GET CAREER READY

The future of work is changing
And you need to keep up. It’s vital you learn how to thrive in a competitive and tech heavy professional landscape.

Lucky for you, Arts, Humanities and Social Sciences graduates get jobs that are at low risk of automation.

Not only do they power two thirds of Australia’s workforce, they shape the direction of our world.1 Arts graduates include:

• 65% of chief executives in Australia's biggest public companies2
• 44% of world leaders.3

Graduate with an edge
Six months after graduation, over 88% of Arts graduates are in full-time employment or further study.4

The employment outcomes and starting salaries of Arts graduates are on par with graduates from Business and Science.

Be in demand
Arts graduates have the expertise employers want:

• Strong communication
• Leadership
• Creative problem-solving
• Intercultural competence and global experience
• Cognitive agility
• People skills.

If you’re looking to get job-ready as you hone the creative and critical skills needed for a meaningful career, you belong at Monash Arts.

INTERNSHIPS

Develop hands on experience and industry connections as you gain credit towards your course.

You could be working with a member of state parliament, building a school in a working nation, going behind the scenes at a television station, or as a researcher with a non-profit organisation. The opportunities are endless.

Advantages of doing an internship

• Get valuable work experience that counts towards your degree.
• Apply what you’re learning in class to a real-world context.
• Gain valuable networking opportunities – you’ll link up with people who can give you advice and introduce you to groups and networks.
• Do an internship overseas and build your intercultural skills at the same time.

Places where our students have interned

• Global Poverty Project in New York
• The State Museum of Majdanek in Poland
• Mango Communications
• Live Performance Australia
• Channel 7
• Johannesburg Holocaust and Genocide Centre
• Ernst & Young
• Oxfam
• Australian Embassy in Rome
• Melbourne Writers Festival

LEARNING ABROAD
AMAZING EXPERIENCES BEYOND THE CLASSROOM

Monash Arts has the most extensive overseas study opportunities of any university in Australia. Whether you go for two weeks or two semesters, there’s a program to suit your interests, curiosities and study needs.

We have partnerships with over 150 universities worldwide, a study centre in Prato, Italy, and a campus in Malaysia. As a first year Monash Arts student, you’ll have access to our ground breaking Global Immersion Guarantee.

STUDYING OVERSEAS GIVES YOU AN EDGE
Research shows that students with international study experience:
- have better grades throughout their degree
- are more employable once they graduate
- earn more throughout their career.

You’ll expand your worldview through experiencing different cultures and ways of doing things. You’ll build your self-confidence, and be more adaptable and independent. You’ll also develop skills in effective communication, collaboration and time management.

WHERE CAN I GO?

Arts study tours
Programs vary from two to six weeks. They’re taught intensively so you can complete one or more units in that time. They run between semesters, which means you can continue to travel afterwards and potentially finish your degree sooner.

Some examples of what you could do include:
- creating journalism stories while joining the Engineers Without Borders study tour of Cambodia
- undertaking archaeological fieldwork and excavation in Italy
- jamming with jazz masters in New York
- engaging with cultural identities while considering the key challenges they face in Cuba today
- mastering Mandarin in China
- comparing crime and social control in the USA, Asia or Europe
- unravelling the effects of genocide in Europe.

Arts Semester in Prato
Make the Monash Prato Centre your European study base. Close to Florence in the picturesque landscape of Tuscany, the Monash Prato Centre is located in the beautiful 18th-century Palazzo Vaj right in the centre of Prato.

The program is flexible, immersive and enriching. Divided into three-by-four-week intensive blocks, you can study for the full 12 weeks or take the option of including some travel time and study for four or eight weeks. Embrace the opportunity to learn from some of the world’s most renowned international scholars as you study fascinating subjects such as:
- intensive Italian language
- cultural diversity in contemporary Europe
- the Renaissance in Florence.

Intensive language programs
Studying overseas as part of your language major is a great way to immerse yourself in your chosen language and culture. Monash Arts offers a variety of faculty-led and endorsed language programs available to language students for credit.

Intercampus exchange to Monash Malaysia
Established in 1998 in Bandar Sunway (18 kilometres from Kuala Lumpur), Monash Malaysia is Monash’s first international campus. Intercampus exchange to Monash Malaysia is available to all Monash Australia students, provided they have room within their course. Generous funding is available for this program.

Exchange to a partner institution
An exchange program involves studying with one of our partner universities around the world. You can go on exchange for one or two semesters. Financial assistance is available and there are no extra tuition fees. You can choose from more than 150 universities in 30 countries.

Study Abroad
If your preferred overseas destination is not a Monash partner university, you can still choose to go there on Study Abroad. You’ll pay the host university’s tuition fees for the time you’re there, and you’re still able to access financial assistance to support your travel.

GLOBAL IMMERSION GUARANTEE

The Monash Arts Global Immersion Guarantee (GIG) is an award-winning initiative that will enable you to explore first-hand the relationships between society, technology and the environment. It’s a two-week, funded study trip for all first-year Monash Arts, single or double degree students to one of five international destinations – China, India, Indonesia, Italy or Malaysia.

The Global Immersion Guarantee is about innovating and putting your degree into practice by responding to some of the world’s biggest challenges. You will engage with people and organisations already working on these issues, and you’ll have the opportunity to gain an understanding of the complexities and challenges involved in implementing sustainable and innovative solutions – all skills your future employers will look for.

monash.edu/arts/global-immersion-guarantee

ITALY

Based at the Monash Prato Centre, you’ll be exposed to experts working to mitigate the impact that different industries have on Italy’s natural environment.

