ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

MONASH UNIVERSITY recognises that its Australian campuses are located on the unceded lands of the people of the Kulin nations, and pays its respects to their elders, past, present and emerging.

Monash is committed to fostering a society that recognises, respects and includes Indigenous peoples, cultures and knowledge. The University will contribute to the creation of this society by working with and celebrating Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples, cultures and knowledge, as well as Indigenous peoples of other places where Monash has a campus or major presence.

MONASH UNIVERSITY is committed to supporting and contributing to:
- The Uluru Statement from the Heart process for a First Nations Voice to the Commonwealth Parliament of Australia; and
- Treaty discussions in the state of Victoria and the Yoo-rrook Justice Commission.
I am proud to launch Monash University’s new Gender Equality Action Plan 2022-2025. This Plan sets out a range of tangible actions to address opportunities identified in Monash’s gender equality audit, and renews our longstanding commitment to gender equality.

Gender equity and an inclusive university are fundamental to Monash’s strategy and vision, and equality and inclusion are central to our pursuit of excellence. Our approach to achieving gender equality is multifaceted and includes:

- inclusive recruitment (which recognises value of diversity);
- tackling unconscious bias;
- making sure our promotion and career development opportunities are equitable;
- continued promotion of workplace flexibility, support for parents and those experiencing family violence;
- targeted initiatives to improve workplace culture, reduce bias and promote zero tolerance of unacceptable behaviour; and
- growing inclusive leadership capabilities and setting leadership accountabilities for gender equality outcomes.

We aspire to mitigate gender imbalances across the University, which continue to persist in leadership, in senior academic roles and in areas where female participation has been historically low.

We also seek to lift the visibility and achievements of all women, including Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander women, those from diverse backgrounds, sexualities or faiths, women with disabilities, and those who are under-represented in their fields.

To achieve positive change, we are taking active steps to address systemic and cultural barriers, and to achieve a more inclusive Monash community for all.

I strongly endorse this Gender Equality Action Plan.

Professor Margaret Gardner AC
President and Vice-Chancellor
INTRODUCTION

PURPOSE

Gender equity and a fully inclusive University are fundamental to Monash University’s strategy and vision. Equality and inclusion are central to our pursuit of excellence.

The Gender Equality Action Plan 2022-2025 supports the University’s goals of the Environmental, Social and Governance Statement, which emphasises a renewed focus and effort to lead progress on the social issues of gender equity and inclusion. It supports and informs the objectives of Monash Impact 2030 where our commitment to inclusion begins with our support for the Uluru Statement from the Heart.

Objectives of the Gender Equality Action Plan seek to address gender inequities for all staff, eliminate the systemic barriers to professional development, career advancement, and to achieve gender and salary parity in senior roles, as well as towards a deep and broad inclusiveness across the University. The Action Plan further supports the University’s commitment to advance on the leadership enacted in its Respect Now,Always initiatives, and to ensure that our organisation’s anti-discrimination and harassment policies are modelled on best practice, with consideration given to the Sex Discrimination Commissioner’s Respect @Work Sexual Harassment National Inquiry Report (2020).

Guided by the gender equality principles in the Gender Equality Act 2020, Part One (section 6), the Action Plan sets out tangible actions across seven priority areas. We recognise that promoting gender equality in a workplace builds better environments in which staff of all genders are supported to fulfil their potential and can access the same rewards, resources and opportunities. We recognise that special measures may be necessary to achieve gender equality, and that promoting gender equality goes well beyond compliance with relevant legislation. Monash University aspires to be recognised as the leader in gender equity and inclusion in the Higher Education sector in Australia and internationally.

Monash is committed to the United Nations Sustainable Development Goals and was ranked 10th in the world on gender equality by the 2021 Times Higher Education Impact Rankings. Monash University’s impact in the field of gender equality includes the dedicated work of the Monash Gender and Family Violence Prevention Centre to contribute to transformative social change aimed at ending family violence, and the tireless efforts of the Monash Gender, Peace and Security Centre to deliver peace and security globally through gender-inclusive research evidence.

As a progressive and socially responsible institution, we are continually working towards a more equitable, diverse and inclusive Monash:

• We promote an inclusive workplace culture where diversity is valued and viewed as a key to innovation and excellence.
• We support our colleagues in their professional development, foster accessible and flexible work and provide a culturally safe environment where our Indigenous communities and people from all cultural backgrounds are respected and included.
• We embrace new ideas and initiatives that advance equity, foster diversity and promote inclusion.
• We encourage our colleagues to become champions for diversity and inclusion by providing training, time and allocating resources for them to do so.

