Bendigo, a sister college, drew near. For the first time in some years an entire college was travelling for a day of sporting contests against another college.

Upon arrival, staff and students from Bendigo were welcomed by their Frankston counterparts and entertained to lunch before the afternoon program began.

In the football match against the visitors, Frankston continued its winning run, despite very heavy conditions, to win 11.9 to Bendigo's 7.6. At hockey, Frankston was not so successful, being defeated 6.2 by Bendigo, this year's Country Week premier team.

Frankston defeated Bendigo convincingly at basketball (3-2), badminton, two games of softball, and volleyball, which was a closely contested game. Bendigo was successful at squash and at tenpin bowling, in which Frankston's champion team was shattered by the visitors.

TOM JONES WAS A HIT

"Tom Jones", Fielding's famous book in comic opera form and set to music by Benjamin Britten, was played by students of the Franklin Teachers' College for a most successful run last week. Producer Gordon Brennan and musical director Robert Billsborough made duplicate performances.

Several of Olive's students played leading roles, including Maud Carter as Miss Hardcastle, whom Britten's Miss Hardcastle was just as dear to be. The large cast included Miss Carolyn Forrester, Miss Barbara Jackson, Miss June Bennett, and Mr. James D. Windows, among others.

The newspaper reported a sold-out performance at the Franklin Theatre on Friday night, with complimentary tickets for the second night. The audience was enthusiastic, and the opera was performed again on Saturday night.

The newspaper also noted the presence of a lady who had attended the performance, and it was reported that she was attending the opera with her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Pope. The lady was identified as Miss Barnett, a lady from the local community.
TOM JONES WAS A HIT

"Tom Jones", Fielding’s famous book in comic opera form and set to music by Benjamin Britten, was played by students of the Frankston Teachers’ College for a most successful run last week. Producer Gordon Brennan and musical director Robert Bilsborough merit duplicate laurels.

Several of those playing leading roles were toned down by seasonal laryngitis. It was the strong choral cast, lavish settings and good costumes, especially in acts two and three, which provided the backbone of enjoyment for the packed audiences on the two nights of the play’s season.

A slow start in act 1 was enlivened by the apple-splitting choler of apoplectic Squire Western (William Home), a fine old English gentleman, whose beautiful daughter, Sophia (Rosemary Gunn) was the heroine of the play.

The vigorous character acting of Benjamin Partridge, a village barber, as he hunted high and low for his lost Linda, raised the opera’s comic aspect to boiling pitch.

As hostess at the inn at Upton, Lindy Davies projected her personality across the footlights. The hero himself, Tom Jones, a foundling, was played by Ewen McPherson.

Though pleasing both in voice and manner, he seemed lacking in the debonair devilment usually associated with this lovable philanderer.

Jenny Logan, as Honour, maid to Sophia Western, played her large part well, but although she has a good voice, was hampered in her singing by laryngitis on Friday night.

Margot Forbes as Miss Western, Squire Western’s sister, was just as one would imagine her to be.

Members of the chorus who roistered vociferously in the Inn at Upton and ater, in white wigs and satin culottes danced a gavotte in Ranelagh Garden, deserve a special mention.

They were Rosa Coles, Janet Henstridge, Penny Harvey, Lynette Barnes, Lynette Heath, Lynette Banks, Pat Webb, Kaye Moody, Pam Huntingford, Jargaret Wham, Wendy Sutcliffe, Robin Guy, Marie Reilly, Helen O’Marra, Lorraine Emery, Pauline Davies, Rhonda Bambury, Renee Krics, Dawn Cooper, Helen Nancarrow, Ross Watson, Earl Goldie, and Robert Methera.

During the second interval, official guests were entertained at supper in the library. Among those there were Mr. Robert Lindsay, MHR, and Mrs. Lindsay, the principal of the Teachers’ College Mr. J. Jenkins, and Mrs. Jenkins, Dr. and Mrs. Stretton, Mr. and Mrs. George Pentland, and Miss Kentish.

Of three parties visiting the centre this year, two were camping tours on which students, two lecturers and a bus driver travelled, camped and cooked together. This kind of tour, which proved to be very popular, is regarded as a worthwhile experiment in communal living and responsibility which combines the enjoyment of a holiday, the interest of some incidental education and the challenge of a certain amount of hardship, including the unforeseen breakdown of a bus.

TEACHING NOW SCIENTIFIC SAYS COLLEGE PRINCIPAL

Teaching is now scientific, not an art, said Mr. G. A. Jenkins, principal of Frankston Teachers' College, when he addressed the August monthly meeting of the Church of England Men's Society, St. Paul's Frankston.

Mr. Jenkins, who has had 25 years experience in teaching and college administration at Frankston, said there were many changes in teaching in recent years.

Teaching was once a simple matter of giving lessons in a classroom, but today, teaching is a complex process involving the use of modern audio-visual aids and other techniques.

Primary teachers had to know how to handle a variety of curricula, and this included music, art, and science.

SUGGESTIONS FOR IMPROVEMENT

The speaker was critical of the lack of standards and suggested that students in colleges should have stricter academic standards. In addition, improvements in teaching methods and the use of modern technology were recommended.

There was a great responsibility imposed upon teachers, and it was necessary that they have a deep sense of responsibility and a strong commitment to the task.

CANT-BE-COMPLACENT

“Teachers today cannot remain complacent,” said Mr. Jenkins. “It is our duty to ensure that they are continually learning and improving their teaching skills.”