INDONESIA

You’ll travel to two Indonesian islands to understand how different communities can balance economic development and environmental sustainability.

MALAYSIA

Based at the Monash Malaysia campus near Kuala Lumpur, you’ll examine a number of sustainability challenges that are confronting contemporary Malaysia.

CHINA

Travelling between two cities (Beijing, Suzhou or Shanghai), you’ll be immersed in the work of China’s businesses and universities that are focused on advancing innovative and creative solutions to some of the world’s major challenges.

INDIA

Based at the TATA Institute of Social Sciences in Mumbai, you’ll navigate the environmental challenges faced by India’s biggest and most populated city.
Bachelor of ARTS

Our world needs graduates who thrive in an era of uncertainty and change. In the Monash Bachelor of Arts you’ll cultivate your intellect, foster your passions and develop your capacity to ask the questions and find the solutions required to transform our world. We support you to become enterprising and passionate advocates for social change.

The Bachelor of Arts is designed to give you maximum flexibility and choice. You can choose from more than 30 areas of study to build a genuinely transformative experience. The course is built around deeply enriching experiences, and via your elective units, offers you four Professional Futures units through which to develop your unique graduate profile. You can choose from local and international internships, professional engagements and entrepreneurial opportunities, and the choice of more than 50 global immersion programs, preparing you to live and work in complex and culturally diverse environments, while building a network of like-minded peers.

The major
Eight units make up your major. These units are from the same area of study — for example, anthropology, French studies or politics. There are many units to choose from but there are also some compulsory units. These are called gateway, cornerstone and capstone units, which have been designed to help you consolidate your learning so you can get the most out of your major.

Gateway: a first-year foundation unit introducing you to the major.
Cornerstone: a second-year unit that focuses on making sure you have a solid grasp of your major.
Capstone: a third-year unit where you demonstrate advanced knowledge of your major. This could be a supervised research project or an internship with an industry partner.

Arts electives/Minor
A minor is four units from the same area of study. In a Bachelor of Arts, you can choose to complete a minor or four individual units from your chosen areas.

Professional futures units
Our four Professional Futures units build the skills and abilities employers value and seek. They aim to improve your employability and help you not just get a job, but land the job you want.

Global immersion: Broaden your knowledge and life experience by participating in the GIG, one of our other short study trips or a semester-long program.

Intercultural expertise: Learn to recognise your own cultural values and biases, and build skills to thrive in globalised work places and communities.

Professional experience: Through industry internships and placements, create networks and skills for your career development.

Innovation capability: Cultivate an innovation mindset as you develop your creative and enterprising abilities.

Free electives
There are eight free elective units which can be taken from Arts, Business, IT or Science. For example, you could add a second major which gives you two areas of expertise.

Taking advantage of the flexible structure
While there are aspects of the course structure that are fixed (for example, you must complete a major, Arts electives, and Professional Futures units), there’s still plenty of flexibility. This means you can design your course to suit your needs and interests as they evolve.

Some examples of what we mean by ‘flexible’ are:
- you can decide your major in second-year
- you can complete four Arts electives or a minor
- you can use the eight free electives to make up a second major, two minors, a minor plus electives, or just electives. These can be from Arts, Business, IT or Science.

Global Immersion Guarantee
As a Bachelor of Arts student, you’ll have access to the Monash Arts Global Immersion Guarantee – an opportunity to spend two weeks studying in China, India, Indonesia, Italy or Malaysia, with airfares and accommodation covered as part of your degree.

Studying a double degree of Arts and Criminology at Monash has led me to elevate my world view immensely. Majoring in Human rights through my Bachelor of Arts has complemented my Criminology studies, informing my passion for reforming the corrections system. I have absolutely loved being able to continuously enrich and gain such relevant knowledge.”

DOUBLE DEGREES

Double the degree. Double the experience. Double the future careers.

A double degree doesn’t mean double the work; in fact, it takes two years less to complete than if you studied the courses separately.

A double degree empowers you to tailor your studies to your dream profession – for example, working as an international development lawyer (Arts/Laws), an environmental journalist (Arts/Science), a business manager (Arts/Business) or a music critic (Arts/Music).

You’ll broaden your knowledge across two different fields, diversify your skill base and expand your career opportunities.

Diploma of Languages
This diploma allows you to study Chinese, Chinese Mandarin, European languages (French, German, Italian, Spanish), Indonesian, Japanese, or Korean. There are different entry levels so you can commence as a beginner in the language or with a language background.

Diploma of Liberal Arts
Expand your studies by choosing any Arts area of study available as a major, except for languages.

Applying for entry
You can apply for entry to either of these diplomas only after you’ve accepted your offer into your main course at Monash.

Broaden your career options
Students choose to study Monash Arts diplomas to enhance their future career opportunities. For example, Law students strengthen their specialisation through pursuing criminology, international business students gain a competitive edge by studying a language, and biomedical students increase their career choices through journalism.

Diploma of LANGUAGES + LIBERAL ARTS
An Arts diploma allows you to take additional studies in Arts while completing any Monash single or double Bachelor’s course.

What is a diploma?
A diploma is an additional course of study taken alongside your bachelor’s degree. It’s the equivalent of eight units, which make up a major. You’ll cover first, second and third year units. Diplomas are studied alongside your degree and add an extra year of study.

Who’s eligible?
Students from any Monash faculty who are studying a bachelor’s single or double degree.

