Teachers' College resumes

Resuming at Frankston Teachers' College last Thursday were 315 second and third-year students. First-year students are expected next Tuesday.

The principal, Mr. G. A. TRUXT, TPTC, asked to expect an increase in the number of new students, making a record of 315.

At the end of 315, five new members of staff are expected to arrive. Several alterations and this year 10 new members have been appointed.

Those who left were Mrs. W. Waterman, Mrs. E. Turner, Mr. W. O. Waterman, Mr. M. W. Murphy and Mr. D. Ryan.

Three new members are expected to arrive, including Mr. J. D. Turner, TPTC, Lda. Pres. and Lib. Dir., and Mr. W. C. Thomas, Milton, and Miss M. R. Edwards, Mowbray.

Greetings are expected from Miss M. L. Deacon, TPTC, Library Librarian, and Miss M. M. Edwards, Mowbray. Miss E. A. L. Turner and Miss E. A. L. Turner and Miss E. A. L. Turner are expected.

A new student, Colin Thorn, of Wantage, is seen in the hotel of Frankston Teachers' College on Tuesday last week.
Teachers' College resumes

Resuming at Frankston Teachers' College last Thursday were 330 second and third-year students. First-year students are expected next Tuesday.

The principal, Mr. G. A. Jenkins, said that he expected 280 new students, making a record total of 610.

At the end of 1966 five members of staff transferred elsewhere, and this year 10 new members have been appointed.

Those who left were Mr. C. Browne, Mrs. J. Ferrari, Mr. W. Kneebone, Mrs. D. Murphy and Mr. B. Ryan.

Mr. Hughes and Mr. Mottek were previously teaching in Frankston schools, while Mr. Byrnes, Miss Channon, Mr. Ogden and Mr. Williamson were teaching in schools in the metropolitan area.

Mr. Legge and Mr. McIntyre have transferred from schools in country areas, while Miss Edwards and Mr. Kemp have transferred from other teachers' colleges.

visited in the college place several months previously in the past years.

When away Mr. Fly visited England and the country and decided to visit through America.

Mr. Fly's general impression is that there are fewer

Particular impressions which struck him were visits to some of his old friends in Europe, including Paris, London, and New York.

Mr. Fly also commended the good governance
in the college.
College faculty head returns

Mr. A. H. Fry, B.A., B.Ed., M.A.C.E., head of the Education Faculty at Frankston Teachers’ College, has returned to the college after seven months overseas on long-service leave.

While away Mr. Fry revisited England and the Continent and returned home through America.

Mr. Fry’s general impression is that there are fewer serious problems in Australia than in any other country.

Particular experiences which most impressed him were visits to some of the old walled cities of France, notably Carcassonne, to the ancient city of Siena in Italy, to the Edinburgh Festival, and to the Grand Canyon.

Mr. Fry also commented on “a good snow-storm in Michigan.”
HELP FOR TASSIE

People in the City of Frankston are responding generously to the appeal launched to help the victims of Tasmania’s bushfires last week, and a street collection in the business centre last Saturday morning yielded nearly $500 in 2½ hours.

Frankston Civic Centre is being used as a collection centre for cash donations to the appeal, with receipts issued by the council staff.

Student teacher, Miss Kit Schultz, from Frankston Teachers’ College, found traffic officer, Mr. Arthur Croughan, a willing donor to the Tasmanian bushfire relief appeal street collection held in Frankston’s shopping centre last Saturday morning.
Tasmania Aid

Frankston City Council decided to take an effort to make its appeal in the Tasmanian Fire. The Yarraville Fire, which caused damage to the Yarraville district, was called for assistance. However, young women and men at the scene were invaluable. The appeal was immediate and Brunswick Yarky was one of the acting ladies. The appeal was successful and raised sufficient funds for the appeal and those affected by the fire.

Student teacher Margaret Hanson, who responded to the call of Frankston City Council, was one of the tidy young ladies. Margaret found this little Mandy visitor anxious to make a contribution. She is little Christina Richardson of Launceston, Tasmania.
Tasmania Aid

When Frankston City Council decided to make an effort to assist in the Tasmanian fire disasters it called for support of young trainee teachers at the teachers' college. The response was immediate and Annette Noble (left) was one of 17 student teachers who quickly rallied for the appeal and found these three ready donors on Saturday morning.
Student teacher, Margaret Hanton, who responded to the call of Frankston City Council, was one of the pretty collectors for the Tasmanian Fire Relief in Frankston’s shopping centre on Saturday morning. And Margaret found this little blonde visitor anxious to make a contribution. She is little Christina Rosevear, of Lunceston, Tasmania.
COLLEGE WELFARE
ASSOCIATION MEETING

The annual general meeting of the College Welfare Association will be held in the college hall at 9 a.m. on Wednesday, and all interested persons, particularly the parents of students, are invited to attend.

Eligible to be elected are president, two vice-presidents, secretary, treasurer, auditor and auditor.

Nomination for election will be announced at the meeting of the executive committee on the night of the meeting.

The association has been formed in 1943, and is a non-profit organization. The association is an important social and economic organization in the college.

It is the welfare association’s main aim to help students and parents find a way to establish closer personal contact with the college. It is also for the benefit of students welfare.
The annual general meeting of Frankston Teachers' College Welfare Association will be held in the college hall at 8 o'clock tonight (Wednesday), and all interested persons, particularly the parents of students, are invited to attend.

Officers to be elected are president, two vice-presidents, secretary, treasurer and auditor.

Nominations for election as officers or members of the committee may be submitted on the night of the meeting.

Present officers are eligible for re-election.

The Welfare Association, formed in 1960, is a non-statutory organisation consisting mainly of parents and other citizens interested in the college.

The association's most important aim is to help students' parents and members of the general public to establish closer personal contact with the college. It takes a keen interest in student welfare, and, like school committees and councils elsewhere, helps to provide amenities or equipment not readily procurable from any other source.

As students remain at the college for only two years, or at the most three, new parent-members of the Association and its committee are constantly being sought and are always heartily welcomed.
GARDEN PARTY AT TEACHERS' COLLEGE

The RAAF Cadet Band under the conductorship of Lieutenant L. Wills will again play at Frankston Teachers' College's garden party to be held next Saturday from 2 to 4 p.m. The event was organized by the army cadets, parents, past students, staff and students of the college who planned an afternoon of music and entertainment.

In addition, the program will feature a special performance by the band. There is an all-day program to suit the needs of all age groups of the audience. It is expected that the music and entertainment will be enjoyed by all.

GARDEN PARTY AT TEACHERS’ COLLEGE

The R.A.A.F. Central Band, under the conductorship of Squadron-Leader L. Hicks, will again play at Frankston Teachers’ College’s garden party to be held next Saturday from 2 to 4 p.m.

This annual event, organised by the welfare association, provides an opportunity for students, parents, friends, staff and interested members of the general public to meet in congenial surroundings and, if desired, to inspect the college and its hostel.

In addition to the program of music to be provided by the band, first-year students will sing selections from “Sound of Music,” and a group of third-year students will play music from the present folk revival in the traditional, freely-improvised manner using guitar, double bass and percussion.

Afternoon tea will be available and all visitors are assured both of a warm welcome and of a very enjoyable afternoon.

COLLEGE GARDEN PARTY SUCCESS

Pleasant weather again prevailed at this year's garden party at Frankston Teachers' College last Saturday week.

Warrant-Officer Burt conducted the R.A.A.F. Central Band in a selection of light music and college students performed massed choral items and small-group folk-singing items with instrumental accompaniments.

It was obvious that a record number of people attended the party and took the opportunity to inspect college buildings and surroundings.

Mr. C. Williamson, president of the Welfare Association, welcomed guests, outlined the functions of the association in raising funds for college amenities, and emphasised the need for increased membership by parents and other interested adults.

Mr. G. A. Jenkins, principal of the college, paid tribute to the work of the Welfare Association and welcomed parents, stressing the value to them of gaining knowledge in the context in which their children were training.

A further welcome was extended to all present by Mr. G. O'Toole, president of the Students' Representative Council, on behalf of the student body.

Afternoon tea was served in the main hostel lounge.

Teachers' College win at swimming sports

At the combined teachers' college swimming sports at Olympic Oval last Wednesday week, Frankston Teachers' College emerged as victor in Division I for the third successive year.

The event was one of the most exciting in the history of the sport. Not only were there hard-fought races, but at the afternoon of the day even more exciting were the 50 yd. and 100 yd. races between Frankston and Yarraville. The men's A grade 100 yd. from Frankston was won by one of the boys, while the men's A grade 100 yd. from Yarraville was won by one of the boys.

Other minor events were won by Frankston. Frankston's 200 yd. was won by two of the boys, while the men's A grade 100 yd. was won by one of the boys. Frankston's 400 yd. was won by two of the boys, while the men's A grade 100 yd. was won by one of the boys.

Teachers’ College win at swimming sports

At the combined teachers’ college swimming sports at Olympic Oval last Wednesday week, Frankston Teachers’ College emerged as victor in Division 1 for the third successive year.

The occasion was one of the most exciting in the history of the sports. Not only were hard-fought battles the order of the day, but as the afternoon progressed scores between the leading colleges, Frankston and Melbourne, became extremely close—so close, in fact, that only the last event of the day, the women’s “A” grade relay, decided the winning college.

Prior to this event Frankston and Melbourne were level with 151 points each. The win gained Frankston the shield with a three-points lead.

Team spirit was very much in evidence among the Frankston swimmers and was undoubtedly a crucial factor in their success.

Not only was this evidenced by relay placings—either firsts or seconds in all relays—but by the number of students who swam with every effort despite some ill-health.

The importance, too, of spectator support should be recognised. This has always been a noticeable feature amongst Frankston students, and their 1967 enthusiasm perhaps reached an all-time high.

Many individual swimmers gave sterling performances.

Kay Leach swam with tremendous stamina to break her own record of two years’ standing in the women’s “A” grade 50 m. butterfly (34 secs.). She also won the women’s “B” grade 100 m. freestyle and “caught up” 10 or 15 yards in the women’s open medley relay to help Frankston gain second place in this event.

Robert Muir established a record (1 min. 23.1 secs.) for the men’s “A” grade 100 m. breaststroke, and came second in the men’s “A” grade 100 m. backstroke.

Other record-breakers were Russell Woodley, who won the men’s “B” grade 50 m. breast-stroke (40.5 secs.), and Annette Robinson, who won the women’s “B” grade 50 m. backstroke (40.6 secs.). Annette also came second in the women’s “A” grade 100 m. freestyle.

Special mention should be made of Ken Wallis, one of Frankston’s best swimmers who, while unable to perform at his optimum on the day of the sports because of ill-health, undoubtedly helped the college to victory through his performances in team events.

Other winners and place-getters were A. Ballantyne, R. Bruce, R. McDonald, J. Middleton, J. Lethbridge, L. Drysdale, M. Peart, J. J. Fagg, F. Todd, C. Woodward.

The physical education staff at the college paid tribute to all students, swimmers and supporters, and indicated the special merit attaching to the swimmers’ victory in that they overcame the very considerable difficulties associated with travelling to Moorabbin pools to train.

Final results—

Division 1: Frankston Teachers’ College, 178; Melbourne, 175; Toorak, 140; Burwood, 93.

Division 2: Coburg Teacher’s College, 164; Geelong, 152; Ballarat, 127; Bendigo, 89.

SWIMMING TEAM CHAMPIONS – THIRD YEAR IN A ROW
Mannequin Parade next Wednesday

One of the year's outstanding social entertainments at Franklin High School is the annual Mannequin Parade. This year it will be held next Wednesday at 8 p.m. in the college auditorium.

The College Mothers Association organized the parade this year, and this year's theme is the colors of Gallants of Main St., to display a range of women's clothing for viewing in the week before and during the parade.

The parade will begin with the Misses of Gallants, followed by the Misses of the Junior Class, and the Junior Class will close the show. Among the celebrities who will be honored are Misses Walker and Mrs. P. Haskell and daughter.

Tickets, which are now available, are $1.50 per card, and they are available from Mrs. L. Hart, 113 St. Charles Ave., Franklin, Ohio, or from the school. They are also available at the door of the auditorium at the start of the parade.