Lay president of the men’s society, Mr. C. O. Smith, said that the nature of teaching was changing, and teachers were being trained to teach different curricula.

Mr. Jenkins then thanked the audience for their support and for the opportunity to speak.
TEACHING NOW SCIENTIFIC SAYS COLLEGE PRINCIPAL

Teaching is now scientific, not an art, said Mr. G. A. Jenkins, principal of Frankston Teachers' College, when he addressed the August monthly meeting of the Church of England Men's Society, St. Paul's, Frankston.

Mr. Jenkins, who has had 13 years' experience in teacher-training, told how 500-odd college students descended on Frankston five days a week.

He said there were eight similar colleges in Victoria, and by 1969, two more would be built. Also, by then, all existing colleges would have facilities to train 700 pupils.

The college course takes two years, with the exception of the infant teachers' course, restricted to women—which takes three years.

Mr. Jenkins said students must be enthusiastic, their initial training must be wholesome and efficient, and it was necessary that they have a deep sense of responsibility and plenty of energy for the task.

SUGGESTED IMPROVEMENTS

The speaker was emphatic that teaching standards must be high, and improvements suggested were: Entrants to colleges to have Matriculation standard; improvement in courses; best available staff and principals in colleges; reorganised system of colleges; increased training periods.

There was a great responsibility imposed upon teachers when they had to leave home when first going out to teach, and settle in a new school and surroundings, said Mr. Jenkins. Teachers from the college gave Frankston good publicity.

Teaching was more complex today. Here, Mr. Jenkins reflected on his early teaching days, when there were virtually no teaching aids available; today, however, the teacher had to be conversant with the application of modern audio and visual aid techniques.

Primary teachers had to know something of every curriculum idea, and this included music, art and nature study.

"CAN'T BE COMPLACENT"

"Teachers today cannot remain complacent," said Mr. Jenkins. "If they think they have mastered teaching they are wrong, as although conventional methods are still used, the teacher must keep abreast with such things as the new alphabet, words in color and new mathematical teaching aids. Teaching is now scientific, not an art."

Mr. Jenkins then conducted a question and answer period, and among subjects discussed were college sporting activities and the Martin Report. An assurance was given that teachers were being trained to teach decimal currency.

Lay president of the men's society, Mr. C. Wolfendon, thanked the guest speaker for his most interesting and informative talk.

“OUR TOWN” IS NEXT FOR THEATRE GROUP

Producer, Margaret Brown has chosen Thornton Wilder’s “Our Town” for Frankston Theatre Group’s next big season in August, firing members of the cast with great enthusiasm for this play with its universal appeal.

Wilder, a brilliant novelist and playwright, has won the Pulitzer Prize three times, and as recently as a few weeks ago was awarded first prize for literature by the National Book Committee. The award was made by Mrs. Lyndon Johnson at the White House in Washington.

Wilder is the author of “The Bridge of San Luis Rey,” among other books, and the plays “Our Town,” “The Skin of Our Teeth” and “The Matchmaker,” which, under the title “Hello, Dolly!” is the current Broadway success.

“The Skin of Our Teeth” and especially “Our Town” caused a mild sensation when they were first presented, with their “new wave” approach and disregarded for the conventional, several years ago.

COMPOSE A CHRISTMAS CAROL

This competition is open to any student in the college, whether he specializes in music here or not. The winning carols will be performed at the college's annual carol festival in December. Two awards are to be given: one for melody and words only, the other for melody, words, and accompaniment. The closing date is Wednesday, November 3rd. Start now! Don't be shy, and remember - anyone can compose a song if he really feels the urge.

A Few Hints - 1. The form should be short and simple - try simple rhymes or through composed with, perhaps only two phrases.
2. Keep your words simple - have primary school children in mind. The words need not necessarily have an Australian flavour, although this may not be a bad idea. Try for folksong-like simplicity and sentiment, and consider too, the broader implications of the Christmas theme - goodwill etc. among all men.
3. Members of the Music Department will help you at any stage of your composition. Bring it along any time.

EDITORIAL

The item calling for most comment this month is "A Song To Sing", a collection of sixteen infant songs published by the I.T.C's during Education Week. This little booklet has met with high praise from many sources - teachers generally. Among them, two senior and highly progressive Infant Mistresses have remarked how suitable the songs are for small children. The words, for instance, have "a simplicity which is really childlike", and are free from the usual clichés and traditional banalities of adult composed songs for children. There is no sense of talking down at all. In fact, many of the verses possess the frankness and rhythmic interest of really good poetry.

We have been greatly encouraged, too, by a visit from a representative of the Educational Magazine, who was impressed with the booklet as a publication. The page designs were really unique he thought, particularly that of The Duckling, Small Koala, and At the Zoo. He believed that many of the songs were worthy of the widest publicity and was determined to do what he could in this direction. So keep your eyes on future editions of the Educational Magazine everybody!

However, the most significant aspect of "A Song to Sing" is what it reveals, by inference, about students generally. Now it is an unarguable fact that college students can compose — WHERE TO FROM HERE ? ? ? ?

MORE ABOUT RADIO LISTENING.

Have you taken any notice of Hints on Radio Listening in the August and September editions? I did, and found it of interest, as I heard music by musicians I had never heard of before, apart from comparatively familiar music by well known composers. The Symphony Hour comes at a time convenient for Listening. Whether washing dishes, washing the car, or, whatever chore one is doing, one may still be moved by the various moods portrayed in the symphonies. Even such apparently casual listening is sure to help you interpret music more easily and surely.

