SCOPE

This procedure applies to all continuing academic staff on a fraction of 0.4 or greater, fixed term academic staff on probation and all academic staff seeking promotion to the next level or intending to apply through the Outside Study Programme (OSP), herein collectively referred to as ‘you’ for the purpose of this procedure. Academic staff on a fraction of less than 0.4 will also be able to access the myPlan system in accordance with this procedure.

The procedure does not apply to staff appointed to Senior Executive positions.

Adjunct and conjoint appointees (also known as joint appointees) are exempt from this procedure.

PROCEDURE STATEMENT

Monash University (‘us’, ‘our’ or ‘we’) relies on excellent research, teaching and engagement from its academic staff in order to serve the good of our communities and environment, solve grand challenges and set global agendas (Focus Monash Strategic Plan 2015-2020). The performance development process supports this by:

- encouraging a culture of continuous learning and performance improvement;
- applying the principles of growth, feedback and accountability to the way that we work; and
- demonstrating the University’s commitment to developing and retaining the talents of academic staff.

The performance development process aligns with the University’s planning framework, with individual goals cascading from strategic and operational goals. It is a 12 month planning cycle based on a calendar year. It is intended to be a dynamic and interactive process between the staff member and their supervisor, designed to encourage trust and regular, open communications.

The performance development process is a two-step cycle; one for planning and one for review. This cycle supports staff in reaching their full career potential and achieving their annual goals through:

- the provision of professional development opportunities (growth);
- regular, meaningful performance conversations with their performance supervisor and a process for giving and receiving constructive feedback (feedback); and
- clearly identifiable and documented performance development goals and performance review that creates an awareness of staff contributions toward the three year faculty and University plans and goals (accountability).

1. The performance development process

1.1 Performance Development is a performance improvement process which focuses on staff professional development over time, including setting and meeting personal and University goals. It involves setting clear goals, prioritising and allocating work, monitoring day-to-day performance with ongoing feedback and coaching, planning for development and the assessment of staff performance.

1.2 The annual cycle commences in November each year, however it may be finalised as late as February at the discretion of the Dean (or equivalent) and in accordance with the operational planning activities and timelines set for each faculty, portfolio, campus and center.

1.3 We have adopted a two-step approach to the annual performance development process for academic staff.
1.4 The principal elements to be covered are:

- a review of your role and/or your responsibilities, including objectives and skills and/or knowledge acquisition set in previous feedback discussions;
- consideration of your workload;
- acknowledgement of your initiatives and achievements;
- the development of a plan which includes staff or professional development activities and future performance objectives;
- feedback to you on your performance against previously determined objectives and whether or not performance has been satisfactory; and
- feedback and coaching to you on specific areas that would benefit from development.

1.5 Refer: clause 64 of the Monash University Enterprise Agreement (Academic and Professional Staff) 2014 and to the myPlan system.

2. Reviewing achievements & planning ahead

Preparation for the review process

2.1 In preparation for annual review meetings, your performance supervisor will schedule a review meeting with you at least 3 to 4 weeks in advance.

Self-assessment of own performance

2.2 You reflect on and record achievements in the areas of workload allocation, career aspirations, performance planning goals and development plans. This step should include:

- reflecting on achievements in the three areas of research, education and service;
- reflecting on areas for improvement;
- collating and attaching relevant information in myPlan, including all SETU data, research activities and outputs and any mid-cycle feedback; and
- specifying any relevant personal circumstances, where applicable, to facilitate an assessment of achievements relative to opportunity.

2.3 Should you fail to include the SETU data, your performance supervisor and/or Head of Unit may request that you add the data to the performance development portfolio. Your performance supervisor and/or Head of Unit may also request the data directly from the Monash Office of Planning and Quality.