Why study a diploma?
By studying a Diploma of Languages or a Diploma of Liberal Arts, you will:
- Diversify and deepen your skills and knowledge
- Expand your career options
- Continue with an area of study you have a keen interest in, try something completely different.

I undertook an Arts/Law double degree because I wanted to combine my passion for law with my social conscience and desire to help my community.

In my Arts degree, I pursued Chinese studies and International development. My Chinese studies led me to study abroad in Nanjing in China, where I was exposed to poverty-stricken environments. Meanwhile, my International development subjects showed me some of the solutions that were possible.

When I returned from studying abroad in China, I wanted to take action to combat poverty. I came up with the idea for Crepes for Change, which was the first business in a group now known as Society Melbourne.

My Arts degree has led to a fulfilling career in ethical entrepreneurship, and informed my practice as a pro bono lawyer."

With Monash Arts you can graduate with a bachelor’s and a master’s degree in just four* years. After completing two years of your bachelor’s course, and providing you’re a high-achieving student, you can take master’s-level units as your electives in third-year.

You then complete the rest of your master’s course in fourth-year. You can match your Monash Arts bachelor’s degree with a master’s degree in:

- Applied Linguistics
- Bioethics
- Communications and Media Studies
- Cultural and Creative Industries
- International Development Practice
- International Relations
- International Sustainable Tourism Management
- Interpreting and Translation Studies
- Journalism
- Public Policy
- Strategic Communications Management.

The benefits

At Monash Arts we’re committed to providing you with as many opportunities and as much flexibility as possible to allow you to maximise your study options. The Bachelor’s/Master’s program allows you to:

- Fast track your studies and graduate with an undergraduate and postgraduate degree in just four years – instead of five
- Take advantage of the most extensive Bachelor’s/Master’s offering in Australia
- Make yourself more employable with two degrees and specialist knowledge
- Save time
- Save on fees.

* A master’s degree is a more advanced degree, usually taken after completing a bachelor’s degree.
During my studies, I took advantage of the internship opportunities available so I could apply the skills and practical knowledge I gained from the Bachelor’s/Master’s program in professional work environments.

Since graduating, I have secured a job as a Policy Officer at the Australian Primary Health Care Nurses Association, where I completed one of my internships. The networking opportunities and hands-on experience I gained throughout my degree helped me strategically position myself in the workforce, leading to an exciting career straight out of uni.”

DID YOU KNOW
Bachelor’s/Master’s program students have access to both undergraduate and graduate level Arts internships offered by many providers across Australia and globally.
Bachelor of CRIMINOLOGY

Improve responses to crime and criminality.

Criminology is the study of crime and social control. Crime – how we define it, how we understand its causes and the ways we respond to it – provides a window into society’s challenges, values and aspirations.

This course offers students a world-leading program delivered by a team of outstanding teachers and researchers.

You’ll consider the local, national and global aspects of crime and justice, and become familiar with a range of lenses for understanding and assessing the impact of society’s changing responses to crime and justice. You’ll gain an understanding of victimisation and perpetration, inequality and its impacts, and approaches to understanding crime. Throughout the course you’ll develop your capabilities via the key themes of expert knowledge, global reach and focus, and collaboration and innovation.

Expert knowledge

With its own advisory board, the Bachelor of Criminology brings into play the advice and dynamic perspectives of industry experts, meaning our students benefit from current insights into industry developments.

You’ll learn about crime committed by individuals, groups, organisations and states, and the mechanisms of the criminal justice system, including police, courts and corrections. Options are available to develop knowledge of specific criminal concerns, such as sexual violence, gendered violence, punishment, criminal justice processes, marginalisation, drugs, cybercrime, risk and surveillance, victimisation and perpetration, youth crime, and crime prevention and transnational justice practices.

Global reach and focus

Throughout the course you’ll be challenged to apply abstract knowledge to real-world problems of crime and justice, and develop solutions. You’ll also have the opportunity to travel internationally and meet criminal justice experts from across the world through a selection of exclusive field trips.

The field trips offer a truly immersive learning experience to complement the academic knowledge you’ll gain in class, allowing you to engage in context and gain a genuine understanding of the human realities behind the study of criminology.

Collaboration and innovation

Through multiple opportunities for engagement with industry, you’ll gain the experience needed to be workplace ready. In the professional project unit, you’ll work closely with our industry partners, opening up new pathways and opportunities for your career, and capping off your criminology study by bringing together your knowledge and skills in your final year. The professional project features real-life scenarios, and your work will be assessed by both academics and industry experts.

Further opportunities and internships are available to you through Arts internships, both in Australia and around the world, so you can get hands-on experience while you gain study credit.

Bachelor of GLOBAL STUDIES

If you aspire to become a leader in creating social change, then the Bachelor of Global Studies is the course for you. You’ll learn how to critically analyse global challenges facing cultures and communities around the world, and how to devise imaginative and well-informed solutions to help solve them.

The Bachelor of Global Studies has many exciting features, including core units on leadership development, project-based learning, internship placements with industries and organisations who are leading advocates for social change around the world, a broad range of electives that train you to think across different disciplines, an overseas study component, and the option of doing a double degree with Laws (Honours), Commerce, Science, or IT.

Overseas study
Integral to this course is overseas study that can be completed across a full semester or taken intensively. You could take units offered at a Monash international location, join in one of our many study tours, or study at one of our prestigious partner universities. It’s compulsory to take at least three overseas study units, but you can take more if you want. With partnerships with more than 150 universities worldwide, our study centre in Prato, Italy, and a campus in Malaysia, you’re spoilt for choice.