Janet Byrne.
A Song to Sing

Both the title and the sketch above appear on the cover of a deceptively modest little production—a stapled booklet of eighteen sheets printed from stencils at Frankston Teachers' College late in winter term. The title is modest, too, for "A Song to Sing" contains not one song but sixteen songs, most of which could be sung—sung readily and with delight—by children of about Grade I age. The musical vitality that led to the producing of this booklet by students specializing in music at Frankston Teachers' College is surely valuable enough to be recorded in printer's ink and more widely noted. Why the songs were composed and circulated, what their virtues are, and how they may be used in the class-room can best be made clear by quoting from an introduction written by Mr. B. A. Chalmers of the music department at the college:

Initially the songs were intended for the composers' own use in the class-room, but the idea of teaching original songs seems to have caught the imagination of college students as a whole, and the demand for single copies of songs has been enormous. However, their popularity is by no means due simply to the novelty of the enterprise. Genuine musical sensitivity is clearly evident in each one of them. The melodic line, for example, in a number of outstanding songs is used to striking effect in emphasizing the particular intention of the words. Probably among the more obvious instances of this is the conscious use of modulatory techniques in order to stress, say, the element of surprise which, in a few of the songs, is supposed to be the principal characteristic. e.g., "Spring Cleaning", "My Wish", and "The Fiddler". Furthermore, the songs are attractive because of their simplicity. The melodies are short and easily learnt. The piano accompaniment has been deliberately restricted to a few essential harmonies which add colour and interest. Every song can be played on recorder, song bells, chimes bars, and glockenspiel. Most of them, too, have been "arranged" for guitar, ukulele, autoharp, and double-bass. By using these instruments the imaginative teacher may create delightful instrumental accompaniments.

We have reproduced the first song in the booklet—one of two contributed by Pemco Harvey—together with a sample of the appealing sketches that Elwood Cooper drew to illustrate the collection.

Apart from the musical worth and the educational value to the students of this venture, it should be added that 200 booklets, collated and printed by Moravian Machine, were sold at 2s. 6d. each during Education Week. The students' social service fund benefited. Generosity and music plausibly harmonize at Frankston: earlier, for instance, the music club had drawn on its resources and donated a double-bass to the college. —N.C.I.

FASHIONS AT COLLEGE

EMPHASIS ON CUTS
- Fashions displayed at a matineque parade at Franklin Teachers’ Training College last week, arranged by the women’s association in cooperation with the women of Fraklin, showed their debbie new lines. A particularly hot work was the new shoulder on the.

These five models, professionals and students, showed the latest fashions at a matineque parade earlier this month at Franklin Teacher’s College, arranged by the college women’s association in conjunction with Collins of Franklin.

About without exception, the patterns of these were washable, drip-dry, and would not require dry-cleaning or us. Five models paraded, and each was highlighted by the company. The gifts were students of the college, and the women were surprised when they were not expected.

The models were O’neal Lewis and Dan Richmond. Students were Maria Perdue, Rosemary Worthy and Jay Lewis.

The animals had at the college were dressed to the nines, which was in line with the theme. The dresses were designed and made by various students, including Mrs. Lewis and Mrs. Hart.

The charming color combinations, with the many patterns, were designed by a team of the students. The color was televised, and the full effect of the colors was shown.

After the parade, a reception was held in the college, at which Mrs. Lewis and Mrs. Hart were honored. The reception was well attended, and the atmosphere was festive.

The event was a success, and the students were pleased with the outcome. The college women’s association plans to have similar events in the future.

The story was written by a local newspaper reporter, who has been following the events.
These five models, professionals and students, showed the latest fashions at a mannequin parade earlier this month at Frankston Teacher’s College, arranged by the college welfare association in conjunction with Gallants of Frankston.
Fashions displayed at a mannequin parade at Frankston Teachers’ Training College last week, arranged by the welfare association in conjunction with Gallants of Frankston, showed four definite new trends. A particularly important one was the new emphasis on cuffs.

They were shown as four inches or more deep, and close-fitting, producing a tailored look; heavily beaded on an evening gown; emphasised with four or five rows of frills, or slightly ruffled to produce an “umbrella-like” effect.

The new look in necklines is high and close-fitting.

Many of the frocks shown featured rows of frills at the neck, some had up-standing, almost mandarin-type collars, and several showed a return to the classic rever collar, in a number of exquisitely tailored styles.

The compere of the parade, Mr. John Wall of Gallants, predicted a return to a normal waistline, and this was indicated by several attractive belted frocks.

Mr. Wall said the shirtmaker frock has never gone out of style, and the models showed how the shirtmaker has been used this season to produce a “shirtmaker shift.”

Almost without exception, the garments shown were washable, drip-dry, and would not require pressing of any kind.

Five models paraded, and had the audience not been told by the compere that three of them were students of the college, no-one would have known they were not professionals.

The professionals were D’lacey Lowe and Sue Richmond. Students were Margo Forbes, Rosemary Warry and Kay Lawrie.

The charming little candleholders, set on saucers surrounded by flowers, which glowed softly orange in the dark, were made of mandarines, with the centres removed, and filled with paraffin wax and a wick. They were novel and tremendously effective, and were made—all 72 of them—by Mrs. L. Hart.

The organ music, alternating with piano, was supplied by Mr. Bob Billsborough.