Planning for the year ahead

2.4 You draft your performance development plan for the coming year to support yourself in achieving your annual goals (see Annual Goals under the Definitions section of this procedure for further detail), career aspirations and planned professional development. The plan should include:

- details of your workload allocation;
- longer term career aspirations, ideally projecting over the next three years;
- annual performance goals in the three areas of research, education and service which are to contain an indicator of success and linking to the faculty and President-led campus plans; and
You and your performance supervisor discuss and endeavour to agree:

- progress toward longer term career aspirations;
- achievements relative to opportunity and progress towards each of the annual goals/targets based on the previous year’s performance plan and workload allocation;
- achievements and progress in relation to the faculty-specific academic performance standards applicable to the relevant academic classification level;
- teaching achievements referencing staff SETU data;
- progress in relation to probationary appointment (where relevant), refer to the Academic Probation procedure;
- progress against any agreed improvement goals that are linked to managing unsatisfactory performance actions where relevant, refer to the Managing Unsatisfactory Performance: Academic Staff procedure;
- any recommendation in relation to accelerated progression or review for tenure, where relevant;
- identification of any mitigating circumstances which may have arisen during the year, which affected your performance; and
- annual compliance matters including:
  - ensuring that you have completed mandatory compliance training in accordance with the Mandatory Compliance Training procedure;
  - discussing intellectual property, patent worthy discoveries or inventions to ensure compliance with the Monash University Intellectual Property Regulations; and
  - reviewing any outstanding issues related to the Integrity and Respect Policy, OH&S and procedures such as conflict of interest and paid outside work activities. Approved ‘paid outside work’ arrangements and conflict of interest declarations must be attached to myPlan and reviewed annually.

Other feedback

Where you have more than one nominated supervisor or are seeking supervisory skills feedback, your performance supervisor is responsible for consulting with the other nominated supervisors/staff to seek input and feedback on staff performance and to incorporate this feedback where appropriate.

You and your performance supervisor plan for year ahead

You and your performance supervisor discuss and endeavour to agree:

- details of the workload allocation ensuring it equates to 100% between the three categories of research, education and service; and
- strategies to achieve longer term career aspirations;
- annual performance goals in the three areas of research, education and service with corresponding indicators of success;
- how goals link to the faculty and President-led campus plans, academic performance standards and KPIs (refer to the Monash Planning Framework);
- the career development plan and associated professional development opportunities, including those in relation to academic promotion and the outside study programme (OSP);
- any appropriate training, development or support which may assist you to achieve your goals or improve your performance; and
- where applicable, ensure any approved paid outside work or conflict of interest management plans are uploaded into myPlan.

Submission to performance supervisor

Once complete, you submit your draft review and plan, within myPlan, to your performance supervisor. You are encouraged to attach a performance development CV from My Research, where appropriate.

3. Annual review meeting

3.1 Prior to the review meeting, your performance supervisor will review the draft performance development plan.

You and your performance supervisor review past year

3.2 You and your performance supervisor discuss and endeavour to agree:

- OHS goals;
- confirmation that all mandatory compliance training has been completed in accordance with the Mandatory Compliance Training procedure;
- details regarding intellectual property, patent worthy discoveries or inventions to ensure compliance with the Monash University Intellectual Property Regulations; and
- disclosures of any conflict of interest and paid outside work activities.

3.3 Where you have more than one nominated supervisor or are seeking supervisory skills feedback, your performance supervisor is responsible for consulting with the other nominated supervisors/staff to seek input and feedback on staff performance and to incorporate this feedback where appropriate.

You and your performance supervisor plan for year ahead

3.4 You and your performance supervisor discuss and endeavour to agree:

- annual compliance matters including:
You are encouraged to participate in our health and wellbeing activities and therefore should include a goal in respect of health and safety.

When the review and planning meeting is completed, you make any changes required to your performance development plan and submit them to your performance supervisor via myPlan. Your supervisor then confirms the plan for the year ahead.

Confirmation of planning review

Your performance supervisor will review the updated performance development plan and record relevant comments in the performance supervisor sections of the plan. Changes should be communicated to or discussed with you.

Your performance supervisor confirms the annual review in myPlan.

4. Mid cycle review (probation staff only)

Performance supervisors will note which of their staff are subject to probationary periods and are responsible for scheduling a mid-cycle feedback meeting (to be conducted during the months of June to August). They will also consult with the Head of Unit about staff appointments that are approaching the end of the probationary period.

Only academic staff on probation are currently required to participate in a mid-cycle feedback meeting however performance supervisors are encouraged to meet with all staff regularly throughout the year to provide constructive feedback on their progress.

