NOTE FROM THE DEAN

Professor Simon Wilkie

Every year, Monash Business School seeks to celebrate the School's student excellence and recognise achievements that truly encapsulate the Monash experience.

A signature achievement is our annual Future Global Leaders awards. I am delighted to announce that the 2023 recipients are Sharar Kader (undergraduate) and Riya Maben (postgraduate).

Both students reflect not just the Monash motto of Ancora Imparo ("I am still learning"), but also have a demonstrated commitment to the challenges of the age identified by Monash University, including tackling climate change and helping to develop thriving communities.

Sharar is a Bachelor of Commerce Honours student specialising in Economics, whose desire to tackle poverty and protect threatened ecosystems transformed into an Honours thesis and may lead to a pilot program in Cambodia offering compensation for income loss linked to a lack of rainfall.

Riya, a Masters of Banking and Finance graduate, applied skills learned in her postgraduate studies to help non-government organisations caring for stray animals. Currently working in superannuation, Riya is passionate about making positive changes as a female professional.

You can read more about them in this program.

Also in this program are our 2023 Student Course recipients – look for your name there if you are a recipient – as well as our individual Department Unit Awards and the Dean's Honour List and Commendation List.

As a Monash University student, you can be reassured that the education you receive is among the world's best: in 2023 Monash University was ranked 44th in the world by the Times Higher Education (THE) World University rankings.

Being a Monash Business School graduate means your studies will be recognised for its quality around the world, with the depth and knowledge to really make a difference.

That will always be our commitment to you.

Professor Simon Wilkie

Dean, Faculty of Business and Economics
Head, Monash Business School

2023 FUTURE GLOBAL LEADERS AWARD

The Monash Business School Future Global Leaders Award recognises students who are committed to the development of sustainable businesses and practices that contribute to the economic, environmental and social development of communities, and who demonstrate the drive and ambition to become global leaders of the future.

Riya Maben

WINNERS OF THE 2023 FUTURE GLOBAL LEADERS AWARD

Riya Maben

Growing up in Mumbai, Riya Maben saw firsthand the terrible impact rampant waste can have on the local environment. Without a proper disposal system, discarded food was piling up, attracting stray animals and causing disease outbreaks.

Riya decided to take action, collaborating with animal welfare organisations to spearhead a composting program to help address the problem. She began volunteering at the shelters, where she quickly realised financial challenges threatened the vital work.

Drawing on the knowledge from her Master of Banking and Finance, Riya applied her financial expertise to draft funding applications and incorporate technology to streamline the organisation's financial management.

"We also managed to increase the number of volunteers, which was excellent," Riya says.

Now working in asset management, her commitment to driving social impact remains as strong as ever.

"I volunteer at the Chartered Financial Analyst Society in Melbourne, where we aim to raise awareness and support women in their journey towards working in investment management," she says.

Riya described her Future Global Leaders accolade as "the cherry on top".

"This recognition will allow me to share my story with a wider audience and hopefully inspire others to take small steps to spread kindness and make life better for the people around them."

Sharar Kader

A Bachelor of Commerce Honours student specialising in Economics, Sharar Kader's work in tackling poverty and protecting threatened ecosystems has been building momentum since he addressed the twin challenges in his research thesis.

Sharar's thesis, which examined the link between poverty alleviation and biodiversity loss in developing countries, found households would not need to hunt wildlife "as a coping mechanism" if they were compensated for reductions in income caused by a lack of rainfall.

Sharar is now building on this work. Partnering closely with the Zoological Society of London, he is pioneering a cash transfer and insurance pilot initiative to tackle wildlife hunting near Cambodian National Parks.

"Our goal is to reduce the need for financially vulnerable households living around highly biodiverse areas to rely on hunted wildlife as sources of nutrition and income," Sharar says.

His work has caught the attention of the Asian Development Bank, and will be submitted for funding in the forthcoming round of the Darwin Program, funded by the UK's Department for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs (DEFRA).

If successful, the pilot program will be implemented in 2024.

Sharar says winning the Future Global Leader Award has motivated him to continue working in this space.

"My supervisor, Paulo Santos, has been great in supporting me through this project," he says.