Guests were received by principal Mr. G. Jenkins and Mrs. Jenkins, who was wearing an evening coat of deep aqua satin, and black accessories.

They were assisted by the convenor of the parade committee, Mrs. L. Hart, who covered her mink satin bead-embroidered cocktail frock with an organza coat of the same shade.

Official guests were Cr. H. Johnston and Mrs. Johnston, Cr. W. Oates and Mrs. Oates, and the president of the welfare association, Mr. A. Malkin, and Mrs. Malkin.

A brief speech of welcome was made by Mr. Malkin, followed by Mrs. Hart, who thanked Mr. Wall and all concerned with the parade.

She then presented bouquets of flowers to the models, and was, in turn, presented with a bouquet by Mr. Malkin on behalf of the committee.

Final points: Frankston 267

HE WINS the 100 yd and 220 yd.

HE WINS the long jump with a leap of 23 ft. 2 in.

HE WINS the discus with 109ft. 2 1/2 in.
HE WINS one of the men’s 100 yard events with a flying 10.2 secs.
HE WINS the long jump with a leap of 22ft. 2 3/4 in. — and finds time to smile for the camera.
LAURIE PECKHAM had a good reason yesterday for not producing the high jumping form which has enabled him to clear the 7 ft. barrier. He was too darned tired! Laurie won four events in the combined Teachers' Colleges sports at Melbourne University—long jump, discus, 100 yards and, of course, the high jump. The Frankston college man was travelling like a train all afternoon to pull off his four successes—but he ran out of steam before he could show the crowd how he became one of only two Australians who can jump 7 ft. Here, he wins with 6 ft. 10 in. And this is how he spent the rest of his energy...

Peckham in great form at sports

Olympian Laurie Peckham added an inch to his Combined Teachers' College high jump record when he cleared 6 ft. 10 in. at the University oval yesterday.

Peckham, competing for Peckham, led the field at yesterday's sports. In the Women's section Peckham, sponsored by the Combined Teachers College athletic board, cleared 5 ft. 10 in., and the 6 ft. 5 in. height at the 100 yards (5.1) and 150 yards (8.3). In the 440 yards, rubbish had been cleared, the 100 yards (10.6) and the 150 yards (23.3).

Peckham has a field day

Australian Olympic gold jumper, Laurie Peckham, was among the highlights at the Combined Teachers College athletic sports at Melbourne University today.

Peckham won the long jump, with 23 ft. 0 in. and the 440 yards (5.6). He also led the men's 440 yards (5.3) and 150 yards (23.3). Later this afternoon he will defend his title, which he won at 4 ft. 10 in. in 1960.
QUICK ON the draw with the starter’s pistol — and just as quick off the mark, is trainee teacher Jill Kilborn. Berry (above), who yesterday bettered a sprint record set by Australia’s top woman athlete Pam Kilborn.
Peckham has a field day

Australian Olympic high jumper Laurie Peckham won three events in 80 minutes at the combined Teachers' Colleges athletic sports at Melbourne University today.

Peckham won the long jump with 22 ft. 2 3/4 in., the discus throw with 109 ft. 2 1/2 in., and the A grade 100 yd. in 10.2 sec.

Later this afternoon he will defend his high jump championship, which he won at 6 ft. 9 in. last year.
Peckham in great form at sports

In the women's section
Frankston sprinter Jill Berry won the 100 yards in a record 11.2, the 75 yards in 8.8, and the 220 in 25.9.

SPORTS "GRAND SLAM" FOR OUR TEACHERS' COLLEGE

Frankston Teachers' College last Wednesday completed a magnificent year of sporting achievements by winning the annual contest of the combined metropolitan teachers' colleges at University Oval.

Competing against teams from Melbourne, Coburg, Toorak, Bunwood and a combined team from Lornack and the Police Training College, Frankston came from fourth place in 1964 to win convincingly by more than 20 points this year.

First places were Frankston, 3rd, Burwood, 3rd, Melbourne, 3rd, and last year's winners, Frankston, 3rd. Last year, Frankston won the swimming sports, the winter sports competition, including football, and were leaders in athletics.

With two major wins before Frankston, Frankston's achievements in winning the swimming and sports competitions and supporting their team with notable results couldn't be better. Frankston had four wins in total, which included a record 80 hurdles and a win in the four-by-400 relay. Frankston also won in the 80 hurdles, 200 hurdles, 800 hurdles, and the four-by-400 relay.

Three records were set by Frankston: 80 hurdles, 800 hurdles, and high jump. Other records were set by Frankston: 80 hurdles, 800 hurdles, and high jump.

Frankston Teachers' College has achieved a remarkable year, setting new records and dominating the annual contest.
SPORTS “GRAND SLAM” FOR OUR TEACHERS’ COLLEGE

Frankston Teachers’ College last Wednesday completed a magnificent year of sporting achievements by winning the annual contest of the combined metropolitan teachers’ colleges at University Oval.

Competing against teams from Melbourne, Coburg, Toorak, Burwood and a combined team from Larnook and the Police Training College, Frankston came from fourth place in 1964 to win convincingly by more than 20 points this year.

Final points were: Frankston, 287; Burwood, 265½; Melbourne, 199½.

Last year, when Frankston gained fourth position, it was predicted that the number of first-year students who competed successfully would make a strong team in 1965. This year in fulfilment of that expectation, Frankston has won the swimming sports, the winter sports competition, including football, and now the athletic contest.