Mannequin Parade next Wednesday

One of the year’s outstanding social functions at Frankston Teachers’ College is the annual Mannequin Parade. This year it is to be held next Wednesday at 8 p.m. in the college auditorium.

The College Welfare Association organises the parade each year and this year has gained the cooperation of Gallants of Wells St., to supply a range of autumn clothes for showing — day wear, after-five wear and formal wear.

Six models will participate. Three are professional models — Heather Pettifer, Winifred Smith and Janet McLellan, and three are college students.

Among the official party will be mayororess Mrs. Walker, and Mrs. P. Hosking and daughter.

Tickets, which cover supper, are available from Mrs. L. Hart, 347 Nepean Hwy., Frankston (783 3926), from the college (783 2393), and at the door on the night of the parade.

College staff members marry

There was considerable local interest in the recent marriage of Mr. Tim Wells and Miss Judith Longden at St. Michael's and All Angels Church, Bromsgrove, on Easter Tuesday.

Both are members of the Stourbridge, Telford, College staff and are well known district squash players.

Mr. Wells, a lecturer in art and craft, and a partner of other clubs, was a determined member of the college in 1958, and Mrs. Longden, a member of the physical education staff, joined the college three years ago. They hope to make their home at Longden, and to continue in the college after their marriage.

The happy couple have been married at several ceremonies by college staff, family friends, and relatives.
College staff members marry

There was considerable local interest in the marriage of Mr. Tom Wells and Miss Judith Longden at St. Michael and All Angels Church, Beaumaris, on Easter Tuesday.

Both are members of the Frankston Teachers' College staff and are well-known district squash players.

Mr. Wells, a lecturer in art/craft, and a painter of some note, was a foundation member of the college in 1959, and Miss Longden, a member of the physical education staff, joined the college three years ago.

They hope to make their home at Langwarrin, and to continue at the college after their marriage.

The have been honored recently at several functions by college staff, other friends, and relatives.
MARRIED AT BEAUMARIS

St. Michael and All Angels’ Church of England, Beaumaris, was chosen for the recent wedding of Thomas George Wells, at Frankston, with Judith Yvonne Longden, of Beaumaris.

The groom is the elder son of Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Wells, of Lingi Court, Frankston, and the late Mr. Wells, and the bride is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. R. Longden.

The bride’s wedding gown of white taffeta featured bell sleeves, and the bodice was of deep pink taffeta with matching trimming in the sleeves. The bodice was fastened with a satin bodice and the skirt was a matching white muslin and 100 yards of white taffeta.

A large bouquet of white roses and white carnations and 100 yards of white taffeta was carried by the bride. The ceremony, which took place at the St. Philip’s Church, was conducted by the Rev. Mr. P. L. Wells, assisted at the reception at the home of the bride.
MARRIED AT BEAUMARIS

St. Michael and All Angels' Church of England, Beaumaris, was chosen for the recent wedding of Thomas George Wells, at Frankston, with Judith Yvonne Longden, of Beaumaris.

The 'groom is the elder son of Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Wells, of Lingi Court, Frankston, and the late Mr. Wells, and the bride is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. R. Longden.

The bride's wedding gown of white linen featured bell sleeves, and the bodice trimmed with guipure lace. A linen train fell from the bodice of the gown.

Her full-length veil was held with a linen headpiece, and she carried a trailing bouquet of white gardenias.

Bridesmaid was Valerie Wallace, and Kim Veale was flower-girl. They wore gowns of deep pink linen, with small matching bows in their hair.

They carried bouquets of white carnations and little pink Mexican daisies.

Best man was Norman Fary.

After the ceremony, which was conducted by the Rev. Father K. Raff, guests were entertained at a reception at the Dorchester.
Good wishes to Mr. Don Allen

SEMINAR AT TEACHERS' COLLEGE

During the second week of the social studies week the college co-sponsored a seminar on the implications of the Year of the Child for education. Faculty members from all Victorian primary teachers colleges were held at Foundation College during the week. Teachers of the Day included Mr. M. P. Carter, Miss M. F. Carter, Mr. A. D. S. Chisholm (Director of Education, Foundation College), and Miss H. B. Burnett (Foundation College). The seminar was a three-day event with a series of workshops and discussions on various topics related to the theme of the Year of the Child. Faculty members were pleased by the attendance and interest shown by the teachers.

They'll come a' knocking

Linda Hughes, Georgina Hughes, Susan Rose, Lyn Freeman, and Elizabeth Rowe are among the young people who will take part in the door-knock appeal in Frankston on Saturday, June 21st, for the Alfred Hospital Children's Appeal. The appeal will provide medical services for some 3,000 Frankston people.
SEMINAR AT TEACHERS' COLLEGE

During the second week of the recent school and college vacation a four-day residential seminar for Education Faculty lecturers from all Victorian primary teachers' colleges was held at Frankston Teachers' College.

Twenty-four representatives attended from Ballarat, Bendigo, Burwood, Coburg, Frankston, Geelong, Melbourne and Toorak colleges, and from the Training College for Teachers of the Deaf.

The implications of the new three-year training course to be introduced in 1968 were considered, and course content and organisation for the subject of Education discussed.

Mr. L. J. Pryor, Superintendent of Teacher Education, opened the conference with an address on the aims and functions of Education in a primary college.

During one session Mr. David Boyd and Dr. Ray Pennington outlined the child-study project being undertaken at Toorak Teachers' College and showed film of various phases of the work.

Members were pleased to welcome for some sessions Mr. W. McKinty, Assistant Superintendent of Teacher Education, principals Mr. G.

- Linda Hughes, Georgina Hughes, Susan Rowe, Lyn Bowman and Elizabeth Rowe are among the young people who will take part in the door-knock appeal in Frankston on Sunday, June 25, for the Alfred Hospital centenary appeal (see page 6). Last financial year, the hospital provided medical services for some 2000 Peninsula people.
SA STUDENT TEACHERS TO VISIT FRANKSTON

Forty students-in-training from Wattle Park Teachers' College, in Adelaide, are shortly to be the guests of Frankston Teachers' College for a week.

The students, who are to be accompanied by two of their staff members, are to arrive next Monday and are to be housed in the canteen of individual Frankston College students.

The visit is in return for that made to Wattle Park last year by all Frankston students who were accompanied by the principal, Mr. A. Jenkins, and senior woman lecturer, Miss K. Jenkins.

Frankston Students' Representative Council, headed by Mr. George O'Toole (president) and Mr. Alan Hackett (vice-president), has been working systematically in conjunction with a staff committee since the beginning of the year in order to ensure that the Adelaide guests are entertained in a program so varied and enjoyable as possible.

SA STUDENT TEACHERS TO VISIT FRANKSTON

Forty students-in-training from Wattle Park Teachers’ College, in Adelaide, are shortly to be the guests of Frankston Teachers’ College for a week.

The students, who are to be accompanied by two of their staff members, are to arrive next Monday and are to be billeted in the homes of individual Frankston College students.

The visit is in return for that made to Wattle Park last year by 40 Frankston students who were accompanied by the principal, Mr. G. A. Jenkins, and senior woman lecturer, Miss K. Kentish.

Frankston Students’ Representative Council, headed by Mr. Graeme O’Toole, (president) and Miss Ann Shelldrake (vice-president) has been working enthusiastically in conjunction with a staff committee since the beginning of the year to make certain that the Adelaide guests are entertained to a program as varied and enjoyable as possible.

Trips are to be made to the Somers camp for children, to Mornington Peninsula, to the Latrobe Valley, and around Melbourne.

Activities at the college itself will include a combined revue, a square dance and barbecue, and an inter-college sports match.

BUSY YEAR FOR STUDENT TEACHERS

The Frankston Teachers’ College students continued to be very active after the successful visit by Wattle Park student teachers from South Australia earlier in the term.

Recently the college was addressed by the Herald art critic, Alan McCulloch. He explained how he came to be an art critic and what was entailed in his job.

He concluded his talk with a brief evaluation of the American Art Exhibition which was recently shown at the National Gallery.

Rehearsals are well under way for one of the highlights of the college year — the college musical production. The enthusiasm of the students promises to make this production —

“Naughty Marietta,” one of the most successful yet. Mr. and Mrs. Ferrell Rollins, teachers from Twenty-Nine Palms, California who are holidaying in Australia, visited the college whilst in Frankston. Staff members were interested to meet them, and they seemed most impressed by what they were shown.

Trainee teachers’ narrow win from Police cadets

Playing in the Teachers’ League Football Association, Frankston just squeezed home from Largy (Police) 14.11 to 14.10. Frankston kicked two goals in the second quarter, but Largy had a better second half. At the final siren, Frankston 14.11 to 13.10, Largy managed to get their second goal, but it wasn’t enough. Frankston had three majors on the final siren, while Largy only had one. After the match, Frankston’s coach, Bruce, said, “We were a bit lucky today, but we fought hard.” Largy’s coach, Peter, added, “We had a tough game, but we’ll come back stronger next week.”

A long pass by Frankston’s Gary Malsick played to stop Peter Daniels at Tooronga Oval yesterday.
Trainee teachers’ narrow win from Police cadets

- Frankston forward Kevin Ladd (12) rises behind the pack to prevent Larpol defender A. Sewell (1) from marking in a passage of play near the Frankston goal.

Playing in the Teachers Colleges Football Association, Frankston just scraped home from Larpol (Police Cadets) by one goal in a thrilling and high-scoring game at Frankston last Wednesday.

It was a close contest all day, with both sides striving to gain a clear break. At quarter-time Larpol led by seven points with a score of 4.1 to Frankston’s 3.0.

During the second quarter Frankston gradually closed the gap. The student teachers played with more system and purpose, especially up forward, where their speedier flankers gave the Larpol defenders a torrid time. At half-time, Frankston held a one-point advantage, 8.3 to 8.2.

In the third term Frankston outplayed the young policemen for most of the quarter. In the last few minutes Larpol came back with a quick goal to cut the teachers’ lead down to two goals. At the final change, Frankston led 14.4 to 12.4.

The final quarter produced the best football for the match. Larpol swept forward in several thrusts which put three majors on the board and the side in front. Frankston came back and the lead changed once more. Larpol then tied the score with another major.

Under pressure in the last few minutes players on both sides made mistakes. A free to Frankston on the half-forward flank resulted in an accurate pass to a forward, and a goal, which clinched the game just 30 seconds before the siren.

Final scores: Frankston 19.5 d Larpol, 16.5.

Six teams comprise the Teachers Colleges Football Association. Five are drawn from student teachers at Coburg, Toorak, Frankston, Burwood and Melbourne, and the sixth team is Larpol, made up of players from the Victoria Police Cadets.

- The name ‘Larpol’ has an interesting background. The teachers’ colleges participate in a number of mixed sports events and Police Cadets combine with Larbook Domestic Arts Teachers’ College—a college for young women—in the various contests. Hence the ‘Lar’ from ‘Larbook’ and ‘Pol’ from police.
A tongue-biting effort by Frankston’s Gary Matlock (left), failed to stop Peter Daniel, of Toorak, taking this mark during the Teachers’ College clash at Tooronga Oval yesterday.
COLLEGE STUDENTS AT GEELONG

Last Wednesday, 185 ill and entertained to bed.

Frinkton Teachers' College students visited Geelong Teachers' College for an old matches.

The day proved enjoyable and scenic, and while Geelong proved its superiority in hockey and tennis, Frinkton won in boxing. Squash and golf.

The match between the second hockey teams was a draw.

To arrive
Last Wednesday, 160 Frankston Teachers’ College students visited Geelong Teachers’ College for social matches.

After travelling by bus from Frankston, the visitors were welcomed by the president and sports secretary of the Geelong Students’ Representative Council and entertained to lunch.

The day proved enjoyable and successful, and while Geelong proved its superiority in hockey (first team), football and badminton, Frankston won in basketball, squash and golf.

The match between the second hockey teams was a draw.

FRANKSTON TOPS IN TEACHER SPORTS

Frankston Teachers' College again this year has proved itself the leading participant in metropolitan inter-college team sport, taking part in 13 of the 17 finals and carrying off seven premierships.

