February and July

CRICOS: 082639D

COURSE CODE: B6015

This Master's degree is for students and professionals who may not have studied accounting or law before but are seeking specialist business knowledge for further career development.

You'll gain insight into the full spectrum of business, with a focus on business law and financial and management accounting – and have a chance to advance your studies in the more specific areas of business that interest you.

It's also a smart choice for professionals looking to move into advanced roles that require specialist legal or accounting knowledge.

Course structure

The course consists of two parts, Part A. Advanced preparatory and Part B. Mastery knowledge.

Part A. Advanced preparatory (24 credit points)	Part B. Mastery knowledge (96 credit points)
Four units: – Introduction to financial accounting – Economics – Business statistics – Business communication for accounting professionals	16 units: – Financial accounting – Business finance – Management accounting – Advanced financial accounting – Auditing and assurance – Accounting information systems – Strategic management accounting – Principles of management – Taxation law – Integrated accounting – Business and company law – Masters research paper – Business regulation and compliance – Current issues in corporate governance and regulation – Introduction to risk management
	Additionally, all students must do one other level 5 unit from Monash Business School's Department of Business Law and Taxation.

“Whatever your dream, it’s never too late to achieve it.

I graduated as an aerospace engineer and worked as a researcher in my twenties before realising my passion and vision had shifted.

The double Master’s degree in Professional Accounting and Business Law has allowed me to fast track my career change whilst working full time. It increased my career flexibility and lead to greater employment prospects.

I’ve taken up roles in governance, risk and compliance positions I’d never imagined working in, across the corporate, government and not-for-profit sectors.

Never tell yourself you’ve missed your chance.”