With two major successes behind them, Frankston’s competitors and supporters were confident that teams would do well, and determined that they would win if possible. Again the number of first-year students taking part promises well for next year.

Three records were broken by Frankston during the day: Jill Berry won the 100 yards, “A” section, in 11.2 seconds; Laurie Peckham won the high jump with a record 6ft. 10ins.; and the men’s 4 x 110 yards relay was run in 44.5 seconds.

Outstanding competitors for Frankston were Jill Berry (100 yards “A,” 75 yards “A,” 220 yards “B”), Lorraine Hawks (100 yards “B,” 75 yards “B,” 80 m. hurdles “B”), and the men’s 4 x 110 yards relay was run in 44.5 seconds.

Other results for Frankston:

First: Annette Noble, 220 yards “B”; Diane Baird, 80m. hurdles “B”; Neville Stone 100 yards “C”; Brian Quirk, 100 yards “D”; Kevin Bolton, mile walk; Michael Plumstead, 440 yards “A”; mile medley, R. Carter, M. Plumstead, M. Bennett, B. Quirk; women’s relay, D. Baird, J. Berry, A. Noble, L. Hawkes.

Third: Judy Webb, high jump; Diane Baird, 100 yards “D,” 75 yards “D”; Peter Gatto, pole vault; Max Bennett, shot put; Bob Haynes, mile; Brian Quirk, 220 yards “B”; Colin Coutts, 440 yards “B.”
COLLEGE DONATION TO COMMUNITY AID ABROAD

During this time, the social work committee of the Board of Education has allocated $250 for organizing a weekly welfare bureau, which is the oldest and best situated in the city. The bureau, a self-contained organization, serves the needs of over 500 families.

Of this total amount, $200 has been donated to Community Aid Abroad.

In seeking the cooperation of the business community, the Board of Directors has solicited contributions, and several firms have responded favorably.
During the year the social service committee of Frankston Teachers’ College has raised £372 by organising a variety of activities, including an organ recital, a car wash, and the making and sale of soft toys.

Of this total amount, a sum of £155 has been donated to Community Aid Abroad.

In thanking the committee for its latest donation of £29, Mr. David Scott, director of CAA, marked on the appropriateness of the gift at a time when India was faced with the worst famine it had experienced for years. The need is desperate and all donations are welcome.

Anybody who is anxious to assist CAA in its work can contact the secretary of the Frankston branch, Mrs. Beverley Barwick, Old Mornington Rd., Mt. Eliza (phone 7 1244).

Ron Clarke could play second fiddle

RON CLARKE, the world’s greatest distance runner, may have to play a supporting role to student teacher Laurie Peckham as the major attraction of Victorian athletes this season.

Peckham, 20, could bring Australia its first world record in high jumping before the end of next March.

Peckham has a target of 7ft. 6in. — a quarter of an inch better than Russian Valery Brumel’s world record this season.

Peckham has cleared 7ft. four times this year.

“Since the 7ft. barrier does not mean anything to me now, I have got over it four times in a row and I don’t worry about it any more,” he said.

“I am confident I can get over 7ft. 4in., but 7ft. 6in. is my ambition this season.”

“I think I can do it, if my training is a guide,” he said.

Peckham has spent three nights a week at weightlifting through the winter months.

“My weightlifting has been mainly squatting. I can lift a lot more weight than I could a few months ago. This has strengthened my legs,” he said.
NOW PECKHAM CLEARS 7 FT.
1 in. OFF OUR RECORD

Victorian Olympic high jumper Lawrie Peckham jumped 7 ft. 1/4 in. at Scotch College oval today.

He is the second Australian to jump 7 ft. in Australia.

Last year, Olympic runner Tony Sneazwell jumped 7 ft. 1 1/4 in. to hold the Australian record.

Today was the first time Peckham has cleared 7 ft.

HUGS, KISSES

He was so elated with his effort he hugged and kissed everyone around him.

He jumped 7 ft. 1 1/4 in. with ease. When he tried 7 ft. 1 1/4 in. he put in a bad jump and missed by about 6 in.

Peckham was competing at an Open athletics meeting with many schools competing.
2 CLEAR 7 ft. 2 in. — NEW RECORD

High jumpers Lowrie Peckham and Tony Sneazwell both broke the Australian record at Scotch College today.

Both cleared 7 ft. 2 in. — the first time two jumpers had cleared over 7 ft. in one contest in Australia.

They had the previous record, held by Sneazwell since 1960, by three-quarters of an inch. Both Peckham and Sneazwell cleared 7 ft. 2 in. with their first attempts. They both had to clear 7 ft. 1 in. before they cleared 7 ft. 2 in. In the competition, the bar was set at 7 ft. 1 in. and cleared three times at that height. Only the second attempt was successful. Both Peckham and Sneazwell cleared 7 ft. 2 in. easily, but Sneazwell cleared it with a jump of 7 ft. 3 in.

It was a relay of 20 minutes while the official recorded the bar. Peckham jumped with 7 ft. 2 in. and Sneazwell jumped with 7 ft. 3 in. After the officials recorded the bar, the bar was lowered to 7 ft. 1 in. and cleared three times at that height. Only the second attempt was successful. Both Peckham and Sneazwell cleared 7 ft. 2 in. easily, but Sneazwell cleared it with a jump of 7 ft. 3 in.

The new world record is 7 ft. 3 in. Peckham and Sneazwell both were considered for the world record, but the Australian record was not considered. They both showed great promise in high jump and were expected to set new records in the future.

