CREATE THE WORLD YOU WANT TO LIVE IN

Whether you aspire to work in a top-tier law firm, in multinational corporate or as an advocate for justice, take the first step with Monash Law.
CLINICAL GUARANTEE

The best experiential legal education in Australasia.

From 2018, Monash Law will be offering guaranteed clinical education for all Bachelor of Laws and Juris Doctor students who want to incorporate a practical component credited towards their Monash Law degree.

We’re the first law school in Australia to offer a guarantee such as this for our students, reflecting our belief in the transformative effect of experiential education.

With professional practice, the Family Law Assistance Program and clinical placements, you’ll:
- represent real clients with real cases, often in real courtrooms
- establish lifelong professional mentors and networks
- enhance your emotional intelligence
- improve access to justice
- build your resilience.

Professional practice

Work on real cases with real clients, and represent them in court. Work under the expert supervision of legal practitioners at one of our three Monash Law Clinics.

Develop professional skills including:
- client interviewing
- legal diagnosis and same-day advice
- negotiation and influencing
- mediation and arbitration
- advocacy
- professional ethics.

The Family Law Assistance Program

Give back to the community and advise clients going through family law mitigation on family law procedure, mediation and other forms of dispute resolution, under the expert supervision and guidance of a practising lawyer.

Gain knowledge and appreciation of access to justice and community issues, intercultural competence, and gain experience practising in challenging and complex situations.

Monash Law Clinics

The Monash Law Clinics operate in Melbourne CBD, Clayton and in partnership with Springvale Monash Legal Service.

Students may be offered an opportunity for a clinical experience in:
- Family Law Assistance Program
- General Community Law
- Anti Death Penalty
- International Trade Law
- Modern Slavery
- Law Reform and Commissions

Students may be offered an opportunity for an external placement in:
- Law firms
- Government organisations
- Judiciary
- In House Legal Teams

Professional practice was the best thing I’ve done in my law degree so far. It was the first time I applied what I learned in a real setting and it sparked my interest in advocacy. I gained valuable legal administrative skills and became more confident meeting with clients, communicating clearly and managing client expectations. My supervisor was fantastic. She knew the court system really well and was always approachable and open to questions. You could really pick her brains and learn from her experiences. Under her supervision, I represented my clients in court on many occasions. My supervisor equipped us with the skills we needed and gave us her trust.”

BENJAMIN DRINKWATER
Bachelor of Laws (Honours)/Commerce
My practical legal experiences have been some of the best things about a law degree at Monash. They’ve empowered me to contribute to the world around me, in a positive and meaningful way. While I was completing an internship at the Castan Centre for Human Rights Law, thousands of files were leaked from the detention centre on Nauru. Soon after, I began to help analyse these files for the human rights abuses they exposed.

At a placement with Springvale Monash Legal Service, I assisted clients from disadvantaged backgrounds through every step of their legal problems. This brought me a deeper understanding of what a career in law would be like, as well as the power of the law to turn lives around.”

MOOT COURT

Can you see yourself as a barrister or solicitor?

MOOTING

Present complex legal arguments based on controversial real legal cases, challenge opposing teams and respond to questions from practising judges in our new, multi-million-dollar Moot Court. Our graduates with mooting experience are highly sought-after. The ability to research, prepare cogent arguments and think on your feet are core legal skills.

Mooting also helps prepare you for exams, and offers invaluable networking and professional development opportunities — skills which enhance your ability to work and succeed in any career.

As a Monash Law student, you have many opportunities and are encouraged to participate in national and world-wide mooting competitions, including the International Humanitarian Law Moot, the VIS Moot, the Phillip C Jessup International Law Moot and the Oxford Intellectual Property Moot in the UK. Your participation counts for credit towards your degree.

Our academics in this area provide many hours of advice and assistance to students to enable them to tackle the world stage. They do so with enormous success.

Monash campuses around the world

In a globalised world, lawyers are increasingly expected to be able to solve transnational legal problems and to utilise opportunities beyond their home jurisdictions.

By providing a multicultural and international setting for teaching and learning, these distinguished programs give you the opportunity to learn from different legal traditions, systems and procedures, allowing you to gain skills and perspectives that’ll prepare you for your future career.