CASE FOR CHANGE

Gender equality is a human right and precondition to social justice and social inclusion. Everyone is affected by gender inequality although not everyone experiences inequality in the same way.

Notewithstanding our progress to date, we recognise that a lot more must be done. It’s time to be bold. Gender imbalances continue to persist in some areas of leadership, in senior academic roles and in certain areas of the University where women’s participation has been historically low. To achieve positive change, we are taking proactive steps to address systemic and cultural barriers to women’s under-representation and towards a more inclusive Monash for all people.

Benefits of gender equality are well documented with measurable gains, including improved staff wellbeing, increased organisational performance, greater innovation, better decision making and positive workplace culture. Gender balanced leadership is better equipped to lead Monash’s diverse community. A diverse workforce and varied perspectives of diverse teams achieve greater innovation, generate more creative solutions and are more likely to identify and challenge biases in decision-making.

Pursuing and achieving gender equality is a shared responsibility and an ambition for everyone in the Monash University community - leaders, managers, academic and professional colleagues, students and stakeholders.

The Gender Equality Action Plan was developed in consultation with the Monash University community and informed by results of an extensive workplace gender audit.

Where possible, our workplace gender audit and consultation activities considered intersectional gender inequalities. We recognise that different aspects of a person’s identity such as gender, gender identity, sexual orientation, race, ethnicity, economic status, national origin, disability, and other aspects of one’s identity, can expose them to overlapping forms of discrimination and marginalisation, and that attitudes, systems and structures in society and organisations can interact to create and/or deepen inequality and result in exclusion.

Throughout our consultation activities, we sought to understand lived experiences and perspectives of people from diverse backgrounds, in order to listen more effectively to marginalised groups that may be more adversely affected, and how we can further remove barriers to equality.

1. Consultation activities included the University-wide Staff Equity and Diversity Survey (May-July 2021), Employee Experience Survey (September 2021), Gender Equality Focus Groups (August – September 2021), as well as meetings of the Diversity and Inclusion Committees, consultation with members of the Athena SWAN Committee, Gender Equality Action Working Group, targeted consultation sessions with HR staff, and consultation with Faculty Chairs of Equity, Diversity and Inclusion Committees.
OUR LIVING HISTORY

Our focus on gender equity and gender equality spans more than three decades. This long history of the University’s unwavering support for advancing gender equality has led to the development of many best practice policies and programs that have established a solid foundation. <td>Gender composition at all levels of our workforce</td>
<td>While women’s overall representation at Monash is strong (57%) and senior professional roles have reached gender parity, only 36.4% of senior academic roles are filled by women, and only 29% of Professors at Monash are women.</td>
<td>The University’s intensified focus on eliminating systemic barriers to professional and academic advancement will ensure we maintain gender parity in senior professional roles and achieve 40% of women in senior academic roles. This supports Gender Equality goals in the Environmental, Social and Governance Statement 2021-2025.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Gendered work segregation</td>
<td>Gendered work segregation at Monash is evidenced by women’s under-representation in STEM fields, and in other areas of the University, such as eSolutions, Buildings and Property.</td>

OUR VISION FOR 2025

| Workplace support, leave and flexibility | The impact of the pandemic has been acutely felt by all but working parents and carers have been impacted with an unprecedented intensity, which continues to have a ripple effect on their mental health and wellbeing. Staff appreciate increased flexibility in balancing work and family commitment but application of flexible work policies is not always uniform. | Leaders and managers will foster accessible and flexible work environments, promote, as well as equitably enact relevant flexible work and leave policies for staff. Parents, carers, staff with disability as well as those who are experiencing family violence, or caring for those who are experiencing family violence, will be supported. This supports the Work health goals of the Health and Wellbeing Strategic Plan 2021-2025. |
| Workplace culture, leadership and diversity | Good workplace culture is promoted with solid policies in place, however opportunity exists to enhance further at a local level. Continued focus on building staff confidence in utilising reporting mechanisms is warranted to ensure that unacceptable behaviour continues to be dealt with appropriately. | We will prevent discrimination, vilification, harassment and any other unlawful behaviour. Senior leadership will foster culture of inclusion and integrity, where staff diversity is valued and respected. Staff will have access to peer-to-peer connection activities, mentoring and wellbeing programs. This supports Inclusive goals of Impact 2030 – diverse community |
| Gender pay equity | Addressing disparity in remuneration, and closing the organisation-wide gender pay gap of 12.2% requires cultural change to remove the barriers to women’s equal participation in the workforce, tackling bias in hiring and pay decision and building a culture of zero tolerance of bullying and sexual harassment in the workplace. | Our leading cause of gender pay gap will be addressed through targeted initiatives and we will aim to achieve salary parity across the University. This supports Gender Equality goals in the Environmental, Social and Governance Statement 2021-2025. |
Our longstanding commitment to fair and inclusive recruitment practices is critical to ensuring progress towards our ambitious gender equality goals and to fostering diversity and inclusion at Monash. Monash University’s Strategic Plan, Impact 2030 sets a strong commitment to “engage with and recruit students and staff, irrespective of any protected personal characteristic, including gender, sexuality, disability, ethnicity, race, religion or socio-economic disadvantage, to build a community that represents the diversity of our communities.”