At the mid-cycle review, probationary staff and performance supervisors will discuss:

- progress in relation to probationary appointment and probation conditions;
- progress in relation to the performance development plan over the last six months;
- achievements relative to opportunity and progress toward each annual goal;
- suitability of goals in light of any changing circumstances (where relevant);
- achievements and progress in relation to the faculty’s academic performance standards applicable to staff levels;
- strategies to support the achievement of annual goals and career development plans;
- relevance of information collected for the performance development portfolio;
- general performance and any specific or priority areas requiring improvement and further support and development;
- intellectual property, patent worthy discoveries or inventions to ensure compliance with the Monash University Intellectual Property Regulations;
- outstanding issues related to conduct and compliance policies such as conflict of interest and paid outside work, where relevant; and
- agree on the next annual review and planning meeting date.

Following the mid-cycle review meeting, you are to document any outcomes or variations in myPlan (including attaching relevant documentation). Your performance supervisor will also record any comments and document the meeting in myPlan.

5. Support information

Regular feedback

You and your performance supervisor are expected to partake in feedback opportunities at various times throughout the year. The purpose of feedback and coaching is to help provide a clear expectation of performance, acknowledge progress, build confidence and provide support and encouragement.

You and your performance supervisor are encouraged to record regular feedback in myPlan.

Selection of performance supervisors

The Head of Unit is responsible for the performance management, mentoring and staff development of all academic staff within their unit/school/department/centre. This responsibility includes where appropriate, the counselling of academic staff for unsatisfactory performance and/or conduct, consistent with clause 53 and clause 64 of the Monash University Enterprise Agreement (Academic and Professional Staff) 2014. In most cases, some performance supervision responsibilities, including the provision of regular feedback and annual performance discussions may be delegated to an alternative supervisor, who will be the immediate academic line manager, unless we nominate an alternative supervisor at level C or above. The Provost nominates these academic performance supervisors for the coming performance cycle.

Notification of changes to performance supervisors are to be directed to Monash HR via email: email: hr@monash.edu or telephone: 990 20400.

Training of performance supervisors

If you are a performance supervisor, you must ensure that you are adequately trained in the process of giving and receiving feedback. Supervisor workshops and training sessions are available for supervisors who may be new to a supervisory role, would like refresher training or who have been directed to attend such training.
If you are a performance supervisor who has previously completed training on the process and methods of giving and receiving feedback, you may apply for recognition of prior learning.

Training can be booked online at myDevelopment. You should contact your faculty’s HR Business Partner if you are unsure of whether or not you should undertake performance supervisor training.

Alignment of University, school/department and individual goals

The Head of Unit must meet with academic performance supervisors to convey expectations and to clarify goals and objectives for the school or department for the coming year in the context of the faculty plan and other university plans. As part of the meeting they will discuss achievements and challenges of the past year.

Unsatisfactory performance

Where your performance is initially considered by your performance supervisor to be unsatisfactory, your performance supervisor will advise the Head of Unit.

The Head of Unit will then counsel you and record in myPlan a written report which shows:

- the matters or factors not satisfactorily met;
- the improvements required to achieve the goals and objectives (or satisfactory progress towards them); and
- the proposed timelines for meeting the requirements for improvement.

The Head of Unit will also consider any enabling or mitigating circumstances and you and your supervisor should consider appropriate development or support to assist in improving performance.

A copy of the report is to be provided to you and a copy is to be retained by your performance supervisor. The Head of Unit has overall responsibility for the performance management of all academic staff within their unit/school/department/center, including, where appropriate, counselling of staff in accordance with the Managing Unsatisfactory Performance: Academic Staff Procedure under clause 53 and/or clause 64 of the Enterprise Agreement.

This procedure does not preclude identification of unsatisfactory performance/conduct and undertaking of counselling outside the annual review process.

6. Breach of procedure

We treat any breach of our policies or procedures seriously. We encourage reporting of concerns about non-compliance and manage compliance in accordance with the applicable Enterprise Agreement or contract terms.

DEFINITIONS

| Academic performance development plan | A planning template for academic staff that includes; reflection of the achievements in the previous year and areas for improvement, an articulation of longer term career aspirations, annual goals and a career development plan in support of annual and longer term goals, strategies, indicators and achievements. |
| Academic performance standards | Faculty or discipline specific performance standards for all academic staff against which academic performance will be measured, particularly for the purpose of probation, promotion and performance development. The standards are qualitative, quantitative or a mixture of both across the three key areas of academic activity - research, education and service. They include identified minimum performance standards, below which staff may be managed for unsatisfactory performance in accordance with the Managing Unsatisfactory Performance: Academic Staff procedure. The required performance standard: |
|  | - is established by the supervisor and discussed with staff; |
|  | - is at or above the ‘minimum’ level of academic performance for the candidate’s current level according to faculty-specific academic performance standards; |
|  | - contains clear and defined criteria for performance that are measurable; and |
|  | - contains criteria that are either qualitative or quantitative or a mixture of both. |
| Academic promotion | A process by which academic staff are promoted at Monash University based on merit. |
Achievement(s) relevant to opportunity