Peckham and Sneazwell were the stars of the day. Both were considered for the world record, but the Australian record was not considered. They both showed great promise in high jump and were expected to set new records in the future.
2 CLEAR 7 ft. 2 in. — NEW RECORD

High jumpers Lawrie Peckham and Tony Sneazwell both broke the Australian record at Scotch College today.

Both cleared 7 ft. 2 in — the first time two jumpers had cleared over 7 ft. in one contest in Australia.

They beat the previous record, held by Sneazwell since 1963, by three-quarters of an inch.

Peckham won the contest on a countback because he cleared 7 ft. 2 in. at the first attempt, and Sneazwell needed three tries.

Both tried to clear 7 ft. 4 in., but failed. They had to wait half an hour after they cleared 7 ft. 2 in., because one of the stands holding the bar was not high enough. Another one had to be found.

Only about 200 people saw the record. It was jumped in bad conditions, with a strong wind blowing.

Sneazwell has cleared 7 ft. 2 3/4 in.— he did it in Tokyo just before the Olympic Games last year.
Peckham, Sneazwell

Victorians Laurie Peckham and Tony Sneazwell lifted themselves to equal fourth place in world high jump rankings at Scotch College oval on Saturday with their leaps of 7 ft. 2 in.

But a delay of 28 minutes while officials raised the bar from 7 ft. 2 in. to 7 ft. 4 in., may have robbed both of even greater honors.

During the delay, both jumpers tightened up and the tension mounted as the officials tried to raise the bar. Neither looked like clearing 7 ft. 4 in. with his three attempts.

Officials had not been prepared for the two athletes to jump so high and had trouble adjusting one stand to the height asked for by both Sneazwell and Peckham.

Only three high jumpers—Russian Valery Brumel, American John Thomas and Chinese Ni Chin Chin—have cleared higher. Brumel holds the world record with a leap of 7 ft. 5 3/4 in., Thomas is credited with 7 3/4 and Ni with 7.3.

Peckham and Sneazwell, who both represented Australia at the 1964 Tokyo Olympic Games, will share the Australian record. No hold-up is expected with its ratification.

The old Australian record was held by Sneazwell with a jump of 7 ft. 1 1/4 in. in 1963.

All other competitors in the high jump had been eliminated by the time the bar reached 6 ft. 4 in. on Saturday, and the two athletes had the bar raised in 2 in. stages.

When the bar stood at 7 ft., the small crowd of about 150 people stood hushed as Peckham ran in and cleared the bar with inches to spare.

The bar had barely been reset on the stands when Sneazwell started his long run-up, and cleared the height with what appeared to be inches to spare.

Scraped off

At 7 ft. 2 in., Peckham was again first to jump. He appeared nervous at this jump, and scraped the bar off with his stomach.

Disappointed, he went to sit with friends, who were watching the event, and waited for his next jump. But, he was recalled immediately by officials who had ruled his first attempt at 7 ft. 2 in. could not be allowed because the bar had been slightly higher at one end.

He cleared the bar easily on his next jump.

Sneazwell missed his first two attempts, but on his third made no mistake. His coach Franz Stampfl held up his hands indicating to Sneazwell that he had cleared the bar by three inches.
Peckham hopes for jump record

By Ron Carter

TWENTY-YEAR-OLD Glen Huntly high jumper Lawrie Peckham cleared 7 ft. for the first time on Saturday, and is now confident he can reach 7 ft. 3 in. this season.

Peckham is the only Australian man ever to clear 7 ft. 3 in., and he has improved his best height.

Peckham cleared 7 ft. 6 in. at the same height twice between May 19 and June 17. His other jump was 7 ft. 6 in. on June 17.

He will have to be equal to the best jumpers from the United States if he is to clear 7 ft. 3 in., and he has the capability to do it.

Peckham in the past has cleared 7 ft. 6 in. three times, but has never cleared 7 ft. 3 in.

Peckham is in the prime of his career after breaking the Australian record, which now stands at 7 ft. 1 in.

HIGH JUMPERS THE TOP DRAW

By Jack Dunn

HIGH jumpers Tony Snowwell and Laurie Peckham should provide the top performances at the opening of the VAAA inter-club competition this afternoon.

Snowwell cleared 7 ft. 3 in., while Peckham has jumped 7 ft. 6 in., near this week.

Peckham and Snowwell were selected for the Australian team to compete in the VAAA championship in Melbourne on Saturday.

Peckham cleared 7 ft. 6 in. in his first try, and then cleared 7 ft. 3 in. with ease.

Peckham is sure of 7 ft.

By Jack Dunn

High jumper Laurie Peckham said after his 7 ft. 6 in. jump that he felt he had completely broken down the mental barrier of 7 ft.

I saw him last week at the junior trials at Delmasville, and he said he had cleared 7 ft. 6 in. at his best.

Peckham said he felt he had cleared 7 ft. in his first try, and that he had cleared 7 ft. 6 in. with ease.

He cleared 7 ft. 6 in. in his third attempt, and then cleared 7 ft. 3 in. with ease.

TWENTY-YEAR-OLD Glen Huntly high jumper Lawrie Peckham cleared 7 ft. for the first time on Saturday, and is now confident he can reach 7 ft. 3 in. this season.

Competing at an invitation meeting at Scotch College, Peckham cleared 7 ft. 0½ in.—one inch better than his previous best height.