GENDER EQUALITY ACTION PLAN

GENDER COMPOSITION AT ALL LEVELS OF THE WORKFORCE

We value the strength of staff diversity and take proactive measures to achieve gender-balanced and gender diverse leadership. We closely monitor the gender composition of our workforce, influential committees and our governing body, and aspire to achieve gender parity in senior professorial, senior academic and senior professional roles. In addition to our objective to increase the participation of women in leadership roles, we seek to lift the visibility of women in decision-making roles who are from culturally and linguistically diverse backgrounds, are Indigenous, LGBTIQ&A+ or have disability.

GENDERED WORK SEGREGATION

We are committed to addressing gendered work segregation evidenced by women’s under-representation in STEMM fields, and to removing barriers to career advancement and success that are based on sex, gender and other forms of intersectional discrimination. The attraction and retention of women in STEMM remains a challenge, with multi-faceted structural and cultural barriers cited as leading causes of women’s ongoing under-representation in STEMM careers. Advancing women’s careers in STEMM is at the forefront of our gender equity strategy and we are investing resources to address gender disparities in these areas. Our participation in the Athena SWAN program is assisting us in the recruitment, retention and development of our talent.

WORKPLACE SUPPORT, LEAVE AND WORK FLEXIBILITY

Workplace flexibility is a key enabler of gender equality, and a foundation in the attraction and retention of talent. Monash’s ambitions to address the challenges of the age begins with our commitment to supporting our workforce to thrive as they contribute to excellent and transformative education and research. We’re committed to fostering a workplace culture of flexibility where staff of all genders, ethnicities, faiths, heritages, abilities, religious and cultural backgrounds are supported to successfully combine their work commitments and personal priorities.

WORKPLACE CULTURE, LEADERSHIP AND DIVERSITY

Our commitment to fostering an inclusive workplace begins with our commitment to a University community that recognises, respects and includes Indigenous peoples, cultures and knowledge by working with and celebrating Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples as well as Indigenous peoples of other places where Monash has a campus or major presence.

OBJECTIVES ACTIONS

6.1 Promote a safe, respectful and inclusive culture for staff free from discrimination and harassment

- 6.1.1 Ensure that the University prevents discrimination, vilification, harassment, violence and any other unlawful behaviour.
- 6.1.2 Enable staff to anonymously report instances of sexual harassment and other forms of discrimination in the workplace.
- 6.1.3 Promote “Responding to disclosures of sexual violence” and “Call it Out: actively changing campus culture” training and monitor uptake.
- 6.1.4 Expand the capacity of all colleagues to respond to, and address harassment and discrimination at Monash.
- 6.1.5 Engage staff in programs and initiatives to further their knowledge and understanding of how to build a safe, respectful and inclusive community.

6.2 Promote equal opportunity principles and understanding of ethical and respectful conduct

- 6.2.1 Improve completion rates of the University’s compliance training modules, including Equal Opportunity; Ethical Conduct, Respect at Monash.
- 6.2.2 Report completion of relevant training modules, including Equal Opportunity, Ethical Conduct and Respect at Monash, by organisation units and employment details.
- 6.2.3 Promote the visibility and function of the Ethical Conduct team.

6.3 Develop inclusive leadership capabilities

- 6.3.1 Equip our colleagues with understanding of the benefits of diversity, role of intersectionality, impact of unconscious bias, and importance of inclusive practices, through training, targeted events and other initiatives.
- 6.3.2 Embed diversity and inclusion content, examples of inclusive practices, respectful behaviour and unconscious bias into existing training modules for leaders and managers.
- 6.3.3 Enhance leadership capability to proactively and continuously build a positive culture of inclusion and respect, through role modelling, communication and promoting relevant training such as Respect at Monash.
- 6.3.4 Promote professional development to people leaders on Inclusive Leadership (unconscious bias), Cultural Safety-Indigenous, Disability-confident managers, Managing flexible teams and LGBTIQA+ training.

6.4 Support staff in building meaningful connections and sense of belonging at Monash

- 6.4.1 Build a culture of recognition and reward through annual awards program that recognise staff excellence and staff contributions to Diversity and Inclusion.
- 6.4.2 Facilitate connections through a global Staff Mentoring Program and staff Networks.