“Interning at the Centre for Constitutional Rights (CCR) in New York was a transformative and educational experience. For the first time I was able to work intensively in an international human rights organisation that aligned with my own interests and passions. I was also able to research and learn about transitional justice mechanisms by working on a project for the Survivor’s Network of those Abused by Priest (SNAP).

“I feel so fortunate to have had the chance to work at CCR for three months. This internship has influenced my approach to the law and exposed me for the first time to issues that I’ve since become deeply invested in. Most importantly, I believe the experience has helped equip me with the skills to contribute in the human rights arena for years to come.”

I completed the Professional Practice and Clinical Externship placements at Springvale Monash Legal Service. These were absolutely the highlight of my Law degree. The opportunity to translate theory into practice, and realise that law is about people not textbooks, is a crucial learning curve all students should experience. I learned how to think on my feet, communicate empathetically with vulnerable clients, and work collaboratively with supervising lawyers and other students. These practical experiences without doubt were the “foot in the door” to my legal employability; they helped me secure a paralegal role at the Asylum Seeker Resource Centre, a Castan Centre Global Internship in New York, and clerkships at Russell Kennedy and the Office of Public Prosecutions."

WHERE LAW CAN TAKE YOU

DID YOU KNOW?
Monash Talent matches you with great employers when you graduate.
Studying law is fascinating, and holding a law degree is beneficial to both the individual and the community. The opportunity to study law at Monash is the icing on the cake.

Marilyn Warren AC
First female Chief Justice of the Supreme Court

Law graduates are in the two top-earning professions in Australia and internationally.

Work in both legal and non-legal careers requiring applied analytical, critical and leadership skills and experience:

- national, international and boutique law firms
- in-house legal counsel in major corporations across all industries
- business management, leadership and consultancy
- commercial finance and banking
- artificial intelligence and automation
- start-ups and entrepreneurship
- journalism and media
- state, national and international governance
- environmental protection and advocacy
- international aid, development and human rights
- non-government, non-profit and international organisations.

“My law degree taught me skills that have helped in all aspects of my career. If you’re considering a law degree, don’t hesitate – the opportunities are varied and endless.”

CREATE THE COURSE YOU WANT
The largest range of elective units of any law school in Australia.

Customise your degree with your choice of electives:
- Contemporary workplace relations law
- International law
- Asian legal systems
- International human rights
- International law of the sea
- Australian commercial law
- Media law
- Comparative cyber law
- Copyright and designs
- International investment law
- Law and discrimination
- Law and social theory
- Law of employment
- Law, gender and feminism
- Indigenous peoples and the law
- Biotechnology and the law
- Non-adversarial justice

Negotiation and conflict resolution
The ability to negotiate or mediate in difficult situations is a useful skill in many professional and personal circumstances. Monash Law offers a specialist unit of study in negotiation, conflict resolution and communication. You’ll gain hands-on experience in dispute resolution, learn the differences between negotiation, mediation and other mainstream dispute resolution processes, and gain awareness of the ethical issues surrounding mediation.

Trial practice and advocacy
One of our most popular elective units is trial practice and advocacy, in which you’ll be introduced to trial practice, basic advocacy skills and techniques such as opening and closing addresses, examination of witnesses, cross examination and communication skills in the court room. You’ll also participate as opposing counsel in mock trials in our brand new Moot Court.

DID YOU KNOW?
Study graduate units before you complete your undergraduate degree
High-achieving students have the opportunity to choose two elective units from a graduate Master of Laws degree. This not only gives you a head start with graduate-level study, it gives you credit that’ll help you complete your future Master of Laws faster than your peers.

“I’ve developed a wide range of transferable and technical skills that have helped me to grow both personally and professionally. The range of elective units available in Law, including professional practice, has allowed me to pursue areas of study that I’m passionate about, and to tailor my degree towards growth areas in the legal industry. I’m also a member of a number of social clubs, and this has been a great way to meet new people and develop a network of friends and peers. Taking the next step and getting involved has also helped me to diversify my skills in areas like organisation, leadership and teamwork.”