Engaging with industry
With its own advisory board, the Bachelor of Global Studies is in a unique position to draw on the advice and perspectives of industry experts. The board consists of professionals from diverse backgrounds with direct links to business, government and the social sector. They provide vital guidance, advice and feedback to inform our program development and to ensure the course delivers the best outcomes for you.

Double degrees
The Bachelor of Global Studies can be taken as a double degree with the:
- Bachelor of Commerce
- Bachelor of Laws (Honours)
- Bachelor of Science
- Bachelor of Information Technology.

Double degrees allow you to combine two areas of interest and gain expertise in both. As a graduate you’ll have greater career flexibility, and because the double degree is completed in a shorter time than two single degrees, you’ll be saving time and money.

Internships
There are many opportunities within the course to take an internship, where you can apply your knowledge to a professional work environment and gain valuable experience and insights into the ‘real-world’ environment. Internships are available with a wide range of organisations and count as credit towards your degree.

Course structure
Four core units on ‘Social change in practice’: These units are exclusive to the Bachelor of Global Studies and are taken over three years. You’ll learn about forms of leadership, drivers of social change and how to apply your learning in practical and professional real-life contexts.

Classes are mainly workshops where you’ll engage in problem-based learning and develop skills in creativity, teamwork, cross-cultural collaboration, critical thinking, self-learning and analytical writing.

Twelve units from one of the following specialisations with a minimum of three units taken overseas:
- Cultural competence
- Human rights
- International relations
- International studies.

Eight free elective units:
With these free electives you can study units from Arts or from another area such as Information Technology, Science or Business. You could also use these electives to do an internship or study overseas.

GLOBAL IMMERSION GUARANTEE
As a student in the Bachelor of Global Studies you’ll have access to the Monash Arts Global Immersion Guarantee – an opportunity to spend two weeks studying in China, India, Indonesia, Italy or Malaysia, with airfares and accommodation covered as part of your degree. For more information, visit monash.edu/arts/global-immersion-guarantee

DID YOU KNOW?
We’re the only university in Victoria to offer double degrees with music.
Specialisations

Cultural competence
Extend your studies of leadership, culture and globalisation by focusing on communication across cultural borders. By studying one of eight internationally important languages – Chinese, Chinese Mandarin, French, German, Indonesian, Italian, Japanese, Korean or Spanish – you’ll deepen your cross-cultural skills and knowledge. All languages are available for beginners through to those with proficiency. You’ll also study topics such as managing intercultural communication, and the skills you build will enable you to apply your knowledge in real-world contexts.

Human rights
In the era of globalisation, one of the most important concepts in international affairs is human rights. What are human rights? Are human rights culturally relative? How can human rights be justified? You’ll learn how human rights help to address issues such as global poverty, unequal access to medicine, warfare, terrorism, children’s rights, humanitarian intervention, torture, surveillance and more.

International relations
What are the dynamics of global politics and economics? Gain an understanding of the relationships between political institutions, international organisations, and governmental and non-governmental actors. Grasp evidence-based explanations to study war and conflict, development, financial and other crises at a global level. You’ll undertake in-depth study of topics of contemporary significance such as terrorism and political violence, global governance, international security and foreign policy.

International studies
In order to be competitive in the international marketplace of products, ideas and knowledge, we need to understand how people experience different cultures. International studies develops this understanding by exploring the issues and events that have shaped and continue to shape our world. You’ll examine such diverse topics as the role of cities as drivers of change, migrant and refugee experiences, power and poverty, and tradition and popular culture. In doing so, you’ll develop a solid understanding of European and Asian cultural studies, and of networks of relations between Europe, Asia and Australia.

Learning in different contexts in different countries enriches the learning experience so much. Students work together as a team to tackle some of the world’s most pressing issues.”

Bachelor of MEDIA COMMUNICATION

A degree for today’s media world, the Bachelor of Media Communication addresses the growing demand for graduates with new and diverse skills in communication, and a critical understanding of how media influences our lives.

You’ll be part of a new generation of thinkers and future-driven media and communication professionals who’ll challenge convention and devise solutions that’ll take us into the next century.

Graduate with a portfolio that will make you stand out
From day one, you’ll develop practical experience and work-ready skills to build a portfolio of real work throughout your course. This could be projects such as a documentary, short film or digital marketing campaign, depending on your interest area. The result is tangible pieces of work you can take out and show to potential employers.

What you’ll study
The course comprises core units, a specialisation and electives. You can tailor it to suit your interests by choosing your specialisation and electives. In your final year you can do either an internship or a professional project.

Double degrees
The Bachelor of Media Communication can be paired with the:
• Bachelor of Art History and Curating
• Bachelor of Business
• Bachelor of Business Administration
• Bachelor of Design
• Bachelor of Fine Art
• Bachelor of Marketing.

Internship
If you’re interested in gaining valuable work experience, you can apply for an internship through our extensive network of industry partners within Australia and around the world. The internship runs in the final year of your course. It’ll give you the opportunity to build networks and make contacts for your career development.

Free electives
There are eight free electives in the course. That means you’ll have the flexibility to take units from another discipline within Arts such as politics or a language or from another faculty such as Business, IT or Science. These electives will complement your specialisation and add diversity to your skill set, making you stand out from your peers.

Core units
Media challenges
This unit addresses the great media challenges of our time. Learn how to critically analyse and think strategically about how to tackle today’s problems, as well as those that lie ahead.

Communicating in the digital era
Become proficient in areas such as video production, broadcasting, news reporting, advertising and social media. Learn to combine critical skills in digital literacy with practical skills in media production to develop your overall digital knowledge.