6.5 Data analysis and reporting

- 6.5.1 Seek to understand staff experiences and how to effectively foster and advance an inclusive workplace culture through administering a biennial Staff Equity and Diversity survey.
- 6.5.2 Analyse survey responses by socio-demographic details to understand intersectional perspectives on key benchmark questions.
- 6.5.3 Report findings from the Staff Equity and Diversity Survey to senior leaders and the Diversity and Inclusion Committee with the view to address identified gaps and opportunities.
- 6.5.4 Participate biennially in the Australian Workplace Equality Index (AWEI) survey to gain a better understanding of how LGBTIQA+ inclusion is perceived and experienced by staff, and what improvements can be made.
- 6.5.5 Review existing programs designed to foster connections and networking opportunities to assess their effectiveness and impact.
- 6.5.6 Conduct six-monthly analysis of Equal Opportunity and Ethical Conduct completion rates and report data by gender, staff type, work unit and supervisor status.
- 6.5.7 Continued evaluation of relevant policies and programs to understand effectiveness and seek improvements.
GENDER PAY EQUITY

We are committed to closing the University’s organisation-wide gender pay gap through targeted actions and initiatives, and report on progress towards our gender equity and pay equity targets. We seek to understand the drivers of gender inequality and work to eliminate gender bias in pay decisions across the University. To reduce gender pay gaps, we adopt a multi-faceted approach that addresses women’s under-representation in senior roles, promotes workplace flexibility, provides parental and caregiving leave and other support, as well as implements strategies to mitigate the effects of unconscious bias.

2. The gender pay gap is an internationally established measure of women’s position in the paid workforce. Gender pay gaps in favour of men are a common feature of economies worldwide. The pay gap does not necessarily reflect comparisons of women and men performing the same roles. Instead, it is the difference between women’s and men’s average weekly full-time equivalent earnings, expressed as a percentage of men’s earnings.
APPENDIX A
– STRATEGIC RESOURCING PLAN

Accountability

Accountability for the implementation of Monash University’s Gender Equality Action Plan 2022-2025 rests with the Chief Human Resources Officer in partnership with the Chief Operating Officer and Senior Vice-President, Provost and Senior Vice-President, Deputy Vice-Chancellor (Education) and Senior Vice-President, Pro Vice-Chancellor (indigenous), and the Chief Marketing Officer.

Resources

Monash has an unflinching commitment to equity, diversity and inclusion, as showcased by the number of pioneering programs, initiatives and milestones presented in our Timeline on pages 6 and 7.

Our Staff Diversity and Inclusion team has a dedicated focus on leading and developing strategies designed to improve workplace gender equality, as well as advancing equity, inclusion and diversity initiatives more broadly, to foster an inclusive workplace culture for all staff.

Additional support, input and expertise is provided by the Offices of the Provost, Deputy Vice-Chancellor Education as well as the Campus Community Division in fulfilling our ambitious gender equality goals, and delivering on the strategies and measures captured in the Gender Equality Action Plan 2022-2025.

Implementation

To ensure a coordinated and collaborative approach to the implementation of the Action Plan, we will establish a “GEAP Implementation Working Group” consisting of teams that will help drive progress across specified gender equality indicators, including Monash HR, the William Cooper Institute; Respectful Communities; Disability Support Services; Marketing and Communications.

Our internal implementation plan will include clearly defined responsibilities, and a range of short-term and long-term success measures.

Monitoring Progress and Reporting

The University’s progress towards fulfilling the goals of the Gender Equality Action Plan will be reported to the University’s Equity, Diversity & Inclusion Committee which meets quarterly. This Committee reports into the Vice-Chancellor’s Executive Committee and is chaired by the Deputy Vice-Chancellor (Education) and Senior Vice-President.

Every two years, Monash University will report progress to the Commission for Gender Equality in the Public Sector (2023, 2025).

GENDER PAY GAP

The Gender pay gap is the difference between women’s and men’s average full-time equivalent earnings, expressed as a percentage of men’s earnings. Gender pay gaps in favour of men are a common feature of economics worldwide. Our organisation-wide gender pay gap does not reflect comparisons of women and men performing the same roles but rather indicates women’s overall position in the paid workforce, and points to women’s under-representation in senior roles particularly senior academic positions. However it should be noted that based on the outcomes of our most recent internal survey, there is no gender pay gap for positions within the Monash senior leadership group, with a 3.1% gap in favour of women.

Median Gender Pay Gap
Median base salary gap: 4.9%
Median total remuneration gap: 6.8%

Average Gender Pay Gap
Average base salary gap: 12.2%
Average total remuneration gap: 12.2%