Frankston premiership teams were: Basketball firsts (d. Burwood 23-21); basketball seconds (d. Burwood 33-28); golf (d. Coburg 4½-3½ games); hockey seconds (d. Larnook 2-1); softball seconds (d. Toorak 12-6); squash firsts (d. Burwood 19-13 games); and volleyball (d. Coburg 3-0).

Squash firsts and volleyball teams were undefeated throughout the year, volleyball consistently gaining overwhelming wins.

Badminton and basketball thirds had bad luck. They were undefeated until the last match, losing the finals to Coburg and Burwood respectively.

Second to Frankston in the number of premierships gained was Burwood, with five, two of them against Frankston — football (d. Frankston 17.15 to 7.10) and basketball thirds (d. Frankston 23-12).

Coburg was premier team in badminton (d. Frankston 5 sets 160 points to 4 sets 147 points); baseball and tennis first.

Toorak gained one premiership, softball firsts (d. Frankston 10-6); and Larnook gained one, hockey firsts (d. Frankston 2-0).

Melbourne is to compete next term against the winner of the last semi-final (unknown as yet) in men's basketball.

COLLEGE PRINCIPAL LOOKS AT FUTURE

Frankston Teachers' College is very grateful to The Standard and its advertisers for repeating last year's gesture of issuing a teachers' college supplement to give publicity to Education Week. The Standard has a fine record of interest in education, and without the support of the Press, public attention certainly would not have been focussed so closely upon education as it has been lately.

Since last Education Week there have been important developments in teacher education. Some of these will directly affect Frankston Teachers' College.

The Minister of Education (Mr. Thompson) recently announced that, commencing in 1968, a new three-year course of training will gradually be introduced for all primary teachers. There has been a three-year course for infant teachers since 1951, but during the next few years the new three-year course will become general. Of about 2000 studentships expected to be awarded for 1968, 750 will probably be three-year awards. Frankston Teachers' College will receive a share of both types of studentship-holder. Enrolment trends suggest that the number of students at the college will increase rapidly from 400 to about 750.

Another development has been the Commonwealth Government's grant of capital for teachers' college in an organisation of Commonwealth Teachers' College in a matter of Commonwealth policy, but the Commonwealth will require additional staff and new buildings. Frankston Teachers' College is in an organisation of teachers where it will receive full recognition as a college of advanced education preparing at least some of its students for the award of a degree. Education Week is an appropriate time for the community to consider such great possibilities.

Another development has been the Commonwealth Government's legislation to provide some capital for teachers' college buildings. Whether any of this money will be expended on Frankston Teachers' College is a matter of Government policy, but the accommodation of 750 students will certainly require additional lecture-rooms, a new library, and improved dining facilities for day students.

A further development may well be the incorporation of Frankston Teachers' College in an organisation of colleges where it will receive full recognition as a college of advanced education preparing at least some of its students for the award of a degree. Education Week is an appropriate time for the community to consider such great possibilities.

THE EDUCATION SCENE

MATHMATICS

Until recently the emphasis in school mathematics has been on the needs of those preparing for employment in main industry and for training in mathematics. The need is now for students to be introduced to the new concepts and ideas which are the basis of modern mathematics. The teaching of mathematics should aim to develop an understanding of the nature of mathematics and not just teaching the rules. The modern mathematics course aims to develop an understanding of the nature of mathematics and not just teaching the rules. The modern mathematics course aims to develop an understanding of the nature of mathematics and not just teaching the rules.

SCIENCE

The tremendous advances in science over the last decade have given rise to an urgent need for increased understanding of scientific ideas by everyone. Educators are now trying to approach the teaching of traditional science subjects.

In each subject, the sciences, the method of teaching has been revolutionized, and teaching is no longer the same as in the past. The new emphasis is on developing an understanding of the nature of science and not just teaching the rules. The modern science course aims to develop an understanding of the nature of science and not just teaching the rules.
Until recently the emphasis in school mathematics has been on the mechanical aspects of calculation and rote-learning. The tremendous advances currently taking place in mathematics and science demand that today’s children, the future citizens of the 21st century, must be taught the “why” as well as the “how” of mathematics.

The new courses recently introduced aim at developing, as far as possible, in each individual child, an appreciation of mathematical ideas and their many applications in the modern world around him.

The new methods now employed offer teachers ample means of stimulating interest in their young pupils and of setting them on the path to discovering for themselves the simple basic ideas on which the structure of mathematics is built.

—G. Hughes, B.Sc.
The tremendous advances in science over the last decade have given rise to an urgent need for increased understanding of scientific ideas by everyone, and educators are trying new approaches to the teaching of traditional science subjects.

School curricula have been revolutionised, and changes in syllabuses have taken place at all levels.

The Education Department’s Curriculum and Research Branch is currently engaged in devising for primary schools new courses aimed at leading pupils to a clearer understanding of science and the work of the scientist.

In such courses, the more formal learning of factual knowledge becomes less important than the practical skills of observation, measurement, classification, data collection and interpretation, the drawing of conclusions and writing of reports.

The successful teacher in the new situation needs a thorough understanding of the new approach, and sufficient competence and confidence. These needs the college course aim to meet. —L. FLYNN. B.Sc., B.A., B.Ed.
FRANKSTON TEACHERS’ COLLEGE

EDUCATION WEEK 1967

CHANGING EDUCATION IN A CHANGING WORLD
Education, as a Teachers’ College subject, centres around the child. His physical, mental, social and emotional growth is studied from the psychological viewpoint.

Some areas of the education course are devoted to methods of teaching, both old and new. Comparisons are made with other States and countries through a study of the organisation of their education systems.

All courses include a section related to the organisation and administration of the Victorian Education Department, from the Director-General to the youngest child in the classroom.

In the teachers’ college, the first year of the course is devoted to the understanding of the child through his art expression, and to methods of classroom organisation that will encourage and develop the child’s ability to express his knowledge, imagination and inventiveness through two and three dimensional materials.

The student also has to experience these materials and so practical sessions are held where the students experiment with many different types of art materials.

In the second and third years, the students are given the opportunity of studying painting, pottery, or silk screen printing at greater depth.

A QUIET LISTEN

This new listening area at the college enables students to prepare lessons by listening to recordings without disturbing others around them. The recordings are borrowed from the library and audio room. Students pictured are: Don Rice and Carolyn Winter and Nancy Haasen.

TO BE SEEN ON SCREEN

Students, Avantelle Medlin; Helen O'Meara; and Patricia Webb are pictured setting up projection in the projection room at the college. A course in the use of such equipment is now being conducted at the college each Friday evening by Mr. Harry Taylor of the Education Department, and this gives the students a chance to gain extra qualification.

LIBRARY AND AIDS DEPARTMENT

The library’s service to staff and students is continually increasing. During 1966, more than 24,700 books were borrowed from the library and 1967 will see the figure reach about 30,000 borrowings.

The aids department provides books, magazines, and other aids to students and other staff. Its aims are to extend the range of the library service and to provide students with a wide range of reading material.

Social Science

One of the fundamental tasks of the teacher is to impart the cultural heritage of the country to the young. This is done by means of books, magazines, and other aids to students. The library provides a wide range of reading material for the students.

Tuck in Those Elbows

The library is always on the lookout for new material, as can be seen from this picture. With the introduction of a new course next year, it can be expected that the range of material will be extended.

English

One of the great problems of the primary school is the difficulty that children have in learning to write. This year the English Department has initiated a course in children’s literature, which is designed to help young teachers become familiar with the world of children’s books.

The course has been conducted by a panel of experts, representing the English Department and the Library. The course is designed to help young teachers become familiar with the world of children’s books.
One of the fundamental tasks of the teacher is to transmit the cultural heritage to the new generation. It is also essential that the teacher, and thus, the child, understands other cultures, and so gains in tolerance and appreciation of the interdependence of peoples. "No man knows his culture who knows only it."

Students in their first year take a course based broadly on the theme, "Man and Society;" in the second year, "The Modern World," and in third year, "Australia and Asia."

In addition, they are introduced to the syllabus, principles, and methods of teaching Social Studies in the primary school.

One of the great problems of the primary school is to ensure that children are not only equipped with techniques that will enable them to read, write and calculate, but do, as a habit, make use of these techniques in normal community life.

This year the English Department has initiated a course in children's literature which is designed to acquaint the young teacher with the world of children's books. The course has been conducted by a panel of lecturers representing the English department and library of the college librarians from primary schools and local book-sellers.

LIBRARY AND AIDS DEPARTMENT

The library's service to staff and students is continually increasing. During 1966, more than 24,700 books were borrowed from the library and 1967 will see the figure reach about 30,000 borrowings.

The aids department provides books, projectors, record players, tape recorders, musical instruments and other aids for students to use during their teaching rounds in the training schools.

Exit college students have been generous in donations towards aids room equipment and present students continue to supplement stocks, thereby helping themselves by increasing the amount and variety of material available for loan.

During 1966, more than 29,600 items were loaned from the aids room.

—G. CORR, B.Com., Dip. Ed.

The library is always a hive of activity at the college, as can be seen from this picture. With introduction of a three-year course next year, it can be expected that still greater use will be made of the facilities provided here.

“TUCK IN THOSE ELBOWS”
THE SOUND OF US

MUSIC

What are your memories of music at primary school? What role did it play in your education? Perhaps you recall a teacher playing songs on a piano or an organ, or listening to records on a portable phonograph. Music can be a powerful tool for learning and enjoyment.

These students are listening to a record for which they composed and played the music. It has been produced commercially for sale to teachers for use in school singing and music programs. Pictured are, from left, Leslie Bennett, from another school; Anne Reiber, from Roosevelt; Anne Rosner, from McKinley; Ms. Anne Clumkin (principal); Artie Badien (teacher); and Desde Hirth (music teacher).
What are your recollections of music at primary school? What aids to singing were available? Perhaps you recall a tuning fork, a pitch pipe, or the song that simply started to the command “One, two!”

How much more fun, though, to sing to the accompaniment of an autoharp or a guitar, to play a simple melodic accompaniment on a glockenspiel, a xylophone or chime bars, or to add all sorts of colorful effects with a temple block, Indian bells, claves or a guiro.

I hope you will soon see such instruments widely used, for they offer a painless and pleasureable way of learning music.

WHEN YOU'RE HAPPY

This delightful music is for children. There is so much here for them to enjoy. They can play with it, sing to it, or just be happy listening to it.

The songs have been beautifully arranged, played and sung by five students from Frankston Teachers' College. Their initial intention was to produce a teaching aid for their colleagues. However, they have gone far beyond this and presented us with some of the most enchanting music now available for children.

With this record is a ten-page booklet containing the words of the songs and one or two interesting hints for those who wish to teach the songs to children. Another helpful feature is that the harmonic chords are printed above the words. These may be used to create a piano, guitar or ukulele accompaniment.

I would like to congratulate the five students who produced this most helpful teaching aid and in playing such joyful and sparkling music.

TORTILLAS

Chilean Folk Song

1. Hot tortillas! Hot tortillas!
   Buy my pancakes crisp and light,
   I am passing by your window
   With a merry song tonight.

   Chorus  Loudly I'm calling,
   Loudly I'm calling.
   Who'll come and buy crispy little pancakes,
   Tortillas buenas!

   D  A7

   D  A7

2. From the window not an answer
   To my cheerful nightly call,
   And I wonder if they hear me
   For they answer not at all.

   To give a Latin American sound to this song the tambourine, castanets, maracas, as well as the double bass, ukelele and guitar are used.

   It is important that the instruments do not drown the words, so each instrument need only be played or tapped on the first beat of each bar.

   The chorus is loud as the pancake seller is calling to the people to come from their houses and buy. All instruments could be played here.

   Other instruments could be used to give a Latin American flavour made from tins, coconut shells, sticks, bottles and even small bells.

   When the song is known well enough and there is a child who is willing to sing alone, the first verse could be sung by him while the percussion band plays an accompaniment, and everyone can join in with the chorus.

   The song can also be dramatized.
THE FOX

1. The fox went out on a chilly night,
   Prayed for the moon to give him light,
   For he'd many a mile to go that night
   Before he reached the town - O
   Town - O, town - O, he'd many a mile to go that night
   Before he reached the town - O

2. He ran till he came to a great big inn,
   The ducks and the geese were put there in,
   Said "A couple of you will grease my chin
   Before I leave this town - O, etc.