Media communication practice labs
With our industry standard, purpose built Media Lab, you’ll have the opportunity to experience what it’s like to work in a professional media environment right on campus. Experiment with different kinds of technology – from working in live and post-production TV studios, or the latest radio broadcast facilities.

Professional placement
In your final year you’ll have the opportunity to bring together your in-depth knowledge and skills with either an internship or professional project.

Specialisations

There are four specialisations to choose from. You will start first year with two specialisations and decide in second year which one to pursue as your primary specialisation.

Journalism
Make the news and make stories that matter. Spanning digital, audio, video and print media, this specialisation makes use of the Monash Media Lab to give you the practical and creative skills required to excel in a rewarding journalism career.

Media
You’ll become a true media expert in today’s fast-evolving world, building skills and knowledge in media research, management, communication and policy. You’ll develop skills in media analysis that have applications across a wide range of professional contexts — from social media strategy in organisations to media management and communication, and media policy.

Public relations
You’ll learn how to research, develop, apply then evaluate communication strategies. You’ll develop global perspectives, understand the importance of the management of stakeholder relationships and reputation, acquire skills in public opinion analysis, learn to identify and manage organisational issues, and develop a crisis management plan.

This specialisation also provides you with the skills required to research, plan and implement a strategic public relations campaign.

You’ll have the opportunity to work with real clients where you’ll gain insights into ethical communication practice as well as the skills needed for a professional career in public relations.

Screen
Screen industries, technologies and cultures are changing faster than ever. This specialisation gives you the knowledge to understand these transformations, navigating how film, television and newer screen formats have led to and function within contemporary media ecologies.

You’ll study an extensive range of units. Looking at global and local film cultures, you’ll examine the power and influence screen has to share stories, and its ability to influence and change society.

The screen specialisation also develops your practical video production skills relevant to a broad range of media platforms and screen cultures.

"The highlight of this course has been doing all the practical work. The biggest thing is to utilise the facilities and the equipment here, because there’s just so much and everyone is really welcoming and open for you to use it."

CLAIRE CORBEL
Bachelor of Media Communication
Bachelor of MUSIC

Sir Zelman Cowen School of Music and Performance has one of the most comprehensive music programs in the country. We excel in classical, jazz and popular music performance, and have vibrant programs in composition, improvisation and creative music technology.

You’ll collaborate with international artists, learn from accomplished teaching staff, study and perform in New York or Prato, Italy, and perform to audiences across the country with an ensemble or orchestra.

How the course is structured
The course comprises 24 units. These units work through three themes and electives.

Themes
Music specialist study
Choose from one of the following specialisations:
- Music performance (classical or jazz and improvisation)
- Popular music
- Composition and music technology.

Music theory and ear training
These units integrate the development of aural skills with the theoretical understanding of music through listening, analysis, performance, notation and composition.

Music context study
Learn about music and music-making in a variety of cultural, historical, social and professional settings.

Electives
There are eight free electives that you can take from Music, Arts, Business, IT or Science. For example, you could complement your studies with a language or marketing units from the Business school.

Double degrees
The Bachelor of Music can be paired with the:
- Bachelor of Arts
- Bachelor of Commerce
- Bachelor of Education (Honours), (includes VIT registration)
- Bachelor of Laws (Honours)
- Bachelor of Science.

Other ways to study music in your course
You can include non-practical music units in your Bachelor of Arts course as a major, a minor or use your free electives. If you’re studying another Monash course, you can use your electives to take non-practical music units.

Performance opportunities
Monash is renowned for its performance opportunities and we have a diverse range of small and large ensembles, including piano ensembles, choral groups (gospel, contemporary and classical), electronic laptop, new music, string sinfonia, wind symphony, funk, pop, Latin jazz, Gamelan, small jazz ensembles (including Australian jazz and Brazilian) as well as the Monash Art Ensemble and the Monash Academy Orchestra.

Specialisations

Music performance - Classical performance or Jazz and Improvisation
Available to those with strong musical aptitude in classical or jazz performance, this specialisation offers you the rigour and richness required to put you on the path to professional music performance success. You’ll acquire an assured instrumental or vocal technique and perform in a variety of ensembles, in addition to solo work. You will have the opportunity to take part in one of our study tours to New York or to the Monash Prato Centre in Italy.

Popular music
Designed for popular music performers and creators of the future. In addition to developing practical performance skills and stagecraft, you’ll learn how to engage with a broad range of tools, performance styles and contexts representative of the popular music industry. You’ll start by developing techniques and practice strategies on your principal instrument or voice across a range of musical styles and repertoires. These skills will be applied in both solo and ensemble performance contexts in song-writing, live and recording environments. You’ll have the opportunity to conceptualise and create a live performance and recording project under the guidance of expert teachers within your chosen musical style and/or context.

Composition and music technology
In this specialisation you’ll develop skills in composition and music technology for acoustic and electronic instruments, song-writing and music for other media such as film and video games. You’ll have the opportunity to collaborate with performance students, write for visiting international artists and make your own recording projects. Through our partnership with the Melbourne Electronic Sound Studio (MESS), you’ll have access to vintage electronic equipment, and the School provides an innovative studio and recording space. Our ongoing program of local, national and international visiting artists and workshops means you’ll create established contacts with industry and be prepared for global career opportunities.

In this environment, you’re encouraged to learn what you need to learn, but also jump out of the box and try something outside of your comfort zone. If anything, it’s encouraged, which is a really beautiful way for artistry and creativity to flourish.”