He said last night he expected to be able to jump higher later in the season, when he has lost about 6 lb. weight and has increased his speed.

“I still have to increase my training tempo and I am surprised I have been able to do so well on the amount of training I’ve had,” he said.

Peckham, who is coached by his father and trains in the back yard of his home in Oakleigh, will have his next competitive jump at Scotch College on October 23.

If Peckham can clear 7 ft. 3 in. he will break the Australian record, which now stands at 7 ft. 1¼ in. set by Victorian Tony Sneazwell two years ago.

HIGH jumpers Tony Sneazwell and Lawrie Peckham should provide the top performances at the opening of the VAAA inter-club competition this afternoon.

Sneazwell cleared 7ft. 3in. at training this week, and Peckham has jumped 7ft. four times this season.

Sneazwell and Peckham share the Australian high jump record of 7ft. 2in., and are aiming at bettering Russian Valery Brumel's world record of 7ft. 5 3/4 in. this season.

Peckham will compete at Dolamore Oval, Mentone, and Sneazwell will jump at the University.
Peckham gets over 7 ft. at first try

High jumper Lawrie Peckham continued his excellent pre-season form when he cleared 7 feet at the amateur athletic trials at Dolamore Oval, Mentone, on Saturday.

Peckham cleared 6 ft. 10 in. in his first try, and then went over the bar at 7 ft. without a great deal of trouble.

However, he failed to clear 7.3 at three attempts.

Last week end Peckham cleared 7.2 at Scotch College Oval.

Peckham is sure of 7 ft.

High jumper Laurie Peckham said after he again cleared 7 ft. at a special meeting in Ararat on Saturday that he felt he had completely broken down the mental barrier of 7 ft.

"I now have no worries about 7 ft. and concentrate on jumping even higher. My father, who coaches me, feels I am capable of jumping 7 ft. 4 in. before the end of this season," Peckham said.

It was the fourth time in four consecutive meetings that Peckham has cleared 7 feet or over.

PAINTING PRESENTED TO TEACHERS' COLLEGE

A presentation of a painting was made by the Peninsula branch of the Victorian Teachers' Union on an assembly of staff and students of Frankston Teachers' College and Wednesday week. The presentation was made by Mr. H. Chalmers, acting president of the branch, and Mr. R. Mossman, its secretary.

This annual presentation, first made in 1961, takes the form of an original work of art by a teacher-artist. The work was presented to the principal to hang in the college to form a VTU gallery.

Making the presentation, Mr. Chalmers said it was the practice, in association with the local branch of the VTU, to present this type of work of art to the principal annually.

Addressing the college, Mr. Chalmers said that, in the past, the presentation of art has been made to the principal of the local branch of the VTU. This year's presentation is associated with the name of Mr. Douglas McPhail, who has been branch secretary for 10 years and has also served as president and vice-president.

Speaking of the college, Mr. McPhail said, "The college is a haven for students who have the general lack of knowledge in the field of the arts. The students who are interested in the arts and have an active interest in the affairs of the VTU."

The painting presented is by William Foster, an influential Australian artist who taught at the RMIT. His work is an important landmark in the development of Australian art.

PAINTING PRESENTED TO TEACHERS' COLLEGE

A presentation of a painting was made by the Peninsula branch of the Victorian Teachers' Union at an assembly of staff and students of Frankston Teachers' College last Wednesday week. The presentation was made by Mr. R. Charlton, acting president of the branch, and Mr. K. Thomas, its secretary.

This annual presentation, first made in 1962, takes the form of some original work of art by a teacher-artist. The three works so far presented have been hung in the college to form a VTU gallery.

Making the presentation, Mr. Charlton said it was the practice to associate each work of art with some distinguished member of the local branch of the VTU. This year's presentation is associated with the name of Mr. Angus McPhail, who has been branch secretary for 11 years and has also served as president and vice-president.

Addressing the college, Mr. McPhail made reference to the general lack of knowledge on the part of the public of the conditions in the schools which their children attend. He urged the students, for the sake of the children, to take an active interest in the affairs of the VTU.

Children feted by college students

Forty second-year students from Frankston Teachers' College last month took a number of mentally retarded children from Kew Cottages on what has become a regular Christmas excursion.

After meeting in the city, each student was responsible for taking a child to receive a present from Father Christmas and to be entertained in a Bourke St. “Toyland.”

The party then dispersed to look at various points of interest in the city, and to meet again in the Alexandra Gardens. There, children were provided with lunch and games were played until, at two o'clock, they returned by bus to the cottages.

CHRISTMAS THEME AT COLLEGE BALL

Christmas provided the theme for the attractive decorations at Moorabbin Town Hall on Tuesday, December 7, when Frankston Teachers' College held its graduation ball.

Red and green baubles and a colorful Christmas tree decorated the hall, while a cake made by members of the staff provided a festive touch. The guests, many of whom were former students, enjoyed a banquet before the ceremony, which was conducted by Mr. David Brown, Director of the College. The highlight of the evening was the presentation of awards to the graduates, who were introduced by their teachers. The ball was attended by family and friends of the graduates, as well as representatives from other educational institutions.
CHRISTMAS THEME AT COLLEGE BALL

Christmas provided the theme for the attractive decorations at Moorabbin Town Hall on Tuesday, December 7, when Frankston Teachers’ College held its graduation ball.

Red and green balloons and a colorful Christmas tree decorated the hall, while on each table were small pink and white angels made by members of the social committee of the Students’ Representative Council.