An evaluative framework in which the overall quality and impact of achievements is given more weight than the quantity, rate or breadth of particular achievements. Assessing achievements relative to opportunity involves giving consideration to circumstances, arrangements, career histories and overall time available to staff. This, in turn, allows appropriate evaluation of achievements in relation to:

- the quantum or rate of productivity,
- the opportunity to participate in certain types of activities, and
- the consistency of activities or output over the period of consideration.

Achievement relative to opportunity is a positive acknowledgement of what staff can and have achieved given the opportunities available and is not about providing “special consideration” or expecting lesser standards of performance.

Adjunct appointments

Persons who are not currently staff members of the University, but whose professional standing or specialist expertise would contribute to the teaching or research activities of a particular department or research center in the University. Normally, such appointments are unpaid.

Annual goals

Activities and outcomes that a staff member is expected to achieve that will assist them to achieve their annual objectives in the three areas of research, education and service, and to achieve their longer term career aspirations. Annual goals should be concise, measurable, achievable, and address relevant areas of academic activity in education, research and service. Academic staff must have a minimum of two annual goals in their performance development plan each year and they must record them in myPlan.

Annual work allocation

A combination of self-directed and assigned tasks in research, education and service allocated through Faculty Workload Models for teaching and research academic staff as described in Clause 59, Monash University Enterprise Agreement (Academic and Professional Staff) 2014. The starting point for discussions about allocation of work is 40% teaching, 40% research and scholarship and 20% other activities. In the case of education-focused academic staff, workload allocation will have a significantly greater emphasis placed on teaching and teaching scholarship with a consequent reduction in expectations for research.

Conflict of commitment

Occurs when one interest of a staff member, which may, or may not be a private interest or non-University interest may harm or interfere with the productivity or involvement of that staff member in aspects of their University responsibilities. It may concern the staff member’s distribution of efforts between employment obligations to the University and to outside activities. Conflicts of commitment can occur in research where the staff member’s non-University activities harm or interfere with the staff member’s research obligations.

Conflict of interest

Refers to a situation where a conflict arises for an individual between two competing interests, which are often, but not exclusively, interests of public duty versus private interests. Conflicts of interest may be reasonably perceived, potential or actual. Conflicts of interest can involve financial or non-financial interests of the staff member and the interests of a business partner or associate, family member, friend or person in, or has had a close personal relationship with the staff member. For further information refer to the Conflict of Interest Procedure and Examples of Conflicts of Interest and Guidelines for Action for further information.

Enterprise Agreement

The relevant Enterprise Agreement that applies to a particular staff member. Clauses relating to this procedure are:

Monash University Enterprise Agreement (Academic and Professional Staff) 2014
- Clause 52 - General Principles
- Clause 53 - Termination of Employment and Disciplinary Action - Academic Staff
- Clause 55 – Research Misconduct
- Clause 56 - Employment Related Grievance Resolution Procedure
- Clause 58 - Probationary Employment Principles - Academic Staff
- Clause 59 – Academic Workloads
- Clause 60 – Summer Teaching Period
- Clause 64 - Performance Development

