

Biomedicine Discovery Distinguished Lecture

Why do Leptin Levels Fall with Fasting?

Presented by Professor Joel Elmquist

Wednesday 30th November, 3:30pm
New Horizons G29-G30
20 Research Way
Monash University, Clayton Campus

monash.edu/discovery-institute

Professor Joel Elmquist is the Carl H. Westcott Distinguished Chair in Medical Research, Professor of Internal Medicine, Pharmacology, and Psychiatry, the Maclin Family Professor in Medical Science at the University of Texas Southwestern Medical Center, and the founding Director of the Hypothalamic Research Center at the Southwestern Medical School.

In 2008, The Endocrine Society announced him as the recipient of the Ernest Oppenheimer Award. In 2014, Professor Elmquist was the recipient of the Stange Award from Iowa State University. In 2014, he was chosen by the American Diabetes Association as the recipient of the Outstanding Scientific Achievement Award supported by Eli Lilly and Company. In 2014, Professor Elmquist received the Mentor of the Year Award from the National Postdoctoral Association given in recognition of exceptional mentoring of postdoctoral scholars.

Speaker

Professor Joel Elmquist

University of Texas, Southwestern Medical Center

Event details

Wednesday 30 November 2016
3:30pm
Welcome refreshments served prior

New Horizons G29-G30
20 Research Way
Monash University, Clayton Campus

Register now

<https://goo.gl/forms/4TTxmhBORV2t719j1>

For more information:
monash.edu/discovery-institute