NIKHIL LIMAYE
Bachelor of Laws/Commerce
A Monash Bachelor of Laws (Honours) offers a realistic and practical way to make a difference in the world.

Whether you aspire to work in a top-tier law firm, improve access to justice or work in international business or development, a Monash law degree lets you take the first step.

You’ll be building a solid foundation for a legal career, with your training beginning on day one with our guaranteed clinical legal education.

In this practical bachelor’s degree course, you’ll also have the option of studying overseas, taking one of many different double degree options and gaining applied legal experience.

In your first year, you’ll begin mastering the concepts, procedures and reasoning underpinning the Australian legal system.

Alongside this rigorous training in the basics, you’ll also be able to pursue the areas of the law that interest you. You’ll benefit from a range of specialist law electives as diverse as negotiation and conflict resolution, media law or animal law.

This freedom to craft a course that perfectly matches your interests and aspirations extends to a choice of non-law electives across the University, and the option of double degrees in fields as diverse as arts, music or science.

Factor in significant opportunities for hands-on practical experience, including our guaranteed clinical legal education program, international study such as at the Prato Centre in Italy, a supportive and industry-focused community that includes the dynamic (and Australia’s largest) Law Students’ Society, and the prestige that comes with a degree from a leading law school, and you’ll have the ideal foundation for a lifelong career.

Your Career
You’ll have a degree that’s recognised by the Council of Legal Education in Australia as well as overseas accreditation bodies, and includes the prerequisite studies to prepare you for admission to practise as a barrister and solicitor of the Supreme Court of Victoria.

Your skills are in demand across multiple roles and industries, including:
• national, international and boutique law firms
• in-house legal counsel in major corporations across all industries
• business management, leadership and consultancy
• commercial finance and banking
• artificial intelligence and automation
• start-ups and entrepreneurship
• journalism and media
• state, national and international governance
• environmental protection and advocacy
• international aid, development and human rights
• non-government, non-profit and international organisations.

Practical legal training
After gaining a law degree, graduates who want to be admitted to the legal profession must complete practical legal training. Many Monash Law graduates complete this legal requirement with supervised legal training in their employer’s graduate program, however you can also choose to complete a practical legal training course through an accredited provider. Graduates should refer to the Victorian Legal Admissions Board (VLAB) for training providers.

Studying law at Monash has broadened my problem-solving skills and developed my networking abilities and my confidence, especially in the workplace. I feel capable and never out-of-place, no matter where I go. The thing that stands out most about my seven years at Monash is the number of overseas experiences available. I cannot say enough about how good travelling is for you personally as well as professionally, it shows an open-mindedness and an understanding of cross-jurisdictional problem-solving.

“Taking part in the Peer Mentor program was very beneficial for me. Coming from far away, no one else from my high school was coming to Monash Law and, to begin with, I was quite intimidated. The Peer Mentor program underscored the importance of establishing a solid network of friends to help with the significant transition from high school to law school. Take some good friendships and a not-too-serious attitude and jump in, there’s no other time like your time at Monash.”

DOUBLE YOUR QUALIFICATIONS

Earn one of six double degrees for just one extra year of study.

Double degrees allow you to gain skills and qualifications in two different areas of interest such as law and arts, global studies, commerce, science, music, biomedical science or engineering and doubles your options when you graduate.

Each of our double degrees takes just one year extra than a single degree (with the exception of engineering, which will take an extra two). This is because the electives from each degree count towards the other.

DID YOU KNOW?

We also offer a range of law units over the summer period, giving you the ability to accelerate your studies and structure your course to suit you.
If you aspire to be a leader in social change, then this double degree is for you. Combining the study of challenges confronting global communities with studies in law, you’ll gain the skills and knowledge to effect change.

You’ll acquire a solid foundation in the concepts, procedures and reasoning underpinning the Australian legal system, and the research, analytical and communication skills of the legal profession.

With three global studies specialisations (international studies, international relations or global cultural literacies), you have the opportunity to develop your capabilities and apply them in practical and professional real-life contexts.

As a graduate of this double degree, you’ll be prepared for diverse careers in and beyond the law, including work in politics and government, the environmental sector, international development, foreign affairs, international relations, trade, defence, immigration and the non-governmental sector.