3. He grabbed the grey goose by the neck,
   Slung the little one over his back,
   He didn't mind their quack, quack, quack,
   And the legs all dangling down - O, etc.

4. Old Mother Pitter-Patter jumped out of bed,
   Out of the window she cocked her head
   Crying "John, John the grey goose is gone,
   And the fox is on the town - O, etc.

5. Then the fox and his wife without any strife,
   Cut up the goose with a fork and knife.
   They'd never had such a supper in their life,
   And the little ones chewed on the bones - O, etc.

   In this song these instruments are used:
   maracas, castanets, guiro, as well as the double bass, guitar and ukelele.

   The third verse introduces the spring castanets where "quack, quack, quack" would normally be sung. All other instruments are stopped so the sound will be clear and concise.

   In the fourth verse, the words - "John, John, the grey goose is gone, etc." is very effective if spoken.

   The fifth verse introduces a new instrument called the guiro. It is shaped like a fish with corrugations along its back where a stick is scraped across, giving the sharp cutting sound.

   These instruments are only a suggestion to what can be used. Other percussion instruments may be used anywhere in the song. The children will suggest some.
THE COWBOY

1. Over the prairie the cowboy will ride,
   Spurs on his boots and a rope at his side,
   Far from the ranch-house he travels each day,
   Yip - pee - ki, Yip-pee-ki, Yip-pee-ki-yay!

2. Here he comes whirling, the rope in his hand,
   Soon he will lasso the cattle to brand.
   Work now is over, he gallops away,
   Yip-pee-ki, Yip-pee-ki, Yip-pee-ki-yay.

The introduction to this song is simply the tune of the last line.

The instruments used are the guitar, ukelele, double bass, rhythm sticks, triangle, and two coconut halves.

The steady beating of the horse's hoof's is done by banging the coconut halves together in time to the music. Here other instruments such as rhythm sticks etc. can be used to allow more children to participate.

In the first verse, the tune is sung by all voices and when the word "spurs" is sung the triangle is played.

A harmonising tune is sung by two voices in the second verse, and the last line repeated with added emphasis.
THE TRAIN

Traditional Song

1. Crackety clack a-lunk a-lunk
   A train is coming a-chunk a-chunk
   A crackety clack a mile away
   A7
   It hasn't a second of time to stay,
   D
   It sings a noisy clackety song
   A7
   A rickety rattle rockety song
   D
   Get off the track this isn't where you belong.

2. Over the bridge, across the lake,
   A mile a minute it has to make,
   A terrible snake with gleaming eyes,
   That wriggles and wriggles along the ties.
   The cinders fall in fiery rain,
   A tunnel is waiting to swallow the train,
   Goodbye, Goodbye, tomorrow he'll come again.

In this song it is very important that the words are clearly spoken. Rhythm sticks are used to keep the steady beat and the tambourine is played occasionally.

The second verse is sung perhaps a little faster to denote the speed of a train.
WHEN YOU'RE HAPPY

1. When you're happy and you know it clap your hands,
    When you're happy and you know it clap your hands,
    When you're happy and you know it
    Then you really ought to show it
    When you're happy and you know it
    Clap your hands.

2. When you're happy and you know it tap your head.
    etc.

3. When you're happy and you know it stamp your feet.
    etc.

4. When you're happy and you know it shout "Hooray"
    etc.

Allow the children to clap their hands to the first verse as they sing.

In the second verse, the wood block can be used to give the amusing effect of tapping the head.

The tambourine is played in the third verse. The drums or other heavy sounding instruments can be played also.

The use of percussion instruments can be determined by the children themselves. Discussions on the most suitable for each verse can be held. The children may decide to employ others than those suggested here.
THE EDUCATION SCENE

"COME 'N GET IT"

THE HOSTEL

The college hostel comprises of three wings. The central, single-storey unit, which comprises the kitchen, dining room, and common area. The two residential wings on either side of the central wing provide separate accommodation for boys and girls.

Students are encouraged to participate in cultural, sports, and social activities. The hostel has a library, a computer lab, and a gymnasium.

THE GROUNDS

The college has well-maintained grounds with a basketball court, a football field, and a tennis court. The landscaping includes various trees and plants, adding to the aesthetically pleasing environment.

THE STUDENTS

The students are from diverse backgrounds and are engaged in a wide range of activities, both academic and extracurricular. Many students actively participate in sports and cultural events, contributing to the vibrant college life.
THE HOSTEL

The college hostel consists of three wings. The central, single-storey unit, contains the kitchen, dining room, community lounge and entrance foyer. On either side of this is a three-storey wing, each residential floor of which contains a lounge, supervisor's flat, laundry and student rooms and facilities.

All student accommodation is in double rooms but each individual is provided with a desk, lamp, heater, and storage in bookshelves, wardrobes and chest of drawers.

As all students are engaged in the serious study of preparing to become teachers, they have opportunities for the pooling of ideas, for debating points of view and for helping each other with their study problems.

The supervisors are practising teachers or members of the college staff, and so the students in residence have the added advantage of being able to obtain expert assistance with their work and, on occasions, with their personal problems as well.

Works and equipment have been financed by SRC funds through its grounds improvements committee, welfare funds, proceeds of college fairs and departmental subsidies.

Earliest projects included the clearing, levelling and general preparation and sowing of the oval, hockey field, basketball courts and open playing fields of the north-western section of the grounds, and extensive tree and shrub planting.

In 1964 a Ferguson tractor was purchased with fair proceeds and SRC funds, and attachments subsequently purchased have facilitated the development and improvement of the college surroundings.

In 1966, site works on land adjacent to the hostel were undertaken by the grounds improvement committee, and this year, the recently completed tennis courts on the south-western frontage are to be linked with the college entrance by a beautification scheme featuring Australian trees and shrubs.

EXTENDED COURSE

On completion of the two-year course for the Trained Primary Teachers' Certificate, students who have qualified as a result of excellent records become eligible for further training to qualify them for teaching positions on special staffs.

WELFARE ASSOCIATION

The Frankston Teachers' College Welfare Association, which was formed in 1960, is a non-statutory body of parents and other citizens, with provision for representation of staff, students and Frankston City Council.

TEACHING PRACTICE

Three times a year the Frankston Teachers' College student leaves the daily college routine to undertake several weeks of teaching practice in one of the 24 training schools attached to the college.

The scheme aims to enable the student to practice those aspects of his college course which deal with supervision of the training teacher. Second and third-year students may take the full program for the grade and area of instruction they wish.

Students are detailed under the supervision of the principal and have training teachers who have been selected by the principal with the approval of the training teacher. The students are selected to ensure that the training teacher is provided with guidance and advice.

Dr. H. A. Henderson, B.A., B.Ed., B.A.C.E., President,
EXTENDED COURSE

On completion of the two-year course for the Trained Primary Teachers’ Certificate, students who have qualified as a result of excellent records become eligible for further training to qualify them for teaching positions on special staffs.

At present these extended courses are for one or more years, and student allowances are increased during this period.

One-year courses of training are available for trained special teachers (for mentally or physically handicapped children); trained teachers of the deaf; trained teacher-librarians, trained art and craft teachers, and trained homemakers teachers. A two-year course in agricultural science is available at the Dookie or Longeronong Agricultural Colleges.

Extended courses of three or more years are available for full-time university courses to be undertaken. A very limited number of these courses is available to girls who have completed the three-year course for the Trained Infant Teacher’s Certificate.

TEACHING PRACTICE

Three times a year the Frankston Teachers’ College student leaves the daily college routine to undertake several weeks of teaching practice in one of the 24 training schools attached to the college.

This scheme aims to enable the student to practise those aspects of his college course which deal with methods of teaching, and to observe skilled and experienced teachers in action.

The training teacher supervises the practice of about six students each year. First-year students teach relatively simple lessons under close supervision of the training teacher. Second and third-year students may teach the full program for the grade over several consecutive days.

Students write detailed plans of their lessons for approval by the training teacher prior to the actual teaching of the pupils. College lecturers visit the schools once a week to confer with training teachers and to observe and advise students on their practical teaching.

The 24 training schools attached to Frankston Teachers’ College extend from Mornington up to Moorabbin and across to Dandenong North.

To prepare plans for changes in the program of teaching practice occasioned by the introduction in 1968 of a three-year course of pre-service training for primary teachers, the principal has recently established a standing committee on teaching practice. College lecturers will work together with inspectors of schools, head teachers, infant mistresses and grade teachers to plan extensions and revisions of the present program.

—L. M. BELL,
B.Com., B.Ed.,
M.A.C.E.,
Vice-Principal.

As changes in the school curriculum and in teaching methods are continuously in process in a changing world, the program of teaching practice is a vital aspect in the education of trainee teachers.
WELFARE ASSOCIATION

The Frankston Teachers’ College Welfare Association, which was formed in 1960, is a non-statutory body of parents and other citizens, with provision for representation of staff, students and Frankston City Council.
An active band of about 25 members constitute a committee which meets every month under the chairmanship of President Mr. B. Parker to organise functions and discuss college needs. New parent-members are always warmly welcome at these meetings, which are held in the staff room at 8 p.m. on the second Wednesday. The secretary of the association is Mr. N. Toyne, an ex-student of the college.

An annual garden party in March or early April is always a feature of the Welfare Association's year. It is a purely social occasion organised to give parents of new students the opportunity of seeing the college and meeting college people. The annual mannequin parade organised by the association likewise attracts a very good attendance.

The biggest fund-raising effort, which is made jointly by the Welfare Association, students and staff, is the annual fair. Since 1962 the fair has raised more than $10,000 for college improvements and the purchase of equipment. This year's fair will be held on Saturday, September 30.

One of the association's main interests at present is to see provision made for further development of a sports area along the McMahon's Rd. side of the college grounds.

INFANT EDUCATION
All students study aspects of infant education; i.e., the teaching of children in the 5-8 year age group.

Driving Tuition
Towards the end of 1966, the college acquired General Motors' consent to the use of a car for driving instruction. This car, a Vauxhall Viva, was equipped fully for driving instruction with dual controls, extra controls and other instructional devices and is regularly used by the driving school. Driving instructors are supplied by Prunelle Driving School of Prunelle.

INFANT EDUCATION

All students study aspects of infant education; i.e., the teaching of children in the 5-8 year age group.

During their course, the students learn how mathematics as a subject should be introduced to young children. They learn how to teach reading to young children, and are introduced to a variety of alternative approaches which will assist in the development of reading, of fluent oral language, and of logical and effective writing.

New approaches to the teaching of reading, such as S.R.A. Reading Laboratories, I.T.A., and Words in Color are evaluated, and students are shown how these new approaches may be used to reinforce the more traditional approaches.

—(Miss) M. HOMES.
Driving Tuition

Towards the end of 1966, the college accepted General Motors-Holden’s offer of the use of a car for student driving instruction.

This car, a Vauxhall Viva, was supplied fully equipped for driving instruction with dual controls, extra mirrors and other instructional devices, and is regularly serviced by Bayside Motors of Frankston. Driving instructors are supplied by Peninsula Driving School of Frankston.

The students make use of their spare periods and time before and after the college day, for driving instruction, with the result that up to 55 lessons per week can be rostered.

An average of 10 lessons appears to be required by a beginner before he can gain a licence. To date, 90 students have gained their licences as a result of this scheme.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

With the decreasing demands for physical labor and the psychological pressures of a racing world, the human body receives less and less stimulation.

Therefore, the greatest need in physical education today is to stimulate an understanding of the body, and an increased desire to participate physically in a greater recreation and leisure time.

The work at Frankston Teachers’ College is levelled both at the student as an individual, and the student as an influential member of the community as he goes to Frankston schools to assist in the teaching of the schools’ own physical education programs.

STUDENTS RETURN FROM TOURS

Leading extremely unusual and healthy all-student and all-staff members of Foundation Teachers’ College last week, returned from vacation tours to Central Australia and Torres Island.

There were two cruises, one to the Centre Island being led by the tour, and took in such places as Broken Hill, Alice Springs and Uluru.