Bachelor of POLITICALS, PHILOSOPHY AND ECONOMICS

Developed by Monash’s world-renowned Politics, Philosophy and Economics professors, this program is designed for deep thinkers who want to have a real impact.

After mastering the main ideas shaping our understanding of society, you’ll move on to study at the creative intersection between politics, philosophy and economics.

You’ll engage with researchers and global leaders to hone the industry relevant abilities needed to thrive in a world defined by constant technological, environmental, political and population change.

An Industry Advisory Board guides the direction and development of the course, ensuring that all units are informed by expert insider knowledge.

Core units
Big ideas in politics, philosophy and economics
Engage with the big ideas that have shaped the world and the emerging ideas that seek to alter it. This unit introduces major ideas in Politics, Philosophy and Economics in an innovative inter-disciplinary learning environment. You’ll comprehend and analyse the inter-relationships between politics and the good life, freedom and the economy, and how we know what we know in order to behave ethically in a globalised society.

Policy analysis in politics, philosophy and economics
Tackle real-world contemporary policy challenges by examining statistical and data-driven evidence and practical policy responses. Adopting the role of policy-maker, you’ll learn how to address concerns like economic efficiency, justice and fairness, and political feasibility.

Strategic reasoning in politics, philosophy and economics
Refine your structured and strategic ways of thinking about – and beyond – contemporary issues. Taking uncertainty and disruption as enduring elements of our world, you’ll identify risks and opportunities and advance reasoned and evidence-based arguments to achieve concrete outcomes.

Politics, philosophy and economics in the world
Apply you interdisciplinary knowledge to real-world scenarios in real-world locations. After completing this unit, you’ll have proven your ability to transition the workplace by demonstrating your capacity to identify emerging issues and articulate ways beyond current impasses.

Course breakdown
You will be required to complete six gateway (introductory) units from all three specialisations in your first year of study. One specialisation must be nominated at the end of first year. The gateway units from this section will be credited to the specialisation, resulting in twelve specialisation units. You will complete four units in Analysis, Strategy & Leadership and you will have eight free electives which can be taken from Arts, Business, IT or Science.

Internships
Internships form a valuable element of this course, empowering you to gain real world experience and shape your professional networks.

Overseas study
All first year students are eligible for Monash Arts’ phenomenal Global Immersion Guarantee (see page 5). Second year students can embark on an exclusive study tour tracing the shifting economic and political power relations of the 21st century, from the Asia Pacific to Europe.

Specialisations

Politics and governance
The study of politics addresses important questions about the nature of power, authority and governance: who gets what, when and how. Politics also encompasses the study of notions of freedom and agency in situations of social choice.

Philosophy
Philosophy is the study of fundamental ideas about the world we live in. It questions the nature of our world, asks what constitutes a good life in such a world, and asks what could be done to make it better. In this specialisation you’ll be introduced to areas central to philosophy, including political philosophy, ethics and logic.

Economic analysis
Economic analysis provides an advanced understanding of the theories explaining and analysing the production, distribution, and consumption of goods and services, with a focus on how individuals, households, firms and governments interact and how economies work.

---

Any future leader needs to understand how people think and how societies work. Understanding our great thinkers and being able to challenge and question them is vitally important.”

ANNA BURKE

ANTHROPOLOGY
Available as a major, minor or electives

About anthropology
Anthropology compares different ways of life. Anthropologists provide ‘insider’ perspective on human behaviour by observing the lives of others, living with them, sharing their experiences and discussing their perspectives.

Why study anthropology?
Anthropologists specialise in analysing, documenting and creating social changes, and can assist in areas such as climate change, mining, social policy, Indigenous issues and development aid.

Anthropology and travel
Anthropologists travel extensively as part of their work. Monash anthropologists have travelled to outback Australia, Indonesia, Iran, Timor-Leste and many other locations.

Career options
- International development
- Health and education
- Social research
- Indigenous affairs
- Conservation and heritage work
- Multicultural affairs
- Curating and collecting work

BEHAVIOURAL STUDIES
Available as a minor or electives

About behavioural studies
We explore human behaviour from social, cultural and psychological perspectives. We look at the theory and research to answer important questions around why humans behave the way they do and the social issues that arise as a consequence.

Why choose behavioural studies?
You’ll develop insights into your own behaviour and motivations, as well as those of others, making you a socially aware and an interpersonally effective employee. You’ll learn how to apply social psychological principles to important problems, such as domestic violence, cyberbullying, euthanasia, eating disorders, climate change and terrorism.

Career options
- Defence
- Education
- Behavioural research
- Business management
- Media and communications
- Human resource management
- Policy
- Advertising, sales and marketing
- Philosophy
- Biomedical sciences

ARCHAEOLOGY AND ANCIENT HISTORY
Available as a major, minor or electives

About archaeology and ancient history
Archaeology and ancient history focuses on the ancient Mediterranean world and Indigenous Australian studies. You’ll examine historical texts, literature and material records – such as ancient sites, monuments, art and objects – to understand how people lived, how their culture developed and what their beliefs were.

Why study archaeology and ancient history?
You’ll learn about the first Australians and how their past contributes to our nation’s enduring heritage. You’ll investigate how the Mediterranean served as the birthplace of many influential ancient cultures, and you’ll become familiar with how these cultures have contributed to the intellectual development of the western world.