The ball was attended by the principal, Mr. G. Jenkins, a large number of members of the staff with their friends, SRC president Mr. Max Bennett, SRC social secretary Miss Janie Winder, and 530 guests; the latter being mainly graduating students from the college and their friends.

Dancing was to the music of George Watson’s dance band, and the vigorous rhythms of “The Strangers.” During supper, guests were entertained by “The Coachmen,” a folk-singing trio, one of whose number was John Wintle, a student at the college.

Following supper came the highlight of the evening when graduating students and their partners danced the Graduation Waltz.
Two couples who enjoyed themselves at the graduation ball of Frankston Teachers' College this month were (left): Harlan Carr-Ussher, of Mt. Eliza, with Louise Le Page, of Frankston, and Trevor Wa’sh, of Frankston, with Bronwyn Reese, of Bentleigh. The ball was held in the Moorabbin Town Hall.

CAROL 1.

O COME ALL YE FAITHFUL.

1. O come all ye faithful,
   Joyful and triumphant,
   O come ye, O come ye to Bethlehem;
   Come and behold Him
   Born the King of Angels;
   O come let us adore Him,
   O come let us adore Him
   O come let us adore Him, Christ the Lord.

2. God of God, Light of Light
   Lo! He abhors not the Virgin's Womb;
   Very God, Begotten, not created;
   O come, let us adore Him etc.

3. Sing choirs of Angels,
   Sing in Exaltation,
   Sing, all ye citizens of Heaven above
   "Glory to God in the highest;"
   O come, let us adore Him etc.

4. Yea, Lord, we greet Thee,
   Born this happy morning;
   Jesu to Thee be glory given;
   Word of the Father,
   Now in flesh appearing;
   O come, let us adore Him etc.

   ***

5. Not in that poor lowly stable
   With the oxen standing by,
   We shall see Him; but in Heaven
   Set at God's right hand on high
   When like stars His children
   ALL in white shall wait around

   ***

CAROL 2.

ONCE IN ROYAL DAVID'S CITY.

1. Once in Royal David's City
   Stood a lowly cattle shed,
   Where a Mother laid her Baby
   In a manger for His bed;
   Mary was that Mother mild,
   Jesus Christ her little Child.

2. He came down to earth from Heaven
   Who is God and Lord of all,
   And His shelter was a stable,
   And His cradle was a stall;
   With the poor, and mean and lowly
   Lived on earth our Saviour Holy.

3. And through all His wondrous Childhood
   He would honour and obey,
   Love, and watch the lowly Maiden,
   In whose gentle arms He lay;
   Christian children all must be
   Mild, obedient, good as He.

4. For He is our childhood's pattern,
   Day by day like us He grew
   He was little, weak and helpless,
   Tears and smiles like us He knew
   And He careth for our sadness,
   And He shareth in our gladness.

5. And our eyes at last shall see him,
   Through His own redeeming love,
   For that Child, so dear and gentle
   is Our Lord in Heav'n above;
   And He leads His children on,
   To the place where He is gone.
THE FIRST NOEL

1. The first Noel the Angel did say
   Was to certain poor shepherds in Fields as they lay
   In fields where they lay keeping their sheep
   On a cold winter's night that was so deep
   Chorus: Noel, Noel, Noel, Noel
   Born is the King of Israel.

2. They looked up and saw a star,
   Shining in the East, beyond them far,
   And to the earth it gave great light
   And so it continued both day and night.

3. And by the light of the same star,
   Three Wise men came from country far;
   To seek for a King was their intent
   And to follow the Star wherever it went.

4. This Star drew nigh to the northwest,
   O'er Bethlehem it took its rest;
   And there it did both stop and stay,
   Right over the place where Jesus lay.

5. Then entered in those Wise men three,
   Full reverently upon their knee,
   And offered there in His presence,
   Their gold, and myrrh and frankincense.

6. Then let us all with one accord,
   Sing praises to our Heavenly Lord,
   That hath made Heaven and earth of nought,
   And with His Blood mankind has bought.

206 students graduate from Teachers’ College

The climax of two years’ work for those who have qualified to teach infants, came at Moorabbin Town Hall on Thursday, December 9, when 206 students of Frankston Teachers’ College received their certificates.

This was in the presence of a large audience consisting of parents and friends, civic dignitaries, and head teachers and infant mistresses of training schools.

Seventy-six Trained Infant Teacher’s Certificates were presented by Lady Chamberlin; and Mr. J. M. Crossthwaite, inspector of schools for the Frankston district, presented 130 Trained Primary Teacher’s Certificates.

Graduates were congratulated on behalf of the staffs of training schools associated with the college by Mr. C. V. Robertson, head teacher of Mornington State School. His good wishes were endorsed by Mr. G. Olney, president-elect of the Students’ Representative Council. Mr. M. Bennett, president of the SRC for 1965, responded to these speeches on behalf of the graduates.

The graduation address was delivered by Sir Michael Chamberlin, O.B.E., Deputy Chancellor of Monash University. In the course of his address, Sir Michael reminded his audience of the importance of the life of the intellect, and warned against the danger of undervaluing the part played by books and reading in education.

Surveying the current educational and social scene, Sir Michael referred to the dichotomy alleged to exist between technologists and those who devoted themselves to the study of the humanities. Denying the existence of such a division, he pointed out the need to develop an integrating philosophy in which a unity was seen in all knowledge.