While delight was expressed with the Centre Island a whole general depression was felt by both students and staff at the condition of Aboriginals. As a result, the tour was made to the village of the Aborigine being all informed to the Aunty. (Credit: Institute of Aboriginal Settlements)

STUDENTS RETURN FROM TOURS

Looking extremely suntanned and healthy, 94 students and six staff members of Frankston Teachers’ College last week returned from vacation tours to Central Australia and Heron Island.

Those on the two camping tours to the Centre travelled by bus, and took in such places as Broken Hill, Alice Springs and Coober Pedy.

Visits were made to Stanley Chasm, Simpson’s Gap, Ayers Rock and the Olgas. While delight was expressed with the Centre tours as a whole, general depression was felt by both students and staff at the condition of Aborigines seen, and comment was made on the magnitude of the task of urbanisation of the Aborigine being attempted at the Anoonunga Aboriginal Settlement visited.

On the Heron Island tour students and staff travelled by train, bus, boat and plane.

As well as spending a full week on the island itself, the party was able to spend two days on the Gold Coast, a day in Brisbane when Parliament House was visited, and a day both ways in Sydney.

All were specially impressed by Heron Island’s coral reefs, which were inspected from a glass-bottomed boat, and on several occasions with the aid of masks and snorkels.

YOU'VE HEARD OF "MONSTER" FAIRS — THIS ONE'S "GARGANTUAN"

Each year Frankston Teachers' College fair has become more and more comprehensive until this year, the organisers claim, it can truly be described as "gargantuan."

It will be held next Saturday.

Helicopter rides, train rides, glass-blowing, a "Mod Shoppe", a stuffed toy stall and a jewellery stall are just some of the new features introduced — not to mention a "fair dinner kum" coconut shy.

For the young and active, "crazy" bikes or romping in the gym are bound to appeal, while for those in the "stylist" and "mod" age group, the discothèque and jazz band will be in full swing.
The early Christmas shopper will no doubt avidly “buy up” at the pottery, ceramic tiles, polished stones, needlework and stockings stalls — even at the “white elephant” stall — while fruit and vegetables, cakes and produce will be available for those with more immediate needs.

The fascination of the unknown will not only be supplied by “mystery” bottles and a lucky dip, but also by the astounding psychic powers of the fortune tellers.

Side-show addicts who miss Show Day need feel no disappointment, as the range of side-shows at the fair will offer more than adequate compensation.

The quiet gardener need not feel neglected as a diverse array of plants will be available, while, on the other hand, anyone with a true fighting spirit will be able to enter a variety of competitions.

Hot dogs, pancakes and popcorn, doughnuts and fairy floss, sweets and drinks will be available for those who like to “eat on the run,” while the Chinese cafe and the coffee den will provide delectable foods in more relaxed surroundings.

Organiser Mr. Jack Prowse, asks that special note be made of the new early time for starting — 9.30 a.m. (finish, late afternoon).

HONORABLE CAREER SAYS MR. LYNCH: SUSPICIOUS OF OUR MPS?
A large number of Australians are generally suspicious of their parliamentary representatives, are usually outraged by proposals to increase MPs' salaries and allowances and are extremely reluctant to admit of their possible value in any way.

This observation was made by Mr. Philip Lynch, MHR, in a recent talk to Teachers' College students about the role of a Federal Parliamentarian.

He suggested that many would believe that members of Parliament have changed little since Charles Dickens painted an unflattering and lugubrious picture of the parliamentary species in England more than 100 years ago.

Mr. Lynch continued, "What manner of men are they who with shining or weary eyes behold the white vision of Parliament House, ascend the stairs to King's Hall, are welcomed into the party or caucus rooms, and enter the legislative chamber, taking their seats on the backbenches, to right or left of the Speaker's Chair?"

"For some it is enough to acquire the status of a Member of Parliament; these may be men, usually advanced in years, to whom it is the crown and reward of a career in the trade union movement, or men who are content to participate in the pageantry or the drama of great national occasions, to be close to great national occasions, and to be distinguished guests at local functions."

"But for the vast majority Parliament still has the mystique of an ancient and respected institution, is still the source of ultimate power for the advancement of the community and still predominately the forum for honorable ambitions. For most there is a light on the hill, even if it proves to be a will of the wisp. One of the ironies of politics is that notwithstanding considerable public criticism of politicians and the general Australian characteristic of debunking men in public life, there is never any shortage of candidates within the Parties when a safe seat falls vacant."

"One of the trends of the current political period is the number of young men who are intent on a parliamentary career. Of the 134 members of the House of Representatives and the Senate, five are under the age of 35."

"Members on both sides of the House are generally hardworking and industrious although activity is no necessary criteria of a qualitative and effective performance."

"As with any vocation or occupation a parliamentary career has its satisfactions as well as its hazards and frustrations. The life is hectic, challenging, uncertain and insecure, and there is always the problem of finding time for the things which must be done. You come in contact with a complete cross section of the electorate and people are forever interesting, although demanding. Above all however, politics has its own particular fascination. It is the point of ultimate power for the advancement of the community and to have even a small part in the process of developing a better nation is a source of enduring satisfaction," he concluded.

BRIAN GOURLEY SCORES DOUBLE

New member Brian Gourley scored an impressive win in the 100 yds. and the 200 yds. at the inter-club athletics at Southern Park Memorial, last Saturday. Brian, who has been with the club only a few months, has been winning the major events consistently every week.

Rich Hoyle also scored an impressive double of winning the 100 yds. together in 11.3 and the 200 yds. bettering his previous time.

BRIAN GOURLEY SCORES DOUBLE

New Member Brian Gourley scored an impressive win in the 100 yds. and the 440 yds. at the inter-club athletics at Dolamore Oval, Mentone, last Saturday. Brian, who has been with the club only a few months, has been winning the sprint events consistently every week.

Ken Scarfe also scored an impressive double by winning the 120 yds. hurdles in 17.1 and the 220 yds. hurdles in 28.7.

Max Bebe showed improved form to win the triple jump with a leap of 43 ft. 5 ins., the best effort in "B" grade.

Rod Sales again won the pole vault with a height of 11 ft., while Stephen Portway won the mile in 4:23.6, defeating club mate Doug LeBas.

POLE VAULTER
John Crofts, of the Frankston Teachers' College, looked set to clear the bar during the combined teachers' colleges athletics carnival at Olympic Park yesterday. He was trying to clear 11 ft. 6 in.

BUT it was not to be. He hit the bar and crashed into the bags for a soft landing. At his second attempt, John cleared the bar and won the event from B. Nocca of the Melbourne Teachers' College.

Brian Gourlay and Jill Berry
The strain of trying to win

ALL THE STRAIN of an 880-yd. race shows in the arms and legs of these athletes as they pound into the first bend at the combined teachers' colleges athletic carnival at Olympic Park. The race was won by D. O'Brien, of Toorak Teachers' College, from J. Booker, of Melbourne College, and J. Whitelaw, of Frankston College.

BRIAN GOURLAY'S TREBLE

Leading sprinter of the Frankston club, Brian Gourlay won a good treble at the Combined Teachers' College Sports held at Olympic Park last Wednesday afternoon. Brian took the 100 yards in 10.4 secs., the 220 yards in 23.2, and the 440 yards in 53.4, a good effort under blustery conditions, and the club would like to congratulate him on his effort.
Jill Berry - 1st.

An appreciation of the Bass Strait islands

It was astounding how little known and appreciated were the Islands of Bass Strait, Dr. Stephen Murray-Smith, of Mt. Eliza, an education lecturer at Melbourne University, told students at a recent Frankston Teachers' College assembly. His address concerning the islands was one of the most interesting given this year at the college.

Dr. Murray-Smith said most Australians preferred to look inward to such places as Alice Springs or Ayers Rock.

However, he deplored the behavior of some visitors to the islands, who took pleasure in killing wildlife, such as the Cape Barren geese and mutton birds. He also expressed concern at the thought of the despoliation of countryside which could occur from more general holiday-making in the area.

While keeping his promise to be light-hearted in his approach, Dr. Murray-Smith succeeded in deftly sketching important geographical, historical, and economic features of his subject.

He has a deep personal interest in the islands about which he confesses to feeling somewhat guilty — and seeks to justify this by reference to the remark of Pierre D'Harcourt: “It is not necessarily true that permanent contact with humanity brings us nearer to man.”

Visited by Garibaldi

Dr. Murray-Smith enlivened his discussion by tossing in an “odd” fact here and there. For instance, the only place in Australia visited by Garibaldi was Hunter Island.

Here the Italian patriot “walked inland, found a cottage and deserted grave and said that this was where he would like to die”.

Again, from time to time Dr. Murray-Smith indulged in what he termed “personal yarning.”

He told of his absorbing experience of seeing fishermen “straighten up every three or four minutes and look around.” He regards this as a “classic historical gesture of primitive man in the presence of danger.”

The three islands of the Kent Group obviously hold the most fascination for Dr. Murray-Smith and his family and friends. They spend a month each year on Deal Island, the largest of the group.

History romantic and horrifying

The history of the Bass Strait islands is at once romantic and horrifying. Challenge and catastrophe were ever-present, brutality common, and feats of astonishing courage and endurance occurred continually—all recorded against the background of a treacherous sea.

Historically, there are three main phases discerned by Dr. Murray-Smith: First the sealers, second the runaway convicts or “bottlers,” and third, “respectability”.

During the first phase “the rocks ran red with the blood of butchered seals,” and “it is worth remembering that the main Australian export was not wool, but seals.”

With the exodus of the often tough and desperate American and Australian sealers, runaway convicts inhabited the islands. They lived with captured Aboriginal women who all too frequently were treated with depravity.

Government officials did much to remedy this situation, paving the way for the peaceful settlements which marked the third phase.

Today, King Island and Flinders Island in particular have thriving communities. This third phase however, was not entered without appalling loss of life.

The history of early immigration is frightening and often pathetic in accounts of ships and lives lost in the perilous waters of Bass Strait.

Lighthouses

Gradually a number of lighthouses were built to aid navigation. Cape Otway, established in 1846, was the first.

Dr. Murray-Smith illustrated the second part of his address with a number of excellent slides. Of particular historical interest was one showing a topmasted schooner, “never to be seen again,” which for more than 100 years carried oddments between the northern coast of Tasmania and the “North Island,” (see drawing).

Other slides were used by Dr. Murray-Smith to take his audience on an “expedition” from Port Albert to Deal Island.

Views of Clifty Island, the first port of call, were perhaps the most dramatic. This island known affectionately by seamen as ‘the Alcatraz of Bass Strait,’ with its harsh, imposing granite cliffs, utilises an 80 ft. winch (see drawing) to bring stores and supplies to the lighthouse keepers, and to launch the islands’ dinghy.

Dr. Murray-Smith showed views of the Hogan Group of Islands and the Kent Group. Landing on both these groups is likely to be hazardous in all but certain conditions.

Of particular interest was a slide depicting Captain Brown’s cottage on Deal Island (see drawing).

This is a relic which Dr. Murray-Smith would dearly like to see preserved and which has been placed in the ‘B’ category by the National Trust.

While there may have been many differing opinions on places to visit among Dr. Murray-Smith’s audience, there was certainly no disagreement about the wish to see him write about his experiences in these areas.

History romantic and horrifying

The history of the Bass Strait islands is at once romantic and horrifying. Challenge and catastrophe were ever-present, brutality common, and feats of astonishing courage and endurance occurred continually — all recorded against the background of a treacherous sea.

Historically, there are three main phases discerned by Dr. Murray-Smith: First the sealers, second the runaway convicts or “bolters,” and third, “respectability.”

During the first phase “the rocks ran red with the blood of butchered seals”, and “it is worth remembering that the main Australian export was not wool, but seals.”

With the exodus of the often tough and desperate American and Australian sealers, runaway convicts inhabited the islands. They lived with captured Aboriginal women who all too frequently were treated with depravity.

Government officials did much to remedy this situation, paving the way for the peaceful settlements which marked the third phase.

Today, King Island and Flinders Island in particular have thriving communities. This third phase however, was not entered without appalling loss of life.

The history of early immigration is frightening and often pathetic in accounts of ships and lives lost in the perilous waters of Bass Strait.

