

EARTH'S GREATEST ENEMY:

Screening and Q&A with Abby Martin

Screen Histories and Futures presents Abby Martin's newest feature documentary, Earth's Greatest Enemy. The screening will be followed by a virtual Q&A and live discussion moderated by PhD candidate Jack Magnotta.

Earth's Greatest Enemy reveals a hidden truth behind the climate crisis: the role of the U.S. military as the world's largest institutional polluter, tracing the link between war, empire, and ecological destruction. Drawing on powerful testimonies from veterans, scientists, and frontline communities, it uncovers how military operations poison ecosystems, accelerate global warming, and sacrifice the future for endless expansion. From Alaska's melting glaciers to contaminated bases across the U.S. and toxic battlefields abroad, Earth's Greatest Enemy delivers a provocative and unflinching examination of the untouchable institution playing an outsized role in the climate crisis.

Abby Martin is a renowned journalist and documentarian whose fearless reporting has made her one of the most recognised independent voices in media. Known for her on-the-ground coverage of U.S. foreign policy, Martin has been praised for her uncompromising independence and willingness to challenge powerful institutions. As the creator and host of the acclaimed series The Empire Files, and previously Breaking The Set, she has reported from conflict zones around the world, giving voice to those most impacted by militarism. Martin's work has earned her a global following and positioned her as a leading figure in alternative media and grassroots journalism.