Feedback

The primary means for recognising good performance and for redirecting performance that requires improvement. Feedback is an ongoing activity that is usually information based, regular, immediate, informal or formal and verbal. It is used to identify issues needing to be addressed and build trust and relationships in the workplace.
| Head of Unit | The head of unit/school/department/centre or director or, where applicable, a person acting as their nominee. If there are no heads of unit within the faculty, a deputy dean or equivalent may be delegated the head of unit’s responsibilities for the academic performance development process. The head of unit is responsible for the performance management, mentoring and staff development of all academic staff within their unit/school/department/centre. This responsibility includes where appropriate, the counselling of academic staff for unsatisfactory performance and/or conduct, consistent with clauses 64 and 53.5 of the (Monash University Enterprise Agreement (Academic and Professional Staff) 2014 (see also Performance supervisor under the Definitions section of this procedure and Selection of Performance Supervisors under the section titled Support Information for further information). |
| HR Business Partner | A key member of the Monash HR Business Partnering community and provides strategic advice, guidance and solutions that underpin key client goals, HR strategy and organisational vision to a particular client group. |
| Indicators of success | A detailed summary of performance outputs that demonstrate the achievement of or progress towards agreed goals in any given year. |
| Intellectual property | Any copyright work, circuit layout, eligible layout, design, patent, invention, confidential information, know-how, plant variety, trade mark or other insignia of origin, and any related right. A duty to engage in research during any performance period includes a duty to carry forward the fruits of the research - for instance to invent things in the course of research and to co-operate with the University to commercialise or to patent any invention(s). Staff must also assign any intellectual property or invention created in the course of employment with the University, to the University, from the date the intellectual property comes into existence. Note that under the Monash University Intellectual Property Regulation staff must not publish or otherwise disclose any patent worthy discovery or invention or any intellectual property (other than copyright belonging to staff under the Monash University IP statute and regulations) until such publication is approved in writing by the Intellectual Property Officer or nominee. |
| Joint appointments (also known as conjoint) | Usually a professor in the Faculty of Medicine, Nursing and Health Sciences who is also the Director of a clinical centre in a hospital, and who is actually employed and paid by the hospital on hospital employment conditions, but by virtue of their employment contract with Monash has the status of professor. |
| myPlan | An online performance planning tool that supports academic staff and supervisors to manage the performance development cycle. |
| myResearch | The University’s central repository system for research related information and provides Monash staff a single point of access to systems and information about grants, contracts, research outputs and ethics applications. |
| Outside study program (OSP) | Provides academic staff with a period of relief from normal University duties to pursue research and other scholarly work to enhance staff development, extend the body of knowledge in their chosen field and improve research performance. For more information refer to the Outside Study Programme Procedure. |
| Paid outside work | Remunerated work or professional development activity that staff undertake for an external party which is outside their normal university duties. For more information refer to the Paid outside work procedure. |
| Performance development portfolio | Evidence or material that supports staff claims of progress made and goals achieved such as awards received, articles published, SETU data, books written and any other relevant evidence. These documents may be stored electronically within the attachments section of staff performance plans in myPlan. |
| Performance improvement | The process of professional growth through targeted learning and development activities. |
| Performance supervisor | Although the head of unit is responsible for the performance management, mentoring and staff development of all academic staff within their unit/school/department/centre, in most cases, some performance supervision responsibilities, including the provision of regular feedback and annual performance discussions may be delegated to a nominated supervisor, who will be the immediate academic line manager, unless the University nominates an alternative supervisor at level C or above. For the purposes of this procedure, the performance supervisor is the nominated supervisor. |
The nominated supervisor must be trained to perform their role in the performance development process and in the process and methods of providing feedback. Where staff have two or more nominated supervisors, one should be nominated as the performance supervisor.

Probationary period

The period of probation as referred to in Clause 58 of the relevant Enterprise Agreement (Monash University Enterprise Agreement (Academic and Professional Staff) 2014 or Monash University Enterprise Agreement (Academic and Professional Staff) 2009). Periods of probation are managed via the relevant procedure. For staff appointed prior to October 7th, 2014: Probation and confirmation of academic appointments made prior to October 7th, 2014 procedure. Staff appointed on or after October 7th, 2014 are managed via the Probation and confirmation of academic appointments made on or after October 7th, 2014 procedure.

Pure

The University's research management system which provides information for Monash staff on their grants, contracts, research outputs and research achievements. Pure can be used by academic staff to create personalised CVs in support of their performance development goals and plans and other performance related processes.

Relevant personal circumstances

May include family responsibilities (for example child rearing, elder-care, illness of a partner or dependant), a temporary or permanent disability, relevant cultural expectations or circumstances, periods of part-time working and/or absences due to ill-health or injury.

Research only academic staff

Academic staff engaged on research only functions for a contract period not exceeding five years.

SETU (Student Evaluation of Teaching and Unit)

The University’s online teaching and unit evaluation instrument.

Unsatisfactory performance

Performance that fails to meet the University’s expectations of the staff member and includes when a head of unit determines that the staff member’s performance is unsatisfactory in accordance with clause 54 and/or 64 of the Monash University Enterprise Agreement (Academic and Professional Staff) 2014. Also refer to Managing Unsatisfactory Performance: Academic Staff procedure.