Career options
- Heritage management
- Conservation
- Consultancy
- Research
- Documentary production
- Tourism
- Museum/gallery curating

BIOETHICS
Available as a minor or electives

About bioethics
We draw on philosophy, science, sociology, history, economics, law and other disciplines in the attempt to answer some of society’s most difficult and interesting questions around the ethics of things such as human cloning and enhancement, prolonging life, genetic discrimination, stem cell research, buying and selling human organs, and the publication of dangerous scientific discoveries.

Why study bioethics?
Bioethics is concerned with controversial topics that have profound implications for the future of humanity and society. It’s a field of study that’s relevant and important to everyone, and will promote development of all-purpose skills in reading, writing, oral expression and critical thinking.

The Monash Bioethics Centre
The Monash Bioethics Centre is a world-leading World Health Organization (WHO) Collaborating Centre for Bioethics, one of just seven such centres worldwide.

GENDER STUDIES

Available as a major, minor or electives

Clayton

About gender studies
Gender studies is an exciting interdisciplinary field of inquiry that’s informed by the belief that all social processes and institutions are ‘gendered’.

Studies in this area bring innovative theory and research techniques to understanding the ways in which our bodies are sexed, gendered and sexually oriented, how these relate to contemporary and global debates on gender inequality, sexual and reproductive health and rights, and the plurality of sexualities.

Why choose gender studies?
You’ll be introduced to a variety of critical models of analysis – feminist and queer – that’ll assist you in developing a range of problem-solving skills.

Your transferable professional skills in gender analysis and ethos of gender equality and social justice will be relevant to professional contexts such as non-governmental organisations, industry and community-based organisations, or civil society movements.

Sixty-two million people in Indonesia are infected with hookworm, which is the leading cause of anaemia worldwide.

The report that I wrote in consultation with the Project Officer at Yayasan Usaha Mulia stimulated treatment for hookworm in Cipanas, a remote village in West Java. The project is helping around 250 kids in Cipanas at the moment.

My Monash Bachelor of Arts has provided me with the great research and analytical thinking skills needed to look at a big problem, solve it and tell a story about it, so that anybody can understand.”

HOLOCAUST AND GENOCIDE STUDIES
Available as a minor or electives
Clayton, Caulfield

About holocaust and genocide studies
The 20th century has been called ‘the century of genocide’, but genocidal violence continues into the new millennium. This area of study asks you to reflect on why genocides happen and how people come to participate in mass violence.

Why study holocaust and genocide studies?
You’ll explore the Holocaust as a turning point in human history, along with the causes and effects of modern genocides all over the world and what’s being done to prevent them. You’ll examine themes such as trauma and testimony, the limits of representation, the survivor experience across generations and cultures, the role of the law in adjudicating war crimes, media coverage of atrocity and the failure to prevent genocide.

- Consultancy with heritage companies

INDONESIAN STUDIES
Available as a major, minor or electives
Clayton

About Indonesian studies
We’ve taught Indonesian studies for more than 50 years and we have one of Australia’s largest Indonesian library collections. Flexible entry points ensure you’ll study at a level that suits your language proficiency, and a focus on literature and linguistics topics will supercharge your development. Our program is complemented and informed by Monash Arts’ extensive research in the history, politics, economy and music of Indonesia.

Why choose Indonesian studies?
Indonesia is one of the world’s largest and most diverse nations, and one of Australia’s nearest and most important neighbours. You’ll develop strong cultural literacy and intercultural communication skills, and examine the interaction of language and culture with reference to history, performing arts, journalism, literature and translation.

Overseas study opportunities
There are many opportunities to study language and culture in Indonesia for a semester or a full year. Monash is a member of the Australian Consortium for In-Country Indonesian Study (ACICIS), which has specialist in-country programs in language, journalism, development studies and education.

JOURNALISM
Available as a major, minor or electives
Caulfield

About journalism
You may have heard that the role of a journalist is to uphold the fourth estate. But what does that mean? It means that you’re the one who finds the real story before the rest of us realise the story is even there. You’re the one who informs us about the problems and achievements of our society; between our community and the world. There’s no more important job.

Why study journalism?
Journalism will teach you the skills to write succinctly, to a word limit and to a deadline. It’ll teach you to question ideas, and to question people face-to-face. You’ll learn to think on your feet and quickly gain an understanding of an issue. It’ll also teach you to be accurate, check your sources, dig deeper and analyse data to find the next big story in the field that most interests you. You’ll learn to use the very latest technologies in our fully-equipped Monash Media Lab, one of the most advanced of its kind in Australia.

Career options
Many of our graduates fulfil their aspiration to become a journalist. They’ve joined metropolitan papers, the ABC and SBS, along with commercial radio, TV and digital-only outlets. Others have gone on to careers in communications, speech writing and other professions where the skills of journalism are in demand.

“I chose to study a Bachelor of Global Studies and a Bachelor of Science because it was a perfect pairing. With Science, I love the fact that you’re able to delve so deeply into a problem and - most of the time - find perfect solutions. On the other hand, Global Studies highlights how the world is too complex for simple answers - you have to appreciate nuance and think creatively.

Pairing these two disciplines together gave me the tools to be able to approach problems in a uniquely effective way. These tools have enabled me to create a social enterprise that makes a real difference in my community.”

ALEX DEKKER
Bachelor of Global Studies/Bachelor of Science
Founder, Alex Makes Meals
Monash gives you more opportunity than just the degree. It’s given me the opportunity to work internationally whilst continuing to study locally. I’m inspired to help others and equip thousands of young people with the entrepreneurial skills they need for the future.”