I came to law as an internal transfer student, having completed one year of an Arts degree at Monash. I chose to move into a double degree because it allows me to combine studying law with other subjects that I’m also passionate about. Studying law at Monash has helped me gain confidence in my skills as a student and proven to me that hard work really does pay off. The social side of Monash Law School makes the experience all the more enjoyable. I never expected to meet as many great people as I have in such a short time.”

LOREN ALDERUCCIO
Bachelor of Laws (Honours)/Global Studies
BACHELOR OF LAWS (HONOURS) AND BACHELOR OF ARTS

One of the Faculty of Law’s most sought-after programs, this double degree combines the problem-solving and analytical skills taught in the law degree with the creative and communication skills taught in an arts degree.

You’ll tailor the double degree to your interests and career aspirations by choosing from more than 40 areas of study, including languages, communications, politics, history, psychology, criminology and international studies.

You can even complete a double major in two different arts disciplines.

Combining law with an arts degree will broaden your horizons and provide an invaluable foundation to all your career aspirations.

To complete this course within the specified duration, it may be necessary for you to overload.

Studying law doesn’t necessarily mean that you have to end up working in a corporate law firm if that’s not what you really want to do.

I’ve known for a long time that I wanted to work within the context of the law and construction, and am lucky to have found this balance in my current role. I frequently get the chance to apply my legal skills and knowledge in my workplace.

I love going to work everyday, and have a huge amount of responsibility and accountability which keeps me on my toes. I thoroughly enjoyed my time at Monash Law School, including the new friendships I formed with peers and teachers. Being a Monash alumnus has opened a lot of doors for me and allowed me to pursue a career in an area I’ve always been passionate about.”

WILLIAM KITCHEN
Project Manager/Lawyer/Registered building practitioner,
Texco Construction Pty Ltd
Bachelor of Laws (Honours)/Arts (2015)
BACHELOR OF LAWS (HONOURS) AND BACHELOR OF COMMERCE

This double degree provides the knowledge and skills required in the management of public and private enterprises, together with a law degree.

This combination gives you a wide range of career possibilities in the corporate sector, government and business, as well as in legal firms or at the bar.

You can undertake specialist commercial law units such as corporations law, international law and business transactions, taxation law and industrial bargaining and arbitration, which will complement a solid grounding provided in both domestic and international law.

The scores provided are to be used as a guide only, and are either the lowest selection rank to which an offer was made in 2018, or an estimate (E).^ This is a 4.25-year course taken as an accelerated course where you will do the equivalent of 4.25 years of study in four calendar years.

BACHELOR OF LAWS (HONOURS) AND BACHELOR OF ENGINEERING (HONOURS)

The need for legally-trained engineering graduates continues to grow, with opportunities arising in areas such as project management, research and development, consulting and construction law.

Combining technology with law, this double degree creates engineers skilled in the legal, corporate and technology arenas.

The engineering degree is offered in the disciplines of chemical, civil, electrical and computer systems, materials, mechanical or mechatronics engineering.

You can complete this course in six years by overloading in one or more semesters (subject to approval), or by undertaking summer semester units.
BACHELOR OF LAWS (HONOURS) AND BACHELOR OF SCIENCE

With the growth in medical research and the commercialisation of new technologies, graduates with knowledge in both science and law are increasingly sought-after. This program provides practical legal skills and an awareness of the complex interaction between science and society.

The science degree can be tailored to meet your individual interests and enables you to choose units that relate to your law degree or intended career.

Science study areas include astronomy and astrophysics, ecology and conservation biology, chemistry, geoscience, pharmacology, physiology, immunology and many more.

To complete this course within the specified duration, it may be necessary for you to overload.

I enjoy the collegial environment at Monash Law School. Since the vast majority of law students are completing a double degree, we get to know our peers well over the years and build great relationships. The good thing about studying a double degree is its flexibility and the wealth of career options available. Additionally, I’ve been fortunate enough to be involved in various leadership and extra-curricular programs that I believe wouldn’t have been available anywhere else. Come in with an open mind, embrace the opportunities on offer and really enjoy the time that you spend at Monash Law.”