Lighthouses

Gradually a number of lighthouses were built to aid navigation. Cape Otway, established in 1846, was the first.

Dr. Murray-Smith illustrated the second part of his address with a number of excellent slides. Of particular historical interest was one showing a topmasted schooner, “never to be seen again,” which for more than 100 years carried oddments between the northern coast of Tasmania and the ‘North Island’ (see drawing).

Other slides were used by Dr. Murray-Smith to take his audience on an “expedition” from Port Albert to Deal Island.

Views of Clifffy Island, the first port of call, were perhaps the most dramatic. This island known affectionately by seamen as ‘the Alcatraz of Bass Strait,’ with its harsh, imposing granite cliffs, utilises an 80 ft. winch (see drawing) to bring stores and supplies to the lighthouse keepers, and to launch the islands’ dinghy.

Dr. Murray-Smith showed views of the Hogan Group of Islands and the Kent Group. Landing on both these groups is likely to be hazardous in all but certain conditions.

Of particular interest was a slide depicting Captain Brown’s cottage on Deal Island (see drawing).

This is a relic which Dr. Murray-Smith would dearly like to see preserved and which has been placed in the ‘B’ category by the National Trust.

While there may have been many differing opinions on places to visit among Dr. Murray-Smith’s audience, there was certainly no disagreement about the wish to see him write about his experiences in these areas.

A musical occasion of especial local interest will be the presentation of "Naughty Marietta" by Frankston Teachers' College from Wednesday, November 22, to Saturday, November 25.

The college is fortunate this year in that passing through at the moment are some outstanding voices in the principal roles, one of whom, Don Wallis, played "Captain Dick" at Springvale recently, and was enthusiastically received.

Professional musicians have been engaged to enhance the beauties of Victor Herbert's score, and production is in the experienced hands of Gordon Brennan, well-known for his work with Peninsula Light Operatic Company.

Further news and pictures will be published shortly.

'NAUGHTY' IS GOOD!

Frankston Teachers' College four-night season of the musical comedy Naughty Marietta starts tonight (Wednesday) at the college auditorium.

Rehearsals have been going very well and the musical director John Giffedder is amazed at the quality of the singing, which augurs well for a successful season.

Production is under the direction of Gordon Brennan, of Red Hill, and the majority of the cast of 150 are students at the college hostel.

Music will be provided by a 25-piece orchestra, half of which are students and half professional musicians.

Principal roles will be played by Don Wallis (Captain Dick), Ingrid Werching (Marietta) and Marie Carruthers (Ada).

This is the second production by the students this year.

A play, The Straw Hat, was well received earlier in the year.

Students dressed up in costume advertised the musical in Frankston streets last Saturday.

There are still a few tickets left for tonight's and Thursday night's performances. They can be obtained from Mr. Hughes at the college (783-2393) or Frankston Electrics. Price is $1.

SYRACUSE TEACHERS COLLEGE

Victor Herbert's Naughty Marietta, a musical revue based on the novel of the same name, was presented on the 10th of March, 1928.

The music and lyrics were written by Victor Herbert, and the production was directed by Charles L. Biddle. The show featured the talents of Roberta Sherwood, who played the lead role of Marietta, and Victor Herbert himself, who directed the production.

The production was well received by both critics and audiences, and it ran for 106 performances. The show was a hit and became one of the most popular musicals of the era.

The cast included actors such as Roberta Sherwood, Victor Herbert, and others, who were well known for their talents in the theater. The show was produced by a company that had a long history of producing successful musicals, and it was performed in several cities throughout the United States.

The production was a success, and it helped to establish the reputation of the company as one of the leading producers of musical theater. The show was later performed in Europe and other parts of the world, and it continues to be performed today, more than 100 years after its initial production.

(FRANKSTON TEACHERS’ COLLEGE)

Victor Herbert’s Naughty Marietta, a romantic musical of eighteenth century New Orleans, first produced in 1910 and given wide popularity by Jeanette MacDonald and Nelson Eddy in the film version of 1935, was presented enthusiastically and colourfully by the Frankston Teachers’ College at the College auditorium.

The whole college seemed to be in it, so crowded was the stage by the full company. It was impossible, therefore, to achieve discipline in chorus and ballet movements and deportment and in general the players had not been taught not to fidget. Most could not stand still, when necessary, but shifted uneasily and continually with feet and hands and let their eyes wander all over the place and around the audience, which gave the performance a very amateur air.

Better control was shown in the work of the musical director, John Gilfedder, who produced impressive results from singers, despite their natural limitations, and orchestra, which handled the score with charm. Distinction was given to the part for cello, Herbert’s own instrument, of which he was a master.

Marietta was sung by Ingrid Wersching, who despite a vibration (perhaps nervous) in her first number, performed with pleasing purity her later numbers, notably “Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life.” Don Wallis, as Captain Dick Warrington managed his resources of voice well in the “Tramp! Tramp!” and “I’m Falling in Love With Someone” and other songs, and notable was the pleasant singing of Marie Carruthers, as the slave girl, Adah, in “Southern Moon.”

The comedy roles had naturally good exponents in Greg Simonds, as Silas, particularly, and in Wendy Knowles, as Lizette (A Casket Girl), John Garnett (Rudolfo, a marionette proprietor), and John Davis (Lieutenant Governor). Quieter but promising was Russell Woodley, as his son.

There were attractive performances in small roles by Julie Leahy, Isabel Rolfe and Claudia Cox and by various others in the large company. Producer was Gordon Brennan.

Frankston Teachers’ College production of the musical comedy Naughty Marietta, concluded a successful four-night season last Saturday night.

It was a fast-moving production and considering the small stage, movements were excellently planned in the crowd scenes.

The ball scene in act two was very colorful, costuming was effective and

Smooth production placement excellent, with exceptional choreography for the small amount of room left on the stage.

On the night The News was invited to review the musical, there were only a few flat spots in the show, when there were small pauses in the continuity and when entrances dragged.

The chorus work was excellent and balance of men and women was very good, particularly as the women vastly outnumbered the men.

Ingrid Wersching in the leading role of Marietta gave a good portrayal. She has a liltling voice and only lacks a little acting experience.

Don Wallis, in the leading male role of Captain Dick Warrington, has a strong voice and gave an excellent portrayal. His singing in solo and part-songs was a delight.

Russell Woodley (Etienne Grandet) also has a powerful voice and gave a convincing air to his role.

Greg Simmonds (Silas) in a comic role, provided many laughs and was very nimble on his feet in his dancing routines.

Also providing a laugh “byre and bye” was John Davis as the Lieutenant-Governor.

Conviction
Wendy Knowles (Lizette) was good in the leading female comic role and Marie Carruthers gave conviction in her role as the sultry Adah.

Supporting in the leading principal roles were Jim Young (Sir Harry Blake) and Geoff Neale (Florenz).

One feature of the choreography was the marionette scene in which the artistry of Cheryl Sangwell in her marionette-type movements was outstanding.

Producer Gordon Brennan, of Red Hill, and a lecturer at the college, is to be congratulated on the smooth production, as is musical director John Gilfedder.

The musical accompaniment by the 25-piece orchestra (half students and half professional musicians) was generally well balanced.

Stage manager was Ken Runciman; scenery was controlled by Ray Giles and Owen Piggott, and makeup was by Margaret Brown. Other behind-the-scenes leaders were front of house Max Kemp; publicity, John Byrnes; rehearsal pianist, Barbara Champion and Jan Snibson; associate musical director, Jim Ogden; lighting, Ross Richards; bookings, George Hughes; choreography Gertrude Kentish, assisted by Paul Huguenin, Robert Macdonald, Barbara Coop, Julie Fermanis and Juliananne Higgins.

GOOD KING WENCESLAS

1. Good King Wenceslas looked out
On the Feast of Stephen,
When the snow lay round about,
Deep and crust and even:
Brightly shone the moon that night,
Though the frost was cruel,
When a poor man came in sight,
Gathering winter fuel.

2. 'Hither, page, and stand by me,
If though know'st it, telling,
Yonder peasant, who is he?
Where and what his dwelling?'
'Sire, he lives a good league hence,
Underneath the mountain,
Right against the forest fence
By Saint Agnes' fountain.'

3. 'Bring me flesh, and bring me wine,
Bring me pine-logs hither:
Thou and I will see him dine,
When we bear them thither.'
Page and monarch, forth they went,
Forth they went together;
Through the rude wind's wild lament
And the bitter weather.

Cont.
Good King Wenceslas, contd.

4. 'Sire, the night is darker now,
   And the wind blows stronger;
Fails my heart, I know not how;
   I can go no longer.'
'Mark my footsteps, good my page;
   Tread thou in them boldly:
Thou shalt find the winter's rage
   Freeze thy blood less coldly.'

5. In his master's steps he trod,
   Where the snow lay dinted;
Heat was in the very sod
   Which the Saint had printed.
Therefore, Christian men, be sure,
   Wealth or rank possessing,
Ye who now will bless the poor,
   Shall yourselves find blessing.

Carol 2.

THE FIRST NOWELL

1. The first Nowell the Angel did say
   Was to certain poor shepherds in fields as they lay
   In fields where they lay keeping their sheep
   On a cold winter's night that was so deep.

   Chorus: Nowell, Nowell, Nowell, Nowell
   Born is the King of Israel.

2. They looked up and saw a star,
   Shining in the East, beyond them far,
   And to the earth it gave great light.
   And so it continued both day and night.

3. And by the light of the same star,
   Three wise men came from country far;
   To seek for a King was their intent
   And to follow the star wherever it went.

4. Then let us all with one accord,
   Sing praises to our Heavenly Lord,
   That hath made Heaven and earth of nought,
   And with his blood mankind has bought.

   * * * *
Carol 3

ONCE IN ROYAL DAVID'S CITY

1. Once in Royal David's City,
   Stood a lowly cattle shed,
   Where a Mother laid her Baby
   In a Manger for His bed;
   Mary was that Mother mild,
   Jesus Christ her little Child.

2. He came down to earth from Heaven
   Who is God and Lord of all,
   And his shelter was a stable,
   And his cradle was a stall;
   With the poor, and weak and lowly
   Lived on earth our Saviour Holy.

3. And our eyes shall last shall see him,
   Through His own redeeming love,
   For that Child, so dear and gentle
   Is our Lord in Heav'n above;
   And He leads His children on,
   To the place where He is gone.

Carol 4

HARK THE HERALD ANGELS SING

1. Hark! the herald-angels sing
   Glory to the new-born King;
   Peace on earth, and mercy mild,
   God and sinners reconciled.
   Joyful all ye nations, rise,
   Join the triumph of the skies;
   With the angelic host proclaim,
   Christ is born in Bethlehem

   Hark! the herald-angels sing
   Glory to the new-born King.

2. Christ, by highest heaven adored,
   Christ, the everlasting Lord,
   Late in time behold Him come,
   Offspring of a virgin's womb!
   Veiled in flesh the Godhead see;
   Hail the incarnate Deity!
   Pleased as man with men to dwell,
   Jesus, our Immanuel

3. Mild He lays His glory by,
   Born that man no more may die,
   Born to raise the sons of earth,
   Born to give them second birth.
   Hail the heaven-born Prince of Peace
   Hail the Sun of Righteousness!
   Light and life to all He brings,
   Risen with healing in His wings.

Charles Wesley, 1707-88
Carol 5

O COME ALL YE FAITHFUL

1. O come all ye faithful
   Joyful and triumphant,
   O come ye, O come ye to Bethlehem;
   Come and behold him
   Born the King of Angels;

   O come let us adore Him,
   O come let us adore Him
   O come let us adore Him,
   Christ the Lord.

2. Sing choirs of Angels,
   Sing in exaltation
   Sing, all ye citizens of Heaven above.
   "Glory to God in the Highest";

   O come let us adore Him, etc.

3. Yea, Lord, we greet Thee,
   Born this happy morning,
   Jesu to Thee be glory given,

214 TEACHERS IN COLLEGE GRADUATION

Two hundred and fourteen students of the Frankston Teachers' College received their graduation certificates at an impressive ceremony conducted in the Moorabbin Town Hall last Wednesday.

Eighty-four had completed the three-year trained infant teachers' course and a further 130 the two-year trained primary teachers' course.

