

Candidate Statement – Stacey Coe

Hi, I'm Stacey. I am completing my Master of Business Administration at the Monash Business School. I am the current Vice-President of the Monash Graduate Association Executive Committee (MGAEC). As part of my work representing my peers through the MGAEC, I serve as the graduate student representative on the Student Academic Progress Advisory Group, an advisory group of Monash University's Education Committee. In this role I have the chance to bring a student perspective and advocate for students' interest through debate and discussion of important issues of university policy.

If appointed to the Academic Board, I will continue my student advocacy as an impactful and influential student representative by channelling my network of relationships across the university, as well as my strengths in negotiation, collective bargaining, stakeholder engagement, strategic communications, project management, policy development, governance, and executive advisory.

I will also bring to this role my rich professional experience in roles across a broad base of complementary disciplines – my work on strategy and organisational development; as an industrial relations advocate for large employers; my time as a governance and regulatory compliance adviser to a large public sector board; and, my experience managing teams delivery projects and policy consultation advice.