BACHELOR OF LAWS (HONOURS) AND BACHELOR OF BIOMEDICAL SCIENCE

Advances in biomedical science can have a major impact on the wellbeing of society, but the transition from laboratory to the people it will benefit is a complex journey; a law degree gives you the tools to do this. If you wish to combine knowledge of biomedical science with a solid foundation in legal principles and practice, then this course is designed for you.

Options in the biomedical science degree range from human biology to anatomy to biochemistry. To complete this course within the specified duration, it may be necessary for you to overload.

DID YOU KNOW?

For an additional nine months, you can earn a graduate, specialist Master of Laws.

BACHELOR OF LAWS (HONOURS) AND BACHELOR OF MUSIC

The entertainment industry creates unique legal and management challenges that require specialised knowledge. This double degree offers two very distinct areas of study that enable you to combine the expertise, skills and knowledge of a law degree with training in the entertainment and music industries.

The music degree allows you to specialise in music performance (which you can't do in the Bachelor of Arts). It provides an approved combination of units in performance, composition, arranging and musicology, and includes options in classical and popular music. To complete this course within the specified duration, it may be necessary for you to overload.
The best aspect of studying at Monash Law School is the feeling of being a member of a like-minded and supportive community. Lecturers are constantly willing to go above and beyond for their students. The Law Students’ Society hosts many social and career information events to provide balance while studying. The faculty promotes a wide array of opportunities to students throughout their degree to expand their horizons. The culmination of these aspects ensures that you’ll receive a truly well-rounded education.

“Being a peer mentor has been a fulfilling experience. In first-year, my mentor was a wonderful source of support during my transition from high school to law school. I wanted to contribute to this program, and have greatly enjoyed meeting new students and helping guide them through their first year of university.

“I was fortunate enough to study human rights law in Geneva during the winter break in 2016. This was a valuable opportunity to meet with prominent figures in the field of human rights law and discuss topical policy issues. After my degree, my dream is to continue to enrich my learning by studying a Master of Laws at Cambridge University via the pathway offered to Monash Law students.”

BACHELOR OF LAWS (HONOURS) AND BACHELOR OF INFORMATION TECHNOLOGY

This new double degree offers you the opportunity to work in the evolving field of legal responses to information technology innovation, and the enormous growth of information systems for legal decision-making and procedures.

Learn about the application of computer-based technologies and systems to meet individual and organisational information needs, enabling you to gain the knowledge and skills needed to use IT effectively and to use, develop and manage IT-based systems.

Join this with a valuable foundation in the Australian legal system, and the research, analytical and communication skills of the legal profession, for a new world of opportunity.

BACHELOR OF LAWS (HONOURS) AND BACHELOR OF COMPUTER SCIENCE

The fields of legislative responses to computer science innovation and the computerisation of legal decision-making and procedures are growing drastically.

Equip yourself with skills of the future by studying computing in depth, and in particular the theory and practice of applying computers and software to problem solving.

Combine this with the legal study and practice offered in Australia’s first Clinical Legal Guarantee, so you can play your part in creating the kind of future you want to live in.

Monash Law Student and Google Brand Ambassador Sid Nair at Melbourne’s first Global Legal Hackathon, hosted by Monash Law in 2018.

The winning team, ANIKA, finished as runners up in the New York Global Round, and has since secured a $200,000 Victorian Government grant. Founded by Monash Law students, ANIKA aims to use technology and the best legal minds to provide free, high-quality legal advice to clients in need.

OTHER JOURNEYS TO MONASH LAW

Pathways to Law
Do you have the talent and determination to succeed in our Bachelor of Laws (Honours) single degree, or a double degree with a Bachelor of Arts, Commerce or Science, but just missed out on the required ATAR?

If you identify as an Indigenous Australian, live in a low socioeconomic area or have experienced financial disadvantage and achieve an ATAR of 90 or higher, you could still be eligible to pursue your dreams through our Pathways to Law program.

In your first year, you’ll study four Law units along with four Arts, Commerce or Science units.

When you pass all Law units with a credit average, and achieve a credit (60 per cent) average overall, you’re guaranteed a place in the second year of the relevant double degree course. If you don’t achieve the credit average, you can still continue the relevant single degree course and receive credit for all the subjects you’ve passed.