The college principal, Mr. G. A. Jenkins, B.E., B.Ed., M.A.G.E., welcomed the graduates, their relatives and friends as well as head masters and local presidents of training schools associated with the college.

Present as official visitors were the Assistant Secretary of Primary Education, Mr. E. D. Ryan, the Director of Education, Mr. E. V. Morris, the Head Master of Moorabbin State School, Mr. G. D. Pearson, the Head Master of Noble Park State School, Mr. W. S. Purves, representing the training schools associated with the college.

The graduation address was given by Mr. Pearson, who emphasized the importance of cooperation between the various government departments associated with education so that the all-round welfare of the student might be secured.

The graduates should realize that they had just passed the first of a series of definite marks in the journey of their life.

Addressing the graduates on behalf of the student body, Mr. Vaughan noted that the training schools were not just places of study, but places of real-life work as well.

Mr. O'Toole spoke in response to the remarks of Mr. Pearson, saying that the training courses were designed to prepare graduates for college life and society, and emphasized the importance of the responsibilities of the future.

Singing during the ceremony was accompanied by Mr. Pearson, and the college music department, accompaniment by Mr. O'Toole, at the college piano.

After the ceremony, guests and graduates gathered in the college hall, where refreshments were served.
Two hundred and fourteen students of the Frankston Teachers’ College received their graduation certificates at an impressive ceremony conducted in the Moorabbin Town Hall last Wednesday.

Eighty-four had completed the three-year trained infant teachers’ course and a further 130 the two-year trained primary teachers’ course.

The college principal, Mr. G. A. Jenkins, B.A., B.Com., B.Ed., M.A.C.E., welcomed the graduands, their relatives and friends as well as head masters and infant mistresses of training schools associated with the college.

Present as official visitors were the Assistant Director of Primary Education, Mr. E. L. Ryan, the Director of Child Health (Medical), School Medical Service, Dr. D. N. Fearon; the Head Master of Noble Park State School, Mr. S. G. Brown, representing the practising schools associated with the college; as well as the vice-principal Mr. L. M. Bell; the college staff, and president and president-elect of the Students’ Representative Council Mr. G. M. O’Toole and Mr. A. Vaughan.

Mr. Ryan welcomed the graduands to the community if some 30,000 teachers in the State Education service which could be expected to benefit from the new ideas these new teachers would bring to the work of education.

He urged them to continue their studies so that they could qualify to fill the highest ranks in the Education Department.

The graduands were presented in groups by their tutors.

In his graduation address Dr. Fearon stressed the importance of co-operation between the various government departments associated with education so that the all-round welfare of the community may be promoted to its optimum level.

The graduates should realise that they had achieved a place of definite worth in the community.

Teachers must be able to adapt themselves to changing communities and changing times.

Their initial training must be regarded only as a beginning.

Dr. Fearon expressed appreciation of the opinions of Miss Ross, a visiting overseas teacher who believes that schools should be run for children.

She recommends practical experience for children and considers that children have a right to some explanation of policy. Thus the child will have the opportunity of realising his or her capabilities to the fullest possible degree.

The college vice-principal Mr. L. M. Bell introduced Mr. S. G. Brown who, as the former head teacher of Carrum State School and currently head master of Noble Park State School, has been continually associated with the Frankston Teachers' College since its inception.

Congratulating the graduands on behalf of the training schools, Mr. Brown said that head masters and staffs of training schools have always admired the keen-ness, enthusiasm and dedication of students from the college.

Addressing the graduands on behalf of the student body Mr. Vaughan remarked on the strong tradition existing in the college and the value of friendships formed there.

Mr. O'Toole spoke in response as the representative of his fellow-graduates. He looked back with gratitude to college life and looked forward with trepidation to the responsibilities of the future.

Singing during the ceremony was conducted by Miss M. Edwards who leads the college music department, accompanied by Mr. J. N. Ogden of the college music staff.

After the ceremony, graduands, guests and staff met in the relaxed atmosphere of the buffet supper.

LEONGATHA NORTH IS ONE OF THE SMALLEST

Leongatha North may not be one of the largest schools in the shire, but the enthusiasm of the pupils matched by a hard-working school committee and Mothers' Club, makes it a happy school to visit.

In 1957 there were over 35 pupils at the school and permission was granted for a sewing mistress to be employed.

However, in a dairying district people come and go, and names change hands, so that in 1967 there are only eight pupils on the register.

Mr Curby, the head master, expects the numbers to rise again next year as those who do not seem to be any danger of it being closed.

Last year the school was furnished with desks, tables and chairs, and about the same time the building was repainted so that the school room was made a very pleasant place for the children.

At the end of the first term for 1962, the mothers' club organised something different for the annual school picnic. Instead of the usual day at the beach with cricket, a trip to Balnakeil was arranged. This is one of the advantages of being a small school, two or three carloads accommodate both parents and children.

About four years ago, the school committee raised from the school grounds to increase the playing area, which was then graded and grown to grass. Several items of playground equipment were then installed.

Last year the group gave a new cover to keep the area under control. Perhaps because of these improvements to the playground the pupils were able to achieve success in the district school sports.

Donna is on top here though, with John Murphy and Pam Hollem on the slippery slide.

TRIP TO HEALESVILLE

At the end of the first term for 1967, the mothers’ club organised something different for the annual school picnic.

Instead of the usual day at the beach with cricket, a trip to Healesville Sanctuary was arranged.

This is one of the advantages of being a small school, two or three car loads accommodate both parents and children.

About four years ago, the school committee had several Blackwood trees removed from the schoolgrounds to increase the playing area, which was then graded and sown to grass.

Several items of playground equipment were then installed.

Last year the same group gave a new motor mower to keep the area under control.

Perhaps because of these improvements to the playground the pupils were able to achieve success in the district school

In 1966 Leongatha North obtained third place in the aggregate scores.

The mothers’ club has donated a set of S.R.A. reading cards, and the pupils have become keen readers.

The Leongatha and District State Schools Group Library, which operates from the central school, provides a wide variety of books to suit all ages.

As with many other schools in this rich area of Gippsland, the prosperity of the district is reflected in the State Saving’s Bank pennant, which shows a 100% account record for the pupils.

Donna is on top here though, with John Murphy and Pam Hattam on the slippery slide.
Pam, Sandie, Jenny and Angela all have their eyes on the ball but Donna doesn’t seem to think she stands a chance against all those big girls.

All for two families

Story: ANN PILMER

There are seven students at the Western Yerra State School. As of late April, the school is the only one with students in the Bellingen Shire. The students are the children of local families. The school, like many others in the district, is closed for the holidays. The students are home and they might as well be in school.

Greg Lawrence, the Principal, said: "We are pleased that the school is closed for the holidays. We are happy that the students are home and they might as well be in school."

"We have many students at the Western Yerra State School," said Greg. "I enjoy being at school with them. They are always fun to be with."
There are seven students at the Western Tyers State School. All of them belong to the Richards and the Pugleese families.

School No. 4603 is about 100 yards from the centre of the tiny hamlet of Morgan's Mill, 28 miles from Moe in Gippsland.

The students at the school are sons and daughters of timber cutters.

The school, like Morgan's Mill, is carved out of the bush. If it weren't for the blue smoke from the mill curling above the trees you could pass by and never know it existed.

Opened in July, 1942, it consists of a big airy room (ventilation comes from cracks between the floorboards) with a large open fireplace, and an adjoining porch.

You must watch your step in the little porch too, as the floorboards are loose and you might get your foot stuck.

Twenty-two-year-old Greg Lawrence, from Moorabbin, is teacher for the four boys and three girls in grades one, three, four, five and six.

Last year he was teaching at Dandenong West State School. He applied to teach at Western Tyers for two years, knowing how remote it was and never having visited it before.

Greg said: "I wanted a rural school so I could be my own boss. I have been here for two weeks and I am rapt about the school. The kids are great.

"I don't get lonely because I board in Moe and there are people coming and going at the mill all day and there is a daily mail delivery. On week-ends I can go fishing and shooting rabbits, foxes or deer."

Along with all the usual teaching aids in the classroom like blackboards, John and Betty reading cards and library books, is a motor mower. Periodically Greg has to reclaim the school playground from the encroaching bush.

The building is owned by Morgan's Mill and rented by the Education Department. A permanent school is not built because the community will move on when the timber runs out.

Now he's a winner on wing

LIKE more than three-quarters of the players on the ground last Saturday, Carlton's young wingman Bryan Quirk was playing in a finals match for the first time.

Some of the Carlton players seemed to lose heart as the Tigers poured on the goals and the big crowd roared with them.

But Quirk, 20, was the Blue light shining through a wall of Magpie bodies and one of the few winners on the ground.

Quirk, a 5-foot 6-inch, 13-stone wingman from Kildale, was the bright spot in an otherwise forgetful game for the Blues.

He had the ability to dash forward with the ball and supply a feeding pass for a wingman on the goal line, or coolly hold the ball at his feet and kick a goal.

I think that scoring more of those goals has added to his confidence, he said after the match.

LIKE more than three-quarters of the players on the ground last Saturday, Carlton’s young wingman Bryan Quirk was playing in a finals match for the first time.

Some of the Carlton players seemed to lose heart as the Tigers poured on the goals and the big crowd roared with them.

But Quirk, 20, was one Blue still fighting on strongly at the finish, and one of the side’s few winners on the day.

“When I was young my ambition was to play League football but I never thought I would,” Quirk said today.

“I started in an under 17 competition at Morwell. I was only 11. My older brother played and I usually stood in the forward pocket if they were short.”

When he was 14, Quirk tried for a place in the Latrobe Valley schoolboys’ side and missed out.

“I don’t think any players in that team made League football — that was the funny part about it,” he said.

When Quirk first started at Carlton, Ron Barassi predicted that he could become one of Carlton’s greatest forwards.

By the time he was 18 he was firmly established in League football and was one of the best recruits of 1965.

His height, marking, pace and long and accurate kicking made him one of the most damaging half-forward flankers in the game.

Although only half an inch over 6 ft and less than 12½ st. he was also used at centre half-forward and full-forward by Carlton.

About half-way through this season he was switched from the half-forward line to bolster up a wing.

He had the height which many coaches consider a first essential for wingmen on the MCG. On Saturday, he proved his value in that position.

“I feel that I have been a better player on the wing,” Quirk says.

“I still get caught out of position occasionally—mainly through not concentrating enough I suppose.

“I think that playing on the wing takes more out of you. I feel more tired after a game.”

Quirk is a teacher at Kensington State School.

WOMEN IN THE THEATRE

THE Monash Players will present their most ambitious production to date, "Crime and Crime" at the inter-Varsity drama festival in Adelaide, starting on August 12.

Lindy Devise, a 30-year-old Arts student, is cast in the difficult and demanding Joel role. Lindy has played in two other Players' productions, Medea and Much Ado About Nothing. She has also acted in productions at the Franklin Teachers College.

Co-star are Brenda Sennett, who also played in Medea, and Janet Fulton, a new member of the group. The play was written by Reciters, notably the father of the two Butler Directors and is set in 1940s Paris.

The play will open for a week's season tonight at the Alexander Theatre at Monash University.

TEACHERS WED AT MENTONE

Primary school teachers Jill Elizabeth Douglas and Peter Howard Williams, who met as students of Frankston Teachers’ College, were married at an evening ceremony in the Mentone Methodist Church on Saturday, September 2.

The bride is the only daughter of Mrs. C. E. Douglas and the late Mr. R. Douglas, The Grove, Frankston. Gifts were given by her brother, Ian, who wore a white tuxedo while carrying the bride’s bouquet of pink carnations. Mrs. Douglas’ gold wedding ring was excited by her daughter’s given, as well as the gift of a pink rose from T. H. Douglas, the bride’s father.

The bride, wearing a white wedding gown with pink rose bouquet and trained with a blusher veil, and her father, Mr. J. Williams, walked down the aisle. Peter Williams, as best man, and Marie O’Flynn and Glen Alexander, as bridesmaids, followed at the rear.

Bobbi Hallfield officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

A reception was held at their home for a luncheon for the bridal party. When they return, Mr. and Mrs. Williams will live at Parkdale and their home in Frankston.