KOREAN STUDIES
Available as a major, minor or electives

About Korean studies
Language teaching at Monash uses interactive and multimedia resources to bring Korean culture and language to life. You’ll be introduced to Hangul, the Korean phonetic writing system, which will enable you to type in Korean from beginner’s level onwards. Our academics are world leaders in the field of Korean history, literary studies and language education.

Why study Korean?
Korea is one of Australia’s largest trading partners, and the close political and strategic relationship between the two countries is constantly developing and expanding in a number of sectors, including trade, education and tourism. Developing a high level of linguistic and intercultural competence will give you a clear advantage when applying for jobs and it will diversify your career options.

Overseas opportunities
All students are strongly encouraged to participate in the overseas exchange programs with Korea, where we have agreements with four prominent universities.

Career options

- Education

LINGUISTICS AND ENGLISH LANGUAGE
Available as a major, minor or electives

About linguistics and English language
Language is central to human life, and linguistics is the scientific study of language and its application. It explores the way we understand, acquire and use language, both spoken and written. And while it considers the diverse characteristics of individual languages, it also uncovers the deeper properties that all languages share. You’ll explore multilingualism and multilingual societies, including areas such as language and globalisation, language learning and teaching and language endangerment. You’ll also have the option to specialise in English as an international language.

Why study linguistics and English language?
Studying linguistics and English language will enable you to analyse the role of social interaction and the relationship between language, society, identity and culture. You’ll be able to communicate more effectively across cultures, and explore the ways in which language enables human thought and feeling to be revealed in sounds or written shapes, and the ways speakers and listeners navigate this process.

MUSIC
Available as a major, minor or electives

Clayton

How can you study music at Monash?
There are different ways to include music in your studies. You can audition to enrol in the Bachelor of Music, or if you’re studying another course, such as a Bachelor of Arts or Bachelor of Science, you can still include non-practical music units as a major, minor or elective. There’s also an opportunity to join a range of small and large ensembles, some of which require an audition.

Studying music in your Arts course
A major or minor in music allows you to develop critical, analytical and interpretive skills to investigate different areas of music, such as western art music, popular and world music.

The major or minor in music within the Bachelor of Arts is available to students who have no previous music experience.

Career options
- Music reviewing
- Archivist
- Journalism

- Media and communications

PHILOSOPHY
Available as a major, minor or electives

Clayton, Caulfield

About philosophy
Almost everyone has been puzzled by a philosophical question at some point. For example: Is morality objective or simply a matter of opinion? What is personal identity? What is consciousness? Is it rational to believe in God? These are some of the central issues we address in philosophy.

Why study philosophy?
Philosophy students become excellent communicators, forming clear and persuasive arguments, conceiving complex ideas and developing as independent thinkers. Philosophy studies are very popular with Arts/Laws students. You’ll be inspired to think outside the square and look at the world in a different way.

Career options
- Non-government organisations (NGOs)
- Business
- Law
- Journalism
- Policy and government departments
- Teaching

Pathway to Bachelor of Laws (Honours)
The Bachelor of Arts (Law Pathway) (VTAC 2801120) allows you to study Arts and Laws from day one. You’ll enter the Bachelor of Arts in year one, full-time, and study up to four Law units. If you achieve a 60 per cent average you can move into the Bachelor of Laws(Honours)/Bachelor of Arts double degree.

1 Eligibility: You’ll be eligible for this course if you’re a domestic Year 12 or IB student, achieve an ATAR of 90+ and have a SEAS application showing you’re either an Indigenous Australian, reside in a low socio-economic region or experience financial hardship. Places are limited and based on merit.
ACADEMIC PREREQUISITES

All Monash undergraduate courses require you to have previously studied and achieved required standards in certain specified subjects.

The following table outlines the requirements, and the course listing tells you which categories apply to each course. Note that some courses have special requirements such as folios, special admissions tests or interviews. Make sure you check if this applies to your course of choice in the courses section of this guide.

UNDERSTANDING THE TERMINOLOGY

Comprehensive degree
At Monash Arts, this refers to the Bachelor of Arts. A comprehensive degree gives you the choice and flexibility to select your units (subjects), and requires you to complete 24 units in 3 years, including specific requirements such as completing an Arts major and Professional Futures units.

Specialist degree
At Monash Arts, this refers to the Bachelor of Criminology, Bachelor of Global Studies, Bachelor of Media Communication, Bachelor of Music, and Bachelor of Politics, Philosophy and Economics. You need to complete 24 units, including specific requirements such as completing a specialisation. In a specialist degree, you start studying your chosen area of study straight away.

Units
Sometimes called a subject, units are usually worth six credit points. You need to complete 144 credit points in a three-year degree. Some second-year and third-year units are worth 12 credit points, and are counted as two units – these units have a higher workload.

Areas of study
An ‘area of study’ is a field of knowledge — for example, literary studies or sociology. Areas of study are sometimes called ‘disciplines’ See pages 23–32.

Major
A major is eight units from the same area of study. In the Bachelor of Arts you can choose to study one or two majors, and you don’t have to decide on your major straight away.

Arts electives/Minor
A minor is four units from the same area of study. In a Bachelor of Arts, you can choose to complete a minor or four individual units from your chosen areas. In most specialist degrees, your minor is prescribed.

Specialisation
An Arts specialisation consists of 10–12 units and is a requirement of any of the specialist degrees.

Elective
There are eight free elective units in all single Arts degrees. These can be taken from Arts, Business, IT or Science.
Having grown up in different countries, I was inherently curious about how the world works, and that’s what made me choose Monash - it has an international outlook.

My international experience fuelled my interest in having a global career. Monash gave me the practical skills to turn that dream into a reality.”