To apply, simply complete a Special Entry Access Scheme (SEAS) application through VTAC and preference one of the following degrees:

• Bachelor of Arts (Law Pathway)
• Bachelor of Commerce (Law Pathway)
• Bachelor of Science (Law Pathway).

You may also be eligible for a brand new $32,000 Susan Campbell Pathways Scholarship (specifically for a Pathways to Law student), a Monash Support Scholarship worth up to $15,000, or a range of external scholarships, scholarships for accommodation, and other merit or equity scholarships.

The Monash Guarantee
If you identify as an Indigenous Australian, live in a low socioeconomic area, have experienced financial disadvantage or attend a Monash listed under-represented school and achieve an ATAR of 94 or above, you may be eligible for guaranteed entry to Law at Monash.

Simply submit a VTAC course application and preference your preferred course, and complete a Special Entry Access Scheme (SEAS) application including any required documentation, for automatic consideration.

Special Entry Access Scheme
You may be eligible for up to an additional 10 ATAR points if you meet one or more of the following criteria:

• identify as an Indigenous Australian
• live in a low socioeconomic area
• have experienced financial disadvantage
• have a disability or medical condition
• have a non-English speaking background
• go to school in a remote or regional area
• have experienced difficult personal circumstances
• will be 21 or older on 1 January 2018.

You can check your eligibility using our SEAS calculator:
monash.edu/study/how-to-apply/entry-schemes/seas-calculator

If you’re eligible, simply apply for SEAS through VTAC before the closing date.

Internal transfers
Want to study law at Monash but don’t meet the entry requirements?

Internal transfers provide current Monash students from other faculties an additional pathway to study law at Monash.

To be eligible for an internal transfer, complete the equivalent of at least one year tertiary level of study (minimum of 48 credit points) at Monash and achieve a minimum distinction average.

Entry is competitive and the actual average required depends on the number and standard of applications received and the availability of places. Just submit a Course Transfer Application Form to the Faculty of Law, available in October during your first year at Monash.

CAN I BE CONSIDERED FOR FINANCIAL DISADVANTAGE?
You’ll be considered for financial disadvantage if you meet one or more of the following criteria:

• you receive an income-tested Centrelink benefit such as youth allowance, ABSTUDY or have a health care card
• your parents/guardians receive an income-tested Centrelink benefit such Family Tax Benefit
• you and/or your family are facing financial hardship or excessive financial obligations, such as living on a farm suffering from drought or floods.

DID YOU KNOW?
Students experiencing financial disadvantage receive a guaranteed one-off payment of $1000, plus $500 for each subsequent year.
SCHOLARSHIPS

Monash University provided more than $25 million in scholarships in 2017, to more than 6500 students.

Monash Law students receive a large number of these scholarships, including the:
• Monash Law School Equity Scholarship
• Susan Campbell Equity Scholarship
• Susan Campbell Pathways Scholarship
• Monash Support Scholarship
• Vice-Chancellors Scholarship for Excellence
• Dodson Indigenous Juris Doctor Scholarship
• Monash Law Faculty International Study Scholarship.

DID YOU KNOW?
You may also be eligible for a range of external scholarships, scholarships for accommodation plus other merit or equity scholarships not listed here.
For more information, visit monash.edu/students/scholarships

ACCOMMODATION

Award-winning on-campus accommodation.

Every year we welcome students from interstate and regional areas who are pursuing law with us – plus others who simply want the full university experience.

Choose from our popular traditional colleges and halls of residence, or make one of our new, architecturally-designed shared apartments your own home. We even have fully self-contained studio apartments on-campus. All of these options are only a few minutes’ walk to all your lectures and tutorials, and to a diverse range of food, public entertainment and sporting spaces, retail areas and plenty of green space to relax and connect.

Want to live close by but off campus? We can also help with personal, practical support to help you find your own accommodation.
For more information, visit rent-smart.mrs.monash.edu

DID YOU KNOW?
All on-campus accommodation options at Monash have their own 24/7 residential support teams, helping you settle in and have a great time.