TEACHERS WED AT MENTONE

Primary school teachers Jill Elizabeth Douglas and Peter Howard Williams, who met as students at Frankston Teachers’ College, were married at an evening ceremony in the Mentone Methodist Church on Saturday, September 2.

The bride is the only daughter of Mrs. C. E. Douglas and the late Mr. H. Douglas, The Corso, Parkdale.

Given away by her brother Robin, Jill wore a white hailspot voile empire-line gown featuring a wide square neck-line and a train lined with pale pink crepe and trimmed with a pleated ruffle.

A pink and white tulle bonnet held her fingertip length veil, and she carried a bouquet of pink orchids.

Jill was attended by bridesmaids Jean Bromley, Patricia Callinan and Gail Dorrity, and two flower-girls Toni and Andrea Miles.

The bridesmaids wore pale pink crepe frocks fashioned on the same lines as the bride’s gown, but trimmed at the neck and hemline with pleated ruffle.

Toni and Andrea wore frocks of white hailspot over pink crepe with bonnets of pink tulle.

Peter, only child of Mr. and Mrs. L. Williams, of Park St., Seaford, had Peter Furness as best man, and Kerrie O’Neill and Bill Alderson as groomsmen.

Rev. L. Coulthard officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

A reception was held at the “Woodlands” Golf Club, Mordialloc, Mordialloc, before the couple left for a honeymoon in Sydney.

When they return Jill and Peter will live at Parkdale until their home in Frankston is built.

The bride was formerly Miss Pamela Marilyn Beer, only daughter of the late Mrs Mercia Gibbs and the late Mr Eric Beer.

The bride’s full-length Empire-line gown of white cotton crepe featured a satin trim around the neckline and bustline.

Her full-length tulle veil was held in place by a satin band, and she carried a trailer of white carnations.

The bridegroom is the elder son of Mrs Jean Golding, of East Brighton, and the late Mr W. Golding.

Attending the bride were Miss Julie Scott and Miss Helen Plowman.

Mr Michael Golding, brother of the bridegroom, was best man, and Mr Andrew Kay was groomsman.

History attended the recent wedding of Lynnette Anne O'Loughlin with Kevin Anthony Smith, both of Frankston, at St. Francis Xavier Church. The newlyweds are pictured.

More than half a century ago, the bride's grandmother was a bridesmaid at the marriage of the groom's grandmother, at St. Arnaud, in central Victoria.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. A. O'Loughlin, of Rodney Court, Frankston, and the late Mr. G. O'Loughlin, and is an infant grade teacher at Chelsea State School.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Smith, of St. Arnaud, and is a teacher at Frankston Technical School.

For her wedding, the bride chose a long frock of crepe, topped with a full-length coat of guipure lace. A train of guipure lace fell from the shoulders of the gown, and a matching headband, beaded with pearls, held her long veil.

The bride was attended by her sister, Mrs. Patricia Dowsett, and Julie Gunn, of Highett. They wore full-length frocks of white lace, with guipure lace jackets. Their red headbands matched their bouquets of carnations.

Flowergirl was four-year-old Lindy Bennett, and the pageboy was the bride's nephew, four-year-old Marie Dowsett.

Best man was Graeme Bath, of Horsham, and groomsmen was Geoff Roberts, of Hamilton.

The marriage was celebrated with Nuptial Mass, conducted by the groom's brother, Father Brendan Smith, of Horsham.

After a reception at the Pier Hotel, Frankston, the couple left for a honey moon at Bayman Island. They will make their home in Frankston.

FIVE-YEAR-OLDS won't be the only people shaking in their sandals on back-to-school day next week.

Like 20-year-old Susan Ackroyd, of East Bentleigh, right, who begins her career at Bentleigh West primary school.

Susan, who went to MacRobertson High and Frankston Teachers' College, will take a primary class—the first class she's had of her own.

"I'm feeling rather dubious," Susan admits, "but one advantage is that we're all new and we'll be learning and discovering together."

"I intend to be as firm as I can the first day, to let them know who's boss.

SENTENCED—FOR SINGING

JOELLE MASON has been sent to jail five times in the past year and a half.

But, as her only crime is being a singer and an entertainer, she doesn't mind how often she goes.

"The times are good for the prisoners," she said.

"Any time they are singing, there is no time for the outside world," she said.

Joelle, a primary school teacher at Camberwell, became interested in music at an early age. She started singing at school when she was 13.

"I've always been interested in music," she said.

She started writing songs at school and began to perform in local clubs.

When she was 18, she formed her own band and started performing at local clubs.

"I've always been interested in music," she said.

In her spare time, she writes songs and performs at local clubs.

"I enjoy performing," she said.

When she is not performing, she enjoys spending time with her family and friends.

JOELLE MASON has been sent to gaol five times in the past year and a half.

But... as her only crime is being a singer and an entertainer, she doesn't mind how often she goes.

"The visits are good fun and the prisoners make excellent audiences," Joelle said.

"Even if they are a sort of captive audience."

Joelle, a primary school teacher of Carnegie, became interested in charity work in gaols when a friend invited her to take part in a group concert at Bendigo gaol last year.

Now she believes that prison work is one of the most interesting and rewarding experiences she has had as a singer.

"I have been to Bendigo, Boolarra and French Island prisons and have found the prisoners in each place are very attentive and like singing. "When I visited French Island the prisoners were so interested that they voted to give up their day's visiting time to stay and hear us perform."

Joelle admits, however, that at first she did have a few reservations about going into a prison to sing.

"Being the only girl in the company I was scared about what would happen when I had to face the prisoners," she said.

"But it's not like you would expect after seeing American gangster movies."

Joelle said that one of the hardest things about prison shows is trying to avoid songs and subjects that might offend or hurt the prisoners' feelings.

"I remember at our first show we sang, without thinking 'All Our Trials Will Soon Be Over,'" Joelle said.

"The prisoners immediately related it to themselves and we were greeted with a chorus of sniggers."

Joelle started singing at Teachers' College where she also taught herself to play the guitar and developed her interest in charity work.

At College she became a member of a singing group which sang at concerts and coffee lounges around Melbourne.

Since leaving the group she has had experience singing at hotels, on television and with the Australian Folklore Council.

At present Joelle's most enthusiastic audiences are the children she teaches at the Glen Waverley Heights State School.

"I often sing to them or play my guitar or the piano," she said.

"I suppose, however, that they are really just another sort of 'captive audience.'"

Joelle's singing has had plenty of encouragement from her father who is an entertainer and a compere.

"Encouragement but not help," Joelle said.

"I believe it is necessary for a person to succeed on their own merit, without assistance from friends or relatives with influence."

"My father understands this and realises that I have to make it on my own or not at all."

In her spare time Joelle writes her own songs and composes. One day she hopes to be able to have some of her work published.

Her plans for the future include marriage and an overseas trip.

"I am getting married in December and my husband and I intend to go to India when he has finished his university studies," she said.

"We hope to get teaching jobs in India but if I can I want to do some night club work as well."

"After India we will travel around the world."

LACE BODICE ON GOWN

A high-waisted gown of shantung featuring a bodice of guipure lace was worn by Miss Dianne Laraine Morris for her marriage to Mr Frederick Henry Lewis at St. Augustine’s Church of England, Mentone, late yesterday.

The bride is the eldest daughter of Mr R. B. Morris, of Mentone, and the late Mrs Morris, and the bridegroom is the only son of Mr and Mrs D. F. Lewis, of Beaumaris.

The bride was attended by Miss Lynne Barnes, her sister, Miss Christine Morris, and Karrenne Lewis, the sister of the bridegroom, was flower-girl.

They wore full-length gowns of white shantung featuring bodices of pale blue guipure lace. They carried snowball bouquets of blue Dutch carnations and stephanotis.

The best man was Mr Ian Miller, and Mr Lee Mills was groomsman.
“Suddenly I see a pattern I like and that sends me into a frenzy of knitting,” says Mara Tiss: “This is my newest: this jumper in Patons pure new wool Lambswool.”

Mary Tiss is a fragile blonde, an ex-schoolteacher who worked briefly in a bookshop before dying off, just recently, to the Nazis.

She’s a girl who is always, notably, well-dressed. “That’s the best thing that knitting has done for me,” says Mary. “It’s given me the sort of interesting wardrobe that I couldn’t, otherwise, have been afforded.

 Mostly I like to knit jumpers—so simple ones from which I get lots of use because they’re so easy and utterly versatile.

That’s why I chose this Lambswool jumper from Patons Book 812. I love this Patons Lambswool, too, because it’s pure new wool and soft and handsome. Also, of course, it’s Patons, which makes it shrink resistant.

“Hey, this jumper is really pretty cute, isn’t it?”

Knit it with Patons and you’ll be proud of it.

Rings exchanged

Wedding rings, borne on a small yellow cushion, carried by page boy Denis Smith (the bride’s nephew), were exchanged by Mr. Darcy Russell and his bride, formerly Miss Helen Gibson, at their marriage last Saturday week, celebrated with Nuptial Mass at St. Francis Xavier Roman Catholic Church, Frankston.

The Rev. Father John Elsun officiated at the ceremony.

The bride, who was given away by her father, is the younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Keith Gibson, of Denbigh St., Frankston.

She wore a full-length sheath frock of white crepe with three-quarter sleeves, trimmed with guipure lace let into the sleeves. Lace trimmed the bottom of the skirt. Tiny white flowers formed a coronet which held her long two-tiered veil, bowed with satin ribbon.

A sheath of white carnations, trimmed with white trailing ribbon, was carried by the bride, who wore a gold chain around her neck, with a tiny cross hanging from the centre, set with a cultured pearl — a gift from the ‘groom.

Her bridesmaid was Miss Francis Curtin, who was a school friend at Kilbreda College, Mentone. She wore a sheath frock of bright yellow crepe, with three-quarter sleeves, featuring box pleating of the same material and narrow ribbon, running between the pleats, around the bottom of the skirt.

The groom, second son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell, of Kick St., Bendigo, had as best man Mr. Robert Russell, his elder brother. Pageboy Denis Smith wore yellow pants to match the bridesmaid’s frock, his white blouse had a frill down the front, and his long sleeves were frilled at the end. He wore long white sock and black shoes.

The altar was decorated with white gladioli, gypsophila and yellow dahlias. Mr. McDonald sung hymns during the Mass.

The wedding breakfast was at Villa St. Clare, during which Miss Petrie played the piano and Mr. Peter Russell sang.

On return from their touring honeymoon, the newlyweds will live in Shepparton, where Darcy is in business and Helen is teaching.

Helen trained at Frankston Teachers’ College, where she obtained her Infant Teachers’ Certificate. Mr. and Mrs. Gibson have been residents of Frankston for 24 years, and Mr. Gibson was at the English, Scottish and Australian Bank, Frankston, for many years.

BRIDE MARRIED BY FATHER

The father of the 'groom, Mr. J. W. Lewis, officiated at the wedding of Lynette Jean Cutts and Kenneth Jeffrey Lewis at Frankston Church of Christ on Saturday, December 9.

The bride is the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. I. C. Cutts, of Mouyong, Barmah Crt., Baxter.

The 'groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Lewis, of Payneham, South Australia.

Lynette wore a heavy linen, A-line frock trimmed with bands of guipure lace on the hemline, with long bell-shaped sleeves. Her long train fell from the shoulder and was bordered with guipure to match her frock.

Her long, two-tiered veil fell from a domed pillbox of linen covered with guipure lace. She carried a snowball bouquet of carnations and stephanotis.

The bride's sisters Jillian and Cheryl, and the groom's sister, Janette, attended as bridesmaids.

Their frocks also were of white linen and made on similar lines to that of the bride. They had three bands of narrow pink ribbon on the hemline and bordering their short bell sleeves. They wore bands of pink ribbon in their hair and carried snowball bouquets of carnations and pink Cecil Brunner roses.

Best man was the 'groom's brother, Graeme, and groomsmen were the 'groom's brothers, Ian and Robert.

Many of the 94 guests who attended the reception at Wingham Lodge, which followed the mid-afternoon ceremony, came from South Australia and New South Wales.

The couple will make their home in South Australia.

The two-tiered wedding cake was topped with a miniature copy of the bride's bouquet.
