Major transformations are underway in Australia and around the world. Unprecedented economic, social and technological changes are reshaping our cities, regions and environment, along with the way we work, generate power, consume food and water, travel, play, learn and live.

Some fear these changes, none can avoid them. Innovative and brave leaders welcome them.

CHANGE IS COMING. BE READY FOR IT.

A sustainable and prosperous future is within our grasp. You hold the key to getting there. At the Australian Transitions Academy (ATA), we have created a transitions framework that will help you turn your energy, optimism and big ideas into practical change.

Whether it’s shifting to clean energy and storage, creating circular economies, transforming our cities and regions, leading scientific breakthroughs or re-imagining our food system, we’ll help you:

› Build the skills you need to lead the transition
› Create the spaces for innovation
› Grow the community of practice to make it happen

We draw on the scientifically-proven Transitions Management approach and our collaboration with the world-leading Dutch Research Institute for Transitions (DRIFT). Our Transitions Training, Strategy Labs and Transition Arenas will help you shape real change in your organisation, your industry and your community.
BUILD YOUR SKILLS

Our courses will help you build the skills you need to enable the transition you dream of.

→ Introduction to Transition Management

Our two-day introductory training course will teach you about both the problems and the opportunities facing our society today. You’ll build a tool-kit that you can apply to your own situation right away and begin to put what you’ve learned into action. We’ll introduce you to key concepts around transitions, explain the role of transition arenas and experiments, and provide you with the skills and strategies to put Transitions Management into practice.

→ Masterclass in Transition Management

An elite learning platform, our Masterclass in Transition Management will bring together frontrunners across industry and government in a network for transition. Our team has adapted the DRIFT Transition Academy’s signature offering specifically for the Australian context. In this exclusive three-month program, prominent transition scholars and expert practitioners will guide you through a comprehensive look at the theory and practice of Transition Management, and help you apply what you’ve learned to your own personal context.

→ Tailored Transition Courses

We can tailor a course for your sector or organisation, weaving your specific situation and needs into transitions training. We also offer bespoke courses on the major trends shaping our world: Energy Transitions, Circular Economy, Food System Transformation and Social Innovation.

CREATE THE SPACE FOR INNOVATION

We can help you create the space for innovation with a half-day, one-day or two-day Strategy Lab. Our Strategy Labs will help you and leaders in your space search, learn, experiment and plan for and from the future. We’ll use future scenarios to challenge your thinking, address problems, develop fit-for-purpose policies, and create pathways together for strategic decision making and positive action.

GROW YOUR COMMUNITY OF PRACTICE

The world doesn’t change when people get smarter, it changes when people get together. We’ll help you create the community of practice you need to achieve the change you want with a Transition Arena.

Transition Arenas are networks that provide the space for innovative systems thinking, reflection and experimentation. We’ll help you bring together the frontrunners in your field, organisation, region or industry to turn your vision into action. We facilitate the proven Transition Arena process so you can shape collective goals and pathways to change; share learnings; develop a shared understanding of the problems, develop solutions and take action.

The world doesn’t change when people get smarter, it changes when people get together.
WHO YOU ARE

No matter the sector, industry or organisation you work in, you’re one of the people who will help drive positive change for Australia’s future. You’re not afraid to step up and you’re looking for others who are ready to do the same. Australians have a history of innovation, built on the enterprise of forward thinkers, that we’ve exported to the world. Time and again, we’ve proven we know how to create, innovate and adapt, given the right tools. The Australian Transitions Academy will provide you with the tools you need to realise your ambitions.
